Perth And Huron Counties Revoke Temperance Act

Heavy Vote Rolls Up Big Majorities for Repeal

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Canada's strongest and largest strongholds of prohibition—Perth and Huron counties—collapsed Monday as residents swept out the old Canada Temperance Act in a forenoon plebiscite.

The 1878 Act, which prohibited the sale of intoxicating beverages, will be replaced by existing provincial legislation which as a federal order-in-council is proclaimed to officially revoke it.

A heavy vote registered big majorities in favor of revoking the controversial prohibition act, in effect at various times in Huron County since 1884 and in Perth since 1914.

Snowflurries, snowfalls and below-freezing temperatures failed to daunt voters and 64 per cent of an eligible electorate of about 50,000 cast ballots.

LARGE MAJORITIES

The majority in Huron was more than 4,500 votes and in Perth more than 3,500. Only a simple majority was needed to carry the revocation.

The trend showed from the early returns, although some municipalities reaffirmed electors' decisions of the past 40 years' standing by voting against revocation.

The earliest date for legal and controlled sales of liquor and beer under provincial law in Huron probably will be sometime next week, Ralph Shaw, solicitor to the Ontario Liquor Control Board, said Monday night in London. The board's inspection force until an order-in-council is passed by the cabinet and signed by the governor-general.

Col. Woodrow said this would probably take from two weeks to a month and the Ontario Liquor Control Board and the Ontario Liquor Control Act would become effective after the order-in-council is gazetted and published in the Canada Gazette.

Licenses for beer stores could be installed the same day in all municipalities that weren't dry by June 1, 1916, at the time the 1878 Act, also known as the Scott Act, came into effect. Licensing of beverage rooms, dining rooms or cocktail lounges would require further votes under the provisions of the Liquor Licensing Act.

CLINTON STILL DRY

Communities dry under local option would need a plebiscite to change their status and establish liquor and beer stores.

The only urban municipality in Huron County to retain its status is Clinton, with a population of Armed Gunman Robs Store and Shoots Pursuer

WINDSOR (CP) — The search for a gunman who robbed a Windsor jewellery store Monday and shot one of his pursuers was being concentrated in the Detroit area.

Police believe the gunman, who made off with $35 in cash and four watches from the J. Reed Paul Jewellery took a bus through the Detroit-Windsor tunnel.

It grabbed him by the arm," Cossello said. "He said, 'Get out of my way or I'll blow your head off.' But I thought he was just fooling.

"I had him over my head when he shot me," he added. "At first I didn't realize I'd been hit, but when I saw the blood I fell down."

Another youth, armed only with a brick, continued the chase in his own automobile until the car and bandit ran aground in a ditch. The bandit then fled on foot near the entrance to the Detroit tunnel.

The bandit entered the jewellery shortly before 3 p.m., asking to see some wrist watches. After he had examined a few he told the jeweller, Jacob Hazdit and his wife, "This is a holdup. Get to the back of the store."

Mrs. Hazdit, 63, told police the bandit held him and his wife at gunpoint while he ransacked the store safe. Finding nothing in the safe the gunman took $35 and four watches and fled with the jeweller in pursuit.

Cossello, passing in his car, took up the chase. Cossello, a burly, unemployed laborer, will be confined at least a week in hospital officials said.

Predicts Bright Future for Uranium Industry

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP) — Brighter days for the future growth of Canada's uranium industry were forecast Monday by Maurice S. Duncan, chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission.

"With major hydro - electric power sites already developed, there is no alternative but the use of thermal and nuclear power to satisfy the future needs," he said. "Countries like Canada with lots of hydro power will use it with atomic-electric and nuclear-powered generating plants side by side."

He said in an interview Ontario Hydro was particularly interested in development of nuclear power because the fuel is native to Ontario, principally in the province's uranium mines. Such a development would mean an expensive coal import from the United States.

"However, nuclear power will never completely replace hydro-electric power stations in Canada," he said.

He said Ontario Hydro is working in close co-operation with Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd. in the hope of finding new uses for uranium in addition to the production of economical power.

CONSERVATIVE ARMY BUCKLES DOWN TO WORK

Wrap up Conclaves Women, Young PCs

OTTAWA (CP) — The main army of the Progressive Conservative Association of Canada embarked today on public deliberations, attended by leaders from across the land.

Two main auxiliaries — the Women's Progressive Conservative Association and the Young Progressive Conservatives — wrapped up their conclaves Monday.

The two-day public part of the general meeting started with a call to order from party president Leon Balcer, solicitor-general in the Diefenbaker cabinet, to sitting six committees, hearing reports from party officers and greeting party leaders from each of the 10 provinces including five premiers. Only Quebec is absent.

Monday's meetings marked the Young Conservative meeting Monday where Bennett Carr, 29, of Charlottetown, was named president succeeding Vancouver MP Douglas Jung.

PM ADDRESSES WOMEN

The more sedate sittings of the women's association drew Prime Minister Diefenbaker — whose voice was almost drowned out by cheering delegates — and Ontario Conservative—declare that Russian successes in space "proves" leave much room for skepticism about Soviet motives.

Organizational amendments approved by executive members Monday night sharply expanded general meeting membership voting strength to about 1,500 from some 200.

Eligible voters now include all MPs, senators, provincial legislature "supporters" and representatives from down to the grass roots of the party organization.

Young Conservatives Monday backed a resolution urging a ban on all trading stamp plans and promotions ranging from premium support for a national theatre in Ottawa to the greater effort to find new grain markets.

But they jibed from two or

Springhill Will Have New Mine Says Minister

HALIFAX (CP)—The mining town of Springhill, N.S., without a coal mine for more than a year, seems virtually assured of having another mine opened.

Mines Minister Manson said Monday he anticipates the Nova Scotia cabinet will give "formal approval" Thursday to an application from Acadia Coal Mines Limited to open a new mine in the hard-luck town. The government is prepared to lend the company with a $150,000 loan.

No final agreement has been worked in Springhill since Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation closed its operations after the Oct. 29, 1958, disaster which killed 75 miners. "Details" of the mines were being worked and the HOUSE was asked to consider them down as unsafe.

The company, headed by D. Cowan Coleman and Sydney Mines, N.S., wants to open a mine with an estimated daily production of 500 tons.

When the mine gets into full production, the company says it will employ 150 to 200 men. More than 800 miners were left unemployed after last year's disaster.

Children Hold Deck Party as Gale Pounds Away at Stranded Liner

GIBRALTAR (Reuters) — Children held a deck party aboard the British liner Braemar Castle today as a gale-lashed sea pounded the 17,629-ton vessel harder around her hours-old ship's offi cers reported by radio.

He said all was well among the 300 passengers and crew of the 20,000 London-bound liner was driven ashore Monday night.

Attempts by tugs to reach the ship have failed so far in the heavy seas.

Two tugs radioed they were standing by at a distance and could not get alongside the liner, aground on the Spanish coast between Gibraltar and Algeciras.

The gale raged all night in the

New Trading Stamp Scheme Would Give Customer Choice Of Merchandise or Premiums

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Steinberg's Limited, one of Canada's largest supermarket chains, announced Monday a new trading stamp scheme offering customers the alternative of redeeming stamps for store merchandise or premiums.

President Sam Steinberg said in Montreal the action was taken in the light of the report issued in Ottawa by the anti-combines price spreads. Stamps have been redeemable only for premiums.

He declined to comment on the 368-page report saying he had not read it yet in its entirety.

The commission's statement that Canada's three largest breakfast food firms had an average profit return on invested capital of 29.2 per cent was questioned by the Kellogg Co. of Battle Creek. Quite Company was concerned.

Mark Kelloer, personnel and public relations manager for the Peterborough firm, said the report failed to point out that basis would be only a small fraction. He said the companies' shareholders' percentage profits are not high. Kellogg's stock is stated by the commission report.

At one point the report recommends that the federal combines inquiry activities into the buying and selling practices of food business organizations in the food industries. Association of Canada. The report has already been "intensive" activity in that field.

He said Kellogg's would be delighted to reduce promotional expenses. But if the firm did, he added, its products just wouldn't sell.

"It is an extremely competitive business."

Bertram Loeb, president of Independent Grocers' Alliance, commented he agreed that combines officials have the technical experience to make an accurate report. Only one of the seven was directly related with a food-retailing firm.

A commission suggestion for a specified cash discount in lieu of trading stamps was impractical and illegal, said Mr. Loeb. The latter is outrageous dividend to consumers as an alternative to promotional devices was labelled impossible by J. Scott Feggans, vice-president of Dominion Stores.

Comment was divided on the commission's decision that trading stamps were undesirable.

David Gilbert, general manager of the Canadian Retail Merchants Association, said the report didn't go far enough. He had hoped it would recommend that trading stamps be outlawed.

Leon Weinstein, president of Power Supermarkets, said the commission's suggestion would be better off without trading stamps. "A little shortsighted."

Mr. Feggans interpreted as a suggestion that the Government of Canada should be amended to add the teeth necessary for a complete ban on trading stamps.

Pope's 'Army' to Accord Eisenhower Full Honors

The pontiff has ordered that the Swiss guards who will be greeted in the Vatican's courtyard by a company of Palatine Guards; a 19th-century blue and white Papal regiment.

Strains of the United States National Anthem will be sounded through the ancient cloisters of the sovereign Papal State—one of Europe's "private" visitors, however important, are entitled to no music and only a simple honor guard.

Vatican sources also reported today that Eisenhower will visit Rome's North American pontifical college and the Catholic church in the Pope's private library.

The Pope's summer palace, which will be used during the president's visit, is at Castel Gandolfo, 15 miles from the Vatican to Rome airport. There have also been reports that Eisenhower will arrive at the Vatican by helicopter.

Security officials have been reported concerned at the prospect of Eisenhower driving through the immense crowds which traditionally throng St. Peter's Square, opposite the world's largest basilica, every Sunday.

Client Overcharged

TORONTO (CP) — Judge W. T. Robb, chairman of the Ontario Liquor Control Board in Monday he was heard of a case in which a lawyer charged a client by $4,000 for handling a licence application.

The applicant was charged $5,000 when $1,000 would have been ample, he said.

The board is responsible for licensing of all liquor outlets in the province.

"Nobody has any influence with the Board in such a licence," Judge Robb said. "People that are paying these fees are just throwing their money away."

He said the board has heard stories that "unfaithful peddlers" have taken money from licences and convince them they need special influence.

MP TO REMARRY

JERUSALEM (AP) — Authoritative sources said Foreign Minister Golda Meir agreed Monday to remain in the government. She had a talk with Premier David Ben-Gurion, who was reported to have asked her to become a member of the new government. Informed Mrs. Meir earlier had expressed a desire to retire.

Defence Head Neil H. McElroy Resigns Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Neil H. McElroy resigned today as defence secretary and President Eisenhower chose Thomas S. Gates Jr. now deputy secretary, to succeed him.

The resignation—long expected and effective immediately—was announced by the White House while McElroy was attending a meeting of the National Security Council with Eisenhower present.

At that session the president presented a gold medal of freedom to McElroy for "outstanding service to the nation" and "his dedication to his task."

McElroy, 53, plans to resume the presidency of Procter and Gamble of Cincinnati, Ohio, soap manufacturers.

McElroy will step out after approximately a year of preparing the defence budget for the fiscal year starting July 1.

McElroy has been intending to step down earlier but his plans for a revised because of the death May 8 of Deputy Secretary Donald Quarles who had been groomed to take his place.

Quarles, a 54-year-old Philadelphia investment banker, had intended to quit as navy secretary in July but was persuaded to stay on in the deputy post.

Given 3 Years For Car Theft

WHITBY (CP) — Crown Attorney Alex Hall said Monday he suspected an international car theft ring was operating United States cars into Canada.

"I feel this is more than an isolated instance," he said after Leonard Stanley McCaffery, 31, Scarborough, was convicted of being in possession of a sports car stolen Sept. 18 from a lot in Abbasset, N.Y.

McCaffery was sentenced to three years in penitentiary. He told the county court jury that a man in Hamilton had given him $20 to drive the car to Toronto.

GOOD WEATHER AS OCEAN SHIPS CLEAR SEAWAY

Only 26 Vessels Still in Canal

MONTREAL (CP) — With weather conditions in its favor, deep-sea traffic was expected to clear out of the St. Lawrence Seaway by Tuesday morning.

A forecast of clear visibility and light winds and forecast continuation today of the brisk pace set by ocean-bound ships in their race against the onset of winter.

By midnight Monday, 40 vessels had cleared the final barrier at Iroquois, Ont., in a 24-hour period. That left 25 to come.

VESSEL AGROUND

There was one doubtful case. A salvage tug from Kingston was struggling to free the Norwegian freighter Vilja, which ran aground on a shoal one mile west of Brockville Sunday night, and was taking water.

The vessel's 23 crew members and two would-be stowaways were ready to drop into the water on the odd chance that Vilja might be swept off the shoal.

Officials said the Vilja, en route to Europe with a cargo of bulk beans and soya meal from Thunder Bay, Ont., would be brought here for repairs if she can be pulled free soon. Her owner was also said to have spend the winter inland.

An unconfirmed report said there was about 11 feet of water in the hold. The Kingston Salvage tug was in Port Colborne with engine trouble. The Panamanian Theodorus A. has been immobilized at Sorel in the mouth of the Richelieu River.

Plan to Resume Diplomatic Relations

LONDON (Reuters) — British and the United Arab Republic have agreed to resume diplomatic relations, broken off during the Anglo-French Suez invasion.

A foreign office announcement said the two governments "have agreed to re-establish diplomatic relations at the level of chargers d'affaires." Egypt joined with Syria to form the U.A.R. in 1958.

Officials here said the British decision was announced by Colin Crowe, prevent head of a British property commission now a Cairo, to Gamal Salem, head of U.A.R. charge d'affaires in London.

Swiss diplomatic "caretakers" moved out of the British Embassy in Cairo Monday night. A British mission is expected to open in Cairo by the end of the month.

Switzerland has looked after British interests in Egypt since relations were ruptured. It is expected to be relieved of that responsibility when full relations are restored later.

Two Networks Say Technicians Dubbed in Noise on Ike's Visit

NEW YORK (AP)—Two American networks say their technicians in New York dubbed in the noise of the crowd noises heard in television coverage of President Eisenhower's recent trip to Europe.

The American Broadcasting Company and the Columbia Broadcasting System acknowledged Monday that during the very intances recorded crowd noises were dubbed in. The sounds were either lacking or faded by the time they reached the

The National Broadcasting Company said it used only the sound made by the crowd accompanied the president during his travels.

Meanwhile, CBS President Frank Stanton issued a warning to employees that anyone guilty of bribery or "payola" would be fired. CBS is in the process of whereby record companies pay disc jockeys to plug records that might not otherwise catch the public fancy.

He announced the appointment of James A. Stabile, a lawyer, as vice-president in charge of policy and practices. His job will be to keep an eye on practices in connection with programs carried by NBC's radio and TV networks.

Manhattan District Attorney Frank S. Hogan's office also is investigating payola charges. Miss Alan Freed, a champion of the "rock 'n' roll" sound, refused Monday to testify before a grand jury under rules that would make him liable to possible prosecution on the basis of his own testimony.

WNEW-TV and radio station WABC have both dropped Freed. He has said he never accepted payola, but had accepted what he called consultant fees.

Believe 24 Killed As Plane Crashes Into Mountain

Turned Away in Storm To Try New Landing

MONTOURSVILLE, Pa. (AP)—An Allegheny Airlines plane, groping for a landing in a snowstorm at the Lycoming airport, crashed into a 1,400-foot mountain Monday. The airport official said there was at least one survivor.

An air force sergeant, dropped at the crash scene with doctors, radioed a request for more medical aid, indicating that there might be other survivors, an airlines official said in Washington.

The plane was en route from Philadelphia to Cleveland and struck Eagle Mountain about midway from the top. There were 25 passengers and three crew members aboard.

Tom Schadt, a salesman, said he saw the twin-engined plane approach the Williamsport-Montoursville airport, turn away for a new landing try, and then head directly into the nearby mountains in this central Pennsylvania area.

"I heard the pilot gun his motors," Schadt said. "A second later I felt the pulled free soon. The plane crash."

An air force helicopter pilot who spotted the wreckage, called it a "big explosion and wreckage, except for the tail section, which is intact." He said he could see one passenger still strapped to a seat high up in a tree.

State police described the visibility as "practically zero." The air force helicopter located the crash about 11:25 a.m., some two hours after the airliner was due at the airport.

At Washington, an airlines spokesman said the pilot had reported heavy icing as he was cleared for a landing at 9:41 a.m. Snow was falling at the time.

Mr. K. Ready For Summit Talk Any Time, Place

BUDAPEST (CP) — Nikita Khrushchev today renewed his pledge to attend a summit conference any time and any place.

The Soviet government," the Russian premier said, "is prepared to attend such a meeting at any time and place acceptable to all its participants." He was making an address to the congress of the Hungarian Communist party.

He said a summit conference offers hope of a "new step forward" toward lasting peace.

Khrushchev blamed "serious mistakes" of the former Stalinist rulers of Hungary for the 1956 Hungarian revolt. But "imperialist hopes" for the collapse of socialism in Hungary have failed.

He pledged Russia to a policy of peaceful coexistence and renewed his offer to "destroy all rocket-launching and submarine and nuclear warheads" if countries agree on universal disarmament.

The Soviet program for total and complete disarmament, his recent visit to the United States, and his meetings and discussions with President Eisenhower had brought about a more relaxed situation of tension—"but that was only the beginning."

It now was necessary to approach the question of a summit conference in a reasonable way and to take account of the wishes of the other partners.

To start with, he stressed the occupation regime in West Berlin was no condition to follow the policy of "positions of strength."

The Soviet Union would adhere to the principles of coexistence. The desire for peace was by no means a sign of weakness.

Khrushchev arrived here Sunday to attend the Hungarian party conference. He was elected a member of the presidium at the opening session Monday.

Who Listens to Eggheads?

TORONTO (CP) — "I question whether a petition signed in Toronto today can get votes of eggheads is worth anything. They ever listens to eggheads?"

This was the objection voiced Monday night by Dr. W. H. Watson, head of the department of Toronto's department of physics, to a petition urging the end of production and testing of nuclear weapons.

The petition, started last week by a group of faculty members, is circulating through the university. More than 500 professors have signed it.

The petition organizers admit they are meeting pockets of resistance among some students and faculty members.

JOB EVALUATION FOR ALL POSITIONS URGED BY ALDERMAN

A job evaluation for all positions at the city hall was urged last night by Alderman Frank Grandame but said that such a system should be placed into effect as soon as possible.

He added that a firm of job evaluation experts be retained to evaluate the various positions at city hall, noting that this would relieve council the responsibility of deciding on salary increases for city employees.

Jobs should be evaluated in relation to the skill and ability which was required to carry them out and not according to the senility of a respective employee, he said.

COUNCILLORS VOTE TO PROTECT QUARRY

Alderman Les Boley Monday evening at city council noted that while skating a young girl had gone through the ice while trying to rescue her, had also broken through.

He asked if it would be possible for the city public works department to protect the quarry in some manner until the ice was safer.

Councillors were of the opinion, however, that snow fencing would not keep children out of the quarry.

"Snow fencing would never keep boys out if they wanted to skate," observed one councillor.

TWO DUMP TRUCKS IN COLLISION

Two dump trucks engaged in highway construction on Highway No. 14 highway, south of Belleville, collided this morning following considerable damage to both of the vehicles.

Provincial Police at Belleville said the trucks, one of them loaded and the other empty, were travelling on the by-pass across the long swamp when the loaded one skidded on some ice and slid into the other vehicle.

No one was injured.

Rotarians Hear 3 Candidates, Albert Chorus

Belleville Rotary Club stretched its rules slightly yesterday, allowing three local candidates for municipal offices a chance to sound good-humored banter.

Mr. Cooke told the group that he would not be a vote all with a vote should exercise their right when election day comes around.

After a few words from Jack Ireland, another candidate, Walter Elliott injected a serious note when he urged Rotary members to make sure they vote on the question of Sunday sport and the subsidized bus system. (Later Monday the city council decided it was impossible to hold a vote on the bus question in this election).

"You should support a bus system," Mr. Elliott said. "Forty cities have been surveyed, all of which are being subsidized.

We will be stepping backwards of we don't support a bus system.

Messrs. Elliott, Cooke and Ireland were introduced by the sergeant-at-arms for . . . "campaigning."

Another break with the norm of the average Rotary meeting was the absence of guest speakers — it. Actually their speeches had been delivered Monday musical variety that is.

All 18 of the guests were students of Albert College and belonged to the College's male voice choir. They were making a return visit to the Club in place of the usual guest speaker.

The boys were under the direction of D. M. Irving, guest pianist soloist — who also accompanied the choir for the numbers — was Robin Russell of Cobourg and Albert College, who sang his ARCP degree in music.

The boys sang a selection of popular songs, "Tell Me Why," "Side by Side," "Barbershop Harmony" and "On the Street Where You Live" Mr. Russell played "Chopin's Waltz."

At the conclusion of the program, Irving thanked Rotary for playing host to the boys and told them it was a good club and to the students, to see a Club such as theirs at work and observe how older men don't lose their zest for living; and enjoying each other's company.

Guests to yesterday's meeting came from Toronto; Shannonville; Irving Shanked Rotarian and Bancroft. A special guest was given the guest from Toronto, Robert Grey, who sported an unblemished attendance record of 23 years without missing a Rotary meeting.

Sand Delivery Discontinued by Public Works

Belleville city works department this winter will discontinue its previous practice of delivering sand to householders on request.

It will continue to provide free sand in reasonable quantities for residents who call at the city barns to pick up their requirements.

The change in policy was recommended to council by city engineer Malcolm Turnbull, who said free home delivery of sand was practically impossible for city works department to continue.

He did not think a small charge for sand delivery was feasible as administration costs would be too high.

After some discussion on the feasibility of the city continuing to make sand deliveries at a small charge, councillors voted for the home deliveries to be discontinued. They agreed however, that sand should continue to be available at the city barns if residents picked it up in their own containers.

96 From Thirteen European Countries Swear Allegiance

Passing the scarlet and spurs fleecy of an erect Mountie, who was standing outside the council chamber yesterday, 92 men and women looked at him with a bit more than casual curiosity.

Their glance, at one time that is powerful enough to petrify, was more most possessive. They appeared to be saying to the Mountie, "You and I have something in common."

The 96 were -41 immigrants from 13 different countries who had gathered at the courthouse to become Canadian citizens. Their papers which hereafter define each and every one of them as Canadian citizens.

It had taken them five years, some study, exams and renunciation of their mother country to get that privilege.

They had come from Italy, Holland, Germany, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, Lithuania, France and even the United States to settle in this country.

Judge J. C. Anderson of Perth, citizenship judge, after delivering ceremony, asked each of them in turn to renounce their country and swear allegiance to Canada and Queen Elizabeth II.

Each signed their citizenship papers, a Bible by the Clerk of the Peace, and received a certificate and a maple leaf pin from members of the Belleville Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire.

Addressing the group following the ceremony, Judge Anderson said all of them held something in their hearts for the country where they were born and raised.

"I hope you keep the good things," he told them, "but we hope you will learn to obey the laws of Canada. Today, you have enriched our culture with your presence.

"We welcome you to this great country and to this province."

Members of the clergy also addressed the group who were welcomed on behalf of the city by Mayor Jack Ireland, who told Ireland told them Belleville was a city in which they would like to maintain its motto, "Belleville — the Friendly City."

Lee Grills, Federal MP for Hastings-Frontenac, was on hand to welcome the group on behalf of PM John Diefenbaker and the Federal cabinet.

At the close of the ceremony, all the group, plus their guests were invited to the Armories for refreshments served by IODE members.

Shopping Centre Being Planned In North Area

This was learned at city council last night when a letter from the above firm was read asking for an amendment in the area's by-law in that area. The letter indicated the property in which they were interested was in an area covered by different zoning regulations.

The request was referred to the next meeting of the planning committee.

Council Agrees Sick Leave Pay Owed D. Denyes

Belleville city council last night agreed in principal that the city owed sick leave pay to Denyes D. Denyes, dismissed city treasurer, but left it up to the city solicitor to determine the amount.

Mr. Denyes had submitted a written request for $865.50 to sick leave pay which he claimed had been built up during his 12 years' service with the city. He said he urgently needed the money.

Mayor Gerald B. Hyde said the only question arising was whether the city's agreement with its employees provided for sick leave to be paid when an employee was discharged for cause.

Assessment Commissioner Leighton Thompson said he understood the intention of the agreement was for paying the sick leave for any cause. Otherwise he said, the employee would start taking the one-and-a-half days per month sick leave.

Flood Problem Causes Resident To Seek Relief

A Humewood Ave. resident, Mr. Everett Gowsell, who is not satisfied with the cost of surfacing the roadway in front of his property, says he have it repeatedly break up because of poor construction, is seeking relief from the city.

Appearing before council in committee last night Mr. Gowsell, who lives at the corner of Humewood and Dufferin, said he was claimed the roadway should never have been surfaced until the water problem was solved. He said the water problem and the deteriorated roadway lowered the value of his property.

City Assessment Commissioner Leighton Thompson told the council that the court of revision had reduced Mr. Gowsell's assessment by $300.

City engineer Malcolm Turnbull said the city was maintaining the roadway to the best of its ability.

But it was agreed the trouble would continue until the water problem was solved and Mayor Gerald Hyde said it would cost an estimated $380,000 to drain the area with storm sewers.

Mr. Gowsell was told by council that apparently the only course he had for further relief was to make application to the county court.

Girls' Parents' Night at 'Y' Fine Success

Some 450 persons were present to witness the most successful girls' parents' night held at the Belleville YMCA last Saturday evening. About 300 girls of the association put on several displays for their parents and guests. The program girls, from 12 to 18, held several relay races and gave a demonstration of the Virginia reel.

The junior girls (ages 12 to 15) put on several gymnastic displays on the trampoline, rings, mat, and the horse as well as a tumbling exhibition. Intermediate girls (from 15 to 18 years of age) gave an advanced gym display and the girls' Junior Leaders' Corps also gave a very fine exhibition of their prowess on the rings and pommel horse.

A special feature of the evening was the presentation of swimming certificates to 30 grade eight girls by Dr. Harold Craig, chairman of the Quinte Water Safety Committee. These girls, none of whom, was able to swim before taking grade eight, were given instruction at the "Y" under the learn-to-swim program sponsored by grade eight students under the auspices of the water safety council with the assistance of the YMCA.

A swimming display was put on for the guests in the pool of the "Y" at the end of the evening program, and refreshments were served in the gymnasium.

Mrs. Ireland, president of the Belleville YMCA extended the greeting of the board to the visitors. This coming Saturday evening there will be a dance for the boys' parents night and a suitable and interesting program has been arranged for the parents and guests.

Roused by Cat, Woman Flees Burning Home

MADOC — On Saturday morning about 2.30 a.m., fire of unknown origin completely gutted the home of Mrs. Egbert Demorest. Mrs. Demorest was alone in the home and had it not been for her cat, which aroused her, she might have been suffocated by the dense smoke. However she ran to her neighbor's, Mrs. Harry Bailey, and the firemen were soon on the scene. Owing to the smoke and fire in partitions it was some time before they had the flames under control.

It was impossible to save anything and the contents were completely lost. Mrs. Demorest had some insurance.

Both Mayoralty Candidates Agree New Fire and Police Building Should Be Delayed

TRENTON — At last night's ratepayers' meeting at the city hall Mayor Lorne Community Gardens it was the opinion of both candidates for mayor that council that the construction of the proposed new police and fire department building should be postponed indefinitely, until such time as the municipality is assured of the necessary funds for the project.

Three members of last year's council, Councillor Bradshaw and Messrs. Cain and Mayor Ross Burtt expressed themselves as being of that opinion, and James MacDonald, who will oppose Mr. Burtt for the mayor's chair, Mr. Burtt for the mayor's chair, N. J. McNair and J. Roy Brown, seeking seats on the 1960 council, all were out in favor of waiting until the finances of the town warranted such an undertaking.

Mr. Brown said that the east end of the river should have more protection against fire before any new building was erected on the west side. Mayor Burtt and Mr. MacDonald agreed that the people of Trenton should be allowed to vote on the issue before any plans were completed. Mr. McNair thought that the old buildings would serve for quite a some time to come.

Councillor Bradshaw, while admitting that the old buildings were inadequate, thought the new building should be carefully budgeted for.

Another point on which there was general agreement by all present, councillors who are seeking re-election, and non-candidates, was that more public support in the forthcoming elections would be desirable, for the first time after a number of years absence the town had had at the "capital budgeting". All were in favor of the plebiscite being held at the end of the year for the most economical spending of the public funds, and a town council advising by a strict budget.

MAYOR ANSWERS CRITICS

Mayor Burtt, in his appeal to the taxpayers to return him to the mayor's chair for another year, lashed out at news stories and editorials which have appeared in a local paper commenting on the fact that the Community Gardens held a political meeting between the Public Utilities Commission and representative of the office of the Deputy Minister of Defence, on politics".

He said that he thought the Community Gardens was the last shown had taste by calling him up to the meeting, and then presenting and "bawling" him out. He said that the report of the inquiry into the plane fatal had caused the controversy, did not appear in the first 24 hours week following the exchange of words, and he thought that the report should be held until after the meeting was over to criticize him.

Mayor Burtt also touched briefly on planning and zoning, the suit against planning but that he thought the board carried on in the best way it could, older, more settled areas of the town, where zoning by-laws were not allowed to build on their own property to augment their incomes.

SUPPORTERS PLANNING

Mr. MacDonald appealed to the voters on the strength of his record as a former ratepayers' on council. He said that, as a member of the Public Utilities, he realized the overall long-range intention of the board's policy, and the way in which would attract new citizens and industries.

Councillors Howard Aziz, W. H. Bradshaw, C. V. Graham, Earl Lange, and Lloyd Weese, gave their reports for the year, showing improvements and expenditures in the departments over which they had jurisdiction. Each councillor appealed for re-election on the grounds mentioned earlier.

J. Roy Brown stated that if he were elected he would endeavor to serve the electors to the best of his ability and said that as a retired man he would have ample time to devote to the town's business.

BUILT SUBDIVISIONS

James F. Day, also seeking a seat on council, stated that he had served the town by instituting and constructing a number of subdivisions within the town limits, which were giving good returns in taxes to the town.

John D. Ferguson said that while he had not had previous experience in municipal government, he had studied the problems of the town with interest, and that he felt he had a good knowledge of them. Fred Donald R. Fraser asked for re-election to council on the strength of his previous experience as a member of the Community Garden Commission and the Court of Revision. He said that he felt that the assessment problem, and that, while some sections might suffer as a result of now being put on an equal basis, the final analysis the town gained because of the more equitable assessment possible. Mr. Fraser said that many industries looked for a community which did not have guaranteed zoning laws. He later also stated that he was in favor of planned capital expenditure and a budget system. He said that the municipal bodies should account to the taxpayer for every dollar spent. He felt that councillors should not receive a salary, but should have an "expense account. Mr. Fraser said that if he were elected he would be guided by what he to think positively and act accordingly.

Charles Hilton, who has previously served as councillor, said that he felt that the town was getting a good deal for its money, and felt that any council exercised should curb capital expenditures.

CANDIDATE AT 20

N. J. McNair, 20 year old candidate in Trenton, who celebrated his 20th birthday in August, appealed to the voters on the strength of previous experience in council. He said one plank in his platform, that of postponing the proposed new fire hall and police station. Mr. McNair also said that he would donate his salary as councillor to charity if elected as he "received the old age pension and didn't need the salary.

BOTH MAYORALTY

J. J. Whitley, also seeking a seat on town council, stated that he was in favor of having more economy into the town's affairs if he were elected.

Ernest Bateman, chairman of the Board of Education for the past four years, touched on future plans for expansion of the Trenton educational facilities. He said that a new public school in the Sidney Street and Byron Street vicinity seemed to be indicated, and that either an additional room be added to the Main Street school in the near future or a new high school built on the west side of the river.

Mr. Ketcheson said that, if elected, he felt that he would bend his efforts towards keeping down the cost of living in the town.

F. J. Aziz, C.A. Crane and Fred Jeffries, all members of last year's board, presented their reports and stated that they were candidates.

George Greer, who has sat on the board previously, told the voters that if they thought he was a man of ability to serve on the board, he felt that he was not qualified.

Lou E. Knack stated that he had no experience on the board but felt that he could do a good job on the basis of his experience in the Trenton area as executive member of twb Home and School Associations.

OTHER CANDIDATES

Clifford Baker, present chairman of the Public Utilities Commission, reported on the votes on the work done by the commission during the past year, and appealed for re-election on the basis of past experience.

Wilbert Toppold also seeking a seat on the commission, stated that if elected he would investigate the possibility of improving the water on the east side of the river.

Faulty Wiring Believed Cause Of House Fire

TRENTON — Yesterday afternoon Trenton firemen were called to 99 Dufferin Street, where fire had broken out in an upstairs bedroom of the home owned and occupied by F/S and Mrs. W. J. Lamoureux, who have recently moved to Trenton from Uplands. The house had formerly been owned by Miss Margaret Long, who died a short time ago. Mrs. Lamoureux is Miss Long's niece.

Mrs. Lamoureux stated that she had put the youngest of the couple's six children in his crib for an afternoon nap, and returned downstairs. She heard the child whining, and after making one of the calls from device to investigate, ran upstairs herself, to find that fire had broken out above the child's bed. She immediately called the fire department and rushed the younger children to a neighbor's home.

The fire was soon brought under control. It is thought that the fire was caused by faulty wiring. F/S and Mrs. Lamoureux have lost all their furniture in the fire, which has not been insured.

Mayor Tells Council City May Be Without Service When Bus Franchise Expires

The city of Belleville may well be without a bus service next year, members of city council were told Monday evening.

Mayor Gerald Hyde noted that the time was now past for passing the question of subdidization by the bus line before the people in a referendum and the present contract with the Rawlings Bus Lines expires on December 20th.

Mayor Hyde told council that a firm of auditors retained by the city to ascertain the bus company's financial position had not been able to come up in time with a suggested figure for subsidization and it would not now be possible to put the question before the electors at Monday's election. The suggested subsidization figure for the referendum was one mill on the tax rate.

Mayor Hyde said a special referendum for that particular purpose, Mr. Stewart explained, there will be no bus service on January 2nd," he said.

Mayor Hyde further said he had been advised by City Solicitor E. Guss Porter that council would have sufficient time for advertising to place the referendum and also quoted the Municipal Act which says that it does not ask for an expression of opinion on the question of bus subsidization.

"It will be a hot potato for next year's council", observed Alderman Argue, noting that the people will suffer if they refused to subsidize the bus company by up to $60,000, while the merchants would suffer if there were no buses.

County Councillors Convene For Last Session of Year, Welcomed by Warden Brown

Hastings county councillors convened at Shire Hall this morning for their fourth and final regular council session of the year with Warden Jack H. Brown officially welcoming the members to the session.

He had a special word of welcome for Deputy Reeve Vincent Heatley of Hungerford township who was named to this position following the resignation of Reeve James N. Rollin who quit his township council to accept the position of municipal clerk. Warden Brown said Mr. Rollin would be missed at council after his lengthy membership in that body.

Warden Brown noted there was a possibility the council session may be concluded this Thursday evening and asked for the co-operation of councillors to help get the business done.

Referring to the new Hastings county road system the warden noted that construction was progressing favorably with the exception of some sections having commenced.

One of the items of business on the session agenda will be the appointment of a new road superintendent, while another will be the consideration of a resolution from the Hastings county Educational Consultative committee which has recommended that the 5th concession of Sidney be designated a "school zone" making it possible for the village of Frankford to join the Quinte District High School Area.

Reeve Willmott Rose of Frankford, said this was the only way in which his municipality could secure the high school area.

SIDNEY FOR MEMBER

Department of Education regulations require that only adjoining municipalities may have members of a school area, in the case of Frankford this is Sidney township and the township of Sidney is not a member of the area.

Mr. Rose said the Department would approve of the transfer as it was anxious to help his village.

Reeve Dunleigh Hamilton of Sidney said his municipality was willing to go along with the motion but wanted to know whether the Bay of Quinte High School Board would accept Frankford as a member municipality.

Reeve Rose asked that a by-law would then be approved at this council session as this would open the way for his village to "talk business" with school area officials.

It pointed out that the motion making the 5th of Sidney a "corridor" would not affect Sidney township in any way.

Should that council progress would be made this year towards the finalization of annexation adjustments between Belleville, Sidney and Thurlow townships and the City Treasurer Reve Alf Wickett.

He was referring to the Belleville-Hastings special committees from each municipality which are working out the adjustments. Mr. Wickett felt such liaison should first consider the matter and bring back recommendations to councils.

He said that auditors have indicated that no figure could be arrived at for consideration of the adjustments until the last week in December and he doubted if anything could be done until the first of the new year.

Notification that the county council would not be represented by still another member was given during the morning session.

The township of Herschel has been legislated out of the needed the necessary approval for separation from the county of Hastings and next year will send a reeve to county council. Previously Deputy Reeve Malcolm Eagle have been combined township and sent only one reeve to county council.

"There will be another new councillor here next year," commented Warden Brown. "A new Reeve from Herschel. C. A. will have to figure out where to put it."

In the present there are 33 members in county council.

Madoc-Foxboro Road In Remain in County System

Hopes of Hastings county councillors that the Madoc-Foxboro county road might be taken over by the Ontario Highways department as an extension of No. 62 highway, were dashed this morning on the reading of a letter from Highways Minister Hon. Fred Cass, stating that the road was not sufficient travel to the road to warrant its being a provincial highway.

The letter from the Highways minister is believed to be based on statistics forwarded by county council and other local bodies for the purpose of having the road taken over as a highway.

The letter indicated that survey had shown that although traffic on Madoc road was increasing, it was not yet sufficient than half that which travelled on No. 37 highway or No. 14 highway.

Also the number of households which the road served was less than half served by either of the two parallel provincial arteries.

The letter noted that the highways "very adequately" provided service for Hastings county and added that the traffic on the Madoc road did not warrant it.

Safe-Driving Week

We have always had a grudging admiration for people who reach for the moon. That this figure of speech may soon lose its force, if it has not already done so, is privately admitted that sometimes high ambitions do not have to be their own reward, but can be the first step toward high achievements.

For this reason we applaud the Canadian Highway Safety Council in its choice of a specific objective for "Safe-Driving Week," December 1 to December 7. The aim: "To reach the apathetic motorist and pedestrian. This is the group who refuse to believe the advice, information and pleas for safe-driving and safe-walking have anything to do with them. They are convinced it is all for anyone and everyone else."

These unfortunate people, says the Safety Council, must be reached and exposed.

If the Safety Council achieves its ambition, we shall be as surprised as we would if a U.S. rocket brought back the Man in the Moon eating green cheese.

Nevertheless, we should feel it our duty to assist the Safety Council in its endeavor, if we had any idea on how to do so. "Methods," says the Safety Council "must be factual, sincere and concise." The only factual, sincere and concise contribution which we can make to the cause is to note that, when the Safety Council says that the apathetic motorist and pedestrian belongs to a cult which is decreasing, we find no difficulty in believing that statement. The statement, also, can only wonder how so many of them have managed to survive for so long.

If this observation savors of indifference, we are leaving our readers with the wrong impression. Nobody can afford to be indifferent to the apathetic motorist. Indeed, he can be so frequently manages to take somebody else with him.

Which shouldn't happen to a dog.

Killed Son, Granted Mercy

Has the death penalty been abolished in Canada? The latest commutation of a sentence to hang by the Federal Cabinet would make this appear highly likely. It was the 37th commutation since the Progressive Conservative Government took office in June of 1957 and during that time there have been only seven executions. However, it is not so much in numbers as in the facts surrounding the latest commutation of sentence that one should look. In future, executions will be very rare, if they occur at all.

The latest convicted murderer to have his sentence commuted was Joseph Takacs, of Fairground, near St. Thomas. He was twice tried. After his first conviction Takacs appealed, a second trial was held and a jury once again found him guilty as charged, without any recommendation for mercy. He was accused of killing his eight-year-old stepson, who had been clubbed and had had his throat cut.

When the perpetrator of such a murder has his sentence commuted, it seems unlikely that anybody will in future be hanged.

Some members of the House of Commons are on record as predicting that if a free vote were held, without members being required to support a party policy, a large majority would approve the abolition of the death sentence.

If the sentence is going to be abolished anyway, by cabinet intervention, the sooner the law is changed and life sentences are made the only penalty for murder, the better.

REAL PLEASURE

By EDGAR A. GUEST

When you're weary of dances and parties,
And cards are beginning to pall,
When you're tired of the neighbors who nightly
Drop in just to pay you a call,
Aren't you glad when there's nothing to go to
And nobody coming your way,
So that you can lock up at nine-thirty
And tumble right into the hay?

There's the nothing that equals the pleasure
Of getting home once in a while,
Not having to hurry your supper,
To shave and to dress up in style,
To feel that there's no place to go to
And nobody coming your way,
And you lock up the house at nine-thirty
And tumble right into the hay.

Not the night that you dance until morning,
Though you try to let on that you're gay,
But the night you lock up at nine-thirty
And tumble right into the hay.

Why So Few Toys for Little Girls?

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Anyone who has expended much effort in buying toys for small children must have come across the curious fact that there are lots of things for little boys, but not very many things for little girls.

Hundreds of aggressive and ingenious toys are available for a boy to break, but what does one get for a little girl who is still too young for cutouts and sewing sets?

Dolls, of course. One reason girls have so many dolls of all sizes and shapes is that there is little else on the market for them. I never have trouble picking up an amusing gadget for Michael, but I can rarely find anything even remotely suitable for Barbara.

As a result, of course, she quickly appropriates many of his toys, and the imbalance is frequently in a bitter state of affairs. Girls, as a result, really buy guns and cement-mixers and rocket-ships for a girl.

What Barbara needs, after she will mimic her mother, and become heavily involved in toy washing machines and stoves and all the other domestic gadgets that will confirm her femininity. But right now, she mostly plays with Mike's broken or battered cast off toys.

There is no doubt in my mind that women will one up with some sense of inferiority because of this. Most of the splendid toys are made for boys — the large, noisy, shiny, spectacular, and highly expensive. Girls are given soft toys, usually of a passive nature. It is the theory that they play more quietly than their rambunctious brothers.

Yet, women have the same aggressive tendencies as men do: the same instincts, the same need to discharge surplus energy, the same frustrations and the same resentments against the looming adult world.

If these tendencies are not permitted to be released in childhood, I suspect that the girls grow up to be some of the nervous, bossy, shrill, second-class citizens. Much of the gossip and backbiting that is a tribute to the woman. I am convinced, is the result of this frustration. She uses her tongue as a weapon to compensate for the weapons she lacks.

Perhaps we are making a huge mistake in separating toys according to gender. The difference between the sexes are considerable, but what is not widely everyone knows the differences, and the sense of one of the similarities. Given a gun to shoot, or a cement-mixer to play around with, I imagine that the little girl may grow up feeling more like a person and less like an inferior edition of her swaggering brother.

Calls Men Peeping Toms

Vancouver Sun

The battle of the sexes is an issue in which a newspaper hesitates to take sides.

Therefore we'd not take sides with British fashion consultant Jane Dunlop when she assist her in her attack on men who read women's fashion magazines.

She calls them "peeping toms" and "nosey parkers." They doyou wonder? — dealers mysterious by learning all the tricks. Such a book as the strapless evening gown is really held up: how the new all-in-one foundations work, the uplift bra. And then they spend the evening lapping and licking the whole length, look if they didn't wear one.

"All these revelations about how to trap the customer are being read by the quarry," says Miss Garnett. And she's bitter about it.

The parts of bombed Nazi newspapermen which was privileged to visit the Royal Canadian Air Force Station near Trenton with the kind permission of the Department of National Defence gazed with mingled awe and admiration at the handling of the planes that streaked over their heads, the efficiency of the training of Canada's wartime pilots was brought home to them, with something that pulled at their hearts.

"It brought a lump to one's throat as we watched these clean-eyed youngsters", said one member of the party, "rocket-like their confident stride toward the waiting planes "on the line" climb into the cockpit, signal all clear with a wave of the hand, then zoom up into the air with the ease of a bird.

Later they saw them standing at attention in the centre of a hollow square, during the ceremony of admission of twelve pilots who had successfully passed the Air Force equivalent to the Army's Tommy Atkins and the Navy's Jack Tar, members of the station staff and others of Camp Borden Station of the Air Force, pin the coveted "wings" on their breasts.

Camouflage. And if all's fair in love and war, why then, men are at war with women, and they cover the enemy's tricks.

Miss Garnett, we no doubt, regard the advertising columns of the women's magazines as the work of the satires of Swift or Juvenal.

But it's worth pointing out that Juvenal, the Roman of 1,500 years ago, knew as much about feminine frailties as any man, and they had no fashion magazines then.

SUCCESS THROUGH FAILURES

Every day gives to the world new successes which had to go through the path of many a failure to reach the final triumph. There is nothing like a thrilling as to congratulate yourself for gaining a clear fight for a purpose!

Many a success has paved its way over a road of failures. It is natural to succeed and unnatural to fail. Each one of us are placed in this world to earn a merited success. We were also put here to bolster up faint hearts! It is no disgrace to wish the aid and good will of others.

There are those who make it a point to stand out as worthy examples and who notice it about that they accept the challenge to make themselves outstanding and well armed with courage to carry on emergency.

Walk right part your many failures. Don't count them. Forget that they were ever noticed. It is amazing how our failures can fade away when we pay no attention to them! Actually they are but the ghosts of yesterday.

No one can call himself a failure, however, who has contributed to the happiness of just one else, and who has inspired that one to seek for higher success is only a relative term. The greatest failure is that of ceasing to prove to be one of its outstanding greats!

There is so much to be discovered about life. Each of us may become a discoverer, thereby furnishing the Light to many a companion on the highroad of life to lead it from the darkness of superstition and ignorance. With a balanced mind, all hope is near. You can be a Success.

Get that mind healthy. Keep feel sure your future will be a success and I sincerely hope your wings will take you high and far. God bless you, and good luck!

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

A man who tries to escape payment for his mistakes is no different from the man who tries to evade paying his grocery bill or the plumber. Yet any number of enterprising people come in to the news editor not to print his name in connection with a police case, a court action, a will in a charitable report, or some other occasion in which his good name is bound to be affected.

And certainly no hour of the day passes in which, somewhere in any community anywhere, people are not piously begging forgiveness so they won't have to make the slightest change in their behavior.

The local lawyer who has been involved in literally thousands of cases nearly all of which originated in a petty annoyance on the part, told me:

"Most disputes may be divine. But it has been my experience that the bitterest human relationships are those in which a observed a principle as simple and old as the commercial principle of paying one's bills in full. The only truly happy people I have served were those who paid up their little mistakes. As some old got away with it, as the saying goes, never did get away with it. I have watched them growing old, with their eyes averted, and their seem to shrivel in the process more than the rest of us."

Letters To The Editor

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer:

Although I left Belleville over twelve years ago, my interest in it, and in the old home town have not waned. It is unlikely one anyone else in Belleville will be interested in the Intelligencer, but you have my personal permission that they are welcome to read it every day. Perhaps the old friends will receive the great advantage of the "Valley" last year was enthusiastically cheered by the several Portlanders who have come to know Belleville through me and through studious attention to your fine newspaper.

Incidentally, following Sports Illustrated's article two weeks ago, suitably inserted under Brenda Lee's photograph, the local needle experts began their work. My home town prided soon resembled an old piano roll.

When forces opposed to the democratic system of government first assert themselves they strive for control of the press and other media of mass communication. If this statement surprises me well, I believe you editorialized in the same vein not succinct a few years ago when Hitler was rising to power. Your reaction then, beyond contradiction, manifested your belief in the freedom and responsibilities of a free press in maintaining and preserving that spiritual and the fact of freedom.

It is generally conceded that a free, skilful use of the press could be vital to the democratic process. An informed citizenry and a practice of scrutiny applied to every phase of governmental activities which sometimes are treat a moral obligation of free, conscientious citizenship. Success by the public at large to the responsibilities of a city administration cannot reasonably be gained by means other than the columns of a good newspaper. An uninformed public will be prone to apathy and again to be an apathetic public-ity.

If you confront city officials with the unyielding, realistic notion that all their official selections are being observed and reported, their tendency will be to remain within designated moral boundaries. I trust that your editorial policy will prove of watchfulness and challenge.

The intelligencer affords me much pleasure and knowledge, and I value the sustaining bond it provides with my home place.

Thank you for your generosity in affording me this space.

It has with considerable pleasure that I read your editorial the Magic of the Theatre.

We, of the Belleville Theatre Guild, are deeply encouraged by the realization that our aims are understood.

We believe that there can be no substitute for live theatre, which should have a place in every community throughout Canada.

It is this conviction alone that supplies the necessary drive to enable such a small group as ours to assume the overwhelming burden of work which a full scale production entails.

In the past we have received much criticism for our choice of plays. It was with this criticism in mind that we chose "Candida Women." We hoped that it would be accepted as an attractive title while it would give offence to no one. The reaction has been most gratifying.

It is always difficult and disappointing to play to a small audience, but I am happy to say that the first night audience number was doubled on the second, and tripled on the third [illegible] are well aware that many [illegible] desire and anxious to [illegible] but we are comforted by knowledge that ministers of Canada's professional [illegible] have come from groups such as ours.

EXCESSIVE ESTROGEN INVO LVED IN CYSTIC MASTITIS

As we said yesterday, once you remove a cyst from the breast in a case of cystic mastitis, that's the end of it — the end of that cyst, that is.

Since cysts are many, many glands in the breast, removal of one cyst does not ostatically insure against the formation of another.

After all, there was some reason for the cyst's having formed in the first place. If the underlying condition remains, then other cysts may form.

As we explained yesterday, excessive estrogen, or hormone, activity is involved. Cystic mastitis tends to occur when women are in their 20's and 30's, because that is when hormonal activity is at its peak.

After that, as this activity subsides, there is less chance of cysts forming, and the problem disappears at menopause.

For the intervening years, however, we naturally want to prevent more cysts from forming. We want to avoid them for their own sake, but we want to avoid the risk of one of them becoming malignant.

Therefore, when a cyst, or a number of cysts, have been removed, steps should be taken to control the excessive supply of estrogen. One method is to give large doses of Vitamin B to help break down the excess estrogen, or hormone.

In some cases, male hormone may be given to counterbalance it, and other treatments have been used with success, one of them being progesterone.

Still another possibility sometimes exists. There may be a tumor of the ovary which is causing excessive estrogen, and in such cases, removal of this tumor may be the answer. And there are other, more involved considerations which sometimes are the root of the trouble.

To get back to the original question, there is no reason at all why an operation for cystic mastitis should portend any trouble later in life. The cyst is out, and gone.

But treatment to avoid formation of more cysts is very definitely something which should be considered, and correcting the hormone balance will, at the same time, be helpful in other ways. For one thing, the excessive estrogen which is responsible for irregularities in menstruation, and that is well worth correcting, too.

Dear Dr. Molner: Would you give me some information about "breech birth"? — Mrs. R. W. C.

Ordinarily — about 93 per cent of the time — babies are born head first. In something like three to four per cent, the buttocks of the baby, instead of the head, come first; this is a breech birth.

There are various theories about the reason, first for (or baby in the formative stage) moves about considerably in pregnancy. Breech births are more common in premature births, it is argued. The small baby, in such cases, hasn't had time to acquire his normal turn around and "getting ready to be born." Breech deliveries, however, also are more common with women who have had several pregnancies. So far that, you have to adopt some other explanation.

Anyway, while the breech presentation creates problems for the doctor, and added strain for the mother as a rule, there is no implication that there is anything abnormal about either mother or baby. It just happens.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Please advise if it's proper for parents to arthritis may eat a ripe pear or ripe apple once in a while. — Mrs. H.

Canadian PLACE NAMES

FLIN FLON, Man.

This city in Northern Manitoba is the great Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting development, claims to be the only city in Canada named after a fictional hero in a book. The name of the book was "The Sunless City" and detailed the adventures of a character who descended into the interior of the earth and experienced such remarkable adventures in the populace made things hot for him. He was credited to have bored his way out through the earth's crust. A band of prospectors found gold in their possession as they dug here and there in search of gold. When these prospectors panned some of the dirt on the present site of Flin Flon they discovered a good showing of gold, they named the claim in honor of this fictional hero, Josiah Flinflon-way Flinton. They simply took the first syllables of the second and third names and came up with Flin Flon.

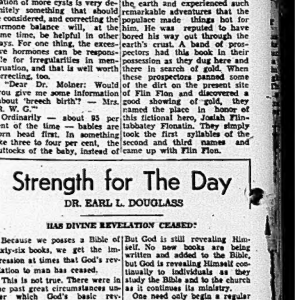
HAS DIVINE REVELATION CEASED?



Because we possess a Bible of daily-use books we are not impressed at times that God's revelation to man has ceased.

Such is not true. There were in the past great circumstances under which God's basic revelation of His character and purpose came through to the heart and minds of men. This revelation — or rather these revelations — for there were many — constitute the heart of our faith,

But God is still revealing Himself in new books now being written and added to the Bible. But God is revealing Himself continually to individuals as they read the Bible and to the church as it continues its ministry.

One need only begin a regular schedule of Bible reading and prayer to discover how this revelation of God continues to come through. We find ourselves encountering new meanings in passages of Scripture with which we have long been familiar. We start through some baffling situation of life and ask divine guidance and help. Then usually to our amazement (but why should we be amazed?) our petitions are answered. There is an overwhelming fashion that we wonder at the love of God and rejoice that He has given us ever more blessings than we asked for.

"God is love." Let us never remember this basic Bible truth. All that we need recides in His love. Whatever we need He is eager to give, and He gives it freely.

This afternoon marks the official opening of the annual Belleville Empire Dairy Show sponsored by the Central Ontario Cheesemakers' Association, a totally much work towards the success of this show has been going on over the past couple of days as the various entries were received, set up and finally judged. The results of this work were completed about noon today so that those attending the show and convention would be able to see the prize cheese on the competition right away.

Other speakers for the afternoon included J. N. Brown, warden of Hastings County; Mayor Gerald B. Hyde, who extended the greetings of the city; J. F. Robinson, chief cheese instructor at Kemptville. Major addresses were given by R. G. Reay of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa; F. W. Gillian also from the Ottawa Department of Agriculture; Dr. D. M. Funds From United Appeal Fund Assist CAS in Its Extensive Work

In reporting on the financial position of the Children's Aid Society at the end of October, Chas. L. Kerr, treasurer, told a meeting of the Board of Directors Monday, while the CAS was well within its budget for the year, expenditures exceeded receipts by more than $4,000. However, it is expected that the 1948 United Appeal allocation will be received shortly and this will undoubtedly take care of the total deficit.

Mrs. E. E. Follwell, speaking on behalf of the property committee, recommended that several of the Society's ground floor offices be redecorated during the Christmas vacation period.

Mrs. Jack Forrester said that the United Appeal hoped to realize at least 80% of its 1948 objective.

Replying to this, Mr. Kerr, the local director stated that although the Society's services to the city have been increasingly ten fold (there is now a social worker on full time to prevent the neglect of children), the amount the Society received annually from the United Appeal has been steadily declining.

GIVES FULL REPORT

In his comments Mr. Kerr stated, "In 1938 we received $6,500. If we receive but 80% of the $4,500 we asked for in 1949 we will suffer a loss of $1,000 or more. In 1938 we received between $750 and $1,000 less than we asked for and incurred a deficit which is being carried by the bank. This means that in the last two years alone United Appeal has provided us with approximately $2,000 less than asked for and spent. Perhaps if we asked for 30% more than we required we would come out on top but we simply cannot do that as the figures we submit to the budget committee are based on our audited financial statements. I don't know what the answer is but I do know that we cannot go on year after year employing professional staff to do a job for which no one is apparently willing to pay."

CHILDREN IN CARE

Mr. Kerr, presenting his report on the activity of the Society in the City of Belleville, stated that there were 213 children in the care of the Society.

He said: "Once more I am pleased to say that, although our intake is up over last year, the number of children in care is declining. This steady decline reflects the work of the staff in planning for the children from the day they enter our care. Let us one get the idea that children come into our care, are placed in foster homes and forgotten about. They are established homes for such as not possible, considered for adoption at the earliest possible moment.

"Of course adoption is not always available to the older children, and they remain in foster care. This will be a record year for our adoption department. Unfortunately, the number of applications to adopt infants, we have not had the usual number of babies for adoption this year and our so-called waiting list of approved homes is lengthier than at any time in the past five years. The bulk of our placements have been made from the 4-8 year group. Many placements made by the society have been finalized in the local court already this year.

"When it is considered that each child placed in adoption represents a saving of $750 annually to the tax paying public, I suggest to you that, from the financial standpoint alone, your Children's Aid Society is rendering an essential service."

The suggestion of Mrs. E. E. Follwell that the board and staff hold a potluck supper at the meeting home during the second week of December met with the unanimous approval of all members present.

District Darts League Results

Skyliners increased their lead in the Belleville District Dart League with a 6-3 victory over Houstons last night but for the second week in a row, it was a win by the skins of it. Young and Young turned in a perfect three-dart score of 180 last week and promptly pulled a repeat performance last night. However he won't be able to try for the third in as many weeks alone as no games are scheduled for Monday, December 7, it being election day.

Parsons team kept pace with the front-running Skyliners in last night's action by downing LaPalms 9-3. In other games G-Men defeated McEvoys 6-5, ANAF won over Legion 7-4 and RCAF edged Murrays by a 6-5 score.

Following is the team standing: Skyliners 63, G-Men 51, McEvoys 46, Murrays 45, RCAF 40, Houstons 35, Carters 35, ANAF 34, Parsons 33, Legion 32, LaPalms 14.

Special Meeting Will Be Called After Full Report

The city's cash requirements to pay all administration costs for the year and were estimated at $685,000, members of city council were told last night.

This was the figure suggested by Mr. A. C. Boudreau, one of two Department of Municipal Affairs auditors who have come to Belleville in the city's time out of its financial muddle.

At the same time Mr. Boudreau said there was an increase in unpaid taxes and government grants would amount to $746,000.

He noted that the anticipated revenue was not all to be in in the year send so the city would need money.

The $685,000 cash requirement figure did not include any of the city's debt and he was unable to give council a deficit figure without a complete audit.

Normally a municipality is allowed to borrow only a percentage of its tax revenue and even if full borrowing were allowed Belleville by the Department of Municipal Affairs, the city would still not be able to meet its year-end cash requirements.

Mr. Boudreau said he expected to confirm the city's position with the Municipal Affairs Minister Hon. W. K. Warrender, while Mayor Hyde called a special meeting of council may be held later this week to make a formal request to the department for additional borrowing.

Only a small number of ratepayers were present to see the following persons were nominated: Russel Sills, Kilfinnan Holland, Kenneth Thompson, Goldie Maloney (all of whom were members of the 1948 council), Elmer Rollins, and Don McFadden.

They sidelined a resolution advocating recognition of Red China and admission of that area to the United Nations.

They also declined to favor higher pay for civil servants, many of whom have been campaigning for a raise rejected by the federal government.

Delegate Albert Vincent of Saint John, N.B., came in with the proposal that the government "fire all the Liberals in the civil service."

"We'd be a lot better off if we fired half the civil servants who are Liberals and let the rest do the work more efficiently," he said.

Mr. Vincent also led the opposition which defeated another resolution proposing establishment of a joint political youth council with the executives of other political young peoples' organizations.

"Are you suggesting that we sometimes meet with the Grits?" he exclaimed incredulously.

NO BASIC SHIFT

Mr. Diefenbaker told the women's meeting that nothing emerged from the Progressive Conservative and United States visit that would indicate a basic shift in foreign policy.

He also said that the next list of Senate appointments — and there are seven vacancies — will include a woman.

Opposition Minister Ellen Fairclough said there is room for many more women in politics and especially at the municipal level. Apathy and lack of opportunities were major stumbling blocks to women entering politics, she said in her first woman cabinet minister.

nearly $2,000. But town merchants are already campaigning for a plebiscite to change the situation.

Under these conditions the budget outlets are the towns of Listowel, Mitchell, Milverton, Seaforth, Blyth, Brussels and Hensall, and the townships of Perth, Wallace, Stephen, McKillop and West Wawanosh.

In Perth, the towns of St. Marys, Listowel, Mitchell, Milverton and Seaforth have established as well townships except Downie, Fullarton and Ellice, all of which are local option.

The vote was a resounding victory for those advocating control of drinking under provincial legislation that will mean stringent penalties for selling or supplying liquor to minors, consuming it in bars or public places, bootlegging and illegal possession.

ONLY STOPPED SALE

The older federal act, virtually unchanged since 1916, was passed under a provision of the British North America Act and left no restrictions on the consumption — just sale.

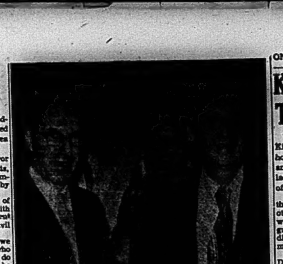
Anyone could buy beer outside the counties and even a child old enough to walk could authorize a purchase. As long as such premises as truckers were careful not to take the beer or liquor into the prohibition areas, they could not be charged legally by the law for acting as an agent.

Mrs. L. A. Ball, a member of the St. Marys and District Council of Women's Association committee, said the vote reflected "a desire to protect our children." Teen-age drinking in the two counties contributed to the early establishment of the 1916 council.

The final counts were: Huron-Perth voted 29,000 eligible voters —12,137 for revocation and 7,791 against. Bruce voted 16,000 eligible—8,820 for and 3,163 against.

Only centre not taking part in the vote was the city of Stratford in Perth County. Cities vote separately on the act and Stratford voted against it when the rest of Perth voted 5 to 1 in 1914. There are no cities in Huron.

Recent Firing Of Employee Aired by Council



The recent firing of Kenneth Murphy from the city works department, allegedly for the mishandling of dynamite, was again brought in city council Monday evening.

The question was raised by Alderman Effie McCabe who asked if any committee of council had been named to investigate the matter.

Mayor Gerald Hyde replied that there was a specific grievance procedure, which employees were required to follow and this apparently had not been done. He said he knew of no committee being formed.

City Engineer Malcolm Turnbull noted there was always two sides to such a matter but did not elaborate.

He said he had previously asked for representations from council to assist in running the city works department. However no meeting had been done, and in view of this ex city engineer he was in charge of the department.

Ronald Furney, Toolmaker 40 Years With N.E., Retires

A toolmaker for 40 years, Ronald Furney has started a long vacation. This morning, when many are snowed in, he was playing "Ronny'laid aboyd enjoying the first of many days paid-leave-of-absence that his employer normally takes over later on next year. Last Wednesday his fellow workmates arranged a testimonial party for Mr. Furney and presented him with a lovely watch suitably engraved. Mr. Furney was quite touched by this display and reciprocated by playing the piano and singing for the boys.

Well the boys was at a standstill as employees gathered around the area with which Mr. Furney had so long been associated Friday afternoon with Northern Electric, Belleville, presented Mr. Furney with a wallet from the Commercial Credit Corp; S. Silliloe, production Supt. and E. R. Valcamp, Asst. Supt. Valcamp presented his service anniversary pin and Stan Creegan gave him a cheque on behalf of the Northern Electric Club Service Fund. Two very surprised spectators at the presentation ceremony were Mr. Furney's two son Leonard and Dennis, who are also employed in the metal trades.

Mr. Furney stated that he had no definite plans for his retirement except to start off with a good rest.

New Federal Building Will Not Be Occupied by Any Depts. Before Year's End

Although finishing touches are currently underway at the new Federal Building at the corner of Station and Pinnacle Streets, it is doubtful if any of the local federal government departments will be moving in until the New Year.

At least this is the case with the Belleville Postoffice which is not expected to move to the new quarters until at least the middle of January.

We haven't heard the exact date when the office will be moved but we are sure of one thing — that it will not be before the Christmas rush," Mr. Malcolm Clark, Belleville postmaster, told the Ontario Intelligencer today.

"It will be a big enough job moving during normal times without doing it during the Christmas rush which is now just beginning," he said.

Actually the Christmas rush has begun, hiring of additional workers to take care of the rush of mail will not start until about December 9th, it was stated.

Neither is the Belleville income tax office expected to move into the new building until it fill possibly the first of the new year.

HOME FINISHING TO DO

An official at the local office noted there appeared to be considerable finishing still to do at the new building and it did not appear as though it would be ready for possibly two to four weeks.

"I cannot see our office moving until at least the first of the year," the official stated.

Another major government office which will move into the new building is the National Employment Service now quartered in the Jamieson Bone building on Front Street.

For the unemployment office the coming move will be the third move in Belleville during the past two decades.

Twenty years ago the office was on Campbell Street and then, during the war years, it was moved to temporary quarters at city hall before moving to its present location.

The same is true of the income tax office which has also seen two previous Belleville homes as office quarters before outgrew existing space. Before moving to its present location on Bridge Street the income tax office was at the corner of Front and Bridge Streets. Originally the income tax office, established here in 1919, was on Front Street but the increase in later years was occupied by an outstanding partner.

43 YEARS IN OLD STAND

For the postal department, however, the January move will be the pulling up of well established roots at the present location at the corner of Bridge and Pinnacle Streets.

The present familiar post office building was constructed back in late 1800's. In the intervening years about 85 Christmases have come and gone but Christmas 1948 is expected to be the last Yuletide at the present stand.

Next year the postal department will be in its new quarters filled with more room and with space planned for greater volume of mail, the Christmas rush may not seem quite so hectic.

Also moving into the new Federal Building are the Agriculture Department and Customs and Excise offices.

Plans for future support of the Guiders was discussed.

VALUABLE FIND — Mrs. Ellen Morgan of Victoria admires the reds, greens, browns and golds of a collection of Emily Carr pottery she stumbled on by accident. The famed British Columbia artist did pottery work in the 1920s. On a recent vacation at an interior lodge the lady collector found the "worthless" Indian pottery when Mrs. Morgan bought some Indian basketwork. When she discovered later the pottery was undisputably by Emily Carr, she reimbursed the lodge owner. Now she plans to sell the collection. (CP Photo).

Valuable Collection Painted Indian Pottery Found Dusty, Forgotten in Summer Lodge

VICTORIA (CP) — A valuable collection of painted Indian pottery by the famous British Columbia artist Emily Carr came to light recently — discovered dusty and forgotten in a summer lodge where the artist once worked.

And with it came the disclosure that Klitza Lodge at Sproat Lake on northern Vancouver Island has also housed an unknown collection of Carr paintings which experts say now could be of great value.

But they have disappeared.

Mrs. Ellen Morgan of Victoria made the disclosure recently on her return from a holiday at Klitza Lodge. She said the lodge owners, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hale, had a collection of Indian baskets which she purchased for $18.25.

OFFERED BY HOSTESS

As she was leaving the lodge, Mrs. Morgan related her hostess asked if she was interested in Indian pottery and said: "I have some in a box here—take it."

Mrs. Morgan soon discovered the "box of Indian pottery" Mrs. Hale thought was worthless was indeed Carr work. Each piece, executed in vivid red, green, browns, gold and blacks, bore the genuine Carr signature or trademark, "Klee Wyck" meaning the "The Laughing One" which she took for herself.

The collection included figurines, vases, pendants and other items. Unless a famous artist, who died in 1954 and whose work now hangs in galleries of North America and Europe, is believed to have done them during visits to the lodge in the 1920s.

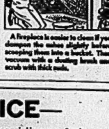
Mrs. Morgan says the artist stayed at the lodge with owners of the lodge. Mrs. Cole, on being told the pottery was Carr work and being reimbursed for it, disclosed there had been more like it but she had given it away to church bazaars and the like.

PAINTINGS NOT FOUND

She also recalled seeing a box somewhere filled with paintings each bearing the same Carr signature without realizing their value. A thorough search of the lodge premises failed to turn them up.

Mrs. Morgan has already disposed of part of the pottery to a Victoria collector and plans to put the rest up for auction.

Emily Carr was born in Victoria and studied in the United States, England and France. The turning point in her career came in 1927 when the National Gallery at Ottawa exhibited her work and later bought many of her paintings. Many bore the "Klee Wyck" signature given her by the Indians with whom she spent much time and whose lives she portrayed in paintings and books.



The Coles purchased Klitza Lodge some 16 years ago and Mrs. Hale inherited the collection. Miss Carr is believed to have been there for sale to tourists.

On one bowl was still tagged the price she expected for her work—$2.

Mr. Bell one of those on the original committee set up to look into the possibilities of the festival, was formerly chairman of the Board of Governors.

Mrs. Bell will address the club from the design angle, giving an outsider's view point on the Festival, but with a certain intimate knowledge of what goes on behind-the-scenes.

People Reading Too Many Fairy Tales Advice Given

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK (AP)— . . . And the brave prince slew the dragon, rescued the beautiful princess, carried her away to his castle and they were married and lived happily ever after . . .

Young people have been reading too many fairy tales, says Rudd Mace, founder of Marriage Counselling Services in Britain, now a visiting professor of family study at the University of Pennsylvania. The concentration of stories, television and current literature is that the altar is the goal of every girl and boy, and is the gateway to lifelong bliss.

Sometimes the bride and groom feel love happily ever after, Dr. Mace, writing in a new pamphlet, What makes a Marriage Happy? published by the public affairs committee. And the main reason is that neither partner tries hard enough.

SEVEN QUESTIONS

Often the honeymoon is over when Mary first sees John unshaved, unshaven and grouchy before his first cup of coffee in the morning. Or when John sees Mary at bedtime with greasy cream on her face and her hair in curlers.

This isn't a fairy story, points out the professor. And two young people starting out to make a new life together represent only the raw materials out of which a happy marriage can be achieved. How you can answer yes to the following questions, says the professor, you can consider yourself happily married:

1. Are you good companions?
2. Do you settle your arguments by mutual adjustment.
3. Would you choose each other again?
4. Do you approve of marriage as normally and a satisfactory way of life?
5. Do you consider your marriage happier than most?
6. Are you willing to give and take?
7. Do you think of yourselves as "we" instead of "you" and "I"?

If you can says this test, says Dr. Mace, you really do have a pretty good chance of living happily ever after.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each week a discussion of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Rita R. — Aunt Sonia interferes.

Sonia M. — She doesn't know as much as she thinks she does.

* * *

Rita R. — More than 10 years ago I was a DP in a European internment camp, after a long struggle I managed to come to this country — thanks to the efforts of my aunt.

I am very grateful to Aunt Sonia for bringing me here where I have found happiness in marriage and family life. But I had her a very difficult person to deal with in daily life. She seems to think I have no sense of my own and that she must hide me in every way. I resent the attitude that I am just an ignorant immigrant who can't understand American ways.

My husband and I now want to move to his home city where he feels he will have a better job opportunity. Aunt Sonia says this move would be a terrible mistake. I hardly know which way to turn.

* * *

Sonia M. — In spite of the fact that my niece thinks she knows it all now that she has been in this country for seven years, she really understands very little about the ways of things.

For example, her husband's family keeps telling them how great things are in their part of the country because they want the children to live near them. Well, I lived in that area for four years and I know that the climate is terrible, that it is difficult to get good housing and that the employment situation has a lot of uncertainties — although it happens to be good at the present time.

Rita is as precious to me as if she were my own. The recent loss of my husband makes separation from her particularly hard to take.

* * *

The Council: It is easy to see why Rita is resentful of her aunt's attitude. Sonia takes the position that her opinion is necessarily the correct one and there can be no further question about it. Certainly she is right in her belief that Rita's husband's family is trying to get the couple to live near them but this is something Rita and her husband must consider and evaluate for themselves. Obviously, many Americans find the disputed area a desirable one in which to live and work. But even if the move is a wrong one, Rita has a right to make her own mistakes.

The real issues here are being evaded, out of pride on Aunt Sonia's part and possibly out of love and confusion on Rita's part.

The real fact is that Rita and Aunt Sonia have reversed roles in the past few years. From a dependent, frightened youngster, she has grown into a woman with both power and responsibilities. Aunt Sonia has lost power in relation to Rita and is now virtually dependent upon her for companionship and affection as she nears the frightened one.

This is a sad reversal for the older woman, yet it need not be quite so tragic if Sonia is willing to face the real facts of the case. Recent widowhood is a tremendous blow and it is the time when an individual looks to those closest to him for comfort. Unfortunately, the comfort even devoted children can give is somewhat inadequate, and the person with health and strong character tries to rebuild life in a new way. A widow needs friends, activities and interests and when she has these, she is less dependent upon children and far happier both in general and in her relationships with the children.

Rita must try to look simply and objectively at the real facts. Her moving away at this time will be very hard on the woman who has owe so great a debt. But there is no doubt that the responsibility for husband and children must come first. It is a question of deciding whether or not the gain to the family outweighs the wound to her aunt.

Foxboro W.I. Hears Talk on Folk Schools

The November meeting of Foxboro Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. C. Hubble with 16 members and visitors present. Mrs. C. LaRue, president, presided.

Mrs. H. Beatty gave an interesting discourse on the motto, "You are what you eat", explaining the nutritious value of foods and the need for vitamins for good health. She completed her talk with the thought, "Your health and happiness depend on you". "Health" is the topic of this month.

Mrs. M. J. Waller gave some highlights of the Ontario report of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. Mrs. B. Hollinger demonstrated and explained the use of a "Resolute" tube" in artificial respiration.

Mrs. William Rombough attended a workshop on Ontario Folk Schools, recently, at Doone, Guelph district, and gave a report, called report, stating that the purpose of these Folk Schools is to create a situation in which people can secure greater understanding of themselves and others, their community and the world in which they live.

Mrs. B. Hollinger attended one of these Folk Schools for this area at Bass Lake in October and gave an interesting account of it.

The report of the Area Conference was given by Mrs. C. Hubble. This report was not too long because Mrs. Hubble had been at the Convention that a good speaker was one who ended his speech as close to the start as possible.

Lunch was served and a social time enjoyed.

QUESTION BOX

Question: When a luncheon is given for about fifty women (in honor of a prospective bride), and it is not in the form of a "shower," should a little "thank you" gift be taken along by the hostess, not the bride-to-be?

Answer: Goodness, no! Can you imagine the embarrassment of the hostess if fifty women brought her gifts? Or the embarrassment of the guests who did not bring a gift, should one have been expected? A gift should never be presented to a hostess at a luncheon, dinner, or what have you, unless it is understood on the invitation that it is a birthday party, or a special anniversary celebration of some kind. A note of appreciation, flowers or a telephone call the day after the function is all that is necessary, or expected.

Question: When attending a dinner party, is it proper for a fellow to take the initiative and introduce himself to a girl and then ask what her name is? What are the best words to use in introducing yourself? In an informal situation, would it be better to enter in saying, "How-do-you-do?"

Answer: It is considered a most desperate procedure to indicate whether or not she wishes to be introduced to you. For example should she meet someone she knows slightly, on the street or in the street. It is up to her to stop and put her hand out in greeting. If she does not, she should keep on going, and there is absolutely no question. Old fashioned? Perhaps But still correct. It would seem that the same rule would apply in your case. Even though the atmosphere of the party is planning to be young lady have someone introduce you to her, if she so wishes, or one of your friends who knows her make the introduction. Either way you'll accomplish the goal, say "How-do-you-do" — and then what? Or whatever you meet anyone else.

Question: If death takes a baby who is stillborn, and gifts that have been received be returned, or may the gifts be presented at showers and some from the family make any difference? This question is particularly important as the parents are planning to adopt a baby in the near future if adoption announcements are sent, and the gifts have been kept, how can it be indicated that they are not expected?

Answer: To begin with, the gifts should not be returned, even though adoption plan is contemplated. If a formal announcement is sent, as mentioned, there is no way to indicate that a baby is not expected. The best way is to write a personal note to all of those who were thoughtful the first time, tellin them of the adoption. Then add a little paragraph to the letter, saying "we are looking forward to seeing little Johnnie in the near future and you gave us." If the recipient sees fit to send another gift, we have certainly done your part.

SHOPPING LUXURY — Surrounded by elegance and luxury a customer samples styles in the new Bond Street shop of Royal shoemaker Edward Rayne in London, England. The arcaded rooms with their recessed bays, indirect lighting and wall-to-wall carpeting in dramatic pale green silk and beige contrast combined for an air of tasteful luxury by Oliver Messel, well known British interior decorator and theatre designer. British fashion writers said the new building may regain for Bond Street its old reputation as London's most elegant shopping street. (CP Photo).

Shoe Store in London Said Loveliest in World

By JUDITH AYER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—The opening of a new shoe store sounds like an ordinary event, but experience has shown that it can be an artistic triumph.

For this particular store has been called the loveliest in the world. And British fashion writers seem to agree.

The shop was designed by Oliver Messel, one of Britain's best known men in interior decorating, for royal shoemaker Edward Rayne. Opening ceremonies brought sighs of admiration from jaded fashion reporters. One Canadian visitor said: "I don't never seen anything like it in my life."

Ernestine Carter of the Sunday Times says: "Messel has made a shoe shop into a ballroom."

The new building, combining structures formerly occupied by a dress store and a bank, stands on Bond Street and may help to restore to the thoroughfare its old reputation as London's most elegant shopping street.

The exterior is of dark green and white marble, suggesting the luxury of the Regency period. Delicate white ironwork balconies solved the problem of different window levels.

LUXURIOUS INTERIOR

Inside the rooms are lined with dark marble and pale cream. There are recessed bays, indirect lighting and thick, beige wall-to-wall carpets. But no description can fully convey the atmosphere of tasteful luxury in which the arcaded rooms are steeped.

Messel told a Canadian Press reporter he nearly turned down the job, but changed his mind when he saw the premises.

"I would never attempt anything on a large scale," he said. "It would be too commercial."

The scale model took about eight weeks to prepare. A year later the shop was completed. It opened officially Nov. 17.

Messel designed the well-known celebrity suite in the Dorchester Hotel. He also was responsible for the highly-praised staging of the opera Don Rosselvalier at last summer's Glyndebourne festival and he did the sets for the Tennessee Williams film Suddenly Last Summer. He has also designed theatre here and in the States.

W.A. Entertains Six District W. Assoc.

WELLINGTON — On the afternoon of November 24th, the Wellington Church Women's Association was hostess to six neighboring W.A.'s, namely Victoria, Consecon, Hillier, Lone Hall, Burr's and Bowerman's.

The meeting was held in the church auditorium with nearly 100 ladies in attendance. Mrs. H. Pierson, the president, assisted by Mrs. Leonard Palmer, 1st vice-president, presided.

After opening with a hymn and a prayer the president extended a warm welcome to the visitors and members.

The worship service followed on the topic, "Counting The Cost," by Mrs. Palmer. As this was the regular meeting a short business session followed.

The program was interesting. Mrs. Ruth Elmy, Consecon, gave a reading about "The Ladies' Aid," humorous but true; Mrs. A. Fox, Victoria, also gave a reading, "High Society" and a piano solo by Mrs. K. Maybee, Victoria, was enjoyed.

Mrs. Poulter introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Dewhurst of Trenton, who is Belleville, president of the Belleville Presbytery W.A. She thanked Mrs Poulter for her kind introduction and brought greetings from her church. She also brought Mrs. William Baird, a former member of Wellington, to whom she presented a gift.

Mrs. Dewhurst took the Scripture lesson from St. Luke, "Not Alone" She and Mrs. Edna Dobbs, president of the Conference of the W.A., have traveling over 1,200 miles since September 12th in the work of the Missionary and Maintenance Fund, explaining the need for necessary. The W.A. contribution in 1957 was $94,000. Each year more was given, and more from all directions. The need for permanent, steady support is great.

At the close of her enlightening address Mrs. Frank Harvie, on behalf of all present, expressed thanks.

The ladies were invited downstairs to the Church School rooms where quarter tables, covered with pretty linen cloths and centred with bright mauve were set for 92 guests. The members served delicious refreshments and all enjoyed a social hour and fellowship.

Mrs. Lela Weeks, president of Consecon W.A., on behalf of the guests, sincerely thanked the Wellington W.A. for the enjoyable afternoon, and for the lovely spring address and the social hour.

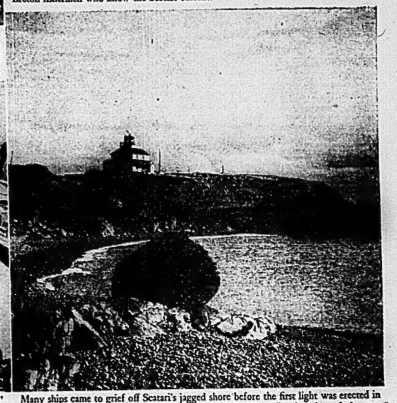
Lady Lightkeepers

Maintain Lonely Vigil

For many years two of Nova Scotia's most important shipping lanes have been watched over by women: Mrs. Eliza Campbell (above) who has tended the light on lonely Scatari Island off Cape Breton Island since the death of her husband in 1942, while some 200 miles away on the province's south shore, Mrs. Effie Wilkie acts as caretaker for the beacon at LaHave.



Days of lightkeepers are numbered. Department of Transport has rendered over half of the 3000 lights in Canada automatic. Last stand is the foghorn: machine can't tell when it's foggy. Mrs. Wilkie hand-pumps foghorn above.

Mrs. Campbell maintains her lonely vigil 11 months of the year; leaves her island outpost only during her annual 30 days' leave. Supplies are brought to her by rugged Cape Breton fishermen who know the Scatari current.

Mrs. Wilkie buys her groceries from the "store on wheels" which calls regularly. Her light, which she has tended for over 15 years, marks the channel for ships coming from the Atlantic into the LaHave River.

Many ships came to grief off Scatari's jagged shore before the first light was erected in 1871. Some 75 vessels are numbered among its victims. The devotion of the two lady lightkeepers of the Maritimes serves to keep thousands of ships each year which rely on their beacon safely on course.

Women's Institute

WOOLER WI.

The November meeting of the Wooler Women's Institute was held at the Club Room with Mrs. Lloyd Dorland as hostess.

Mrs. Hilliard Morrow, the president, read the monthly motto which was "Study the past, work in the present and plan for the future"; also a fitting poem entitled. "Thank Heaven Children Still Remain the Same." The roll call was asked and some members were able to bring something for the Tweedsmuir Book.

Business was brought under discussion.

Mrs. Karl Austin thanked the Institute for the use of its piano.

MUSICAL CONTEST

Mrs. Ervon Scott and Mrs. N. Haggarty were conveners for this meeting and, under their direction, a musical contest was enjoyed. Mrs. H. McColl was the winner. Since the meeting was held on Remembrance Day, Mrs. J. McCallum sang, "Lest We Forget," and the ladies held a minute of silence in remembrance. A most fitting reading was given by Mrs. R. Read describing the ending of the wars. Mrs. L. Bell played a piano solo. A draw was made for a door prize; Mrs. Angus Gunter held the lucky number. Mrs. McCallum, Mrs. McColl, Mrs. Dorland and Mrs. Anderson sang two selections.

Since this was the historical meeting, Mrs. E. Scott showed some baby garments worn years ago. She gave a delightful talk about the home life of 50 years ago.

After the closing of the meeting, refreshments were served by the committee.

St. Andrew's L.G. Sponsor Successful Tea

WELLINGTON — On Thursday afternoon the ladies of St. Andrew's Guild held their annual Christmas bazaar and tea in the Town Hall. The day was perfect for the occasion. The hall looked gay and festive with evergreen boughs and its many lovely and brilliant Christmas decorations all around the room. In the corner by the piano, a huge lighted Christmas tree made a pretty picture with all its lovely lights and decorations.

Mrs. W. H. Davern and Mrs. J. J. Rogers received and welcomed the many guests at the door.

Tables gaily decorated and filled with good things to buy, were situated around the hall, including the fish pond, in charge of Mrs. D. F. Smith. This proved popular with the children.

TWO SPECIAL CAKES

Next the long table filled to capacity with all sorts of home-made goodies, cakes, pies, tarts, cookies, brownies, and many other delicious things to eat, including jams, pickles, juices were on display. Two lovely cakes merit special mentioning: one in the shape of Santa Claus' face, and the other in the shape of a Christmas tree. Boxes of home-made candy of all kinds were also on this table. Mrs. W. H. Davern was in charge of this with Mrs. W. King, Mrs. G. Channel and Mrs. A. Ogilvy assisting her. They were all kept busy wrapping up the dainties.

A white elephant table, in charge of Mrs. G. Upton and Mrs. S. Tripp, proved popular also with its many lovely parcels of various sorts and sizes on it.

The apron table was in charge of Mrs. B. A. Evans, assisted by Mrs. Broadbridge, Mrs. Tom Boyle and Mrs. Russell was most attractive with its many lovely colorful aprons of all sizes and styles. The fancy work at one end was all lovely and many beautiful articles were soon sold.

A draw on a delicious fruit cake, made and donated by Mrs. J. B. Lavender, was won by Mrs. Fred Ford. Miss Nash was in charge of this.

TEA TABLES

The tea tables, covered with lovely white cloths and centred with Christmas candles of red in lovely holders were filled many times with guests.

The tea tables were in charge of Mrs. C. Lane, assisted by Mrs. J. B. Lavender, Mrs. William Lott, Mrs. B. Reed, Mrs. D. Boyle, while Mrs. Quick and Mrs. Murphy made the tea in the kitchen.

The ladies were pleased with the success of their bazaar and tea, and wish to thank all who helped in any way to make it so.

Desserts - - - Festive and Family

by Mary Moore

Friends are wonderful — and neighbors especially so.

Yesterday afternoon my neighbor Ivy came in bearing a large serving of a chocolate dessert she had just made.

"Mary, I know you are busy but this dessert that I made is so good I wanted you to taste it."

I carefully divided it into three small portions so my family could taste it for dinner. We liked it so much I am passing it on. In turn, to you. I think it will be a good dessert to use for some of your minor Christmas entertaining or for dinner this week, if you like. It may be made one day in advance of serving if desired.

The other dessert recipe is Apples Evangeline — a quickly put together pudding which calls for soft breadcrumbs.

CHOCOLATE SPONGE

1 envelope (1 tablespoon) gelatin
3-3 cup sugar
1-4 teaspoon salt
1 1-3 cups milk
2 squares unsweetened chocolate
3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
3 egg whites, unbeaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
3-4 cup flaked coconut (optional).

Mix gelatin, 1-3 cup of the sugar, the salt, and milk in top of double boiler. Add chocolate. Cook over hot water until chocolate is melted and gelatin is thoroughly dissolved. Blend with egg beater. Pour slowly over egg yolks, stirring constantly. Return mixture to double boiler and cook 3 minutes longer, stirring constantly. Cool to room temperature. Beat egg whites until foamy. Add remaining 1-3 cup sugar gradually and continue beating until mixture will stand in stiff peaks. Fold in chocolate mixture gradually, blending well. Add vanilla and coconut. Spoon into 1 - quart moulds or individual moulds. Chill until firm, about 1 or 2 hours. Unmould. Decorate with border of whipped cream, if desired. Makes 8 servings.

APPLES EVANGELINE

5 apples
1 cup raisins (or mixed fruit cake fruit)
2 cups soft bread crumbs
1-3 cup brown sugar (or 1-3 cup grated maple sugar)
6 tablespoons butter water.

Wash, pare, core, slice, apples. Place alternate layers of apples, raisins, crumbs and sugar in buttered casserole, having crumbs as top layer. Dot with butter. Add a small amount of water if apples seem dry. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 45 minutes. Serve with whipped or pouring cream. Serves 6.

Quite Familiar With Customs Says Iranian

WASHINGTON (AP) — "I think I acted the same as any American boy would," the 17-year-old Iranian said after slapping his girl friend and firing two blanks from a pistol.

"I've been in this country for almost six years," the Youth, Farhad Adjodani, continued, "and I'm quite familiar with your customs."

Farhad faces no possibility of police action. The son of Mahmoud Adjodani, director of foreign exchange students at the Iranian Embassy, he has diplomatic immunity.

Farhad said he had lost his temper Saturday night because his girl friend, 16-year-old Sandra Bolick, had been going out with other boys while he was at college in Youngstown, Ohio.

Detective Howard E. Campbell of the city police said the boy had slapped Sandra at the Adjodani home while his parents were away.

Campbell said the boy then took a pistol from a trunk and threatened to shoot himself. He ran into another room and a shot was heard. It was a blank.

Then he drove the girl home on the way, Campbell said, the boy held the pistol outside the car window and fired a second blank.

The girl is the daughter of Rev. J. Glenn Bolick, pastor of Georgetown Lutheran Church.

B.C. Doctors Have Had Hard Time to Subsist

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Sun quotes an unidentified Vancouver doctor as saying almost half the physicians and surgeons in British Columbia did not make enough money last year to pay income tax.

"Many have to struggle to make a bare living," the newspaper quotes him as saying.

"Many are so deeply in debt that their credit has been cut off."

The Sun said the doctor, who insisted on anonymity, blamed the financial situation on the opinion that medicine in B.C., and especially in Vancouver, is an over-crowded field.

Recent figures showed Vancouver with one doctor for every 568 persons. The rest of B.C. had one doctor for 1,138 persons. B.C.'s ratio over-all of one to 770 compared with a national average of one to 971.

However, The Sun quotes Dr. Lynn Gunn, registrar of the B.C. College of Physicians and Surgeons as saying he knows of no doctor who are destitute.

Jap Conductress Very Solicitous Over Passengers

The job of conductress rang out in the jam-packed bus:

"We are about to make a left turn. Please watch your balance. Next stop, Roppongi. We are sorry you have had an uncomfortable ride. Thank you very much for your patronage."

This sort of perpetual patter is standard procedure among Japanese conductress. By virtue of a seemingly unlimited capacity for patience, stamina and courtesy, they engaged in one of Japanese most exhausting female occupations.

Every slighting passenger gets a polite "thank you."

When tempers spoil as others push and shove their way into an already over-crowded bus, the conductress apologetically appeals:

"We are extremely sorry you should be subjected to such disconfort, bct will you please make your way farther to the rear."

Then "saw-ral," she shouts to the driver. This is a Japanese version of "all right," used to signify the bus may start.

It's the conductress's job to know the bumps on the road along her route, for she must warn passengers to "please hang on, the road is rough ahead."

These women range in age from 15 to 23. They work an eight-hour day six days a week and get paid $22 a month.

In Tokyo, which has 4,400 buses, applicants spend a month to six weeks in training.

The Japanese bus rider has long since become oblivious to the conductoress's talk.

"But," a city official said, "courtesy is our motto. We must keep it up."

Canadian Priest Alive But Weak On Jungle Trek

MANILA (AP)—A Canadian Roman Catholic missionary, whose light plane crashed in the wilds of Mindanao Island in the Philippines, was reported alive but injured and "very weak" today after five days of trekking through the jungle.

A message signed by Father Jacques Desparts of Montreal was delivered to local priests by native runners. It was relayed to Manila's rescue control centre which has been directing an air-land search for the missionary and his Filipino pilot.

The message said it would take the 42-year-old priest and the pilot two days more to reach the nearest town. It added they were being helped by tribesmen but were without food.

Father Desparts, who belongs to the Pontifical Mission Society of Quebec, and his pilot took off from Davao Nov. 23 for a tour of remote missions.

Cadet Training Plans Changed

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario army cadet training programs will be organized to stress home survival rather than battle training.

Gordon Wright, Ontario physical education director, said Sunday that first aid, formerly an option subject, will be made compulsory and field exercises, elementary tactics, military law and field craft will be dropped.

Time devoted to cadet training during the next three years will be reduced from 180 to 90 periods and shooting competitions, ceremonial drill and signalling will be made optional.

Mr. Wright said he expected the program, considered more realistic in the nuclear era, will encourage smaller schools to participate.

Predicts Rise in Canada's Gross National Product of Five Per Cent in Coming Year

TORONTO (CP) — There is a good chance that Canada's gross national product will increase five per cent by the end of 1960, and even more if exports surge as much people seem to expect, A. C. Ashforth, president of the Toronto-Dominion Bank said today at the bank's annual meeting.

Looking ahead over the full decade of the 1960's, Mr. Ashforth said that with expected population increases Canada will have the wherewithal in labor and consumers to increase gross output by about 50 per cent—about the same as in the 1950s. Real living standards on a per capita basis should increase by 25 per cent.

A BILLION GAP

In terms of today's dollar, the gross national product would probably pass the $50,000,000,000-a-year mark before the 1960s are over and perhaps in time to coincide with celebration of the country's 100th birthday in 1967.

Over the next decade there would be significant changes in the proportions of the population, increases in the pre-teen and teen-age group and the old-person group.

"Each of these will significantly increase the dependency ratio of the total population while in the middle 10 years of a decade form a smaller proportion of the total. This means that workers in the middle years will provide a higher standard of living not only for themselves but for more old and young people. In other words, their productivity increase in productivity is an absolute necessity."

Mr. Ashforth's comments were contained in a text made available to the press in advance of delivery.

BIG DOMESTIC DEMAND

Looking ahead, we will have to provide for 4,000,000 additional people by 1970," he said. "This is a growing demand for food, clothing, household appliances, automobiles, highways, transportation, recreation and other goods and services.

"Urban areas will become more crowded. New industrial and city traffic arteries will have to be built. Industry will have to provide for a labor force with more efficient machinery. Automation will grow.

Mr. Ashforth said Canada's hopes and ambitions will be realized if the country continues to fare well in international trade. This will mean that costs must be kept down.

Frankie Carbo At Last Put Behind Bars

NEW YORK (AP) — Frankie Carbo was sent to prison for two years Monday for his prize ring manipulations as the under - cover world's czar of professional boxing. It was his first behind-bars sentence in more than 30 years.

The state labelled Carbo a symbol of boxing's degeneration from a sport to a racket. But defence counsel Abraham Brodsky protested:

"The so-called sport of boxing should be abolished in this state. It serves no useful purpose. If boxing is a racket today, it has always been a racket and will always be one."

Carbo, 52-year-old relic of a gory gangland background pleaded guilty a month ago to unlicensed management of prize fighters and unlicensed arranging of bouts—including the state's sad, televised fights from Madison Square Garden. Carbo's plea was needed before certain fights could even be held in the garden.

He was depicted as the wielder of undercover control of a topflight stable of boxers, including lightweight champion Joe Brown and such former champions as Virgil Akins, Johnny Carter, Johnny Saxton, Kid Gavilan and Carmen Basilio.

Alfred F. Scotti, chief assistant district attorney, said as Carbo faced sentencing: "Special circumstances court:

"Our investigation clearly revealed Carbo as the dominant figure in the professional sport of boxing . . . I believe it is fair to say that the name of Frankie Carbo today symbolizes the degeneration of professional boxing into a racket."

Sentencing Judge John A. Mullen, took into consideration Carbo's health—he has diabetes, a heart condition and a liver ailment—in giving him only three - to - six months of his maximum two-year prison sentence.

MUSSY TAXI PIPER

Mullen added:

"You've had a long and merry dance in pursuit of your power, but the time has come when the piper must be paid . . . your words were tantamount to a command performance. The influence and intelligence entitled you to a degree which I cannot possibly contemplate. The power of the tax people is reaching out and taxing anything you have."

Currently pending against Carbo are state and federal tax actions involving more than $50,000.

The last time Carbo was handed a prison term was in 1928 when he was sent up for 18 months for the manslaughter killing of a cab driver.

Three Americans On Trial Before Cuban Tribunals

HAVANA (AP)—Revived Cuban military tribunals, Fidel Castro's answer to mounting opposition today prepared to determine the fate of three American citizens ad 42 Cubans charged with plotting to overthrow the revolutionary regime.

A tribunal at Pinar del Rio was expected to reach a verdict today in the trial of two of the Americans and 37 Cubans accused of homicide and conspiring against the government.

The prosecution recommended the firing squad for Frank Austin Fiorini, a 36-year-old commercial pilot who was born in Indianapolis, Ind., and Fernando Pruneda Bertot, 24-year-old Cuban and former student at Columbia University.

Thirty - year prison sentences were sought against the other defendants, including Peter John Lambton, 34, a British - born Canadian resident of Nassau, Bahamas.

SECOND TRIBUNAL

A second tribunal was scheduled to begin hearing testimony in Havana today against Rafael Pico, 33, of Miami, a naturalized American who once supported Castro, and Pino Gutierrez, all accused of being counter-revolutionaries. The death sentence is sought for all six.

Del Pino was captured last July when he flew a small plane in from Florida and tried to pick up Cubans escaping from the country.

Young, Lambion and their Cuban co-defendants were captured during a clash with Cuban militia in which one soldier was killed.

The Americans denied in pretrial statements that they came to Cuba to plot against the government. Lambton said he went on an assignment to take pictures of counter-revolutionaries for an American company he identified as the Independent News Service.

Young said he came to Cuba to serve as Lambton's guide.

The two groups of cases are the first to be handled by military tribunals since their reinstatement. During the first six months of 1959 military routine there sent about 535 persons before firing squads.

Urge Govt. Aid Private Schools In Manitoba

WINNIPEG (CP)—Government financial help for private and parochial schools in Manitoba was recommended today in the report of a royal commission on education.

The commission said in a unanimous recommendation that help could be given to such schools where they provide a satisfactory standard of education, without injury to "the public school system, which is the religious instrument to which . . .

"Indeed, it may benefit and give more worth to all these. In any case, practical application of the principle of emergency by which we try to live requires that a reasonable view of the majority be tolerant enough to provide for significant minorities the kind of education they want for their children."

The commission said there should be "no more regulation of existing schools than is necessary to ensure that the education afforded by them is up to the general standard of the public schools."

OTHER IDEAS

The commission also recommended improved religious training in public schools, reorganization of teacher training and the education department and better facilities for gifted children and exceptional cases such as mentally retarded children. The report urged rigid restriction on "frills."

The five-member commission, headed by Dr. L. M. MacFarlane of Ottawa, was appointed in 1957.

Cutting Municipal Services To Meet Education Costs Can't Continue Says Mayors

TORONTO (CP)—The practice of cutting municipal services to the bone to offset the costs of education "can continue no longer," the Ontario Mayors' and Reeves' Association said Monday.

In a brief to Premier Frost, the association estimated that Ontario's 1959 municipal education bill will reach $201,000,000—an increase of $30,000,000 over last year. It asks the provincial government to:

Appoint a board to hear appeals from municipal councils on school boards of education budgets because the present setup does not allow municipal councils to cut budgets forwarded by local education boards;

Assume a greater share of the municipal education costs and forge the federal government to provide provinces with more funds;

Increase the retirement age for teachers to 65 from the present 62 so that an increased deficit in the teachers' superannuation fund may be reduced;

Study the salary ranges of teachers with a view to making them compatible with the cost of living for various areas;

Reconsider the school system which now adds to costs by dividing high schools into separate Junior and senior schools;

Reconsider granting grants for lands required for school purposes;

Review the per - pupil grant system.

The association said school enrolment has doubled since 1937 while the phenomenon growth has created unprecedented financial problems for the municipal taxpayer" who pays for new facilities."

The brief, which also asks for more financial assistance for road construction and maintenance, will be read to Premier Frost Wednesday by Mayor Phillip Givens of Toronto, association president.

GENAIRE STRIKE SETTLED

STE CATHARINES (CP) — A 27-day strike at Genaire Limited was settled Monday when employees of the company's plants here and at Niagara-on-the-Lake ratified contract proposals. Local 199, United Auto Workers (CLC), certified as bargaining agent last December, gained a package increase of 20 cents an hour in a 13-month contract.

Outfitters Told To Co-operate to Meet Competition

SUDBURY (CP) — Greater co-operation is needed among members of Ontario's tourist industry if the province is going to meet outside competition, Ontario Travel Minister Cathcart said Monday.

He told the opening session of the Northern Ontario Tourist Outfitters Association there — day-long annual meeting that tourist areas in the United States and other provinces are making strong bids to divert tourists away from Northern Ontario.

Too many businessmen who depended on the tourist trade for their living are content to sit back and let the burden of publicity and promotion be carried on by the outfitters' association he said.

KEEP PRODDING

"You've got to tell them about it and keep prodding them," he said. "Treat them the way you treat me and the department of travel and publicity) when we fall down on the job. You make sure we hear about it."

More than 100 Northern Ontario camp and lodge operators registered Monday and another 250 are expected to sign in the first day of the convention.

During discussions by representatives of the association's 23 districts, Landa and Forests Officer P. O. Rhynes appealed to camp operators to help cut down the number of hunting accidents among their customers.

He said there have been 54 accidents involving firearms so far this year and about 20 more can be expected before the end of December. During the last five years there was an average of 70 accidents a year, 15 per cent of them fatal.

His car was carried 120 yards down the track. A blowtorch was needed to get his body from the wreckage.

United Nations Will Try Again To Fill Seat

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) —The 81th General Assembly of the United Nations was ready to tackle once again today the stubborn deadlock between Turkey and Communist Poland for a seat on the Security Council.

It is the record 24 secret ballots taken in the 80-member assembly since Oct. 12, neither country has managed to collect the two-thirds majority necessary for election to the seat which will be left vacant by Japan Jan. 1.

The United States, backing Turkey, and the Soviet Union are the real antagonists in the struggle for the two-year term in the powerful 11-member body.

Failure some sort of a break today, UN authorities were expressing worries that the stalemate might be held in session indefinitely to fulfil the terms of the world body's charter.

The UN charter says the assembly shall elect" . . . due regard being specially paid, in the first instance to the contribution of members of the United Nations to the maintenance of international peace and security and to the other purposes of the organization, and also to equitable geographical distribution."

Delegates are constantly filled. Delegates are puzzled over what to do if the deadlock fails to reach a decision. That has never happened before.

SPLIT TERM IDEA

Canada, which with some other Commonwealth countries has supported Poland, for some weeks quietly urged a short term —one year for Poland and one for Turkey. Turkey apparently willing but Poland declined.

Canada's Foreign Minister Smith challenged France to hill diddly by discussing political matters as well as economic aid in the current peace talks with Algerian rebels.

Minister Jean Chrétien of Labor Minister Jean Chrétien of Labor Slim, in a mildly-worded speech, praised President de Gaulle for his initiative toward settling the five-year-old Algerian war, but he added:

"We deem it normal for the Algerian nationalist authorities to want to discuss conditions and guarantees for putting self-determination into effect without discussing a cease-fire at the same time."

Mrs. Alexe Holt of Peterborough, head of the Social and Cultural Committee Monday that there is confusion among UN members as to what constitutes freedom of information.

She expressed the opinion that a draft convention on freedom of information now under consideration by the committee, did not appear to promote freedom of information. "It seems to be more permissive," lacked clarity and seemed to contradict itself in parts.

"At some stage of our work a majority of delegations might come around to the view that it might be advisable to reach agreement first on what we all mean by freedom of information and what principles we think should guide individuals and governments."

Canada Said to Be Future Centre of the Commonwealth In Statement by Times

LONDON (CP) — The Times, introducing its annual supplement on Canada, offers two conflicting impressions of the country as the frontier province of the old British Empire and the future centre of the Commonwealth.

"By sheer potential weight of population and wealth, the Canada of the coming centuries can scarcely remain a member of the Commonwealth without attracting the centre of gravity to itself," the newspaper comments in a 30-page supplement.

For a generation after Confederation it remained "an agreeable proposition" that Canada must eventually be absorbed by the United States. Eventually Canada emerged as "a world power in war and peace."

"But all through the same years the influence of the United States relative to the British Commonwealth as a whole has been at steadily increasing rates, more willingly, and indeed gratefully, its members accepting the leadership of the United States in the free world, the more they came to think of Canada as a frontier province."

COMMONWEALTH VIEW

The paper is outlined by dispatches from Times correspondents in other Commonwealth countries telling of Canada's standing there.

One, in Canberra, writes, that "Australia's protector, the United States of America, dazzles Australians so that they do not notice Canada near by . . . Australians look to Canada as the gateway to Atlantic towards Europe rather than towards Asia and Australia."

Another writes from Capetown that South Africans "have not yet read little about Canada — less than about Australia or New Zealand—even though their trade with Canada is far greater than with either of the latter two countries.

Canada "lies too near the newsworthy United States" and South Africa does not interest her in rugger and cricket with the other two dominions that is lacking.

INDIA, CANADA FRIENDLY

By contrast, the Times correspondent in New Delhi says "Indians have a fraternal feeling for Canada that is free from any lacing in their relations with other Commonwealth countries."

Both are concerned with internal development but neither is inclined to "tend their own garden" and let its neighbors manage their own problems as they can.

". . . To articulate Indians it appears natural to look to government and Canada's are simply not responsible for what is done by others to their responsibilities as members of 'the family of nations.'"

The correspondent says the feeling of friendship is confirmed by Canadian aid programs in India, Pakistan and Ceylon.

Adenauer Back For More Talks With de Gaulle

PARIS (AP)—West Germany's Chancellor Adenauer came to Paris today for another round of talks with President de Gaulle. Spokesmen emphasized that they agree completely on major issues facing the Western Allies, but some lesser disagreements have cropped up.

This is a day meeting is the fourth between the two leaders since de Gaulle returned to power 18 months ago. In that period Adenauer and the French President have achieved a rapport which has become one of the strongest forces in the Western alliance.

Observers speculate that despite this unity, they will at least review such pressing matters as plans for the Western summit meeting in Paris Dec. 19, the status of West Berlin and German reunification, the Saar settlement problem and European unity.

Adenauer and de Gaulle also will undoubtedly discuss the chancellor's visit last month to London, in which he and Prime Minister Macmillan patched up some of the differences between them.

NO CAUSE FOR WORRY

Leaving Bonn, Foreign Ministry spokesmen said Adenauer would be believed "we do not have any bilateral problems which could cause us worry."

However, the widely circulated Bild Zeitung newspaper said editorially that Adenauer took less than about Berlin and Germany as a whole whether he would dare to unpack it.

Among the items of disagreement, the paper says, include de Gaulle's repeated statements that France would retain control of her forces in any future war instead of placing control with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, and the recent arrest by the French of a Soviet ship with arms for North Africa.

Adenauer said on his arrival that "we are living in a time of hope and danger."

Meeting with France and Germany are obligated by the NATO treaty "to shake hands in friendship and union," the chancellor said. Treaties of friendship over de Gaulle's recent speech in Strasbourg stressing ties between the two governments.

Milk Producers Would Accept Lower Prices for Good Market

TORONTO (CP) — Milk producers in some areas are willing to accept lower prices from processors to assure themselves of a continued market, the second annual meeting of the United Milk Producers of Ontario Co-operative Limited heard Monday.

Everett M. Biggs, Ontario director, said:

"Right now there are a few small market area where 24 producers had accepted price cuts. I think they would be willing to accept cuts of as much as 50 cents per hundredweight, Mr. Biggs said.

The milk producer groups are studying the milk marketing problem and seem to favor the idea of setting up a milk marketing board made up of producers. They will be consulted, however, before any changes are made.

PATRONAGE DIVIDEND

T. E. Brady, assistant general manager of the board, formed a little more than a year ago, said the board of directors has declared a patronage dividend of about $118,000 from this year's operations.

George McGuire, chairman of Ontario's farm products marketing board, said marketing could be more efficient if all UDPC operations, local and provincial, could be under one program.

E. S. McEachrer of Dublin, Ont., was elected president. First vice-president is Joe Crutchley of Durham and Bruce McCutcheon of Dundalk is second vice-president.

Crosswalk System To Be Available

TORONTO (CP) — Transport Minister Yaremko said Monday a brochure on crosswalks is being distributed to Ontario municipalities will be available early in 1960.

He said he does not intend to enforce the crosswalk system in all communities. Individual communities should take the initiative in installing them, he said, as their interest depends on local traffic hyiaws and how well they are respected.

Deputy Minister Donald Collins said a model pedestrian by-law has been sent to all communities and the department is willing to advise on crosswalks. He said the crosswalk system is "a major reason why traffic deaths have dropped this year."

Transport Minister's Scheme To Move Traffic Is Working

LONDON (CP) — Cab driver Walter Geake spotted a regular customer Monday and stopped for a stop—literally—in Whitehall to shake his hand.

The minister grinned, told Geake the next step would be to do something about taxis making U-turns in the middle of the traffic flowed smoothly past, and moved on. Geake turned the paper over and a large section of the public echoed Geake's sentiments over the transformation wrought by Marples' plan to speed up the notoriously traffic tangle of London's west end.

STRINGENT RULES

The essence of Marples' plan is simple. He enforced parking and standing regulations in the central London area. Banned parking and standing on commercial vehicles between 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. Banned double - parked parking spaces going begging.

A byproduct was the severe congestion on the fringes of the pink - zone area as motorists struggled to park as close as possible to their usual haunts. Motorists approaching the zone discovered the fact lagged as much

Frankie Carbo At Last Put Behind Bars

NEW YORK (AP) — Frankie Carbo was sent to prison for two years Monday for his prize ring manipulations as the under-cover world's czar of professional boxing. It was his first behind-bars sentence in more than 30 years.

The state labelled Carbo a symbol of boxing's degeneration from a sport to a racket. But defence counsel Abraham Brodsky protested:

"The so-called sport of boxing should be abolished in this state. It serves no useful purpose. If boxing is a racket today, it has always been a racket and will always be one."

Carbo, 52-year-old relic of a gory gangland background pleaded guilty a month ago to unlicensed management of prize fighters and unlicensed arranging of bouts—including the state's sad, televised fights from Madison Square Garden. Carbo's plea was needed before certain fights could even be held in the garden.

He was depicted as the wielder of undercover control of a topflight stable of boxers, including lightweight champion Joe Brown and such former champions as Virgil Akins, Johnny Carter, Johnny Saxton, Kid Gavilan and Carmen Basilio.

Alfred F. Scotti, chief assistant district attorney, said as Carbo faced sentencing: "Special circumstances court:

"Our investigation clearly revealed Carbo as the dominant figure in the professional sport of boxing . . . I believe it is fair to say that the name of Frankie Carbo today symbolizes the degeneration of professional boxing into a racket."

Sentencing Judge John A. Mullen, took into consideration Carbo's health—he has diabetes, a heart condition and a liver ailment—in giving him only three - to - six months of his maximum two-year prison sentence.

MUSSY TAXI PIPER

Mullen added:

"You've had a long and merry dance in pursuit of your power, but the time has come when the piper must be paid . . . your words were tantamount to a command performance. The influence and intelligence entitled you to a degree which I cannot possibly contemplate. The power of the tax people is reaching out and taxing anything you have."

Currently pending against Carbo are state and federal tax actions involving more than $50,000.

The last time Carbo was handed a prison term was in 1928 when he was sent up for 18 months for the manslaughter killing of a cab driver.

TORONTO (CP) — There is a good chance that Canada's gross national product will increase five per cent by the end of 1960, and even more if exports surge as much people seem to expect, A. C. Ashforth, president of the Toronto-Dominion Bank said today at the bank's annual meeting.

Looking ahead over the full decade of the 1960's, Mr. Ashforth said that with expected population increases Canada will have the wherewithal in labor and consumers to increase gross output by about 50 per cent—about the same as in the 1950s. Real living standards on a per capita basis should increase by 25 per cent.

A BILLION GAP

In terms of today's dollar, the gross national product would probably pass the $50,000,000,000-a-year mark before the 1960s are over and perhaps in time to coincide with celebration of the country's 100th birthday in 1967.

Over the next decade there would be significant changes in the proportions of the population, increases in the pre-teen and teen-age group and the old-person group.

"Each of these will significantly increase the dependency ratio of the total population while in the middle 10 years of a decade form a smaller proportion of the total. This means that workers in the middle years will provide a higher standard of living not only for themselves but for more old and young people. In other words, their productivity increase in productivity is an absolute necessity."

Mr. Ashforth's comments were contained in a text made available to the press in advance of delivery.

BIG DOMESTIC DEMAND

Looking ahead, we will have to provide for 4,000,000 additional people by 1970," he said. "This is a growing demand for food, clothing, household appliances, automobiles, highways, transportation, recreation and other goods and services.

"Urban areas will become more crowded. New industrial and city traffic arteries will have to be built. Industry will have to provide for a labor force with more efficient machinery. Automation will grow.

Mr. Ashforth said Canada's hopes and ambitions will be realized if the country continues to fare well in international trade. This will mean that costs must be kept down.

Baseball Talent Shortage Acute in Major, Minor Loops

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—The shortage of baseball talent is so acute that major and minor league clubs have shelled out $307,000 for 40 players from lower-class leagues in the annual draft session.

Spurred by the new unrestricted draft of all first-year players still on minor league rosters, the clubs topped last year's draft total by a comfortable margin. In 1958 they selected 30 players for $284,500, a post-war low.

Much of the interest in Monday's draft session centred on the first trial of the new first-year system. This was designed to curb the payments of huge amounts of money to untried youngsters. Either a club moved the bonus babies up to the major league roster or risked losing them in the draft.

This unrestricted draft of first-year men will be debated again later in the week at the minor league convention. Several amendments are proposed and a mail vote on its renewal will be taken early next year.

The biggest prize was Mike Lee, a lefthanded pitcher paid a reported $80,000 bonus by San Francisco Giants last spring. Cleveland grabbed him for $15,000 despite his sorry 7-19 record at Fresno, Calif., in class C.

Lee was the only first-year man taken by the majors, who added only a few of 16 minor leaguers for $340,000, the others at $25,000 each.

Two players from Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League were picked up by the majors.

Second baseman Joe Amalfitano, who hit .309 for Toronto last season, was drafted by San Francisco Giants. Lewis Holdeter, a catcher who batted .291 for Rexdale Jrs. Fa. last season was picked from the Toronto roster by Kansas City Athletics.

Catcher Darrell Johnson of Richmond Virginians was taken by St. Louis Cardinals.

Meanwhile, Baltimore Orioles traded pitchers Billy O'Dell and Billy Loes to the Giants for outfielder Jackie Brandt, pitcher Gordon Jones and a third player to be named later.

Among the 36 players drafted by the minor leagues were 13 first-year men. The first - year men cannot be farmed out until the end of next season unless waived by all clubs in the league.

Some baseball men are dissatisfied with this rule. There is also talk of restoring the old bonus rule that sharply restricted movements of all players paid a bonus. One club has proposed a trial new idea of a draft of all free agents, somewhat similar to the plan used by the National Football League. This will come up for vote Thursday.

Horses Names Must Be Changed Ruling of Court

OTTAWA (CP)—The power of the Ontario Racing Commission to order a horse's name changed—and, if it refuses, bar the horse from racing—was confirmed today by the Supreme Court of Canada.

The court dismissed an appeal by William Morrissey, Toronto breeder and owner, against a commission order in May, 1957, that the names of six of his horses be changed.

The commission contended that three names were chosen to cast ridicule on Fred Cowan, retired owner of the old Long Branch track near Toronto, with whom Morrissey had a dispute in 1946.

Morrissey and Miss Christina Blackie Armstrong had obtained an Ontario Supreme Court writ prohibiting the racing commission from carrying out its threat to bar the horses. They appealed to the Supreme Court when this writ was quashed by the Ontario Appeal Court.

The hearing here continued to race at various meets during the court proceedings, which started in June, 1957.

The Supreme Court, in a judgment written by Mr. Justice Roland Martland, said today its function in this dispute was not to review the commission's decision but rather to decide whether the commission had the legal authority to do what it proposed to do.

"In my view it had the necessary power and, in deciding whether or not it should exercise that power, it acted judicially," Mr. Justice Martland said.

Martland also denied that the names were "calculated to bring ridicule and contempt upon a man well known in the horse racing industry." But the commission had Morrissey's interests believe him.

R. N. Starr, counsel for the racing commission, told the Supreme Court when the appeal was heard in October that "all you need to do is look at a photo of Queen to see why he got the name 'Rabbit Mouth.'"

Winnipeg Had the Chest Out

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Winnipeg Community Chest Monday congratulated Winnipeg Blue Bombers on winning the Grey Cup and made a bid for some of that eastern money.

A fund official said:

"The Community Chest congratulates the Blue Bombers and invites those estate Winnipegers who have made a very recent successful business speculation to show their wealth with the Chest."

Bombers won 21-7 over Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

A bunch of football buffs assembled for pre-Grey Cup flash outups at Toronto last week and revived yarns about their days in the classic.

Joe Krol, one - time Argonaut great, recalled the time the Toronto team played Winnipeg in the final. He wouldn't name the year, nor the player, when he told Hal (Toronto Telegram' Walker this story.

"We were giving Winnipeg a rough time in this one and had a pretty good lead late in the last quarter. Our quarterback, and I won't tell you his name because his wife might club him over the head, came into the huddle and said:

"Take a look at Section L, about four rows up. That gal is really someth ing? Everybody cawked and kept repeating 'Where? Where?' We got nailed for taking too much time in the huddle."

CUTTE A HUDDLE

Krol, who had been in seven Cup finals, said that was the only one he could remember when the players found any relaxation in a huddle.

Then there were other stories.

About the time the young western player who became so absorbed in the cup he had found for and lost that he talked his way - found friend, the eastern tackle who played opposite him during the afternoon, to let him borrow the Grey Cup for the night. The easterner let it go with reluctance and as the westerner back to the bench.

stumbled down the hotel corridor to his room, his friend yelled: "Hey, what do you want it for?" "What's it to you?" the other dresser," his friend replied. "In the morning I'll look at that cup first thing and I'll drink it up."

Len Back, Hamilton Tiger-Cat manager for more than 20 years, has great love for the cup but it got him into trouble after the 1953 game. The Ticats against Winnipeg Blue Bombers, Tiger-Cats won 12-6 and Back was celebrating in a downtown hotel when someone said they'd like to see the cup, and probably sip champagne from it.

GREY CUP AND TROUBLE

Len hurried back to his room, got the cup which was wrapped and secreted into a loaded elevator with the bundle.

"What's in the package?" unarled a not too - steady customer on the elevator. "The Grey Cup," replied Len.

"Don't get smart," said the stranger and hooped Len. The result: a black eye, broken glasses and a couple of stiches.

Vera (Corral Gazette) Degeer, a veteran football chronicler, recalls the 1948 cup final in Toronto between Ottawa Rough Riders and Calgary Stampeders. "Ottawa was a huddle and also in trouble at the time," Degeer recalls. "Suddenly a figure rocketed from the Ottawa bench and joined the huddle. The game was delayed while the enthusiastic club executive was guided

Selecting the Best Deer Rifle

A friend of mine called the other day. He was fed up with his old deer rifle — a 32 special. What kind should he get? What is the best deer rifle?

Actually, there is no "best deer rifle." The selection of a rifle depends entirely on the type of shooting you intend to do. If you are a sheep-woods hunter, stalking your deer and shooting in mountain cover, the rifle you probably want is a 30-30 or, if you can find one, a Springfield 45-70. These, with their heavy slugs and comparatively low muzzle velocity, will find their mark through brush without too much deflection.

Conversely, if you are a "pocket" or "watch" hunter, remaining stationary near a deer crossing or runway, or taking your stand where much open country can be covered, then you would want a "fast" gun, such as the 243.

Every now and then an editor or a member of one of the conservation agencies or, possibly, one of the gun companies, will send out a questionnaire to a number of deer hunters, asking what armament they prefer for deer. The replies to these show definite trends in selection.

For example 30 years ago here in Pennsylvania there were many deer killed by the 32-special as by all the other guns combined. Today, however, the 32-special gun and "pumkin ball" are forgotten.

Today, the 32-special, lacking somewhat in hitting power, has given way to the 30-30, 30-06, 270, in some areas, such as Maine, Vermont, the old 30-40 still stands high in the ranking.

TRENDS SHOW CLEARLY

In all cases these trends in rifle selections show up quite clearly. As a matter of fact, these polls of the local sporting goods store can tell you as much or more than a rather involved questionnaire. Moreover, they have a chance to take a good look at what goes on in the second-hand market.

Usually, when fellow comes in to buy one of the new rifles, such as a magnum or a 300, he has an old-timer he wants to trade in. These are put in the second-hand rack and priced accordingly. Time was when a second-hand 32-special would overrather quickly. Not now. Today the heavier calibres like the 32 or the 45-70 are better than the 32-special or the 30-30. The latter was the most used, by men who already have a "hot" gun but who want a handier brush gun.

But not all of our deer hunting here in eastern Pennsylvania is done at moderate ranges. There are the men in particular who come to mind, who hunts habitually at unusually long ranges. Each department is interesting and rather complicated. It consists of a pair of power binoculars, a spotting scope, and a magnum rifle with a telescopic sight. Last but not least, comes a waterproof tarpaulin, a bag of sawdust and shavings and a smaller bag of sand.

SIMPLE PROCEDURE

The procedure is amazingly simple and decidedly on the labor-saving order. He and a friend drive along back roads through the deer country. Usually it doesn't take very long to get a fair view of the valley on the opposite hill, particularly if there is snow on the ground.

If there is a buck among the deer that are located, his rack can be looked over carefully through the spotting scope. Should he qualify as a likely candidate, then comes the business of parting the car, getting out the equipment, and setting things up for final operations.

The tarpaulin is spread on the ground, then the bag of sawdust and shavings topped by the smaller bag of sand. The spotting scope is set up on the tripod. The gunner lies up, lies prone on the tarpaulin, and rests the rifle on the bag of sand. The other man, also prone, trains the spotting scope on the buck.

The gunner estimates his windage and elevation and touches one off. The spotting scope man reports — too high, too low, or what have you. The gunner corrects his sights and tries again. Gradually the buck is encircled and, eventually, knocked down. Should the first shot fail to kill him, he is finished off with a second.

Strangely enough, while all this shooting is going on, the deer seldom take flight and leave. The spat of a bullet against bare ground evidently is not associated with the noise of the discharge across the valley. It is the sudden and almost sure way to get a deer.

So, what's the best deer rifle? The only fellow to answer that is yourself. You know the deer sort of country in which you hunt and the ranges at which you shoot. Knowing this, talk to your gun man at the sporting goods store. He and you together can find the answer very quickly.

Thinks Death Of Horses Not Accidental

TORONTO (CP) — George J. Barron, Brant County horseman, said Monday night two horses died of poisoning in his barn near Brantford this month and he is convinced the deaths were not accidental.

The horses are Billy McGregor, a seven-year-old, and Gerry McGregor, a five-year-old. Mr. Barron found one dead in his stall Nov. 11 and the other early next morning.

He had all the feed in the barn analyzed and there was no trace of poison. Later he sent the carcass of Gerry McGregor to the Ontario Veterinary College at Guelph where enough nitric poison was found in its stomach to cause death.

"I've never had any trouble with my drivers or trainers", said Mr. Barron, who has been racing for 35 years, "but it looks as though someone has a beef against me. These were the two best horses in my stable and I valued them at close to $10,000 each."

Mr. Barron maintains a string of 17 standardbreds at the stable. He said it was near impossible there was no apparent attempt at theft or tampering with the animals.

A six-goal performance by Larry Moore of the Browns was the highlight of the evening in the squirt division of the Belleville Minor Hockey Association last night.

The Browns defeated the Bruins 10-8 with Moore potting the club's first two goals and also adding four in a row. Richard McVicar scored twice with singletons for Steve Semark and Brian Bateman. Ralph Lewington, Jim Hartlage, Pickey Tarp, Neal Gyers, Wayne Muir and Steve Terry each had one goal for the Bruins.

Maple Leafs took a 3-1 decision over the Black Hawks in the night's lowest scoring tilt. David Cass, Don Lambert and Terry Lynch were the Leaf marksmen while John Burley triggered the Hawk goal.

Barons squeezed out a tight 3-2 victory over the Canadiens. Gregory Kaye potted two Baron goals with David Truesdale getting the other. Bob Mulvihill and Terry Cremey scored for the Canadiens.

Rangers also racked up a one-goal win, shading the Red Wings 6-5. Calvin Wilson paced the winners with a pair while Cliff Scott, John Bateman, Doug Thompson and Steve Hunter had a goal each. Harry Smith, Brian Mortson, Bruce LaRue, Wayne Brown and Rick Moffat potted the Wing markers.

SANDPOINT, Idaho (AP)—The second-largest rainbow trout ever caught was pulled from the waters of Lake Pend Oreille Sunday.

Cecil Hulbert of Spokane boasted the fish that weighed 36 pounds, eight ounces — half a pound under the world record. The mighty Kamloops was 40 inches long and measured 28 inches around the middle.

Hulbert said the giant gave up without much of a fight and was landed in about 15 minutes.

The world record rainbow was a 37-pound Kamloops caught by Wes Hamlet of Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, Nov. 25, 1947. It's length was 40½ inches and girth 28 inches.

A three-hour delay in weighing a huge rainbow trout on a government - tested scale probably cost Hulbert the record.

A biologist told Hulbert the fish lost at least a pound in weight because of the delay.

REPORT ON EXPANSION

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—George Halas, chairman of the National Football's League's expansion committee, reported to league owners Monday on the Dallas and Minneapolis-St. Paul franchise requests. Acting commissioner Austin H. Gunsel said Halas brought the owners up to date on what has transpired since they met here last month after the death of the late commissioner Bert Bell.

PROLONG SEASON

WINNIPEG (CP) — A special elk season in the area surrounding Riding Mountain National Park will be extended until Jan. 2. Mines and Resources Minister C. H. Witney said Monday. The special season opened Nov. 16 but was scheduled to close Nov. 30. It was established because elk living in the park were leaving it and eating stooked grain in nearby fields.

ROYALS DRAFT PITCHER

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (CP) —Montreal Royals of the International League Monday drafted pitcher Bob Wild from Memphis of the Southern Association for $20,000. Wild, 17, had a 6-3 record record at Dothan of the Alabama-Florida League last season. Corpus Christi of the Texas League, drafted Ray Daviault, Montreal - born rightshander who had a 6-5 record with Gastonia, N.C., last season.

Cleroux Wins Over Young

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal's Rob Cleroux, No. 1 contender for George Chuvalo's Canadian heavyweight title, battered Tiger Young to the canvas with a stiff right hand and scored a first-round knockout over the New Yorker in a scheduled 10-rounder at Mont St. Louis Gymnasium Monday night.

The KO came 79 seconds after the opening bell. Cleroux weighed 202 and Young 207.

In a co-feature, Rory Calhoun, 163, of White Plains, N.Y., scored a unanimous 10-round decision over Tony Mascia relli, 165, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla. Calhoun is a former ranking middleweight contender who dropped from the top 10 when set back by Spider Webb early this year.

Tiger-Cats Seek Hardrock Twins

HAMILTON (CP) — Mike and Martin McKever, the hardrock twins of the University of Southern California's football team, have been placed on the protection list of Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Big Four.

Coach Jim Trimble said he figured Mike, a 220-pound guard, would be expelled from the university following a recent roughing incident, and that Marlin, an end, would leave also.

"One of my arguments that I'll use in trying to sign them is that they'll at least have a chance to play together in Canada," said Trimble.

Other recent additions to the West negotiation list are Walter Beach, a fast halfback from Central Michigan University, and Jim and Bill Berrier from Juanita College.

Will Never Change Names Of Horses

TORONTO (CP)—Racehorse owner William Morrissey says he will not change the names of six racehorses despite a ruling Monday by the Supreme Court of Canada which turned down his appeal against an Ontario Racing Commission order.

The commission said the horses were named to ridicule and embarrass track owner Fred Oyen or members of his family. It has ordered Mr. Morrissey to find new names for Shut the Ring, Hot Ice, Red Nose Clown, Irene's Orphan, Rabbit Mouth and Into the Grape.

"I'm out of racing but I'll never change the names," Mr. Morrissey said. "Our program is to race them until we are ordered to stop."

The Morrissey horses are raced under lease by Miss Christina Blanche Armstrong who said she intends racing the horses until they are barred from the tracks.

GILLMAN UNDER AXE

LOS ANGELES (CP) — Coach Sid Gillman of Los Angeles Rams will be out at the end of the season, The Herald-Express said Monday.

His contract with the National Football League club, which has a year to run at a reported $25,000 annually, will end by mutual agreement, said the story.

The Rams, regarded before the season as pennant contenders, have a 2-8 record. If they don't win their two remaining games, this season will be their worst since they came here in 1946. Gillman's overall record since coming here in 1955 from Cincinnati University is 38-30.

Carter Holds Pro Loop Lead

OTTAWA (CP)—Billy Carter of Hull-Ottawa Canadiens was held to one assist in Eastern Professional Hockey League action last week but maintains an 11-point lead in the scoring race with 43 points, league statistics show.

Cleland Morrison of Sudbury Wolves, co - holder of the most-penalized player lead, was on his bench twice and took second place by scoring his 11th goal and three assists. He has 34 points. Carter, 29-year-old centre, has 31 goals—last in the six-club league—and 24 assists, one more than Morrison.

Orval Tessier of Kingston and Sam Bettio of Sudbury, in a four-way tie for second last week, are bracketed a third with 30 points.

Claude Evans of Trois-Rivieres Lions still leads netminders with a 2.4 against average, having allowed 36 goals in 15 games. Charlie Hodge of Montreal added another shutout, his fourth, to lead that department.

League-leading Sudbury is the most-penalized team, adding 36 minutes for a total of 336. Morrison and Dino Mascotto of Trois-Rivieres each have 83 minutes in penalties.

Sawchuk Out Of Hospital

DETROIT (AP) — Terry Sawchuk, star goalie for Detroit Red Wings, was released from hospital Monday after treatment for a virus-specific condition.

Officials said Sawchuk will skate today and practise with the team Wednesday. Later this week it will be decided whether he will play Saturday afternoon when Boston Bruins visit Detroit.

Meanwhile, Red Wings forward Len Lunde entered hospital Monday for minor surgery on a ruptured muscle in his left arm. He is to be discharged today and is expected to play Saturday.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

The McFarlande will be a travel-weary, game-sore bevy of athletes once more today. After all, all they've got to do is play five games in six nights, three of them around that long horn from Belleville to Chatham, to Kitchener to Windsor.

They start the five-ring circus in Whitby tonight and entertain Wren Blair's crew here tomorrow evening. They start the second-the-province swing on Friday and hope to be back in time to vote next Monday.

Ike Hildebrand whipped the navy threesh one of the toughest practice grinds of the season Sunday evening, keeping them on the galley for over two hours. Floyd Crawford's gimpy knee is still kicking up and is anything but reliable. Wimmer Brown's shoulder is far from well and there is little sting in the speedy winger's drives.

The Man do not look like nor feel like these tallet ship commercials you see on that living-room one-eyed monster, even after the first hour in the three-leg grind. After all it's only some 204 miles to Chatham, and although riding comfort on the bus is little less than perfection, the long trek takes a certain amount out of every body.

Then after the Chatham tilt they roll again to London where they bed down for the rest of the night, and a few hours later they're on their way to Kitchener. Another battle and it's the last night back to the London bed-down. Then up early for the safari to Windsor where they play an afternoon game.

Whoever dreamed up this schedule should have his noggin' examined. It's bad enough to have to trek to Western Ontario on three-game jaunts, but to have to go to Chatham first, then double back to Kitchener, thence to Windsor, playing two games in the last 24 hours, is plain nuts, and a team has to be a little less than supermen.

Tears are falling with resounding plops in the beer-mugs of the Chatham Maroons management and again the walls are heard to be crumbling mingled with threats of withdrawal from the league if Mr. and Mrs. John Fan doesn't up the attendance.

Through the damp towels comes the moan that the management is losing money on every home game. The loss to date amounts to over $1,000. And the local sports editor bemoans the fact that the club had to cut two players to save expenses.

He says there is still the threat the Maroons will fold if attendance does not improve. And what happens? Immediately, he says, the arena loses an estimated $10,000 profit, and the taxpayers will have to make up the deficit.

He suggests the arena commission or body instal a heating system for he believes that is the answer to the decrease in attendance. That comes under the heading of baloney. A winning team will do more to pull in the people than a Quebec heater in every bench.

The sports editor defends the local hockey association, says they should be classified for their efforts to keep hockey alive. He even suggests putting alms boxes in the pews. "A buck from every fan would do the club," he opines.

He says that people in Chatham close to the Maroons tell him that the club is ahead of last year on attendance average up to the 5th point. They only dropped 1,600 up to Christmas in 1958. This year, Taylor says, they admit their average is more than 1,500 and it is doubtful if their expenditures are as heavy as those of a year ago.

"In fact," Taylor writes, "we're so confident that this is the once we'll make a small wager that Chatham not only finishes the season, but it makes the playoffs, which looks reasonably certain. It will wind up with money in the bank."

Could It Be That Mr. Dawes Is a Hockey Rip Van Winkle?

TORONTO (CP)—The biggest said and added it is high time that the Winter Olympic Games be abolished world problem, possibly by not more a dozen favorable votes in the International Olympic Committee, said A. Sidney Dawes, committee member and former president of the Canadian Olympic Association.

Mr. Dawes was commenting Monday on the proposal by Marc Hodler, president of the International Ski Federation, and Otto Mayer, IOC chancellor, that the Winter Olympics be dropped by 1968.

"I can't imagine Mr. Hodler being in favor of dropping the games," said Mr. Dawes. Mr. Hodler might be upset because he could not get a bobsled event on the 1960 Winter Games program at Squaw Valley, Calif.

Mr. Mayer was reported Monday as saying the IOC would be delighted if the sports federations would abolish all but the Winter Games. He said the games had become professionalized and could no longer be considered Olympic sports.

CANADIAN DISAGREES

"No hockey team is worth a dime unless it is in a league," Mr. Dawes commented. "I don't think our people are paid at all."

There would be no sense in putting a man on the team who would not sign the affidavit of amateur status.

The importance of the Olympic Games is that they bring together all the best of sports and therefore all the biggest crowds, Mr. Dawes said and added it is high time Canada developed a site, possibly in the Rocky Mountains, of a standard suitable for the Winter Olympics.

In Montreal, Ken Farmer, president of the Canadian Olympic Association, said the suggestion that as far as Canada is concerned, suggestions of professionalism in skiing are absurd. "There is no opportunity in Canada for professional skiing except by teachers and they would not stay at the top because of their teaching activities."

The Canadian Ski Association rules allow teachers to receive pay.

Farmer also said there is no professionalism in figure skating in Canada although "I don't know whether that goes for Europe."

He said instead of abolishing the Winter Olympics, the summer event should be reduced in size to allow expansion of the small winter counterpart. Such indoor sports as boxing, wrestling, basketball and weightlifting could be transferred, he said.

WELCOME NEWS

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Royals may have several of their injured players back for tonight's Eastern Professional Hockey League game with Hull-Ottawa Canadiens. They are left winger Bill Sutherland, who injured his knee Saturday night in Kingston; defenceman Tom Thurlby, shoulder injury, Wally Clune, sprained left wrist, and Georges Desjarlais, infected foot; and centre Skippy Burchell, pulled thigh muscle.

Bronco Has Quickest Draw Of National Puckpokes

Shoots From the Hip, Podner Fooling Goalie With Speed; First Player to Score 20

MONTREAL (CP) — Boston's remarkable Bronco Horvath has become the National Hockey League's first 26-goal man this season with a performance that has provided a fresh vista for scouts in the minor leagues.

The lanky, 28-year-old centre has a little more than a decent attacker or puck-carrier by comparison with other stars. He is not his shot particularly hard or accurate, by the same standard.

Last week the six - foot, 170-pounder from Port Colborne, Ont., fired three goals and assisted on a fourth to run his production to 34 points to lead the point cushion in the scoring race, official league statistics showed today.

HOWE, BATHGATE NEXT

Horvath's closest pursuers are still Montreal's Bernie Howe and New York's Andy Bathgate. Bathgate collected three goals and two assists to run his total to nine goals and 18 assists and Howe scored once and had only two assists to boost his total to 13 goals—next best to Horvath—and 14 assists.

Jean Beliveau, top representative of Montreal's high - riding Canadiens, equalled Horvath's four-point effort and climbed to a fourth-place tie with Boston's Vic Stasiuk, both have 26 points.

Beliveau's total is split between goals and assists, Stasiuk, adding a goal and two assists, has nine goals and 17 assists.

Jimmy Peters of Chicago also came up with a goal and two assists, boosting his record to 23 points, including 10 goals.

Three players are one point behind Beliveau and Stasiuk. Detroit New York's Dean Prentice and Boston's Don McKenney, league leader of assists with 19, Prentice, whose three goals and three assists boosted his total to 25, gain among leaders, now has eight goals.

In the goalkeeping department Montreal's Jacques Plante, showing the effects of a broken nose, donned a protective face mask, yielded but four goals in three games to whittle his leading goals-against average to 1.78 in 23 games. Toronto's John Bower gave up six goals in three games to boost his goals average down four points to 2.22.

Ottawa Rough Riders Name Terlep New General Manager

OTTAWA (CP) — George Terlep, a young football veteran and university - trained administrator, today was named general manager of Ottawa Rough Riders.

He succeeds James P. McCaffrey, 63, who retires after holding the job part-time for 36 years, a period during which he guided Rough Riders to four Canadian and Big Four football.

Terlep, 34, has been signed to a two-year contract at an unstated salary. Appointment of the former coach of Ottawa Junior Roughriders and onetime United States professional football player came as no surprise. It was known he was slated for the job since his arrival in mid-season as assistant to coach Frank Clair.

Terlep made these observations during the press conference after which the appointment was announced:

1. He's leaving all the coaching to Clair. He doesn't want to be judged on the team's playing record, but on his executive performance, he said. He'll help scout, but Clair will have the last word on who is signed while Terlep will rule on financial and player matters.

2. Clair and assistant coach Bill Smyth are on the road looking for new player material, and they're studying the possibilities of three particular positions, which Terlep didn't identify. "I hope to be happy if they fill just one to satisfaction.

3. The existence of competition for players after formation of a new U.S. professional circuit next year already is being keenly felt by Canadian clubs, Clair has advised him.

4. The advance from January to late November of draft dates by the U.S. leagues has accentuated the Canadian coaching problem. They may have to start watching and signing players in college spring training camps, one or more two years before they graduate.

NOTRE DAME HERE

Terlep graduated cum laude from Notre Dame with a bachelor of science degree and two diplomas in business administration. He played 4 1/2 years with O'Brien said Terlep will have full charge of the club operation, the same as a general manager of business.

Terlep leaves Ottawa today for the scouting trail and a visit with his family in Regina.

Terlep was quarterback and halfback with Notre Dame in 1941 and 1942. He entered the army in 1943 and played under Paul Brown, who later joined Cleveland Browns.

In 1946-47 he played for Buffalo Bisons of the All - American Conference, and was sold to Cleveland for $15,000 cash.

Then he coached in U.S. colleges and moved into Canadian football in 1957 as assistant under Hamilton's Jim Trimble. He was head coach the next two years at Regina.

The Ottawa club is operated by a group including McCaffrey, Jr., a non-profit operation and McCaffrey never drew a salary.

Spider's Parlor Ready for Fullmer Fly

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Middleweight champion Gene Fullmer is swinging a baseball bat again—as he did in preparation for the fight against Carmen Basilio last August in which he won the title.

"He can hit with the baseball bat in training," Webb said, "but can he take it into the ring with him Friday night?"

The 13-round nationally televised bout will be staged at the Utah State University Fieldhouse at Logan, Utah, 90 miles north of here.

The champion boxed a quick five rounds in his final public workout Monday. He will rest today and leave for the fight site Wednesday.

A Fullmer took his final swings at the heavy bag, Jenson announced Gene would like to try for light-heavyweight champion Harold Mooney if he will rest the middleweight king beats Webb.

"Maybe we'll take a shot at Bobo Olson first to show Gene is a worthy contender," Jenson said. Olson, former middleweight champion, was knocked out when he tried to take Moore's title.

Battle-Scarred Bomber Back Blames Self for Kick Block

TORONTO (CP) — Charlie Shepard, Winnipeg Blue Bomber fullback and punter, said Monday he was to blame for the second quarter blocked kick in Saturday's 21-7 Grey Cup win over Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

The eastern champions scored a single when Ted Urness blocked Dave Delvaux punt and the ball rolled into the end zone.

"I was standing too close to the scrimmage line," Shepard said in a press conference where he received the Triumph Award, a British sports trophy. He was voted the outstanding player in the game by sports writers and broadcasters.

"I was 11 yards behind the scrimmage line and should have been 17 yards," the 26-year-old former North Texas State and Washington Redskin star said. "I know why I moved up so close, but it was it. It was my fault."

BATTLE MARKS EVIDENT

Shepard looked as if he had come out second best in a brawl. He had six bruises and welts on his face, "nothing to worry about" dirty stuff in the game. I got these in falling or being knocked down hard," he said.

Shepard said he had a meeting with Bomber coach Jack Jacobs before he heard he had been voted the game's outstanding player. "I was going to give each player some money or a shirt in the car because this

Penalty-Hungry Juniors Fortunate To Finish in Tie With Kingston

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Lambert-Rollins blew a first-period lead and were lucky to get to hold on for a 7-7 overtime tie with Kingston Johnston Motors in Eastern Ontario Junior "B" hockey fixture here last night.

Belleville outplayed the visitors by a wide margin while staying out of the penalty box in the opening period to take the $-0 lead. But in the second heat the L-R crew drew six consecutive penalties, leading to four Kingston goals, and ended the period tied at 5-5.

The locals took the lead again in the third only to have the now-confident Kingston crew score a pair of markers for a 7-6 lead, forcing Belleville to send the tying goal with but two minutes left in regulation time. The clubs were scoreless in the ten-minute overtime.

Belleville hung onto second place with the division of points, making their record for the season three wins, one tie and two defeats.

Gary Rowbotham topped the Belleville point-getters, scoring one goal and assisting on three others. Gary Goyer and Don Forsythe each contributed two goals while Dennis Kerruish had a goal and assist and Bruce Pearce one goal. Ron Hull drew two assists, Jack Elliott, Moe Hunter and Jerry Mann one apiece.

Kingston's top line, led by the young veteran Bud Aylesworth, collected 12 scoring points. Aylesworth had three goals and two assists, Pete Ford a goal and three helpers and Gary Faulkner a goal and two assists. Chuck Osborne and Pete Allard added single markers while Wormington, Peters, Napier, O'Donnell and Bombough helped on one each.

Penalties played a major role in the game as they stopped with Kingston scoring four times on the man advantage, all of the plays coming in the middle period. Faulkner and Wormington's first while Hull was serving a holdover penalty from the first period. Aylesworth bagged the next with Mawby in the sin bin for slashing at 8.40 and tied the score at 4-4 with Mawby away for the same offence at 15.34. Then Aylesworth again for a 5-4 Kingston lead with Hunter serving time, also for slashing.

PENALTY HUNGRY

Belleville, too, took advantage of penalties to score four goals but still only one while building the early 3-0 lead. Goyer got his first with Hull off for tripping at 1.28 of the first while Plane and Forsythe added goals with the sides even before the end of the period.

One Belleville player had just returned to the ice after serving time when Kerruish drove away from the pack for a 4-2 lead midway through the second. O'Donnell was off for holding when Goyer tied it 5-5 in the late seconds of the period.

Rowbotham gave Belleville the lead 6-5 while two Kingston players were serving time in the third. Allard at 15.30 and Osborne at 16.54 put Kingston back in front with the clubs at full strength. O'Donnell drew a penalty for tripping at 17.42 and ten seconds later Don Forsythe completed the night's scoring to save one point for the Belleville squad.

Both clubs stayed clear of the penalty bench in overtime and both goalies, Ford Parker and Wayne Nicholls of Kingston, came up with a couple of fine saves to keep their cages clear.

Kingston — Nicholls, O'Donnell, Ford, Peters, Aylesworth, Bombough, Shea, Osborne, Napier, Faulkner, Merchant, Miles, Allard, Wormington.

Belleville — Parker, Mann, Mawby, Reid, Kennedy, Goyer, Elliott, Kerruish, Rowbotham, R. Hull, Forsythe, Pearce, Plane, Hunter.

Draftees Favor National League

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — In the reaction of Billy Cannon and George Ino is any indication of things to come, the National Football League won't have much to worry about in any player war with the new American League.

Cannon, star of Louisiana State's Sugar Bowl team, and Ino, quarterback with Notre Dame, were both drafted by the NFL and agreed to play in the 40-year-old pro league.

Cannon mouthed the war cry of the established league when he appeared in the NFL office Monday and said: "I favor the NFL because it has the better players and more security."

Cannon, a triple - threat halfback, said he will sign with Los Angeles Rams, who made him the NFL's No. 1 draft choice, immediately after LSU's Jan. 1 Sugar Bowl date with Mississippi. Ino, who has no bowl date, has signed with Chicago Cardinals. He was the second pick.

The NFL has made no bones that it plans to sell college players on its stability, security and fringe benefits as well as with cold cash.

In all, the 12 NFL teams, selecting in order from last to first place — drafted 340 players from 194 colleges. Ohio State's Big Ten led with 10 players selected. Seven were taken from Mississippi's powerful team, six from Georgia's Orange Bowl squad and five each from LSU, Notre Dame, Cincinnati, Wisconsin, Texas Christian, Southern California and Iowa.

Freckle-Faced Hank Bassen May Realize Twin Dreams

VANCOUVER (CP) — As a freckle - faced redhead on the prairie ponds around Calgary Hank Bassen had a twin dream: To play in the National Hockey League and to play on a championship team.

Now 26, Bassen has played parts of two seasons with Chicago Black Hawks of the NHL, and this year, his first with Vancouver Canucks, may be headed for a Western Hockey League title.

"This is a good club and it's fun to play on it," Bassen said while relaxing in his motel room with his wife and two - year - old son, Shane.

After 28 games played in the 70 - game schedule, Bassen's goals - against average was 2.38 per game, best in the league. This included two shutouts, as the Canucks held first place.

INDIVIDUAL STYLE

Bassen says his goal - tending style is his own. "I tried different tricks as I went along, but I always come back to the way it feels natural. I guess it amounts to this: You can't play somebody else's game."

Along with contributing strong net support to the Vancouver team, Bassen adds a few minutes here and there to his team's total of penalties, highest in the league.

"I guess I've got some temper, for else I don't know what I'm doing to pick up those penalties," he said.

"I get most of them just trying to clear the door in front of the net. I kind of tap the fellows across the ankles. If you don't, they'll back right in on you and you can't see a thing except the backs of their pants.

"That's usually how my fights have started. Somebody takes exception."

OPPONENT'S FRAME

Hal Laycoe, coach of Victoria Cougars, has been quoted as saying that "Bassen is the best goalie in minor hockey."

"That's pretty strong," says Bassen. "The defence can make you and you've got to have an over-all in the Western League."

He played previously with Calgary and Seattle.

"You've got to have an understanding with your defencemen," he added. "Some of them don't like you to yell at them even when a guy is coming up on their blind side, for instance. Mine do and I'm glad of it. I feel, well, like hollering keeps me in the game."

Skiers Start Training Grind

ROSSLAND, B.C. (CP) — The training program for most of Canada's 1960 Winter Olympics Alpine ski hopefuls began here today amidst optimism seldom known in Canada's athletic circles.

J. N. (Newt) Robinson of Trail, B.C., chairman of the international competitions committee of the Canadian Amateur Ski Association, said Monday that proper, well-organized trials have only been held once before this year. That was in 1951 at Banff.

"Now one must make the relatively large national team before he can represent Canada on any international team."

ALPINE CANDIDATES

Robinson made his comments in an interview just before two-thirds of the 39 men and women seeking alpine berths on the Canadian team opened training. The nordic team — jumping and cross-country — will train elsewhere.

Robinson said the 14 men and eight women here will work out on Red Mountain until Dec. 15, then move to Kimberley, B.C., for two weeks before undergoing two weeks of racing programs in the area. Those selected will move to Squaw Valley, Calif., for three weeks before the Winter Games.

PLAYED WITH RIDERS

OTTAWA (CP)—William Park Anderson, who played football with Ottawa Rough Riders in 1933 and 1936, died in hospital here Sunday following a brief illness. He was 52. Born at Almonte, Ont., Mr. Anderson moved to Ottawa as a young man. He paddled for the Ottawa New Edinburgh Canoe Club in the 1920s.

Champ Gives Ten Years To Challenger

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Aging Joe Brown can't hope to turn back the clock but he's not inclined to agree with challenger Dave Charnley that now's the hour to cast an eye toward the rocking chair.

"Joe has been like a tiger for days," trainer Bill Gore says. "I'll be glad when we can let him out."

Gore's 34-year-old tiger will give away 10 years to the British Empire champion when they meet Wednesday night in their 15-round lightweight title fight in San Mouston Coliseum.

But he claims a four - inch reach advantage over the southpaw who seeks the title for export. He says he'll win by a knockout—and has some agreement among the wise ones.

TO BE CAUTIOUS

Charnley quietly concedes that a cautious performance on his part can give him a victory on points if nothing else.

Word has gotten around that the Englishman can be tagged with a right. Spармate Ernie Tubbs—who has had only two prefights—blackened Charnley's eye with a right in training last week.

Brown, on the other hand, admits he can be had with a left and predicts that when he does lose it will be to a lefty.

Both fighters took today off except for quiet walks and meditation.

MAKE LIMIT EASILY

The champion does not plan to come into town until time for the 11 a.m. weigh - in Wednesday. Both are expected to make the 135-pound weight limit easily.

The promoters, Texas Boxing Enterprises, forecast a gate of about $50,000 for Brown's eighth title defence. He won the championship from Wallace (Bud) Smith in 1956.

The bout will be televised nationally at 10 p.m. EST.

Peg Floats Barred From TV By Commercial

TORONTO (CP) — A break which ended unexpectedly in Saturday's Grey Cup parade was the reason four Winnipeg floats passed by while a commercial was in progress on the national telecast, a CBC spokesman said Monday night.

He said the telecast was commercially sponsored and six commercials had to be inserted in the 1½-hour program at the discretion of the producer. What appeared to be a break in the parade and an appropriate time for a commercial turned out to be untimely.

He said, however, that nearly three minutes were devoted to the Manitoba capital exclusively before the commercial. western floats were featured in many panoramic shots and the time allotted Winnipeg floats compared favorably with that given to the rest of the parade.

Maitland Steinkopf, president of the Manitoba Travel and Convention Association, protested Sunday that only fleeting glimpse of one of the four Manitoba floats was seen on the network telecast and that he has asked for an investigation.

DECLINE BOWL BID

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Navy Monday turned down an invitation to play in the Liberty Bowl at Philadelphia Dec. 19. Rear-Admiral Charles L. Melson, superintendent of the academy, said: "We at the Naval Academy sincerely appreciate the consideration that the bowl committee did not consider it to be in the best interests of the Naval Academy to make a bowl appearance this year."

Joan Crawford Frightened On First TV Appearance

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Joan Crawford, a motion picture actress since her teens, was frightened by the first live television camera she faced years ago. This accounts for her infrequent appearances as a guest on variety shows.

"The show," she recalls with a shudder, "was a complete fiasco—opening night of the old Twilight Show which came before Jack Paar. The idea was to have a lot of columnists doing their stuff from all over the country, and it got very mixed up very early. I was sitting waiting to go on, blinking at the lights and all of a sudden I heard Earl Wilson asking me what I thought of Ingrid Bergman's morals.

"I muttered something to the effect I didn't think anybody had a right to question another person's morals and that you go to see a performer because he's a good actor and not because he has good morals. I'd no sooner gotten over that one than George Sobel asked me whether I slept in the nude or the bottoms of my pajamas. My mouth dropped and I almost answered him—literally.

Except for an appearance as the mystery guest on What's My Line on behalf of WAIF, the international adoption service, Joan has kept away from the red eye of the live camera. Her job as a board member and travelling representative of her late husband's soft drink company occupies about three-quarters of her working time.

On Thursday, however, Joan turns up in her first TV western —she's the widder woman fighting to reclaim her home in Rebel Range, one of CBS' Zane Grey Theatre episodes (9 - 9:30 p.m. EST). It's a filmed show, of course.

Recommended Insight:

Meredith Willson Has Idea, Would Send Bands to Europe

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Meredith Willson has a mission.

His goal sounds a little improbable but then Willson is an expert at the improbable. Such as creating The Music Man and getting it produced in the face of disagreement from nearly everyone of importance in show business.

"I thought I would quit after that," he said, "I believe in quitting when you're ahead. But then I got involved in two other shows that intrigued me—The Unthinkable Mrs. Brown and For 3 Cents Plain.

"When I finish them, I'm going to devote all my energies toward a project that I think will be of inestimable value to this country. America has been very good to me, and I want to do something in return.

FANTASTIC SPECTACLE

"I want to send 200 young marching bands to the capitals of Europe. I want to see them playing down those great streets—yes, even right into the Kremlin—in the most fantastic musical spectacle the old world has ever seen. A three-hour parade of pure joy."

Willson, a onetime clarinetist with John Phillip Sousa, he has led upwards of 10,000 players at midwest festivals in his rousing 76 Trombones. He has an almost messianic belief in the power of positive playing, both in keeping kids out of trouble and in making friends.

"I see the state department is going to send over the marine corps. Well, that's all right. They play a good march. But Europeans aren't going to be too impressed by professional musicians employed by a government agency.

"They will be impressed by thousands of youngsters, all of them amateurs, who are playing for the pure joy of it."

British Paper Assails Failure To Reprieve Boy

LONDON (Reuters)—Canadian Justice Minister Davie Fulton's failure thus far to commute the death sentence hanging over a 24-year-old Ontario boy "outrages every human instinct," a British Liberal newspaper says.

The Guardian of Manchester devotes an editorial to the case of Steven Truscott, a boy who has been under a death sentence since Sept. 30.

The paper notes that the boy had been convicted of the murder, following the rape killing of a 12-year-old girl.

"His execution by hanging was last week postponed from Dec. 3 until Feb. 16 in order that defence counsel may have time to prepare an appeal," the editorial says.

"If, as seems to be the case, the Canadian minister of justice, Mr. Fulton, is bound in any case to consider the prerogative of mercy, it outrages every human instinct that he does not commute the boy now and remove the grave question of a schoolboy waiting in the death cell for the minister's decision.

STILL MANDATORY

The law of Canada still makes it mandatory for a court to pass the death sentence, even though the convicted person is under the age of 18.

Since 1933 nobody under that age in England can have the death sentence passed upon him. Canada was late enough in reforming its law, and Canada is later still, for mankind as such a system in the middle of the 20th century is deplorable.

Only one benefit from the Truscott case is that it has put the Ottawa Punishment Into action in January."

SCENE OF DISAPPEARANCE—When Ambrose Small walked out of his office in the Grand Old Opera House on Toronto's downtown Adelaide Street 40 years ago he touched off one of Canada's strangest mysteries. Police have never solved his disappearance although detectives travelled thousands of miles following up clues and a reward of $50,000 was offered for information leading to his discovery. Following one tip a sixteen shovel and 35 men tore up a dump in a Toronto ravine and the old theatre shown here, was searched in vain for clues when it was razed in 1946. (CP Photo).

Canada's Strangest Unsolved Mystery Was Disappearance Of Theatre Owner A. J. Small

By R. H. GORDON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Is Ambrose Small alive? If he is, he's 93 years old.

For all anyone knows to the contrary, he may be alive. But it's 1,000 to 1 that the Toronto millionaire theatre owner who vanished into thin air 40 years ago Wednesday is dead—possibly since the day of his disappearance.

The police dossier on one of Canada's strangest unsolved mysteries is one of the biggest at Metropolitan Toronto police headquarters. Most of the characters who held the spotlight in the bizarre melodrama are still long - drawn - out aftermath are dead.

NOTHING NEW

Here are the bare facts—nothing new has gone into the record — relating to Ambrose J. Small's activities on Tuesday, Dec. 2, 1919. In the morning he completed a deal for the sale of his string of theatres in Canada to a syndicate known as Trans-Canada Theatres, Limited, for $1,750,000. Later he deposited a cheque for $1,000,000 in his bank and lunched downtown with his wife. Early in the evening, he left his office in the old Grand Opera House on Adelaide Street, bought newspapers at a nearby corner and then dropped out of sight.

Prominent as the 63 - year - old theatrical magnate was, search for him did not start immediately. His wife, Theresa, and friends and business associates were not perturbed as he frequently left the city for short periods without notifying anyone of his plans.

The hue and cry started two weeks later. Early rewards offered for information as to his whereabouts were small enough — $500 and then $5,000. Then in June, 1920, a police circular, printed in many languages, offered $50,000 for clues leading to his discovery, if alive, or $15,000 for the recovery of his body.

The manhunt was as melodramatic as many of the thrillers served up by the little brown-haired man with the walrus moustache to patrons of his popular - priced Ontario theatres at Kingston, Peterborough, Toronto, Hamilton, St. Thomas and London. It sent detectives chasing 27,000 miles to far corners of the continent on false clues that poured in following the dispatch of 30,000 circulars. At one time seven detectives worked on the case.

RUMOR-MONGERS BUSY

In the welter of conjecture armchair sleuths had a field day. Newspapers jumped in to cover all angles of the case for a serious-hungry public. While most people thought Small had been murdered—one rumor had it his body had been burned in the furnace of his own theatre — there was a report he had gone away with a woman, another that he had been seen in Mexico and still another that he had been seen in Japan. Then there were complications caused by the disappearance of bonds worth $105,000, hastily quarried and lawsuits.

Of those known to have seen Ambrose Small on the day he vanished, Norman J. O'Flynn is probably the only one living today. A Dominion Bank branch manager who retired some years ago, he was manager of the savings department of the bank's King and Yonge St. branch in downtown Toronto in 1919.

He knew Small well as a client of the bank, but it is an understatement to say he was surprised when the theatre man came in to deposit a cheque for $1,000,000.

Mr. O'Flynn chuckles as he recalls that day 40 years ago: "Why, we didn't see a million-dollar cheque every day."

He was impressed him as an alert businessman — always in a hurry. On his visits to the bank, he never wasted time chatting.

IN HAPPY MOOD

"But he was in a cheery mood on the day I saw him for the last time," Mr. O'Flynn says. "He came in, tossed a cheque on my desk and asked me to credit it to his personal account.

"It was all over in a matter of moments. I received for a deposit slip and gasped when I saw the amount of the cheque."

The well-thumbed file on the Small case at police headquarters has not been added to for two years, but officials are ready to go to work on any information that may lead to a solution.

Austin Mitchell, the detective sergeant in charge of the police search for Small, died in 1950. He was an inspector when he retired in 1945.

"Since that time we have had many letters from various parts of the United States and Canada offering information of one kind and another in connection with the case," said Deputy Chief Alex McCribb, a veteran with 36 years' service on the force.

"Many have been from cranks, but all those that appeared genuine have been investigated. They have produced no result."

SHREWD BUSINESSMAN

If Ambrose Small was murdered it was ironic that his end should come at the moment of his biggest achievement. Born in obscurity, he built up his theatrical enterprises by hard work and shrewd business dealings. To some he was calculating and ruthless; others regarded him as a generous friend.

Kidnapping was often mentioned but ruled out when no ransom was demanded.

One of the hottest clues led police to a dump in Rosedale Ravine in midtown Toronto. A steam shovel and 35 men found nothing. Sunken Bay was dragged without result. For years after his disappearance human bones found in various places were investigated.

A month after Small vanished the case temporarily took on a new slant. Police cut out a drag-net for John Doughty, the missing man's secretary. For 18 years, who suddenly disappeared. It was discovered that bonds worth $105,000 were missing from Small's safety deposit box.

FOUND IN OREGON

Nearly a year elapsed before Doughty was arrested in an Oregon lumber camp. Brought back to Toronto, he lied police to the bonds, cached in the attic walls in a sister's house. He was charged with theft and conspiracy to kidnap.

At his trial on the theft charge the secretary claimed he was handling the bonds officially for Small and fled in fright when the latter vanished. Grand Opera House employees testified that Doughty had talked to them of kidnapping plans.

Found guilty of theft, Doughty served four years and nine months of a six-year sentence in Kingston Penitentiary. On his release the Crown announced it would drop the charge connected with kidnapping.

Doughty died Aug. 11, 1949, but in the 30 years that intervened he lived quietly in Toronto and for a period operated a service station in the city's east end. Why he fled to the United States was never really explained and what he knew about the Small case he kept to himself. Few of the new generation knew that he had played a part in one of the great mysteries of the time.

HARASSED WIFE

Childless Theresa Small hoped to live quietly in semi-retirement but reports of her husband's disappearance. Her wish was shattered by years of litigation over his estate estimated to be worth about $2,000,000 and she became the butt of rumor and gossip.

Under a will dated Sept. 9, 1919, Mrs. Small was bequeathed all her husband's real and personal property and was appointed sole administratrix and executrix.

The will was entered for probate late in 1922 and what was virtually a rehearing of the Small case resulted. Through hours of examination and hours of cross-examination, Mrs. Small remained calm and dignified.

Florence and Gertrude Small, the missing man's spinster sisters, disputed the will and finally a settlement was made in 1924 under which each would receive the interest on $100,000.

EXONERATED BY JUDGE

In the light of the bitterness caused by the family dispute, the words of Mr. Justice Logie at the time of the settlement are significant. He said: "Mrs. Small leaves this court without any stain whatever upon her character."

The little Toronto-born woman, a Roman Catholic, was an accomplished musician and vocalist. She spoke and read eight languages and travelled extensively abroad.

Ambrose Small, whom she married in 1902, frequently gave her much of the credit for his business success in court hearings Mrs. Small spoke well of their relationship.

When she died in 1935, Mrs. Small's will revealed a variety of bequests with the residue of the estate going to Roman Catholic charities. But litigation costs and succession duties, coupled with the fact that Mrs. Small had been extremely generous in her lifetime, cut into the estate which was placed in the hands of the courts. Actually it was not wound up until 1954 when it amounted to only $141,313.

IN COURTS AGAIN

The year 1936 brought lurid developments when Small's sister, aided by Patrick Sullivan, publisher of The Thunderer, a sensational Toronto weekly tabloid, applied for an injunction to prevent the distribution of Mrs. Small's estate.

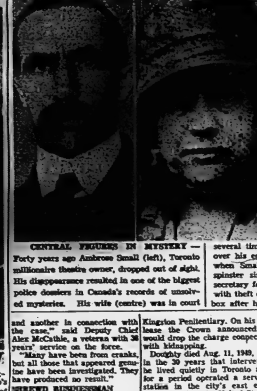
The application brought a reopening of the police investigation into the case. Sullivan produced a document purporting to be the confession of Theresa Small that she "more than any other person" was responsible for the death of her husband on Dec. 2, 1919. Accompanying the alleged confession was an affidavit by a man who claimed he was offered $30,000 to "go in on" the killing of Small.

Mr. Justice Nicol Jeffery dismissed the action on Nov. 26, 1936, finding the "confession" was not signed by Mrs. Small; it was a forgery.

In a judgment that took 30 minutes to read, he took pains "to clear the name of a dead woman (Theresa Small) who, during her life, interested herself in good works and charitable deeds."

SISTER DROWNED

Some echoes of the mysterious case:



Gertrude Small married Warren G. Bell, 44, at Stayner, Ont., near Barrie, on Oct. 28, 1939. They were drowned a few hours later when their car plunged into the Nottawasaga River. Bell, an electrician and radio specialist at Midland, Ont., was 12 years younger than his wife.

Florence Small was 77 when she died in Toronto, March 20, 1953. At her request she was buried without a religious service.

The Grand Opera House was razed in 1946 but nothing was unearthed to throw any light on the disappearance of its one - time owner.

LONG INTERVAL

GRANTHAM, England (CP)— A motorist fined for careless driving in this Lincolnshire town had had a previous offence. He was convicted for not lighting his paraffin lamps in 1913, when he claimed that he had used up all his matches.

CENTRAL FIGURES IN MYSTERY — Forty years ago Ambrose Small (left), Toronto millionaire theatre owner, dropped out of sight. His disappearance resulted in one of the biggest police dossiers in Canada's records of unsolved mysteries. His wife (centre) was in court several times in the bitter years of litigation over his estate, estimated at about $3,000,000, when Small's will was disputed by his two spinster sisters. John Doughty (right), his secretary for 18 years, went to prison charged with theft of bonds from Small's safety deposit box after he disappeared. (CP Photo).

Italian Slide Buries 35 Men in Barracks

TURIN, Italy (AP) — A huge avalanche of snow roared down a mountainside 40 miles north of Turin before dawn today, and 13 construction workers were feared dead.

The great snow mass buried a barracks in which 35 men were sleeping. Twenty-two of the men dug their way out.

Workers from neighboring barracks dug frantically with all available tools and nearly eight hours later recovered three bodies.

The other 10 men also were feared dead.

The avalanche crashed down into the Vall dell'Orco — the Valley of the Devil — 60 miles east of the Italian Alps. A force of 100 men has been digging an electric power line.

One of the survivors said those trapped were awakened by the roar of the sliding snow and were running for the doors when the avalanche struck.

The huge snow mass wrenched off the concrete foundations and moved "t nearly 50 feet before burying the building.

Some French flights were being run from military airports, but the mountain regions were by other avalanches. It took some of the men three hours on skis to reach the nearest telephone to call for aid.

A company of 300 Alpine troops set out on skis for the valley.

Judge Quashes Bookseller's Conviction

TORONTO (CP)—Judge Ian M. Macdonell of York County court Tuesday in a 9½ page judgment quashed Morris Singer's conviction on charges of having obscene literature for sale.

The prosecution against Singer was launched earlier this year by Russ Whicher, Liberal member of the Ontario legislature for Bruce, Magistrate W. F. R. Rogers found that four magazines could arouse "impure thoughts" in the minds of youths.

Mr. Whicher picked the magazines off the counter in Singer's midtown tobacco shop and laid the charge to test the obscenity laws. But both he and the investigating policemen testified at the trial they had glanced through the magazines without being corrupted.

Judge Macdonell said in overruling the conviction that he was judging from a point "between two extremes." He agreed a great many of the photographs were "highly disgusting" but added it is likely necessarily mean they tended to corrupt.

Nikita Sent Troops, Tanks Into Hungary

BUDAPEST (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev indicated today that he sent troops and tanks to put down the 1956 revolution in Hungary over the opposition of some of his Kremlin comrades.

"At the time of the counter-revolution in 1956," the Soviet premier told a meeting of workers, "we thought the Soviet Union on how we could help Hungary's working people against the counter-revolutionaries.

"Some Soviet comrades expressed anxiety that any help would be misconstrued. But we said that is how they would see us were right and we had to help the working class."

Khrushchev declared that in 1956 "the saliva of the imperialists was running in their mouths at the prospects of Hungary leaving the Socialist camp."

"They thought that one by one they could sever the Socialist countries from their united base."

The Soviet leader was taking time out from Hungary's seventh Communist Party congress to address workers at Budapest's giant Csepel heavy engineering and machine factory.

MILLION CIVIL SERVANTS START 24-HOUR STRIKE

French Deliveries Of All Kinds Stopped

PARIS (Reuters) — More than 1,000,000 French civil servants and public utility workers launched a 24-hour token strike today, halting mail deliveries, air traffic and garbage disposal.

Most government offices closed down for the day, hospitals concentrated on emergency cases only, water supplies were curtailed and customs checks were eased down.

The strikers are demanding "a living wage" from the government. They claim wages have not kept pace with the rising cost of living.

Civil servants want minimum salary to be set no lower than 45,000 francs ($90) a month. Some unmarried post office workers and government clerks now earn less than 10,000 francs for a 45-hour week.

Parisians were without mail delivery and there was no garbage collected.

AIRLINE PILOTS OUT

Maintenance crews of the state-run airline, air France, walked out in sympathy with the strikers. Air traffic control tecnaicians joined them early today.

Some French flights were being run from military airports, but the mountain regions were by other avalanches. It took some of the men three hours on skis to reach the nearest telephone to call for aid.

A company of 300 Alpine troops set out on skis for the valley.

Bus and subway workers in Paris appointed delegates to the public transport and tourism ministry to ask for more pay. But they did not join the stoppage.

'Lord Opened My Side of Plane' Says Sole Survivor of Crash

MONTOURSVILLE, Pa. (AP) — "The Lord opened my side of the plane and I walked out. I walked out."

Louis Matarazzo, 35, of Spring Field, Pa., was speaking from a hospital bed in nearby Williamsport. He was the only survivor among 26 persons aboard a twin-engined Allegheny Airlines plane which crashed Tuesday into a 1,400-foot mountain during a snow and poor visibility.

He fought my way through flames, past the wreckage," explained Matarazzo. "I tried to make my way back to the wreckage but couldn't make it. My legs were too stiff ... the pain ..."

When a priest who was flown into the disaster area by a helicopter came to him, Matarazzo also told him:

"All of a sudden the pilot seemed to race the motors and pull up. There was a crash ... the plane burst and exploded."

The Martin executive aircraft carried 23 passengers and a crew of three, including the pilot, Capt. Thomas Hall of Smithfield, 30, of North Olmsiead, Ohio.

Goldsmith, father of an infant child, was called in unexpectedly from his farm. He had been on a two-weeks vacation and was not due back until Friday.

David L. Miller, an investigator for Allegheny, said Goldsmith appeared to be making an instrument approach at the Williamsport-Montoursville airport in this north-central Pennsylvania community. The flight originated in Philadelphia.

Miller said the airport has no tower.

"It appeared he was making an approach for a GCA," Miller explained, "when he suddenly went into a pull-up procedure, deciding to go around the field and make another approach."

Miller said a pull-up procedure is not unusual, and it is the pilot-in-command who can take such action if deemed necessary. As to the cause of the crash, Miller said he did not know since the pilot never indicated he was in any trouble.

The dead were brought down from the mountains and taken to a temporary morgue in Williamsport.

The crash was the 10th disaster involving United States commercial airliners this year. The toll of lives has reached 287. This does not count deaths in military and private plane crashes.

Every Moose Shot in Province Cost Hunter $540 on Average

SUDBURY (CP)—The average hunter spent $540 for every moose shot in the province, Ontario Lands Minister Strangway said Tuesday night.

The minister told the annual dinner of the Northern Ontario Tourist Outfitters Association that during the 1958 season some $3,864,500 changed hands during the annual moose hunt. This meant money in the pockets of every businessman located anywhere near a moose hunting area.

The minister said that improved survey techniques and resulting better quota allotments it easier for the government to estimate big game populations. But he criticized the outfitters and licence issuers for delaying their quotas as long as possible these delays, especially in connection with deer hunting, made a proper survey impossible.

Ice Forming in Seaway Locks Speeding Race to Open Sea

MONTREAL (CP) — Ice was forming in the St. Lawrence Seaway locks Tuesday night while the last ocean ships of the season fought to reach open water.

Compressors were brought into use for the first time to close gates and valves in the locks approaching the seaway exit, the Montreal harbor, as the ice ran through narrow channels broken in this ice.

Efforts were being made to get the last 20 vessels through the seaway before it closes.

"If the weather holds out another 24 hours, there should be no trouble at all," said one official. However, extension of open navigation depends on the ice in real trouble."

It is officially expected to get all the dep-sea vessels into Montreal harbor by tonight.

GUNS, SHIP ARRIVE

An unheralded latecomer, the crippled Norwegian freight Salvia, arrived in the harbor after two salvage tugs. She had been delayed in Port Colborne by mechanical trouble.

Tugs failed to free the Vilja Tuesday.

Payola Disease Involves All Broadcasting

TORONTO (CP) — Songwriter Arthur Schwartz said in Toronto night "Payola is a disease that involves the entire broadcasting industry in the United States and disc-jockey is only a symptom of the disease."

He said the three major networks are involved in the practice of "underwriting" the cost of certain records. "The companies are in fact co-producers of programs and use their broadcasting licences to promote their records.

"FCC, which is in effect over NBC, admits this, CBS denies it, and ABC has made no comment", Mr. Schwartz said in an interview. "It is ludicrous that a tremendously huge industry (BMI) for the special purpose of protecting writers of the popular music business.

"Now they have been forcing rock and roll music on the public through payola, which is corrupting one of the most desirable arts.

In fact, it is on a scale so large it has destroyed the right of the public to hear the music it would like to hear."

Liberal Leader Says Federal Aid Inadequate

REGINA (CP)—Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson said Tuesday the federal-provincial offer of aid on stricken prairie farmers is inadequate.

Mr. Pearson, in an interview following a fund-raising luncheon here, did not say what he thought the adequate aid to farmers whose crops were covered by snow.

Touching on other subjects, he said:

The federal government should have done more for civil servants.

The Dec. 1 closing of the St. Lawrence Seaway was an awful blow to the east coast and had been set before the seaway could be cleared of ships.

Canada must find new markets for its wheat or the country will be in trouble, Mr. Pearson said.

In his hour-long speech he said that Canada must not isolate itself with European trade groups or fall into dependence on United States.

"If we don't extend those lines, we will be thrown into the dominion of the United States. This is a matter of life and death, politically and economically, for Canada."

PC's ARE TOLD COMPLACENCY MUST BE AVOIDED

Senator Thorvaldson May Succeed Balcer

OTTAWA (CP)—The Progressive Conservative party paralyzed its federal and provincial might Tuesday while digesting warnings that complacency must be avoided.

Election of officers was the first important item of business on today's agenda at the three-day general meeting started its set and busiest session.

BANQUET TONIGHT

Resolutions, organization and public relations all will be discussed before the convention concludes with a banquet in honor of Mr. Diefenbaker tonight.

The prime minister spoke twice Tuesday — once to stress that the national party doesn't intend to lose touch with the grass roots by "looking at it from leader."

Later, at a dinner attended by all federal cabinet ministers and four of five provincial Conservative premiers, he warned delegates of the great responsibility resting on them by the will of the electors.

National director Allister Grosart, in urging Atlantic delegates, he said only that "in the field of defence, integration must be strengthened."

The chancellor also said he thought the establishment of the East-West summit talks would be the next half of cold war. The most suitable place for the conference, he added, would be Paris.

"A time of victory should be a time of self-examination, not just elation, otherwise mistakes will be made," said Mr. Frost, successful Ontario politician in recalling that for years he was told by Liberals the province was a Liberal stronghold and private preserve. With him were premiers Robichaud, New Brunswick; Manning of Alberta; Smallwood, Newfoundland; Stanfield of Nova Scotia was in town but missed the dinner because of a touch of flu.

Liberal Women Hear Leader

HAMILTON (CP)—An indication of the direction Mr. Pearson and Mr. Diefenbaker can be expected to do come to the aid of the party was given by Dorothy Cook, Ontario Liberal Leader John Wintermeyer when he addressed a meeting of members of Hamilton area ladies' Liberal associations.

Welfare, health and education are fields in which women can be especially helpful in forming policy, he said.

Within the party organization, he emphasized two objectives: Expansion of association membership, particularly in areas where aging young women to join; and explaining Liberal party aims to the various ethnic groups.

One problem the Liberal party faced in the latter objective was inflation, he said, was "lack of knowledge of what we are trying to do."

"Now, three years before the next election, we must identify ourselves with specific issues."

Gen. de Gaulle, Adenauer Said In Full Agreement

W. German Chancellor Ends Two-Day Visit

PARIS (Reuters)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today announced that he and President Charles de Gaulle are in "complete agreement" on essential issues.

Adenauer addressed a press conference in between two meetings with de Gaulle on the final day of his two-day visit here.

The two men sought to smooth out differences on two key issues — the future of Berlin and the question of power and integration of NATO forces.

After declaring his belief that there is not any real relaxation between East and West, the 83-yearold chancellor made these points:

1. "I am glad to say that in all essential questions the French government and myself are in complete agreement. It was definitely useful to have had these talks."

2. "There is full agreement between the French and ourselves that a Berlin summit conference the question of disarmament must have the first priority."

3. "There is complete agreement between us about the absolute need for NATO."

MUST STRENGTHEN

Asked about French opposition to integrating Atlantic defence forces, he said only that "in the field of defence, integration must be strengthened."

The chancellor also said he thought the establishment of the East-West summit talks would be the next half of cold war. The most suitable place for the conference, he added, would be Paris.

Adenauer reaffirmed his view that the best solution for Berlin at present is "to maintain the existing status."

Asked about press reports of a "strained atmosphere" in his talks here Tuesday, he replied: "The atmosphere was as good yesterday as it was today—unless they were in the act that they were yesterday at the Hotel Matignon (the premier's office) people couldn't notice today at the Elysee Palace (de Gaulle's office) no longer smoked."

The West German and French leaders met for a second and last day of Adenauer's visit here after reaching agreement Tuesday on the Berlin and future issues.

De Gaulle assured Adenauer he would oppose any change in the the administration of the divided city at any East - West summit meeting.

SPLIT ON NATO

Preliminary talks between Adenauer and Premier Michel Debre on France as an atomic power, NATO and Algeria succeeded in total disagreement, according to reliable sources.

Adenauer is opposed to any move in Western Europe to set up a "third strength" in between the United States and Britain on one hand and Russia on the other. France plans to testexplode its first atomic bomb soon, and is anxious to build up its power to have atomic weapons. Adenauer also believes the multimilitary forces of the 15 Atlantic pact powers must be integrated.

The idea of strengthening the NATO appears to conflict with General de Gaulle's desires.

VIEWS OUTLINED

Mother, Small Daughter Burned To Death in Fire

WELLAND (CP) — A mother and her young daughter were burned to death and the father is in serious condition following a fire which caused extensive damage to a brick-faced apartment building Tuesday night.

The father, Herman, a firelock locksmith was badly burned and suffered lacerations when he dived through a window of the apartment and landed on the ground.

His two other children, Linda, 14, and Judy, 2½, were given sedatives and taken to a neighbor's. Linda carried Judy out of the building through the front door just before the alarm was turned in.

The family lived in an apartment over Mr. Kane's locksmith shop. The building also contained a bakeshop.

STARTED BREAD

The fire broke out shortly before midnight. Firemen feared it may have been the packing powder plant behind the apartment. The powder consists of chlorine gas.

The cause of the blaze was not known. The building is located on Market Square near Welland's downtown business section.

Witnesses saw Linda carry her sister out of the burning building and bend over her father on the sidewalk. Mr. Kane was quoted as saying "I tried, I tried."

Linda told police that her father was awakened by the smell of smoke and went up to the building. Firemen originally received a second alarm but dropped but a search of the ruins failed to turn up a body.

HEAD AIR RAID

Dfuse smoke and heat kept firemen at bay for almost an hour. They were given masks to protect themselves against chlorine gas escaping from the bleaching plant in the back section of the building.

A bystander tried to rush into the burning building but was driven back by heat. He was treated for inhaling smoke and taken to the hospital.

Fire Chief Cecil Upper, who was on the scene, first started said the fire marshal's office would be asked to investigate.

Mickey Rooney Said Drunk on Paar's Show

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Mickey Rooney was a guest on Jack Paar's television show last night, and it was hard to tell who was intoxicated.

After a 30-minute exchange, Paar invited Rooney to leave the program. The pint-sized actor agreed and the two shook hands.

Rooney, previously married, explained he had been out celebrating the first wedding anniversary with his fifth wife, the former Barbara Ann Thompson.

At one point, Paar said Rooney was drunk, Rooney smiled.

Voters' Committee Presents Its Candidates to Meeting In Collegiate's Auditorium

A "meet your candidates" gathering sponsored by the Ratepayers' Voters' Committee was held in the BCIVS auditorium last night.

The meeting was to introduce the nine BVC-sponsored candidates for municipal offices, PUC commissioner and public school trustees for 1960.

After each candidate had recited his qualifications and answered written questions were answered, the meeting was adjourned to permit more short questions from the floor. Some criticisms of this procedure could be heard as the audience left the hall.

The first three to speak are all current aldermen: Walter Elliott, George Wishart and Jack Ellis.

Mr. Wishart said he had been in office two years, but had learned more about municipal government during the inquiry into the city's finances than he could have done during several years in office.

"I opposed spending city money on the hockey team," said Mr. Wishart.

SAYS FIGURES MISLEADING

Mr. Elliott said the figures which had been presented during the inquiry were misleading, as Belleville's area was only about one-third of the $900,000 figure sometimes quoted during the inquiry.

He claimed despite the headlines this city was one of the best business towns in the province.

One mistake made last year, said Mr. Elliott, was the setting up of a "very hasty" sewage study. The engineer's statement had been relied on. He urged all citizens to the coming year to paint a brighter picture of the city than had this year.

The next speaker, Mr. Ellis, was the author of the famous number who suggested concrete ideas to get Belleville "out of the hit."

Items: a) fill the more of available land with industry with qualified personnel; b) re-assessment; c) an all-out effort to attract new industry to the city.

Mr. Ellis said there were some excellent department heads in this city that are constantly who had managed to keep to a strict budget despite interruptions, tight money and shortage of help.

NEED INDUSTRIES

"But the action taken in the early months of 1960 will shape the future of Belleville for many years to come," he maintained. Turning to the problem of new industries, Mr. Ellis said, "Industrial assessment in ratio to our residential assessment is pathetically low."

He asked the crowd . . . "at, for 1959 would you have brought your industry to Belleville?"

The speaker also mentioned the part he had played on the planning committee, and said he pointed out the new zoning by-laws which resulted with the new zoning by-laws which resulted with the new zoning by-laws which resulted with

Looked For Powder Room, Found Court

TRENTON — It was a clear case of "when you gotta go, you gotta go," in Magistrate's Court at Trenton yesterday, when Alma Page, 19, charged with breaking and entering the Church of the Nazarene and the attached parsonage, poured his story into the rather reluctant ears of the court.

Mr. Page said that on the night he was apprehended in the parsonage, he was walking home from his own church, and suddenly feeling the extreme urge to visit a "powder room," entered the Church of the Nazarene, thinking that he would find the necessary installation there. He had proceeded into the parsonage, and not finding the washroom on the first floor had hurriedly proceeded to the upstairs part of the house. In his way downstairs, he had been accosted by "a woman," who asked what he was doing in the parsonage. On explaining his mission, but apparently the woman had questioned his explanation and had called the police.

Magistrate T. Y. Wills suggested at this point that the accused should save his story for his next appearance and remanded the case.

Thomas Miller, charged with intoxication in a public place, asked if he pleaded "not guilty" if he could get the case over with at once. Magistrate Wills informed him that he would have to wait until the next court session. "In that case," said the accused, "I plead guilty."

The magistrate said that he could not accept his plea under these circumstances, but added that he could be heard on Friday of this week.

Miller, who had informed the court that he wanted to go to Sunnybrook Hospital, left the courtroom muttering, "Get me out of here, get a doctor, do something before it's too late." Magistrate Wills informed him that he would receive medical attention while waiting for his hearing on Friday.

Robert Howe, 17, of Collingwood, who last week pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing an auto, a quantity of gasoline and a traveller's check from a local chain store, was given a one-year suspended sentence. Magistrate Wills based his judgment on a pre-sentence report of the case. Howe will report to a probation officer at regular intervals. Magistrate Wills also ordered the youth to pay court costs and take charge of transporting the car back to Collingwood.

Howe's father, who was present in the courtroom said that he would pay the charges. Magistrate Wills pointed out that this was not what he wanted, but that it was time the young man to pay the bill himself. "After a period of two months, with more time if necessary.

The confusion which may be brought about by the modern trend of abbreviating Christian channelled to the buying public, was illustrated in the case of a charge of intent to deceive brought against a Belleville firm. A chocolate drink bottled by the firm, and bearing the information on the cap of the bottle "contains not less than 2% M.F.," had been found to have only 45% milk fat content. Mr. Gregory Butler, appearing for the defence, argued that one could not assume that the letters M.F. necessarily meant "milk fat." He suggested a number of other meanings.

Mr. Roderick Campbell, for the prosecution, said that the onus was on the firm to explain what the letters meant if they did not refer to milk fat.

Magistrate Wills decided that the matter would take a bit of thought and remanded the case until December 15.

Two Federations Deny Salaries Are High Enough

TORONTO (CP) — Two federations representing 43 public school teachers who have resigned at Eiliot Lake, Ont., today denied that salaries proposed salaries are on a par with those of communities in Northern Ontario.

The resignations, effective Dec. 31, will leave the uranium centre of 22,000 with only 15 teachers and a supervising principal.

A statement issued by the Federation of Women Teachers' Associations of Ontario and the Ontario Public School Men Teachers' Federation said Elliot Lake teachers had been negotiating a year on five points: Category definitions, maximum salaries, annual increments, responsibility allowance and category differentials.

School board chairman R. C. Hart said Monday salary increases ranging from $100 to $1,000 a year had been proposed by the board. These would give group 1 teachers a $2,500 minimum while Group 5, the highest category, would get a $6,700 minimum and a $8,100 maximum.

Mr. Hart said the proposed salaries were on a par with neighboring communities.

"This is not so," the federations said. "The maximum salaries in effect in Sudbury, Espanola, Sault Ste. Marie and Timmins are from $400 to $1,000 higher.

"The federations . . . through a vote by 87.90% of their members have supported the Elliot Lake teachers' demands in their unwillingness to accept the board's final offer.

"The board's professed 'amazement' that so many of the Elliot Lake teachers have handed in their resignations at this time is incomprehensible. . . ."

Mr. Hart said Elliot Lake was faced with "an impossible" situation.

Plans for Hospital Addition Outlined to Rotary Club

TRENTON—At last evening's regular meeting of the Rotary Club of Trenton, S. R. Graham, chairman of the board of directors of Trenton Memorial Hospital, outlined the plans for the much-needed addition to the hospital.

Mr. Graham reminded his listeners that in 1943 a man by the name of Charlie Ford had given him the first $5.00 towards the building of a hospital in Trenton. The hospital was opened on February 25th, 1951, and since that time has continued to play an ingressingly important role in community life. Mr. Graham said that this hospital of 68 beds and 16 bassinettes had for eight years served the sick and injured of Trenton and the surrounding area on a 24-hour-a-day basis. The utmost effort has been expended to secure the best medical, surgical and nursing staff possible, and to ensure the comfort and well-being of the patients at all times.

As the present time, the speaker said, there are 12 to 15 admissions a day, 40 major operations and 60 minor operations are performed every month, 300 to 350 patients per month are X-rayed, and 2,500 units a month are handled by the laboratory department.

For a considerable length of time, Mr. Graham said, the staff and the board of directors of the hospital have been aware that the present facilities were inadequate to accommodate patients in a manner conducive to recovery. At peak periods the staff is faced with the problem of accommodating a rated bed space of 170%, necessitating hallway accommodation for those for whom rooms cannot be supplied. In one six months' period of 1959, 455 people had their bedrooms in the hallway, for a total of 2,730 days. This kind of hospitalization, said Mr. Graham, is hard on the patient, the nurse and the doctor. Private rooms have been made into semi-private rooms, and rooms into wards and offices occupy nurses' stations.

Mr. Graham went on to say that twice the amount of room was required for the x-ray department was needed, three or four times the amount of space and equipment is needed in the laboratory departments and physio-therapy department and such departments such as "supplies" should be enlarged. Mr. Graham outlined the revenue each of these departments brought into the hospital's general fund.

"All of this adds up to designing an extension", said Mr. Graham. I am optimistic about our program for extended accommodation. It is well-planned and one which will put our hospital into a "B" category instead of the present "C" status. From a mercenary point of view, the extension will give the community a hospital asset of around two million dollars".

Mr. Graham pointed out the importance of a community served by a modern hospital to potential industries. He said it could well be a deciding factor in influencing industries to settle in Trenton.

From the patient's point of view, the speaker said, the proposed addition would cover the needs of the community for several years to come.

Mr. Graham said that the total cost of the new addition would be $737,000.00, of which $450,000 would be borne by the provincial and federal governments, $75,000 of which had been granted by the town of Trenton, and $75,000 of which would be taken out of the general fund of the hospital. This would leave a total of $212,-000 to be raised by public subscription. Mr. Graham announced that O. M. Newton would be chairman of the canvassing committee.

The drawing of the new addition was shown to the Rotarians by the speaker and details explained.

Mr. Graham was introduced to the club by O.M. Newton and he was thanked by Elsen James.

Longshoremen Agree to Terms

NEW YORK (AP) — Tentative agreement has been reached on a new contract covering many longshoremen on the United States Atlantic coast.

The pact is expected to prevent any new pier strike on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts when an 80-day injunction under the Taft-Hartley labor law expires Dec. 27.

Basic agreement on three-year contracts was reached Tuesday by the International Longshoremen's Association and a major group of waterfront employers.

The injunction now in effect ended an eight-day strike by 60,000 Atlantic and Gulf coast dock workers that began when the old contract expired Sept. 30.

Leisure? What's That?

A Daniel has come to judgment on the subject of leisure in our twentieth-century, North American way of life. And about time, too.

The Daniel is Russell Lynes, managing editor of Harper's. He says that "most of us when we escape from work do not look for leisure but for other kinds of work" and is particularly critical about life in the suburbs, which, he says, is "organized only for work and make work." There is, of course, no difference between life in the suburbs and life in the average small Canadian town.

Mr. Lynes thus debunks a whole new school of thought, which has been concerned with deciding how it will be possible to save the average citizen from drowning in a sea of boredom as the torrent of leisure hours, manufactured by machines, comes pouring down upon him. Mr. Lynes contends there is no problem of this nature, because these leisure hours are non-existent. Between committees and meetings, evenings and lawn and garden chores and cocktail parties on weekends, "the ambitious man may thus have not a minute left over for what might reasonably be called leisure."

No assault of this magnitude on an American dream could expect to go unanswered. The Washington Post has taken up the cudgels in defence of the theory of expanding leisure. Mr. Lynes, it says, "may consider an evening spent with a superior book or in the company of a good conversationalist considerably more stimulating than a P.T.A. or a Boy Scout meeting" but many people thrive on such meetings and on gardening chores and cocktail parties.

The Post was just beginning to make a case when it stumbled over the skeleton in the closet of the believer in the theory of excess leisure. "What is important," declares the Post, "is whether a person is enjoying himself."

We can think of nothing which has less bearing on the argument. Once great that leisure and pleasure are synonymous and you must include much work under the heading of leisure, for many a worker enjoys his daily occupation as much as the P.T.A. and Boy Scout meetings and garden chores, and even as much as an evening with a superior book or a good conversationalist.

What is needed, it is evident, is a good definition of leisure. The dictionary calls it free or unoccupied time, but that is just transferring the need for a definition to "free" and "unoccupied." Personally we should consider leisure only that time during which one is not only free of the necessity of doing something, but also free of the feeling that one ought to be doing something. By that definition of leisure, we submit, Mr. Lynes is right. It is almost impossible for the average house dweller to find a truly leisure moment, what with so many of his neighbors trimming their lawns and weeding the crab grass and painting their houses and attending home and school meetings, helping their children with their homework and interesting themselves in various civic betterment projects.

We must say, though, that here in Belleville we have not run into the weekend cocktail party hurdle. That is one civic duty which we think we could take in our stride without too much trouble, but locally the obstacle to true leisure seems to be reduced to the proportions of a bottle of beer shared with a neighbor between weeding the petunias in the front border and assaulting the dandelions on the back lawn. With conscience jogging the bended elbow and in its customary restless style of not accommodating "Hurry up, or you'll never get the job done by sundown."

The Over-Hanging Auto

Law, that servant of common sense, is putting the brakes on over-inflated autos, at least on those which bulge out beyond the legal maximum width of 80 inches.

Automobiles obviously must keep their size within a safe relation to the width of the highways. While the excess inches may not be the cause of any accident, clearly the law must hold firm. The cars, not the legislation, should be re-tooled.

Now that the law has said that excessive width is illegal, may we not hope that excessive length could be declared at least indecent? (Ottawa Journal.)

THE USE OF ARMS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

There's arms of mine aren't very strong
Not built for doing feats of strength
Or lifting burdens all day long;
But when I hold them out at length
And into them with shouts of glee
A youngster comes with all her might
And has a kiss or two for me,
I've found the purpose of my arms.

They're strong enough to hug a child,
To fill one on my shoulders, too,
And while I'm thought, I've often smiled
They're strong enough for arms to do.

So long as to the ceiling they
Will lift a youngster now and then
Who comes to me to romp in play
I envy not the strength of men.

I would not be a Sandow or
A Samson or a Hercules,
I would not have the strength of Thor
Or muscled be like one of these,
So long as I can keep from harm
These bebes of mine, and nightly ride
A youngster on each willing arm,
I'm strong enough and satisfied.

Historic Hastings

The Hastings Road

Article 101

(Contributed by members of the Hastings County Historical Society)

One of the most fascinating and tragic stories in the history of our county is that of the Hastings Road.

This road, which commenced at the northern end of Madoc township and extended some seventy-five miles in a northeasterly direction, was an attempt to fill up the central portion of the county with settlers.

It was one of several colonization roads established by the Canadian Government just over a century ago. Others included the Otter, Opeongo and Addington roads.

Up to about the year 1850, Madoc and Marmora townships were on the fringe of settlement, practically lying to the north was a veritable "terra incognita", and the government decided that this should not remain the case.

Accordingly, on July 8, 1847, instructions were issued to Publius V. Elmore, Provincial Land Surveyor at Belleville, to make an exploring line from the north-east corner of Lake Township towards the Ottawa River, with the purpose of laying out a road line and settlement lots.

Since part of the suggested route might pass over "rocky, broken or swampy ground on land otherwise unfit for settlement, for the formation of a good road", Elmore was instructed to explore the country on both sides of the line. If I learn from the report in order to determine the proper site for the road.

For the purpose of exploring the surrounding countryside, he was to employ, in addition to the usual surveying party, two assistants who had a knowledge of the fitness of land for agricultural purposes and road-making. There was even to explore the extent of the bad lands in both directions, so that Elmore could then project the best site for a road from the existing point to the Madawaska River.

Elmore was also ordered to ascertain the best line for a road to connect the Hastings Road "to the settlement either in Madoc or Marmora".

"In addition to the usual information required as to the nature, quality of the soil and timber and adaption of the land for agricultural purposes, you will report in your field notes its fitness for road making, the nature of the bridge sites, and the length of the bridges required, with the slopes of the hills on the line so as to enable you to form an estimate of the probable cost of the same as your road line the cheapest kind of a road practicable for wheeled carriages.

"You and your exploring assistants will also carefully note all opportunities of viewing the country from tops of the highest hills so as to elevate hill situations.

"Your pay will be 16 shillings Currency per day.

"With a view to obtaining a knowledge of the mineral wealth of the country in which your survey lies, you will collect and transmit to this office specimens of the rocks you meet with on your lines of survey, attaching a number to each, and wrapping it up in birch bark, or such other suitable material as may be at hand on the spot. . .

So was Publius V. Elmore instructed to commence work on what was to be a major Canadian colonization road. — Hastings Road.

Experiment In Democracy

There might seem likelier places than Laos for the experiment in the practice of democratic government. Yet there is no doubt that the device recently adopted by the Laotian Assembly is sound.

The ministers have been zoning on barnstorming tours through the country towns, holding meetings in one-night stands, discussing the local problems, and sometimes coming to immediate decisions after according to Dr. Manucheir Eghbal, the Iranian Prime Minister who is also Chief of Cabinet which originated with Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi, is very immensely popular, leading to the most enthusiastic receptions by the most official visitors.

Interviewed in New York, Dr. Eghbal related how the 3,000 inhabitants of the mountain town of Natanz, between Tehran and Isfahan, worked around the clock to prepare a proper welcome for the ministers.

The ministers and the great distance and the too often indifferent roads, the ministers don't have to be seen travelling in long flights by aircraft. When a request comes in they visit Natanz the Prime Minister joyfully said of it, the town would prepare an airfield, the Cabinet would go. To his no small surprise he was taken at his word: the conditions were met and the promised visit was made.

Eghbal emphasizes that the benefit of the tours is twofold. It is good for the people who, he says, see that the government is not far removed from their problems. And, he adds, "it is education for the ministers to be able to know the people. They are no longer just names on lists of civil servants and dependent on them for their information."

Dr. Eghbal sees the problems in the field of government has always been that of finding the right relation between the centre and the extremities: how to make the central power strong enough to be effective without destroying the local independence of the local communities.

Using the techniques of modern communications, the Iranians, by bringing the cabinet to the immediacy of contract between government and people are seeking for an answer to this eternal problem. Their experiment is worth watching for its effect upon the Middle East, and elsewhere.

Too Many Are Driving Who Should Not

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Despite all slogans and "accident-free" weeks and safety days, I remain stubbornly convinced that many communities are doing next to nothing about reducing the auto fatality rate.

We are simply not serious enough about it yet. The police may hand out more tickets, the judges may hand down stiffer sentences, and the aldermen may hand in more resolutions to the officials, manufacturers, nor the public have really come to grips with this appalling problem.

Consider my own state, Illinois. I never took a driver's test, although I have been driving for 25 years. When the Illinois drivers' license law was passed, all I did was fill out an application, and my license was sent to me by mail.

So far as anyone knows, I could be an epileptic, blind in one eye and missing one limb, with a long history of alcoholism. But I am not exaggerating. Not until I committed murder on the highway.

The same is true of hundreds of thousands of other persons who were "frozen in" 20 years requested to take an examination for a license.

Since the end of the Second World War, the number of one-car auto fatalities has increased enormously. These are cars that get out of control on the open road and kill their occupants.

Nobody will ever know how many of these accidents occurred because of speed or carelessness or how many happened because the driver simply did not see well, suffered a heart attack, or fell asleep. Nobody questioned that he should not have been permitted to drive.

I know, and have written before, that many accidents are caused by mental tensions of drivers; their hostilities and resentments are worked off behind the wheel. For the practical reason, however, it is virtually impossible to give psychiatric tests to all drivers.

It is entirely possible to give simple physical examinations and eyesight tests to all drivers periodically. It would cost money, but only a fraction of our present annual accident and death toll. In 39 cases out of a hundred, it is the driver, and not the car, that is at fault — even though auto parts as safely built as they should be.

We are killing 40,000 people a year on the highways. It might be stopped until we decide to be genuinely serious about it.

CAUSES OF "GAS" OR BLOATING OF THE STOMACH

I'm feeling unhappy today, not maybe somebody will cheer me up. I'm unhappy because I'm going to say something in this column that I think would be very useful if people would pay attention to it, but I don't think many will — except those who don't need the advice.

Then, again, I may be pessimistic about myself. I have two dear readers, say two or three weeks or a month from now I'll be saying that they followed my advice and it worked.

The subject is "gas," or bloating of the abdomen. It is a problem that distresses a great many people. When they write to me about it, usually they have been to doctors who said they could find nothing wrong with the organs of their body. But the bloating continues.

Let's be blunt. The commonest cause of this gas is diseases. Ordinarily pills or other medications don't help much in any. The answer, in the majority of cases, is much simpler than that.

The likeliest causes are eating too rapidly and chewing food thoroughly (often due to false teeth), eating when emotionally upset (and some people are such worriers that they are upset most of the time), and swallowing large amounts of air.

A good many times, this trouble is relieved by belching, or burping — sometimes you then burpe it up again, a custom regarded as respectable enough quette except in some oriental regions.

It is my observation that this trouble is more often found in people who have been overindulged in vigorous exercise, although I do not doubt that cases here and there in which physically active people have been the victims. But not very often.

Poor muscle tone in the stomach, often plays a part in this trouble; maybe that is why the dieting of extra slender ones those who haven't been overly physically.

Spasm of the valve which allows the stomach to empty into the rest of the intestinal tract is another possibility. This is seemingly more frequent in nervous worrier. So again I come back to the same basic troubles: jitters.

It is true that organic diseases can produce the same sort of symptoms, on the surface at least, so a check-up by your physician is well worth the trouble.

But when there is no sign of organic disorders, then the answer lies in these very simple remedies: Eating slowly, learning to relax, chewing food adequately and getting the teeth fixed if they need it, and ob-

Strength for The Day

STOP EVIL AT ITS SOURCE

What is one to do when he finds himself involved in disgrace?

The newspapers give full accounts of situations every day in which someone who had high responsibility finds himself degraded in the eyes of his fellows. Sometimes it is financial dishonesty. More often it is marital infidelity. Occasionally it is murder or suspicion of such.

When this sort of thing hits an individual or a family, then the individual and family strike bottom. There's nothing that can make one's spirit go lower than situations of this sort. Of course, ringing through one's ears are always those words about sowing and reaping. But those things were intended to warn people before they became involved. They carry no comfort after involvement is accomplished.

In all these situations people need to remember that the place to stop evil is at its source. There is nothing that is more obvious in social relationships today. The tragedy is that so many of our young people are fine and outstanding when their temptations are so great. Furthermore, the free and easy way which many people have with alcohol or other narcotics is liable to cause trouble, and very often does.

The first mistake, the mistake when we call a halt on carelessness, is often taken on the inferior aspect of evil.

UNLOAD

The big man directs — he does not do himself. Others do for him.

Ask he doesn't direct at all unless his spurring spirit enters every worker to whom he assigns tasks, and unless the full co-operative spirit of every co-worker comes back to inspire him who first gives it.

The large accomplisher is the one who has learned the knack of — unloading.

There are degrees to every achievement. Do the small job well. Then, immediately a better and more important job looms before you. You can never hope to direct unless you first learn the secret of unloading — in small affairs, doing the important. See that it is done "with bow, and then passing on.

Great Greek cities are fought with light equipment.

Here you are, with a problem dead to everything. But that head must be kept clear, and free — and unloaded. The details. And here is a significant paradox: you unload by unload. That is, you store up power, confidence, dominance of spirit.

Learn daily to Unload. Push the trivial aside. But neglect not the minutest detail that is important. See that it is done "with easiness and dispatch." But unload, even these details, as quickly as possible.

Unload. Deal only with the big and essential.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

The faith of young wives in their young husbands was never more effectively demonstrated than in the case of a young couple who had just arrived and recently moved to New York City as their place of abode, and had to take their driver's license tests in order to be able to drive their car which they had also imported.

On applying for their licenses they were given by the police department charged with this responsibility a small book packed stiff with the rules governing traffic in that great metropolis. Upon digesting the contents of this manual, my young friends reported to the office of the police for their tests.

While the driver was examination, the two were handed leaflets on which were a number of questions to be answered "yes" or "no".

Others were such questions as: "Is the penalty for failing to signal a left hand turn $10?"

This just happened to be one of the questions the young wife did not know, and, at the last corner of her eye, she watched her husband. And when he put the X, she put the X. Finding that the X's were in accordance with her husband's.

"I cheated," said the wife, coyly, as they drove home, confessing her sin.

"Aw, no!" wailed the husband. "All the papers were different!"

And when they had finished duly digesting the manual, the young lady got her license.

Monument Will Be Erected to Honor Duplessis

QUEBEC (CP) — The Legislative Assembly has given final approval to a government bill proposing erection of a monument to the late Premier Duplessis in the government land in Quebec City.

The vote on second and third reading Monday was on party lines, with the Union Nationale party members were three independent members.

The Liberal and second reading proposed study of the bill be adjourned for six months.

Liberal Opposition Leader Georges Lapalme spoke in subdued tones. He said he could understand the feelings of Mr. Sauve and Mr. Johnson in honoring their late leader but could not agree with the bill.

Mr. Lapalme said there were many persons in Quebec who still bore scars of political combat. It was premature to propose the measure in a year a monument were usually erected after all animosities had died down.

Cost of the proposed monument —believed to be a larger-than-life bronze statue on a 19-foot Laurentian granite base—has not been announced. It would be paid for out of ordinary revenue.

The bill now goes to the Legislative Council for consideration.

The assembly Tuesday night also gave final reading to bills amending the Quebec Workmen's Compensation Act, increasing by $200,000,000 the farm loan credit fund, and extending provincial rent control until April 30, 1961.

Said Citizens Are Ignoring Regulations

HAMILTON (CP)—A coroner's jury was told Tuesday that thousands of citizens are ignoring building regulations just to avoid paying building permit fees.

Capt. Ronnie Malek, a Hamilton fire department investigator, said a fire that started from an overheated furnace caused the death of Rosanne Green, 5, in her home Nov. 17. The furnace was installed by her father, John Greene.

The jury found Mr. Greene was to blame for his failure to observe building regulations in installing the furnace. It said in a rider that Mr. Greene should have been told of regulations by the person who sold him the furnace.

Capt. Malek said the uninsulated top of the furnace was only 1½ inches below the wood joists of the house floor. A home-made blower without adequate control provided air to the fire box, he said.

Want UN to Ask For Guarantees In Algeria Vote

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — The Afro-Asian group was expected to ask the United Nations assembly today to call for guarantees for free elections in Algeria.

The 29 - country group hammered out a draft resolution after two days of closed talks on the Algerian rebellion now being debated in the assembly's 82-member political committee.

Prince Aly Khan of Pakistan, chairman of the Afro-African group, told reporters the resolution would be mild in tone, urging both sides to get together. He indicated, however, that it would make specific mention of guarantees for Algeria's political future as well as the cease-fire negotiations France already has offered to hold.

CALL FOR NEGOTIATIONS

One informant said the resolution also would call for negotiations on self-determination for Algeria.

U Thant of Burma expressed confidence that the resolution would get the two-thirds majority needed for assembly approval.

The French delegation is boycotting the Algerian debate. It insists that Algeria is French territory and therefore an internal affair and none of the UN's business.

DEADLOCK CONTINUES

The assembly Tuesday dragged through seven rounds of balloting in another unsuccessful attempt to choose between Iceland and Turkey for a two-year seat on the Security Council. The council seat is being vacated Jan. 1 by Japan.

At the end of the 49th ballot, the vote was 42 for Turkey, which is backed by the United States, and 39 for Poland, supported by the Soviet Union. A two-thirds majority—54 votes—is required for election.

No date was set for the next round of voting.

'Bill' Dawson, CN Engineer, Completes 40 Years Service

Number 17 rolled into the CNR station early this Wednesday morning and its arrival marked the termination of 40 years of railroading for William "Bill" Dawson, its engineer. Mr. Dawson, who lives with his wife, the former Lola Roy, at 137 West Moira, first started his railroader's career in Ottawa as a fireman with the old Canadian Northern. From Ottawa he was moved to Norbeuphe, Capreol, and Niagara Falls, finally settling in this city 19 years ago.

During his 40 years he has been at the throttle of every kind of train — service, freight, and passenger. He has also been at the controls of both steam and diesel locomotives. In fact he was one of the first to handle the new diesels when they were put into service — on July 4th, 1948. On the initial run of the first diesel unit, No. 9000, from Sarnia to Montreal, Mr. Dawson took that part of the run from Mimico into Belleville.

He has been an active member of the Brotherhood of Firemen and Engineers for some 30 years and was chairman of Lodge 68 in Belleville for seven years. He was also chairman of three other lodges during his moving about before he was finally transferred to Belleville area.

Besides his wife, whom he married 34 years ago, there are two sons, a daughter, and eight grandchildren in Bill Dawson's family. One son, Bill, lives in Campbellford where he works with the Canadian Tire firm. The other son, Jack, is an insurance adjuster in Toronto. His daughter, Barbara, is married to William Milnes and lives in Toronto.

What's ahead now that retirement in here for "Bill" Dawson? Well he has a cottage on the Trent River, where the fishing is fine and, as "Bill" says, "I'm going to enjoy myself."

Serving Living Said Best Way To Honor Dead

Death is inevitable. Prepare in advance for the death of a loved one and endeavor to "skip cost of dying". Promote a memorial to serve the living while honoring the dead.

Quisic Unitarians were given a talk on this theme last Sunday by Rev. Don Stout, Toronto.

No one denies the pain and loss that occurs when a loved one dies. But it is possible to reduce the blow by advance preparation, secure in the knowledge the wishes of the dead will be honored, he said.

Funerals should honor no one, but the memory of loved ones, in a dignified and meaningful manner. Funeral customs are not always accomplish this. There is too much emphasis on material and showy aspects, ostentation, and not enough on spiritual value. Costly embalming, expensive coffins and overpriced services of all kinds take a big bite out of close relatives' insurance, and do not reflect the status and taste of the deceased. "Your most expensive ride is the pan, short trip from funeral home to grave".

Memorial customs should pay respect in the dead person by reaffirming the worthy things by his life, such as love and laughter, by expressing his views and beliefs, Mr. Stout declared.

What better way to help the dead than to do something for the living? he asked. Acting on the wishes of the deceased, a family may arrange a simple funeral, and with the money so would have paid for a more ostentatious burial, establish a memorial gift more enduring than flowers. Donation of the eyes or a gift to medical research, for example, may help others to live.

Money sent to a favorite cause of the deceased, a charity or building fund, is a positive and lasting way of commemorating the dead and becomes a living memorial.

Memorial societies composed of people who are interested in simplicity, dignity and moderate expense in funeral arrangements are springing up across the country. The closests, it is believed, is in Toronto.

New Snowblower In Operation Over Weekend

The city's public works department is now in process of clearing the winter operations and it is hoped to start the winter works program, when approved by Maxwell in the early part of 1960 according to City Engineer Maxwell in the meeting.

The city's new snowblower went into operation for the first time last Saturday and has proved to be extremely satisfactory. Foreman Harry Assessor Cecil Geen who told members that increased assessments were noted in all municipalities from which he had received reports. He added that courts of revision were now completed, with few changes of more than minor importance.

FIVE NEW ASSESSORS

This year there were five new assessors in the county, including one woman. Mr. Geen said he did not recommend frequent changes of assessors, but noted that in some instances new men do not work in the Hillcrest area more thorough in their work.

Reeve Earl Sager of Madoc Township claimed that the practice of using two-year-old local assessment values for equalization purposes allowed an unfair advantage to growing municipalities, as they were paying county taxes on an equalization considerably below their actual assessment.

In reply Mr. Geen noted that the present system had been placed in effect a number of years ago by the province and before any change could be made the provincial assessment act would have to be amended.

County councillors took no action on a resolution from the borough county asking that federal and provincial grants in lieu of taxes be added to the municipality's assessment for county equalization purposes.

It was pointed out that in instances where grants are paid in lieu of taxes on property owned living quarters, the regular county rate has to be paid.

BROOKER — HUNN

The Salvation Army Citadel, Belleville, was the setting on Friday, November 25th, at 7.30 p.m. for a pretty wedding when Captain C. J. Ivany united in marriage, Shirley Ivy Hunn, daughter of Mrs. Orville Hunn, Belleville, and the late Orville Hunn, and Mr. Clarence Brooker, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Brooker, Trenton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Brooker.

The wedding music was rendered by Mrs. Major Greenwood (Belleville), who accompanied the soloist, Mrs. C. J. Ivany.

Given in marriage by her father, Harry Firth, in Army uniform, the bride was radiant in her uniform, carrying a white Bible with white satin streamers and crested with red and white roses.

Her only attendant was Miss Jeanne Brooker, sister of the bridegroom, also in uniform, with corsage of yellow roses, and carried a white Bible.

Mr. James McKee, of Trenton was groomsman.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Hotel Quinte, where the bride's mother, in uniform and corsage of pink roses, received, assisted by the bridegroom's mother, wearing a beige suit with red rose corsage.

The bride's table was appointed with the traditional white damask, and centred by a three-tier all-white wedding cake flanked by triple candle holders.

For a short motor trip to western points, the bride chose a brown dress and topcoat with brown and white accessories, and corsage of yellow roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Brooker are residing at 71A Division Street, Trenton.

Prior to her marriage, the bride, Songster Brigade Secretary, was the bride is secretary, presented the bridegroom with a beautiful wool blanket. Members of the Corps held a shower for them, and presented them with a Sunbeam Mixmaster.

And he said to his followers: "Gather about it, not in the wild wood but in your own homes. There it will shelter not deeds of blood, but loving gifts and rites of kindness."

Now for some more ideas for gifts to put under the tree. For your car-owning friends, you may get an idea from the following: A wind silencer — a shower-plated gadget—that sits on the side ventilation windows of any car and stops the roaring noise made by the wind. Would someone you know like a roller-type soap holder that fits on a car's sun visor? It operates on the principle of a window shade and holds five standard road maps. Then for the family who likes to picnic enroute, a welcome gift is a collapsible table. It is big enough to seat six people, and it folds small enough to fit in the luggage compartment.

When posters are scarce, a collapsible aluminum luggage carrier is helpful for carrying heavy suitcases to and from the car. Women drivers will appreciate the foam rubber pad that fits on the accelerator. It slides keeping high heels from becoming scuffed, the pad protects the floor mat from wear and tear, and brings the gas pedal closer to the driver. Your do-it-yourself friends will like the electric trunk-opening kit. Install it, press a button inside the car, and the rear luggage compartment opens. All these suggestions, are under ten dollars.

This - - - and That

By HARRIET STEVENS

Going Shopping?

To that question you will probably answer "Nearly every day until Christmas is here." Then some day in the last week before Christmas, you will purchase the tree. Two-thirds of the homes in North America now use the Christmas tree as a symbol of the yuletide. Millions of dollars are spent annually to purchase lights and other decorations. By truck and train, Canada's 3 to 3 million dollar annual crop of Christmas trees has been heeding for markets across the country and in the United States. They will be sold, for the most part, from corner lots and store stands, in all shapes and sizes, for the Yuletide festival.

There are many different stories about how the Christmas tree first became an accepted part of the holiday season. The use of the trees, evergreen branches and leaves of trees, for decoration on occasions of importance is much older than even the first Christmas tree. But exactly who introduced the custom of decorating a fir tree and lighting it with candles as part of the Christmas celebration? Well, one account says that St. Boniface, a missionary to Germany in the Eighth century, built a giant oak which had been worshipped by the Druids, and in its place a fir tree sprang up. When St. Boniface saw the fir tree he called it "the tree of the Christ-Child."

And he said to his followers: "Gather about it, not in the wild wood but in your own homes. There it will shelter not deeds of blood, but loving gifts and rites of kindness."

Now for some more ideas for gifts to put under the tree. For your car-owning friends, you may get an idea from the following: A wind silencer — a shower-plated gadget—that sits on the side ventilation windows of any car and stops the roaring noise made by the wind. Women Taking To Imported Sports Cars

VICTORIA (CP) — What do women want in an automobile—dual headlights, plush interior, luxurious comfort?

"In a traffic emergency, give me a sports car every time," says Ann Moore, explaining why she is driving a new German sports car.

"With my seat belt fastened, only half the weight of a big car to control, a steering wheel that reacts instantly and the best of brakes, I feel safer than in any standard model."

WOMEN DRAWBACKS

But another owner, Miss Westas said there are some drawbacks to owning a sports car.

"I feel pretty vulnerable when I'm driving," she said. "I find it draughty, after my last car. But I wish my scarf around my neck and dress a warm. I must admit it's awkward getting in and out, especially with tight skirts."

But Miss Westra said she would not want to drive any other kind.

"It's hard to describe the terrific feeling you get. It's fun to drive. I love the way every other sports car driver waves and smiles at you, too."

"You don't get into them—you put them on. You drive every inch with a sports car; you control it. It doesn't control you."

LIEBE RACING

"I've learned a lot about my car—from men in the club," she said. "I'm not mechanically inclined but I sit around and listen to them talk shop. I'll ask one of them a question like 'might explain a part as being something like a tubable, show me how it works and gradually I get the idea. When I take a wrench to my car and it works — I feel pretty good."

Not all women take an interest in mechanics. But Mrs. C. B. Starnes is an exception. She knows most of the time in her husband's pit when he races their English sports car on the nearby airport. She proved every opponent by 10 yards in the shop of their garage.

CONCERNING INVITATIONS

Recently we discussed the invitation, that does not clearly specify to the recipient just what kind of function the party is to be.

A reader has written in to say that she is confused, or oldfashioned, she is not sure which! She has been receiving invitations for the coming holidays, debuts, receptions, cocktail and eggnog parties, and all of them have been issued by both "Mr. and Mrs." As her understanding was that only the wife sent out invitations for parties taking place between the luncheon hour and six o'clock, she is wondering if this is a new form.

In former years it was considered correct that only the hostess issue an invitation for afternoon affairs. This procedure always seemed a little ambiguous to me, as the host was usually very much present, particularly in the case of a formal reception or when presenting his daughter to society. It hardly seemed fair, when he was footing the bills, that he should receive no recognition!

However, that is not the reason the old rule has been modified in recent years! The reason is that parties held between the hours of tea and o'clock have become increasingly popular. The great majority of receptions or cocktail parties are planned to last from five to seven. This, of course, carries the time over the o'clock deadline of the so-called "afternoon" parties, so today it is considered perfectly proper to include the husband when issuing such an invitation.

If the invitation calls for a reply, it should be answered in the same manner as the invitation itself. For example, suppose you receive an invitation worded as follows: "Mr. and Mrs. John Francis Proper request the pleasure of company at a reception, Monday, December twenty-first, five to seven o'clock. The Ritz View Hilotel." and, in the lower left hand corner, "The favour of a replay is requested. 3040 Pine Street." Your replay would be as follows: "Mr. and Mrs. David Phillip Jones accept with pleasure the kind invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Proper to a reception, etc."

The envelope may be addressed to "Mrs." only, or to both "Mr. and Mrs." Either is correct today. Be sure to send your reply to the address indicated in the lower left-hand corner, not to the hotel where the party is to be given.

While we may deplore the changing of some of the traditional forms, it is easy to see that in many instances modifications are necessary in order to fit them in to our modern way of life.

Question: I am planning to entertain at a cocktail party. Since my house is very small, I am wondering if it is permissible for me to ask R.S.V.P. on the invitations. I have been told that this is very bad form, but I would like to know how many people to prepare for. Mrs. K.B.M.

Answer: During the past few years it has become perfectly permissible to ask for a reply on invitations to receptions, teas and cocktail parties. Here to fore, it was not considered correct, but today this form may be followed for the most informal party without fear of criticism.

Apple Pie Contest Recipes

by Mary Moore

One thing I want you to notice is that the three apple pie contestants used three different kinds of Canadian apples: Spys, Cortlands and Alexanders.

You will notice too that their pastry techniques and the ingredients in the fillings differ.

JEANETTE PRATT'S
SECOND PRIZE APPLE PIE

Jeanette is sixteen years old and lives in Barrie.

Pastry: Two and one-quarter cups pastry flour, 3-4 teaspoon salt, 3-4 cup shortening, cold water, approximately 4 tablespoons. Sift flour before measuring, resift with salt. Cut in shortening coarsely. Sprinkle with enough cold water to bind dough. Mix lightly — turn on floured board. Knead lightly. Shape into round, wrap in waxed paper; chill slightly before rolling.

Apple Pie Filling: Two tablespoons flour, 1 cup white sugar, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 1-4 teaspoon nutmeg, 1 teaspoon butter, 4 1-3 cups apples, pealed, cored, and sliced (Cortlands). (Note from Kneen: Jeanette did not give instructions for assembling the pie, but obviously the filling ingredients should be mixed together, turned into a pastry-lined 9" pie plate, then covered with slightly pushed top crust and edges sealed.) Baking time: 450 deg. Fahr. for first 10 minutes, then 350 deg. Fahr. for 30 minutes.

ELEANOR JENNETT'S
THIRD PRIZE APPLE PIE

Eleanor is seventeen years old and lives in Barrie. I met and talked to her, accompanied by mother and father after the prizes were awarded.

Pastry: One and three-quarter cups sifted pastry flour, 1-3 cup sifted all-purpose flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 3-4 cup shortening, 5 to 6 tablespoons ice water. Sift together sifted flours and salt. Cut in about one-half of shortening until it is the size of cornmeal cut in remaining shortening until it is the size of large peas. Sprinkle ice water over mixture, a teaspoon at a time, and toss lightly with a fork. Chill.

Filling: One cup sugar, 7 cups apples, sliced thin (Alexanders), 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 1-4 teaspoon nutmeg, 1 tablespoon butter. Line 9" pie pan with pastry, moisten edge with water. Mix together sugar, nutmeg, apples. Place apple mixture on pastry in pie pan. Sprinkle with lemon juice and dot with butter. Cover with top crust, bake in hot oven 450 degrees Fahr. for 10 minutes, reduce heat to 350 deg. Fahr. and continue baking until apples are cooked.

Note 1: I would suggest about 25 minutes at 350 deg. for Eleanor's pie.

Note 2: Other honorable mention pies were baked at 425 degrees Fahr. for 25 to 30 minutes — a one-temperature line all judges approve.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Enron's Note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a woman's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Cora J. — I want to help our daughter.

Stephen J. — I warned her not to come to me if she got married.

* * *

Cora J. — My husband and I are having a serious disagreement about our 18-year-old daughter, who was married last year against our wishes.

Miriam's husband is only 19 and they are expecting a baby in a few months. They need money desperately and we can afford to give it to them. But my husband warned Miriam before she married that if she eloped with this boy she couldn't look to him for help.

The children now live in a miserable apartment and Miriam is starting hand-me-down maternity clothes. Her husband is so badly frightened that I'm ashamed to have them visit us. I feel so sorry for them it really breaks my heart. I certainly can't enjoy life when I know my daughter is suffering.

* * *

Stephen J. — I realize this may be hurting us even more than it does them, but I think it's the right thing to do. I have always been a man who stands by his word.

When I told Miriam she could not look to me for help, she said she wouldn't go begging. I think she and her husband should learn that words and actions have consequences. You can't just go through life doing exactly what you please and get off the hook every time the chips are down.

Aside from that, it seems to me that it's the place of my son-in-law's parents to make some overtures of help. They are no worse off than we are and they do very much to discourage the marriage. I always had a feeling they believed we'd come through with help.

The Council: It is always a mistake to make rash threats or promises before a marriage. If the parents do not approve, it is enough to tell the young couple so in no uncertain terms. It is also wise to warn them that the financial and emotional responsibilities they are about to undertake are by no means small. If this kind of persuasion doesn't take, it is unlikely that threats or promises will work any better. Indeed, threats often harden the young person in his resolve to go his own way.

Once the threat has been made, however, the moral issue may become silly as well as complicated. If Stephen feels that keeping his word is more important than alleviating the suffering of a young family, he must accept the consequences of such a position. He undoubtedly feels pained, guilty and somewhat foolish — feelings that will grow as time goes on.

Stephen also shows an illmannered attitude toward his son-in-law's family. He certainly has no cause to take exception to their conduct when it is no different from his own. If both sets of parents are feeding at the expense of the young couple, this is indeed a sorry situation.

If the decision is finally made to help the young family, it should be done in such a way as to enable them to keep self-respect and to avoid undermining the young man's initiative. It should be understood the subsidy is an emergency measure to help them get on their own feet.

Allan Cameron, Local Artist, Displays Canvases at McCarthy

Allan Cameron, of Carrying Place, one of the district's well known artists, has a collection of ten paintings on display at the McCarthy Theatre. These include two exquisitely done floral paintings, three portraits, and five scenes of local interest, each type showing the versatility of the artist.

BEAUTY OF AUTUMN

Mr. Cameron's water and landscape scenes denote the beauty of autumn, more or less deeply accented. "Limerick Lake" gives one an expanse of calm waters backed by wooded hillsides, and the soft rosy glow of sunset touching the waters. There are two scenes, identical of this lake, one smaller than the other, and less vivid in coloring, but also pleasing in its repose.

The Trent River at Frankford has been a favorite spot, if not to paint, but for the taking of colored slides. The artist's impression is one of truth, and appreciation of beauty.

The painting of "Lonsdale" with the inland pond backed by golden-russet tones in the grasses, and the flaming sumacs in the foreground make a most pleasing bit of nature, a picture one could value for years.

GEM-LIKE SCENE

"Cameron's Cove" at Limerick Lake is a little gem — like scene with its tree - bordered waters highlighted by a spot of azure blue from the sky above. The lonely little tree in the foreground just touched with scarlet from the Divine Artist's hand adds the accent.

"Jack's Lake," showing a stretch of five - mile blue water backed by distant blue - hazed trees, the deep blue-green of the evergreens, and the sere-gray stump in the foreground all depict a fine appreciation of composition which, coupled with the red plowed soil at the right, and the swirling clouds, show strength of detail.

To a lover of flowers, those of the flaming poinsettias against the grey background; the blue bowl of pale pink cyclamens held the attention from the first to the last viewing. Mr. Cameron has deftly caught the velvet-like texture of the poinsettias, and the glory of their coloring and thrills, while that of the cyclamen was a symphony of delicate loveliness.

Loquacious Woman Lawyer Becoming a UN Legend

Angie Brooks, 31, bonne, gin and daughter of a Liberian Baptist preacher has been bubbling forth views in the UN trusteeship committee for five years to the delight of the gallery.

Colleagues fondly refer to her as Our Miss Brooks after the television schoolmarm. They estimate she speaks out in the committee about once every 30 minutes, quite an average in a body of 82 delegates.

STARTLING APPROACH

Miss Brooks usually says what's on her mind—her head. In a diplomatic forum usually guided by protocol, such an approach can be startling.

During heated debate on a trusteeship issue last year, Miss Brooks suddenly asked for the floor to announce she had just been named assistant foreign minister of Liberia.

"That gave us a bit of a start," said a delegate from the British Commonwealth, "but it didn't hold a candle to her remarks during the farewell speeches at the close of the 1959 session. When it came to Angie's, she informed us she would be happy to serve the following year as chairman of the committee. You could have heard a pin drop after that one."

The following year Miss Brooks was elected vice-chairman—only one step from her goal.

DEDICATED CRUSADER

Despite her straitlaced manner, she is a dedicated crusader for the rights of African peoples. Last year she spearheaded a battle for women's votes in the British North Cameroons. She lost that campaign.

Miss Brooks is fond of pert cocktail hats festooned with sequins, and goes in heavily for costume jewellery. Her dresses usually are of native African fabric in bold patterns, smartly tailored.

Recently Miss Brooks gave a vivid demonstration of the unique place she holds in the estimation of fellow delegates. Arriving late for a session, she found a speaker had just wound up. Would he repeat his speech for her edification? This touched off a procedural hassle but the delegates in question finally raised his hand. He would repeat his remarks, he said resignedly, to keep peace in the family.

Air-Pollution Studies at Sarnia May Mean Transportation Boon For Many Montreal Commuters

By KEN KELLY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Pioneer air-pollution studies at Sarnia, Ont., may mean a transportation boon for hard - pressed Montreal commuters.

In probably the first extensive study on this continent of tunnel pollution by diesel engines, a team of railway and government scientists learned lessons two years ago which now may be applied to Montreal's tangled commuting problem.

Their work may pay still bigger dividends because, as a sequel to the tunnel studies, scientists have launched an investigation into the circumstances under which cancer - causing and other smoke particles are produced through inefficient functioning of diesel motors.

WELL-PLANNED JOB

In the Sarnia study, months were devoted to planning. Then, working round the clock during a three-day period, about 30 scientists, engineers and technicians did an on-the-spot investigation of the mile - long Canadian National Railways St. Clair Tunnel linking Sarnia with Port Huron, Mich., under the St. Clair River.

The scientists crowded the tunnel atmosphere and came up with evidence that railways might safely employ diesels instead of costly electric-by - powered engines after improvements in ventilation.

The savings in terms of freedom of movement of trains through the tunnel were important. By switching to diesel from electric power, the railways could use the tunnel more often with bigger loads. The only alternative was uneconomic — another under-the-river tunnel that could probably have cost around $50,000,000.

Applying similar sampling methods and analyses to the three-mile-long Mount Royal railway tunnel linking northern Montreal suburbs with the centre of the city, the scientific team is the study is being followed up by a new line of inquiry by Dr. Katz, the head of the department and the National Research Council.

Scientists from these groups are studying engine operation and the composition of exhaust gases of diesel motors in relation to various fuels because inefficient operation can produce potentially-dangerous quantities of cancer - producing organic compounds and increased quantities of odorous and toxic gases.

They are collecting diesel - exhaust samples that are analyzed by air and samples from different types of diesel fuels burned under varying conditions in hopes of discovering a fuel answer to the problem of how dangerous quantities of smoke and gas are produced.

Knowing that, they can then find a way to control or render them harmless.

TUNNEL AIR TESTED — Frank E. King, CNR research engineer, makes air flow measurements in the three-mile-long Mount Royal railway tunnel linking the centre of Montreal with its northern suburbs. Studies in the railway tunnel linking Sarnia, Ont., with Port Huron, Mich., showed that diesels could be used instead of more expensive electric engines after improvements were made in ventilation to remove exhaust gases. If the team in the Mount Royal tunnel finds that diesels are feasible there the CNR would be able to serve a larger commuter field in the Montreal area. (CP Photo).

Six Ont. Centres Will Vote on Many By-Laws

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Six Ontario centres will vote on proposed by-laws in municipal elections this month.

A plebiscite will be held in Prescott to determine whether control of the town's water system should be turned over to the town council by the public utilities commission. The council requested administration of the system for the interests of economy and elimination of duplication of services.

In Kenora, voting will be on a by-law for a 10-year extension of the bus service.

Voters in Kitchener and Sault Ste. Marie will face the question of permitting sports on Sundays in accordance with Ontario legislation. Sault Ste. Marie voters also will decide whether the franchise should be extended to all persons over the age of 21 without property qualifications.

Four referendums will be voted on in the Niagara Falls suburb of Stamford. They are on the principle of the municipality operating a public transportation system jointly with the City of Niagara Falls, enlargement of the council to include a reeve, deputy reeve, and five councillors, a two-year staggered term with the reeve elected by the public each two years and the council every other year, and extending the franchise to all over 21.

Orillia will vote on a proposed $1,500 increase in the town's band grant of $2,500.

Two Americans Await Verdict Of Cuban Court

HAVANA (AP) — Two Americans charged with trying to overthrow Fidel Castro's revolutionary regime may learn a military court's verdict on them today.

Awaiting verdicts today at Piñar del Rio were Frank Austin Young, a 38-year-old commercial pilot of Miami, Fla., Peter John Lambton, 24, a British-born naturalized American of Nassau, and 52 Cubans.

The military prosecutor asked the death sentence for Young and Fernando Pruno Beriot, 24-year-old Cuban who once studied at Columbia University, and 30-year sentences for Lambton and 11 of the Cuban defendants.

Young's Cuban lawyer, Jorge Bacallao, warned the military tribunal that execution of the American would touch off a strong anti-Cuban campaign in the United States. The only other American sentenced to death during the wave of firing-squad activity earlier this year was released and deported.

MILLIONAIRES ON TRIAL

TORONTO (CP) — Ben and Harry Smith, 46, millionaire boatmen, pleaded not guilty as their trial opened Tuesday on theft and fraud charges involving $33,038 and large blocks of stock.

The twins face charges that during February and April 1956 they stole 500,293 shares of Spooner Mines and Oils Limited, the property of Perseverance Mining and Development Company, and defrauded Perseverance of $32,638.38 and 65,920 shares.

Cabinet Will Commute Boy's Death Sentence

OTTAWA (CP) — Justice Minister Fulton said Tuesday that Prime Minister Diefenbaker has already made it clear cabinet will commute the death sentence of 16-year-old Steven Murray Truscott if such action becomes necessary.

And he said he is "very sure" that The Guardian of Manchester has suggested cabinet should usurp the functions of the courts which alone decide guilt or innocence.

He was commenting on an editorial in which The Guardian said Mr. Fulton's failure to commute the hanging sentence, imposed at Goderich Sept. 30 for the rape-slaying of a 10-year-old girl, "outrages every human instinct."

Mr. Fulton said at a press conference that the cabinet would not announce its decision on commutation until the time for an appeal has gone by. The boy's execution date has been postponed from Dec. 3 until Feb. 16 to allow time for an appeal.

An appeal could possibly lead to a new trial or an acquittal, Mr. Fulton said.

"So we have decided to postpone the announcement of commutation until the time for an appeal has gone by."

3,000 Eggs Broken

It took garagemen more than an hour to clear the highway of at least 3,000 broken eggs. Sand was sprayed over the raw omelet.

SEVEN TV APPLICANTS

Dr. Brock Chisholm Amends Statement Made Formerly

VICTORIA (CP) — Dr. Brock Chisholm, former director-general of the World Health Organization, said Tuesday night the United Nation's population commission has not recommended any action on its latest report because it would conflict with the Roman Catholic Church's stand against birth control.

"It's common knowledge that the Roman Catholic Church controls a lot of government committees and commissions," he said in an interview. "Did you don't catch a Canadian politician voting no."

Dr. Chisholm said the church should remove its ban on birth control through artificial means.

The Canadian Press erroneously reported Tuesday that Dr. Chisholm said the church was controlling the release of "terrifying" information on world population increases, and that a recent UN report on world population increases was not given out because of the church's position regarding birth control.

UN STATEMENT

In New York a UN official said the church had not attempted pressure against the UN's latest report.

"It is purely a routine matter for our reports to be published when they are ready," said the official, who asked that his name not be used.

UN reports estimate the world population at the end of this century will be about 6,300,000,000 compared with 2,800,000,000 now.

"Birth control alone is not the answer," the official said, adding it involves industrialization, improved agriculture, land reform and economic development in general.

"Each expert believes he has the solution. The solution for each country must come from within the country."

Bill Dafoe Elected to O.B. Parliament

FRANKFORD — Sixty boy from 12 to 20 gobbled a pile o sandwiches and gunzled gallons o coke one Saturday night in Rev Lowry Hall in a hillarious victor celebration for Bill Dafoe, elec ed from Hastings South constitu ency to the Ontario Older Boys Parliament, which convenes a Waterloo, between Christmas an New Year's.

With Boyd Carr at the piano Neal Roots on the guitar and Ia Finnegan at the drums, cam paign manager Lyle William conducted a lively sing-song be tween the speeches and upon to-succus applause greeted the ap pearance of this 19 year old Quinte Secondary School student nominated by Frankford United Church Sunday School and elect ed after some weeks of strenuous campaigning in about 15 differen Sunday Schools in the constituen cy.

The election took place in Stir ling Presbyterian Sunday School auditorium with standing room only for late-comers as over 100 boys gathered enthusiastically to choose their representative to this Ontario Older Boys' Parlia ment, sponsored by the Ontario Council of Christian Education Over 99 per cent of those quali fied voted, after listening to speeches by both candidates and campaign managers.

The election was conducted by district returning officer the Rev. H. Beare, of Springbrook, and followed a brief devotional by the Rev. Mr. Rooney, of Stirling Presbyterian Church.

Craig Watson was campaign manager for Bernard Beckett, 18-year-old Stirling High School student, who ran second in the election and who delivered a fine speech of congratulations and encouragement for the winning candidate.

Bill Dafoe is well qualified for this Boys' Parliament, having been a counsellor in boys' work at Quin-mo-lac camp for some years. He is a member of Jack Williams' Sunday School class in the Frankford United Church and is president of Frankford United Young Peoples' Union. Last year he was secretary of CYCC.

After the New Year he will be available in Sunday Schools in Hastings South to report on the activities of this year's session of Parliament.

Mechanics of Travel Make Royal Tours Less Arduous

By JACK BEAZLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HALIFAX (CP) — The Queen's six - hour flight back to London from Halifax after the summer Royal Tour of Canada emphasizes that the monarch no longer is remote as to distance or personality. Future visits now can be simple excursions instead of complicated expeditions.

There's little doubt there will be more Royal Tours. Some of them may be nearly as big as the sometimes controversial 1959 progress that took the Queen 15,000 miles in 45 days, in some instances to spots that a few years ago seemed inaccessible to royalty.

So, if there aren't any royal tourists lunching in Montreal after breakfast in Buckingham Palace in the immediate future, it's a pretty safe bet we'll see them in 1961 — Canada's centenary year. By that time at least, Prince Charles will be old enough to be learned about this year from a specially-selected officer of the Royal 22nd Regiment.

NEW TRAVELER

Anything is possible now that the mechanics of travel have changed. It required a steamship passage at both ends of the 1951 tour, plus time-consuming train journeys in limited movement across the country. With the safe and accepted role of jet aircraft, the Queen is closer to her subjects in Canada than her grandfather was to his in Scotland.

As for the concern about the Queen's staying power, she made it clear — at a time when only she and her immediate advisers knew about her pregnancy—that she thought the marathon tours were necessary and useful, that she could take them in her stride and that she was ready for any future similar assignments.

Leading Canadians—like Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Hon. Vincent Massey — are on record as agreeing with her on the need and value of the tours but they had reservations and were not always sure about taking advantage of her willingness.

The prime minister, who certainly must have had a big say in planning the trip, told the Queen publicly on the eve of her departure it had been "somewhat fatiguing and arduous." He added significantly that he hoped she might be able to make "less formal and less strenuous visits and variations" in the future.

EXPECTS SHORTER TOURS

On his return from a stint of Buckingham Palace service, Esmond Butler, the new secretary to the Governor-General, said "it's my bet that six-week Canadian coast-to-coast tours are a thing of the past." The Queen will likely make more frequent visits for specific Canadian engagements and shorter regional tours."

Both the Queen and the prime minister emphasized in several speeches that Rideau Hall was her Canadian home — giving the vice-regal residence a new significance. So, based on present knowledge from reliable sources, it is believed the program for a future tour will be a compromise on what the Queen feels to be her rewarding duty and what her Canadian advisers think her stamina will take.

But the mechanics of Royal Tours aren't the only change. Gone are the days when formality was almost on a basis of reverence. This time—and in spite of some authoritative pre-tour forecasts of indifference and even opposition—the Queen and Canadians got together in an easy friendliness and unceremonious informality that set a new pattern for royal relations.

As a result, planners say it would be easy for the Queen to make a fast trip to Ottawa any time for a brief, relaxed stay at Rideau Hall because there's no longer any formidable barrier of sheltering protocol between the Queen and her easy-going Canadians.

Another comforting factor introduced in the '59 tour was the use of the royal yacht Britannia for some of the toughest miles and there is little doubt the Queen will use it, where possible, in future.

Many think the Queen's day will be cut by at least two hours to give her more time for relaxation after finishing her routine paper work.

Also there will be little change in the program that usually brings wide criticism of repetition and dullness. The Queen made it clear, as she conscientiously participated at each similar function, that she appreciated the effort that had gone into it and that it was not dull or repetitious for the people involved. As for the endless reception lines, they'll likely be just as endless in the future for the Queen feels she must meet as many representatives of the people as possible.

One suggestion that she made privately will likely be acted upon. That is that a future tour should be held in the spring or fall—a better season to see more children who were scattered in vacation spots when she was here in July.

Tourist Dollar Importance, Impact on Business Shown

SUDBURY (CP) — An Ontario government official Tuesday used figures of 1956 to show delegates to the Northern Ontario Tourist Outfitters Association convention the importance of the tourist dollar and its impact on business.

James McIlvride, director of the development branch of the department of travel and publicity, said a department survey made at Bracebridge during one tourist season revealed these facts:

Tourist trade in the area accounted for 70.9 per cent of the business done by gas stations and garages, 77.3 per cent by drug stores, 53.6 per cent by meat and provision dealers, 50.3 per cent by restaurants and 58.2 per cent by hardware stores.

HOW MONEY SPENT

He said a breakdown of the tourist dollar showed 19.2 cents spent on food in restaurants, 18 cents for gas, 17.3 cents for accommodation, 14.3 cents on automobile repairs without gas, 12.7 cents on entertainment, 11.2 cents on auto expenses and 4.5 cents on fishing licences and boat rentals.

He maintained that in this one area tourists spent in seven weeks an amount equal to the payroll of an industry employing 151 persons.

Capt. F. J. Bullock of the department of marine regulations at Ottawa, said the reckless boat operators are to be found among adults that parents and sisters despite the fact so many pleasure boats are being operated by teen-agers.

He said Canada averages one boat for every 10 people and the country's huge expanses of coastline and inland waterways policy these areas thoroughly. He stressed the need for public conservation.

Warren Foots, general tourist agent for the CPR, told the convention that the "visit U.S.A." program in the United States may affect the tourist trade this year to some extent and urged that the various trade groups and communities put on a more concerted drive.

Study Canada's Atomic Energy Program Mooted

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Churchill indicated Tuesday night that the government is considering C o m o n s committee study of Canada's atomic energy program at the next session of Parliament but emphasized that there hasn't been any final cabinet decision.

He said in a brief interview that any review might follow the lines of a committee set up in 1956 under the previous Liberal government on science generally.

Basic fields of study in the atomic energy industry probably would be whether more money should be spent on research and whether Canada is on the right track in developing commercial reactors.

Canada has elected to use heavy water and natural uranium although some criticism has been expressed that this tactic is handicapping her program. Enriched uranium is the fuel some other countries have chosen to develop.

Allan Lamport Wins Personal Victory in TTC

TORONTO (CP)—Allan Lamport, the vocal commissioner of the Toronto Transit Commission is on a personal victory Tuesday when he became an influential man in the commission on whether he should be allowed to resign.

In a stormy meeting Mr. Lamport got TTC vice-chairman J. Adrago Scrimes and commissioner William Russell to admit they would not vote on a motion to have Metropolitan Toronto council fire Mr. Lamport.

The agonies of Mr. Lamport's dismissal from the publicly-owned system arose last week when Charles Walton, TTC chairman, said he would seek the commission's approval to have Metro council fire Mr. Lamport for creating dissension in the TTC.

However, Mr. Walton said Tuesday he was postponing the bid to have Mr. Lamport fired because he was waiting a ruling from the Ontario government whether Metro Council has the power to fire a commissioner.

Metro council, meanwhile, took steps of its own to clarify the issue. It votes to ask Municipal Affairs Minister Warrender for provincial legislation giving council the right to recall TTC commissioners at any time.

In another Tuesday development, the TTC waived its insistence that only union labor be used on subway construction, thus enabling non-union self-employed dump-truck owners to be hired.

Board Agrees To Drop Charges Against Operator

OTTAWA (CP) — Board of control agreed Tuesday to drop 82 charges against service station operator Jack Cadieux for violating the city's 7 p.m. closing by-law—provided he pays a $1,312 fine imposed after his conviction on 16 similar charges.

Cadieux has begun serving a 240-day jail term rather than pay the fine. But his wife, who is expecting a child within the next 10 days, says she expects he will change his mind because she can't operate the service station alone.

Cadieux was to appear in magistrate's court next week to fine him further $2 charges.

Sauve Requests Better Division Of Tax Rights

QUEBEC (CP)—Premier Paul Sauve said Tuesday the federal government and the provincet must agree by 1962 in a better division of tax rights or confederation will not be able to survive.

He made the statement to a delegation from the Quebec division of the Canadian Manufacturers Association which, presented a brief to the provincial cabinet.

Recalling that federal - provincial taxation agreements are to come up for renewal in 1962, Mr. Sauve said that if it not understood that a matter of life or death is involved in the renewal of the agreements then "I do not believe Confederation will be able to continue to function."

The association's brief urged provincial financial help be provided municipalities out of the province's consolidated revenue funds.

Mr. Sauve said the province is going to the "extreme limit" under present circumstances. There would have to be a better division of tax rights before the province could do more.

INUVIK, N.W.T. (CP)—Brother Maurice Larocque has built an igloo-shaped church in this new town on the Mackenzie River delta, 100 miles north of the Arctic Circle.

Rev. Joseph Adam, Roman Catholic priest at the townsite started in 1955 about 25 miles east of Aklavik, says he thinks "the design is going to become a classic." One engineer said the church will last 200 years.

Inuvik, planned as a government administration centre for the Arctic, will be linked with the outside world by an airport. Its development was encouraged because melting permafrost turns Aklavik's terrain into a quagmire.

FUZZLED BY PLANS

When Brother Larocque sent blueprints doesn't look so good in tawa, federal architects sent them back. They didn't understand them.

Mr. Sauve said the province is Father Adam says: "He is no architect, but he knows more about architecture than many architects."

"I what looks all right on the blueprints doesn't look so good in practice why, you just tear it out and start over.

"They couldn't understand Brother Larocque's blueprints in Ottawa, and they tried to stop us from building because the brother isn't an architect. But the ship had to building inspected by an engineering consultant, and he says it will last 200 years."

The domed church is 75 feet in diameter and 67 feet from the ground to the tip of its illuminated cross. It is designed to seat 350 people.

Most buildings erected on the permanently-frozen tundra of the Arctic stand on pilings driven deep into the permafrost. Not the church.

"No one can tell for sure if these pilings are going to heave or not," said Father Adam. "That's why we settled on a round base and a full, reinforced concrete basement. If we build a church with a steeple and the pilings start to heave, it's going to fall down.

"Now, if this building settles inches on one side, it won't show—and we can always jack it up and make it level again."

LIKE ICE DOME

The dome is covered with aluminum shingles which, in reflecting light, give the appearance of an ice dome. It is supported by a series of laminated wooden arches that are narrow at the bottom and nearly 10 feet wide at the top.

There are 13 main arches, 24 secondary arches and 72 small arches.

The base of the dome is girded by a laminated belt of 2x10-inch lumber. The roof is covered inside and out with laminated plywood.

"It's like the construction of a basket and it can't burst open," said Father Adam.

"LANTERN" ON TOP

The dome is topped by a circular "lantern" with 24 high, narrow windows. Openings will allow light to be reflected to the lower part of the church by aluminum foil.

Lower walls are made of half-inch plywood panels which will be painted white and outlined in grey to simulate the snow blocks of an igloo. White-painted wallboard will give the same effect inside the church.

Construction is being carried out by Brother Larocque and a crew of seven men aided by volunteers.

An old French method will be employed for illuminated windows by which hand-painted designs on translucent paper are sandwiched between two panels of glass.

Rockefeller Starts Campaign To End Impression That Big Money Is Behind Nomination

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller is opening a behind - the - scenes drive to wipe out any public impression he is backed by big money interests for the Republican nomination for president.

The current strategy is to picture Rockefeller as an underdog amateur challenging the powerful professionals.

Authoritative sources said the governor portrays Vice-President Richard M. Nixon as the favorite of the business community and Republican newspapers and rejects the idea that the description fits Rockefeller.

BUSINESS SUSPICIOUS

The governor has met with many businessmen and cooperaway with the idea that most of taineers considered him too liberal, especially in his proposals for long-range planning of national goals.

Rockefeller believes that many of the business leaders feel such planning smacks of the New Deal under the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt and his successor Harry S. Truman.

In drafting a picture of the current status of the presidential nomination battle, Rockefeller advisers array Republican organizations, big contributors and Republican newspapers around the vice-president.

WEALTHY FAMILY

Rockefeller's attempts to divorce himself from big - money interests are complicated by the fact that he is a member of one of the wealthiest families in the world.

Rockefeller will announce next month whether he is a formal candidate.

A good showing in a primary preferential contest would be one way to open a challenge to Nixon. New Hampshire's primary for the presidency next March 8 is the first of 1960 and could result in a strong impact on popular opinion.

U.A.R., Britain Patch Some of Their Differences

LONDON (CP) — After three painful years, Britain and the United Arab Republic have decided to recognize each other's existence after weeks of backroom manoeuvres and appeals in which Canada played a significant role.

Diplomatic relations collapsed three years ago at the time of the Suez crisis in 1956. This was followed by a period of intense bitterness and mistrust between the two countries.

It is understood that both External Affairs Minister Green and Arnold Smith, Canadian ambassador to Cairo, strongly urged President Nasser's government to patch up his diplomatic quarrel with Britain.

In recent months, Britain has made no secret of its desire to let bygones be bygones.

Government sources here said Canadian representatives took a direct hand in allaying U.A.R. suspicions and in arranging meetings aimed at achieving a rapprochement between the countries will appoint charges d'affaires.

Britain's nominee as charge d'affaires is Colin Crowe, who has been with the British property commission in Cairo. The U.A.R. has appointed Ka'in al Eldin Abdel, research department head at the foreign ministry, as its representative in London.

Observers say the latest development can hardly be called a conciliation. The crisis was violently shattered by the 1956 Suez battles for things to be exactly the same again.

KEEP COBBLESTONES

RUISTEAD, England (CP)—Council of this Kent town has decided that the ancient cobblestones, a feature of the streets here, will remain. There had been complaints they were dangerous after rain.

Movie Camera Soars 300 Miles Into Space

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) A movie camera soared 300 miles into space Tuesday in the nose cone of a Thor missile but was lost at sea with perhaps the first high-altitude color pictures of the earth.

Recovery ships and planes gave up a search for the camera after hunting nearly two hours in waters off the West Indies Island of Antigua.

Officials made attempts to divorce himself from big - money interests are complicated by the fact that he is a member of one of the wealthiest families in the world.

Rockefeller will announce next month whether he is a formal candidate.

A good showing in a primary preferential contest would be one way to open a challenge to Nixon. New Hampshire's primary for the presidency next March 8 is the first of 1960 and could result in a strong impact on popular opinion.

No Time for Complacency For Canadians Says Pres.

HALIFAX (CP) — Canada's extraordinary growth in the 1950s and rosy prospects for the 1960s should not make Canadians complacent, F. William Nicks, president of the Bank of Nova Scotia, said today at the bank's annual meeting.

Serious thought should be given, Mr. Nicks stated, to some of the consequences of Canada's great dependence on outside resources and to some of the other costs of going ahead too fast.

"During the last year," he continued, "we have become more vulnerable to any sudden shift in money market conditions or in United States investor interest, since a good deal of the capital inflow financing the big deficit transactions has been of a-speculative or short-term character.

"Moreover, payments of interest and dividends as a result of our heavy calls on U.S. capital are almost bound to go on rising, thus tending to produce an substantial deficit on current international account.

"Even in 1958, when merchandise imports contracted as a result of the business recession, we lived beyond our means' to the extent of over $1,000,000,000. And this year, with the recovery in business, the deficit has swollen again to somewhere around the 1957 record of $1,400,000,000. This is not a state of affairs about which we can afford to be complacent."

Mr. Nicks' comments were contained in a text made available to the press in advance of delivery.

The pick-up from the 1957-1958 recession, Mr. Nicks commented, has so far drawn most of its strength from accelerated consumer spending, particularly on durable goods, and from inventory restocking by business.

J. Douglas Gibson, general manager, said indications are that demand for credit in 1960 will remain strong and may even increase. There might be some easing in demands for a purely seasonal nature until possibly the spring.

Looking further into the year, "it seems probable that there will not be enough money to meet all the demands for credit, and that a atmosphere of some stringency will continue."

Yankees Seek Warren Spahn, Offer McDougald and Bauer

By JOE REICHLER

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) Thomson to the Red Sox for pitcher Al Schroll, Thomson, 28, batted .326 with 11 homers. Schroll had a 1-4 record after his recall from Minneapolis late in July.

The long-anticipated announcement on a Baltimore-St. Louis deal was finally made today. His way the one in which the Orioles swapped outfielder Bob Sieman to the Cards for catcher-outfielder Gene Green.

Nieman, 32, batted .292 and 21 home runs. Green, 26, had a .305 average at Rochester, where he spent most of the 1959 season. The Redbirds also threw in catcher Chuck Staniland from Rochester.

—Los Angeles Dodgers and Milwaukee Braves, spurred to action by San Francisco's deal with Baltimore that brought the Giants pitchers Billy O'Dell and Billy Loes, also are rushing the American League for player help.

The Dodgers huddled for three hours with Washington Tuesday night hoping to get lame slugger Roy Sievers. At the same time the Braves were bartering with the New York Yankees for second baseman Gil McDougald.

The Dodgers planned more conferences with the Senators and the minor league baseball heads, while the Braves have scheduled another meeting with the Yankees at the major league convention next week.

DODGER OFFER

The Dodgers offered outfielder Ron Fairly, shortstop Don Zimmer and pitcher Clem Labine for Washington's Sievers, pitcher Russ Kemmerer and a choice of three second baseman — Reno Bertoia, Billy Consolo and Ken Aspromonte. The Senators were holding out for outfielder Don Demeter as a substitute for Fairly.

Los Angeles, after several preliminary proposals, finally substituted Fairly, the $80,000 beauty collegian and Labine for southpaw Danny McDevitt.

Milwaukee has offered Carlton Willey, a young righthander, for McDougald. The Yankees, preferring a lefthander, offered McDougald and veteran outfielder Hank Bauer for Warren Spahn, still the top southpaw in the majors despite his 38 years.

The Braves told the Yankees they'd "think about it," if the Yankees would throw in Fritz Brickell, a young shortstop.

The Giants, still seeking to bolster their infield, offered southpaw Johnny Antonelli and second baseman Daryl Spencer to St. Louis for righthander Larry Jackson and second baseman Don Blasingame. Cardinal manager Solly Hemus turned it down.

THOMSON FOR SCHROLL

Chicago Cubs and Boston Red Sox completed their second deal since the inter-league trading period went into effect Nov. 21. The Cubs sent outfielder Bobby Thomson to the Red Sox for pitcher Al Schroll, Thomson, 28, batted .326 with 11 homers. Schroll had a 1-4 record after his recall from Minneapolis late in July.

The long-anticipated announcement on a Baltimore-St. Louis deal was finally made today. His way the one in which the Orioles swapped outfielder Bob Sieman to the Cards for catcher-outfielder Gene Green.

Gerry James May Report To Leafs

TORONTO (CP) — George (Punch) Imlach, general manager and coach of Toronto Maple Leafs, said Tuesday night he was surprised at a report that Winnipeg Rockets star Gerry James was on his way here to discuss hockey terms with Leafs officials.

Imlach said he was under the impression James wasn't too interested in playing hockey this season with the National League club.

"It will sure be a surprise to see James," he said. "He'll have to contact me if it's about hockey.

"Naturally, if he does show I'll be glad to talk terms with him, but I'll be surprised if he shows up."

James, 25 - Year - old halfback and former Leaf player, was here last weekend to play in the Grey Cup with the victorious Ike Rombers.

Imlach said he had understood James would talk to them after he football game but he went back to Winnipeg to attend a player reception.

Flyers Shade Warriors 4-3

EDMONTON (CP) — Dennis Riggin stopped 45 shots Tuesday night in leading Edmonton Flyers to a 4-3 victory over Winnipeg Warriors in a Western Hockey League game.

Riggin suffered a badly cut mouth late in the third period when Rod Johnston blasted a shot from the blue line that bounced from Riggin's stick to the mouth and then into the net.

This Kind Of "Bull" Pays Off

KITCHENER (CP)—Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen fattened their Olympic hockey fund and a city store picked up an attraction for its meat counter Tuesday.

The Dutchies sold for $300 an 820 - pound prize steer donated by a packing firm which bought it from a young 4-H club winner. The sale boosted the fund, which had a $17,000 objective, to the $3,000 mark.

The store that bought the beast will feature "Olympic roasts" on its meat counter next week.

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Racing Commission said Tuesday the remaining three of six horses which involved breeder William Morrissey in a court case with the ORC will not be accepted on Ontario tracks.

Magistrate R. Topper Bigelow, ORC chairman, made the announcement following a ruling Monday by the Supreme Court of Canada which upheld an ORC order barring the horses from the tracks.

Two of the six horses are dead and another is finished with racing.

Two others—Red Nose Clown and Irene's Orphan—are raced under lease by Mrs. Christine Blanche Armstrong while the sixth, Hot Ice, is owned by Sol Wagman of Toronto.

Grey Cup Promotion May Ruin Game

WINNIPEG (CP) — Extravagant promotion of the Grey Cup game could boomerang in the faces of its promoters, says Liberal Leader Lester Pearson.

The ballyhoo could get out of control, Mr. Pearson said Monday in an interview, and it might pall on the public who would then interest in the event. He said such enthusiasm once was reserved primarily for amateur and school games.

"I don't mind a parade with

Toronto Rejects Olympic Grants

TORONTO (CP) — Metropolitan Toronto's special grants committee Tuesday rejected a municipal grant to help pay costs of sending Canadian athletes to the Olympics.

The committee turned down a request for $500 from the Canadian Amateur Ski Association to aid in sending Louis Moser of Toronto to the Winter Olympics in California. It also rejected a request for $100 to help the Canadian equestrian team get to the Olympic Games in Rome next summer.

DeJohn, Valdes Win Over British Heavies

LONDON (AP) — Lanky Mike DeJohn of Syracuse, N.Y., and strapping Nino Valdes of Cuba beat British heavyweights in a pair of disappointing fights at Wembley's indoor stadium Tuesday night.

A sellout crowd of 11,000 saw DeJohn gain a narrow, well-booed decision in 10 rounds over Dick Richardson, a Welsh milkman, and Valdes stop Brian London, jut - jawed former British champion, on cuts in seven rounds.

It was London's first fight since he was knocked out in the 11th round by Floyd Patterson, then world heavyweight champion, at Indianapolis May. 1.

DIDN'T SHOW MUCH

Neither Valdes nor London displayed any power or skill. They spent most of the time in clinches. At times it looked more like a wrestling match.

Valdes, who weighed 218 to London's 211, was a major disappointment to the fans. In three previous bouts in England, he scored devastating knockouts. Before coming here, the one-time top-ranking Cuban had lost two straight fights in the United States.

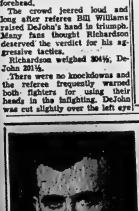
As London announced he was through for the evening and walked across to Valdes at the end of the seventh, the crowd booed, clapped and stamped on the floor. There were no knockdowns and few solid punches.

NARROW WIN

DeJohn, who had scored two straight knockouts in the U.S., barely squeaked through over the lightly-regarded Richardson. At the finish, the tall, 28-year-old American was bleeding from cuts over each eye and his forehead.

The crowd jeered loud and long after referee Bill Williams raised DeJohn's hand in triumph. Many fans thought Richardson deserved the verdict for his aggressive tactics.

Richardson weighed 204½, DeJohn 201½.



There were no knockdowns and the referee frequently warned both fighters for using their heads in the infighting. DeJohn was cut slightly over the left eye

Sterling Hayden Not in Mood To Go Back to Acting Grind

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Notes and comment on the movie scene:

Sterling Hayden can go back to acting if he chooses. So far he doesn't choose.

"My agent says he has 29 offers at the office," the rebellious actor reports. "Knowing him, I'd guess there are 10. Knowing Hollywood, I'd guess five would be of any value. But I'm not interested.

"I'm not going to get back into the rat race of lower-budget pictures again. I know I can do the better stuff, but that won't give me a chance. I won't say that I'll never act again, because I might change my course. But right now nothing is farther from my mind."

Hollywood finally got a look at Ben Hur, and the verdict is a whole - hearted approval. True artistry is finally brought to a Biblical epic, thanks to the taste and intelligence of director William Wyler. It is worth seeing not only for the pageantry, but for the human drama at it will.

The title role calls for a widerange of emotional skill, and Charlton Heston is up to it. He is required to act in his eyes, and he performs beautifully. So do the rest of the cast, especially Hugh Griffith, a scene - stealer with his much-needed humor.

MOST EXPENSIVE

The most expensive film of all time, it is not quite perfect. The music is too often intrusive and overpowering. The second accident down after the chariot race, one of the great action scenes on film.

At three hours and 33 minutes, Ben Hur is a half-hour too long. There is nothing wrong with lengthy movies—Gone with The Wind was 3:45, but the film is crackling along so you didn't mind. But tales are that parts must have sex to sell.

Not the least of Ben Hur's achievements: It disproves the old theory that Biblical films must have sex to sell.

The movie crowd has been getting its acting lessons with Katharine Cornell and Alfred Lunt. Lynn Fontanne playing locally. Miss Cornell is touring with Brian Aherne in Dear Liar, and the Lunts are repeating their Broadway success in The Visit. Both are first-rate theatre.

Alfred Hitchcock was an amused spectator at Dear Liar, a dramatisation of the letters between George Bernard Shaw and Mrs. Patrick Campbell. The director recalled meeting Shaw in his London apartment.

Hitchcock slipped and referred to Antony and Cleopatra by Shakespeare instead of Caesar and Cleopatra by Shaw). "That was written by the other fellow," Shaw corrected.

FANS EJECTED

ADELAIDE (AP) — Police removed eight boisterous spectators from the courts Tuesday night during opening matches in the $9,000 professional tennis tournament.

Lew Hoad complained at the heckling by fans. The umpire issued a warning. When the commotion continued, the spectators were escorted out.

Pancho Gonzales beat Rex Hartwig in one match 6-4, 6-4. Hoad beat fellow Australian Frank Sedgman 6-4, 6-4.

AT THE PARK — Enemy commanders Stanley Baker and Phillip Abo come face to face in Columbia Pictures' "Yesterday's Enemy", the most controversial war drama ever filmed, opening Thursday at the Park Theatre. On the same program: The Greatest Battle of Navy History, "Battle of the Coral Sea", starring Cliff Robertson and Gia Scala. Both war dramas are first Belleville showings.

New Promoters Are Hopeful

NEW YORK (AP) — Would-be boxing promoter Joe Tepper disclosed his three main backers Tuesday and said he was hopeful of promoting the return fight between heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson and Floyd Patterson in New York next June.

"Johansson and Edwin Ahlquist, Johansson's adviser, will meet with us after Ingemar finishes his South American exhibition tour in about three weeks or so," said Tepper.

Tepper, former secretary of the New York State Athletic Commission; returned last Thursday from his second visit there in a month to Sweden where he talked with Johansson and Ahlquist.

"They told me they were hopeful I could get the fight on in New York," said Tepper. "Johansson said he would fight only in New York."

Tepper's supporters are Steve Mizzy, head of a chain of discount stores, Angier Duke, former ambassador to El Salvador, and Tom Murray, Jr., a former college boxer and New York management executive.

Alex Olmedo Turns Pro

The long anticipated signing was announced by promoter Jack Kramer with the 23 - year - old Peruvian net star standing by.

Kramer said his new pro rookie, "by conservative estimate," should earn more than $50,000. And if he was unusually successful in his freshman year with the pros it could amount to $80,000 or more.

Olmedo, 1959 Wimbledon champion and hero of the United States Davis Cup victory in 1958, will make his pro tournament debut in Melbourne Dec. 26 and his U.S. bow at Los Angeles Jan. 29-30.

'Crimson Tide' To Play in Liberty Bowl

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (CP) — Alabama, which has one of the finest football records, accepted a bid Tuesday to play Penn State Dec. 19 in Philadelphia's new Liberty Bowl. This completed the lineup for the big post-season football games.

The top 11 teams in The Associated Press's latest poll—Alabama is No. 11—all have bowl commitments and the crimson tide becomes the fifth so honored Southeastern Conference.

In the seven major games more than half the talent is provided by the deep south and southwest. The Southwestern Conference challenges the Southeastern's supremacy with three teams.

Two of the southeast's giants, Georgia and Louisiana State, clash in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans Jan. 1 where ole Miss hopes to avenge its 13 regular season setback. They rank No. 2 and No. 3 respectively in the national poll.

The grandpoppy of the bowls, the Rose at Pasadena Jan. 1, offers the traditional Big Ten-Pacific Coast lineup of Wisconsin and Washington.

The top 10 teams, in the latest poll were, in order: Syracuse, Mississippi, Louisiana State, Texas, Georgia, Wisconsin, Texas Christian, Washington, Arkansas and Clemson.

Jack Barry Knocked off Air By Quiz Show Investigations

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Barry, one part-owner of the ill-fated Twenty-One, says the quiz show investigations not only have knocked him off the air but cost him "hundreds of thousands of dollars."

"I am very bitter about the stand taken by some network executives and the advertising fraternity who passed the buck, fastened the blame on people who were just doing their jobs—and took to the hills," Barry told this reporter.

"Hindsight has developed that quiz show activities offended the public's sense of morals, but these people are acting as if the producers were the only ones who knew what was going on. They knew what was going on too, and I don't care how many congressional committees they testify before.

"My partner (Dan Enright) has taken it like a man. He had a job to do, he did it, and now he is being blamed for the whole mess."

The quiz investigation spotlight passed Barry by. He was not a witness.

"They didn't call me because Jack they had nothing to ask me," he said. "They all—the witnesses—said that I had nothing to do with it."

NBC Startime proved Tuesday night to be a diverting and pleasant hour. Something Special, an original comedy by Sol Saks, was a trifle to be sure, and rather familiar in theme and treatment, but Red Buttons, Jeannie Carson and Jack Carson, a trio of pros, gave it a nice quality.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Limping their wounds and grinning happily, a somewhat leary of McFarlands bemedaled home-bound bus last night in Whitby with the second Bickston scalp tucked away under their collective belts.

It was only their third victory of the season but, after all, it was the second time they had made the proud Dunlops say "uncle" before the hometown pewter boosters.

And they thoroughly deserved it. They spotted the Allen Company a brace of goals in the early minutes of the first sixty-minute and the old pattern seemed to be in the making. Then they struck suddenly and hard. They flung deeply into their potential and before the fire of their onslaught had subsided, they had rammed home five goals in a row to give them a lead they never relinquished.

But they needed all their defensive ability to hold off the charging Dunlops from there in. This they did with neatness and despatch, the homesters coming within a clock shortage of seconds to go.

The Macs entertain the Dunnies here tonight and hope to be "up" for their second straight victory over their ancient foemen. Ike Hildebrand expects to send Gordie Bell back between the pipes, the first time since receiving a useless eye injury some time ago. Gordie will try out the new mask, which he says, does not bother his playing ability. It is not a case of replacing Cesare Maniago, for the usual reason, Hildebrand wants to see how Bell will go as "The Man Behind the Mask."

Floyd Crawford, who sat out last night's game because of an injured knee, will likely be back in the line-up tonight. Ike used Benoit, Bolly, Marinesu and Chasowski as his defence corps last night. Game starts at eight o'clock.

CHAMPIONSHIP FIGHT

Ringwhs and still heavily-gassed, Joe Brown, 31-year-old world champion, meets British Empire title-holder Dave Charnley, conqueror of welterweight king Don Jordan, in a lightweight-crown-risking battle tonight at San Houston Coliseum, Houston, Texas.

Brown, holiest current ring king and a fighting champion, is making his eighth defence. His reign began on August 24, 1956, when he dethroned Wallace (Bud) Smith on a 15-round decision at New Orleans, and has seen him take five of seven challengers by knockout.

Charnley, who has just turned 24, is the first European challenger to go after Brown's throne. His heighmes his threat with a knockout reputation—25 of his 29 pro starts have been won that way. He has also beaten three of four Americans he faced in London. He stopped Johnny Gonsalves in five rounds and defeated Don Jordan, now world welter champion, and Joey Lopes. The last-named draw with Brown over-the-weight, but was knocked out by the champ in 11 rounds in a title affair.

Brown, in his 13th year of campaigning and making his 104th ring appearance is fully aware of the peril involved in taking on a lefty still with strength and ambition. His grimmest struggle as a defender came against southpaw Kenny Lane in his fifth title bout on July 23, 1954, at Houston, when only his desperate effort in the last five rounds saved the title.

Charnley, onetime boilermaker apprentice from Dartford, Kent, near Walworth, tough waterside district of southeast London, has never been stopped in his 33-3-1 record. He's unmarked and seemingly well able to take a punch.

With Brown's known punch, which has produced 35 knockouts in a 75-16-12 record, a series of hammer blows can mean destruction if the other man isn't rugged.

However, as Joe's campaigning of the last year suggests, this classy ancient may be nearing the end of the trail. In his last fight on September 25, he was held to a 10-round draw over-the-weight by Joe Parks who's far below the first ten rankings. In his last title defence on June 3 against Pesic Kosi, one of the three officials had him trailing on points when he stopped Kosi on cuts over both eyes at the end of the eighth round.

Charnley has been definitely on the way up. After failing to win the British Empire title in a 15-round decision by Willie Toweel in 1955, he came on to whack Toweel in a convincing 10th-round knockout for that crown on May 10 of this year. His last was a ye-as-he-planned eighth round knockout of Irish fighter Jimmy Brown on September 1.

Joe may have lost some of his superb confidence in his unimpressive TKO of Paoli Rosi and in the overweight draw with Joe Parks. If he has—and if the Briton adapts himself to the foreign conditions—the title well might change hands.

On the other hand Brown's straight right, the "kool-" punch with which to lead against a southpaw, is a joiter and could well police Charnley if landed enough. And, in a close decision, naturally the voting edge doubtless will be his. Charnley's credentials are all pro and he's a southpaw. For the champ this is plain dangerous.

Macs Shade Dunlops 5-4 In Hard-Fought Battle

Register Five Goals in Row After Spotting Foemen Pair; Whitby Back Here Tonight

By GARRY ALEXANDER

WHITBY — Trailing 3-0 after five minutes of play, Belleville McFarlands caught fire for five consecutive goals, then cut short a determined Whitby counter attack, to register a 5-4 victory over the Dunnies in a hard-fought OHA Senior "A" battle here last night.

The Macs looked like a hockey club over the final 50 minutes of play, picking up their second win in Whitby this season where the club seems to come up with its best efforts, snapping a six-game losing streak with the much-needed decision.

Kenny Gribbons and Denis Boucher each fired one goal and assisted on another as the Macs shook their "two-goals-a-game" pace. "Wiener" Brown, Bus Gagnon and Ted-Toppazzini fired the other goals with "Topper's" pecking the winner. Ike Hildebrand had a brace of assists while Lou Smrke, Bart Bradley, Moe Benoit and Lionel Bolly had one apiece.

Bobby Attersley had a goal and two assist for Whitby while Bob Hassard, Gordie Myles and Eric Pogue also scored. Don McBeth registered two assists with one each going to Fred Eicher, Pete Balsamo and Lionel Dunn.

Only five minor penalties were assessed by Referee Jack Shropshire plus a misconduct to Whitby's Pogue bringing the Macs' total goal. Belleville drew three of the minors, all in the first period and none of the penalties figured in the scoring.

Cesare Maniago turned in another top game in the winners' nets, particularly in the first period when he continually came up with the puck while surrounded by players from both sides. In the final ten minutes of the game when the Dunlops applied terrific pressure, he was chosen by the Whitby press as the number one star followed by Boucher and McBeth.

DENIS BOUCHER
One - and - One . . .

Whitby appeared to be in its way to an easy win in the opening frame. Hassard connected from a scramble at 1:41 and Myles making it 2-0 on McBeth's goalmouth pass at 3.10, with the clubs five aside.

The Dunnies held the play most of the period, outshooting the Macs 16-8, but "Wiener" Brown, all one back at the half way mark, zapping in Bolley's rebound after Boucher started the play. Hildebrand missed a great chance to tie it, while Gagnon was serving a slashing penalty, taking Gribbon's pass in alone but firing into Eicher's pads.

The Gribbon - Gagnon - Hildebrand line spanked the McFarlands in the second and they came to life with better checking and both were scoring the play from Whitby.

Gribbons' solid effort paid off when Gagnon swept his centre's rebound into the corner at 7.10 to tie the score at 2-2. Hildebrand having started the play. Topper's" big misconduct for arguing with Shropshire about the goal.

Belleville took the lead at the 13.48 mark when Gribbons took Moe Benoit's pass about 20 feet in front of the net and rifled it by the Whitby custodian. Minutes later Maniago and Henderson traded key saves with Gagnon and Balsamo the would-be marksmen.

The Macs continued to put on the pressure early in the third and Boucher made it 4-2, back-handing home Bradley's pass from close in at 1.51.

Whitby roared back to give the Belleville goalie some anxious moments but at 5.50, Smrke broke away from a Dunlop goaling attack and fed Toppazzini a pretty headman pass, putting him into the clear with only Henderson to beat. "Topper's" shot appeared to beat the goalie cleanly but trickled slowly into the net for the 5-2 margin.

The Dunnies came far from dead however and forced the Macs into a defensive shell about midway through the period. Attersley cut the margin, tipping in a McBeth pass across the goal crease at 11.48.

Pete Chine battled tooth and nail the rest of the way and only 12 seconds remained to be played when Pogue backhanded home Whitby's final goal. It was a last effort as the local buzzer sounded on the local three victory in 10 outings.

Maple Leafs Seek to Derail Canadiens' 18th-Win Express

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toronto Maple Leafs, out for revenge against Montreal Canadiens, entertain in the National Hockey League pace-setters tonight.

Last time they visited Toronto Nov. 21, Canadiens spoiled Leafs unbeaten home-ice record with a 4-1 win. Leafs are trying to recall the Habitant express before it reaches the record book station.

So far this season the express has been rolling along at a phenomenal clip. Canadiens have won 17, tied four and lost only two of 23 starts. Undefeated in 18 games, they are closing in on the all-time record of 23 set by Boston Bruins in 1940-41.

The logical spoilers would appear to be Leafs, who have lost only twice in their last 12 games while fighting their way into second place. And guess who defeated them both times.

LEAFS' CHERRING SECTION

The other teams second with Canadiens well in their quest for further record - back glory, look to be left far behind. Detroit Red Wings, Leafs' first-place margin is 10 points.

Chicago Black Hawks, the first team to occupy first place this season, seek to end the celts' tonight when they host Boston Bruins. They are tied with New York Rangers, 10 points behind the fourth-place Bruins.

Bruins, much of whose hopes ride on Bronco Horvath, are trying to join the Canadiens-Leafs race but haven't been winning many lately and trail third - place Detroit by four points.

Horvath, meanwhile, continues scoring. He potted two goals during a loss to Montreal Sunday and became the NHL's first 20-goal marksman this season.

A big gun has started to rumble for Chicago. Eddie Litzenberger, a 20-goal man and one of the league's top scorers the last three seasons, picked up six points last week. First still left him with only 14 after his injury, after six relatively unproductive weeks, has kindled Chicago's faith in a playoff drive.

Bulldogs Whip Maroons 7-3

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

In Senior "A" action, coach Lannen Lamirande and centre Irwin Gross each fired two goals to pace Windsor Bulldogs to a comfortable 7-3 victory over Chatham Maroons.

It was Windsor's fifth triumph in their last six starts.

Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen, idle Tuesday night, are second in the standings, one point ahead of third-place Chatham, Windsor is fourth, 13 points ahead of the McFarlands.

Dunlops started fast. Bob Hassard scored the opener at 1:41, his first goal of the season, and Dunlops' goaltender Don Head drew an assist, the first for any league goalie this year.

ASSISTS FOR GOALIES

At Windsor, Gord Haidy, Lou Bendo and Ghislain Moffatt also tallied for the Bulldogs while Goodie Myles made it 2-0. Weiner Brown aided the Whitby lead to a single goal.

In the second period, Belleville scored unanswered goals by Bus Gagnon and Ken Gribbons to take a 3-2 lead.

Belleville increased the margin to 5-2 on goals by Denis Boucher blocked 53.

Joey Brown 12-5 Favorite To Retain Lightweight Title

HOUSTON, Tex. (CP) — Joey Brown, boxing's busiest champion, defends his world lightweight title for the eighth time tonight when he meets Dave Charnley of Britain.

The 30-year-old champion, who already has gathered about $600,000 in three years of defending the title, hopes to tie Benny Leonard's record for wealth of challengers. Leonard did it eight times and retired undefeated in 1925.

Charnley would like to become the first Briton to hold the title since Freddie Welsh of 42 years ago, and also the first southpaw to be lightweight champion. Brown almost lost to Ambassador Kenny Lane here last year.

HEAVYWEIGHT NECK

Charnley is built like a heavyweight from the waist up. His 16½-inch neck is as big as Jack Dempsey's. He won the British Empire title by knocking out Willie Toweel and became the No. 3 contender for Brown's throne.

Brown, from Baton Rouge, La., has had almost three times as many fights as the Newcastle Charnley. But Charnley has one distinction Joe can't claim. He never has been knocked off his feet in 40 battles.

Brown is favored at 12- to 5 odds to retain his championship and become the oldest man to hold it. He is three months younger than Joe Gans was in 1906 when the latter lost to Battling Nelson.

There is a 90-day return clause in the contract in the event Brown loses. If he wins there are offers of $75,000 and $100,000 for fights on the west coast and Florida.

Brown won the title Aug. 36, 1956, from Wallace (Bud) Smith. In seven defences he has five knockouts and two decisions.

At the close of business Tuesday night $19,282 was in the till. The promoters forecast a gate of $60,000 by night time. Brown gets 40 per cent and Charnley 20 of the total proceeds.

The 15-round scrap will be televised by the ABC starting at 10 p.m. MST.

Trappers Quit Northern Senior Hockey League

IROQUOIS FALLS (CP) — A special meeting of the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior group voted Tuesday to erase from the records all points both team and individual—picked up against Penn Ray Trappers.

The Trappers have withdrawn from the league because of financial difficulties.

Biggest losers are Timmins Flyers and Kapuskasing Huskies. They both picked up a pair of wins against the Trappers and the Flyers drop from second to third in the league standings and the Huskies drop from third to fourth.

Rouyn - Noranda Alouettes lost two points but remain in first place. Abitibi Eskimos jumped from fourth to second. They haven't met the Trappers.

League officials also decided to allow the fourth and last club into the playoffs.

Penn Fires Football Coach

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Steve Sebo was fired as Penn football coach Tuesday and John Stiegman of Rutgers appointed to succeed him.

Sebo's dismissal after six years at Penn was announced in a statement by Penn President Dr. Gaylord P. Harnwell. Sebo had dropped despite the fact his 1959 team won the Ivy League championship and its 7-1-1 record was the best over-all mark in 12 years for the Quakers.

Stiegman, 33, given a four-year contract, has been replaced as head coach at Rutgers by Dr. John Bateman, his coach at Penn under Sebo.

Dr. Harnwell fired Sebo on the recommendation of a faculty administrative committee of which Jerry Ford, director of athletics, is a member. The this same committee, despite tremendous alumni pressure against Sebo, which resulted in the coach's second three-year contract in 1957.

Sebo, who came here from Michigan State where he was backfield coach, had a 35-15-1 record at Penn. Stiegman had 29-13 at Rutgers in two years.

FAMED BALLET

Patterson Opens Canadian Tour

TORONTO (CP)—Floyd Patterson, former world heavyweight champion, will open a Canadian boxing tour in Windsor Saturday.

Loren Casalna of Toronto, sponsor of the tour designed to keep Patterson tuned up for his rematch with champion Ingemar Johansson, said Tuesday that other confirmed dates are Kitchener Dec. 8, Peterborough Dec. 9 and North Bay Dec. 10. Patterson will be in either Toronto or Montreal Dec. 11.

Casalna said he is trying to work out appearances in Sudbury, Sault Ste. Marie, Quebec City and the Maritimes but the schedule will have to conform with railway timetables since Patterson refuses to fly.

The ex-champ will box with sparring partners Julio Medero, Clarence Boyd and Dusty Rhodes on alternate dates.

Better Civic Government

To The Voters of Belleville:—

Most voters in Belleville are interested in the way the city is run; yet only 26% of the eligible voters cast votes at the last election — mainly because they knew too little about the candidates and what they stood for.

This year, unusual interest has been aroused and as a result Four Ratepayers' Associations were formed to try and get concerted action by informed voters. To get the best possible results, the four Ratepayers Associations then formed a committee — the Belleville Voters' Committee—consisting of the officers of each association. Each association had the same voice and the same voting power in the committee.

The policy of the B.V.C. is to work together for Better Civic Government. Better Civic Government requires first of all a mayor and aldermen who are industrious, intelligent and have no personal axes to grind. There are many such men in Belleville; the B.V.C. assumed the task of finding men with these admirable qualifications and persuading them to sacrifice their own convenience to serve the city.

This task was approached with the great care it deserved. First it was agreed to preserve impartial judgment, that no member of the B.V.C. would run for council. Then a long list of possible candidates, suggested by the members of the Ratepayers' Associations in open meetings, were reviewed. Each candidate was assessed in respect to; administrative or managerial experience, education, knowledge of character, expression, appearance, health, affiliations, ambition and availability, without regard to race, creed or political background. When suitable candidates had been found, then the Ratepayers' Associations had to bring them to the public's notice as ideal candidates for civic office. This was the sum of our efforts.

Forest Industry Wants Member On Commission

TORONTO (CP) — A demand for equal consideration with other industries in the disposition of public land was made today by the Ontario forest industry today to the public lands investigation commission.
In a 2,500-word brief the Ontario Forest Industries Association urged immediate appointment of a forestry representative to the committee.
Claiming that the industry is not receiving equal rights to public land with other industries, the brief stated: "It is illogical and unreasonable that a citizen of this country or . . . from outside the country can purchase land for the establishment of tourist camps, while an established company supplying employment to thousands cannot purchase land to protect its investments."
The text of the brief was released to the press in advance.

BULLET INJURES BOY

MERCERSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Dicky Barnes, 10, was sitting in the front seat of his father's car on Sunday when he heard a .30-calibre bullet. An opening on the dashboard seemed just the place for it, so he stuck his finger in it. It was the socket for a cigar lighter and the bullet lodged. The blast injured Dicky's left eye. Doctors said the boy's condition

Man Who Chose Jail May Now Pay Fine as Wife Will Soon Have Baby

OTTAWA (CP) — The wife of Jack Cadieux, the garageman who Monday chose to spend 240 days in jail rather than pay a $1,322 fine, may get the fine if her husband will change his mind because she is expecting a child within the next 10 days and can't operate the service station alone.

Cadieux began serving his sentence after county court Judge Leo Lalonde refused to allow his lawyer to appeal his magistrate's court conviction on 18 charges of violating the city's T p.m. service station closing bylaw.

"We don't want to have to pay the fine because that would be like admitting we're wrong," she said. "But I don't know what else we'll be able to do."

"This is a free country and they shouldn't pass a law that deprives kids of food," said Mrs. Cadieux in an interview. She has seven children ranging in age from six to 15.

"If we're willing to work 24 hours a day to give them what they need, we should be able to," she said. She is trying to raise money to pay her husband's fine but thinks she'll be able to arrange it.

Cadieux challenged the bylaw, introduced last year, on the ground that there was an element of uncertainty in its use of the term local time. The present bylaw was revamped after an amendment introduced last year was ruled invalid by the Ontario Supreme Court on the ground it delegated executive authority to a civic official.

Cadieux is to appear next week to face an additional 82 similar charges of remaining open beyond the 7 p.m. deadline. His station in suburban Britannia has remained open all night since the bylaw was introduced.

Mrs. Cadieux said the station closed Monday night at 7 p.m. because if she didn't "they'd way!"

close it for me." It reopened at the legal 7 a.m. time this morning.

"I won't be able to do it for long though," she said. "Then I'm afraid Jack will have to come out of jail unless I can find someone to run things for us while I'm having the baby.

"I feel we've had an injustice done against us. We were open 24 hours a day before the bylaw came in. Our customers were very happy to be able to buy gas when they wanted it. We wouldn't people be allowed to run things like that in their own business?"

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER
Thursday, December 3

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — Excellent day for finding better health methods and also for buying those small items to add to your apparel which make you more chic. Then make a fine impression on big-wigs. P.M. assist loved one who has serious problems. Don't argue.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — You can get wonderful ideas today that will make you more successful and give you a chance to express your talents. Be certain to go to some special function where you are invited in P.M. Be dynamic and amusing, but very diplomatic.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — Affection without tangible work to prove your devotion to family and loved ones is only half the joy of living. Get down to business — Now! Get real estate, money affairs cared for wisely. P.M. don't go balancing the will-o'-the-wisp.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) — There is a fine opportunity now to cement better relations with your partner by intelligently bringing in new ideas, doing the work required of you. Work those angles at which you are so adept. P.M. flatter an authority, don't criticize.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — A.M. labor that will please and encourage home ties is productive of wonderful benefits now. Then get into other work that requires your immediate attention. Expand. P.M. don't voice any resentment or small personal problems. Retire early.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23) — Morning is the best time to go after that data, persons, or to make purchases that are important to you right now. P.M. take care while driving. Take the harassment better; retiring that will improve your health and personality.

Libra (Sept. 22 to Oct. 22) — Follow that urge to get home and business conditions improved by your own hard work and attention. Also get health improved if you have to see a doctor. P.M. have fun inexpensively.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — A change of attitude or psychology may result in better understanding with partners and you can work more efficiently. P.M. do not enter into that argument with any member of your clan. Maintain perfect balance.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Consulting with experts and doing research work are the means by which you can realize real progress now. P.M. put aside any frustrating thoughts and think constructively. Go out socially and make new contacts.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Today you are inspired as to how to get ahead faster socially, and it would be wise to follow own intuitions. Contact the right people, meet the right groups. P.M. use great caution on the road and think before you speak.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Private scalings now are the means by which you can achieve greater success in either civic or business affairs. P.M. heed every law or regulation that pertains to you or you could get into serious trouble.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — Look to good comrades for the new ideas or systems that will bring you closer to your goals and real success in your venture. P.M. find new friends. Forget that private worry. It will resolve itself.

If your child is born today . . . The fine child born today will be a fine business-man, or woman and it would behoove you to inculcate early the basic tenets of fair play, the value of dollars and cents, and how to make them grow. The intuition here is very pronounced too, and others will not be able to fool easily your smart youngster. Success and ease is in this chart, but social life is not interesting until latter years.

Record Price Paid for Book

LONDON (Reuters)—A record price of $182,000 for a book was paid by a New York dealer here today for the 13th - century Apocalypse Manuscript, a life of St. John regarded as one of the most beautiful illuminated manuscripts in existence.

This beats the previous record for a sale of this kind—$169,000—paid here last year also for an illuminated manuscript.

The purchaser in both cases was H. P. Kraus.

Ike All Ready To Start 19-Day Trip Round Globe

Urges Go-Slow Policy In Military Revamping

WASHINGTON (CP) — President Eisenhower sets off tonight on a 19-day round-the-globe trip to convince the world that the United States sincerely wants peace. And he will be appealing to have adopted a go-slow policy in revitalizing the U.S. military machine.

"I think we are trying to do many things that are not completely necessary," Eisenhower told a press conference Wednesday. "We should kind of put them out on the shelf until we have our fiscal thing in order."

And while the U.S. is in the Mediterranean area, missiles from manned bombers, Eisenhower said his government will abide by the old saying: "Be not the first by which the new is tried nor yet the last to lay the old aside."

STEEL APPEAL TONIGHT

Eisenhower's 11 - country, jet-plane trip to Europe, Asia and North Africa, is timed to hit into the Western summit conference at Paris Dec. 19. The takeoff point is Washington, where he will go from his farm and other communications.

Initially, he suggested he should be given the authority to "review power" of the states. Mr. Lamport added: "If they leave me alone, I can handle the other commissioners."

Allan Lamport Ready to Take TTC Control

TORONTO (CP)—Nobody has asked him yet, but Allan Lamport says he'll take over again as chairman of the Toronto Transit Commission if the pay is increased to $25,000 from $15,000 a year.

Mr. Lamport resigned as chairman 11 months ago in a controversy with the then general manager W. E. P. Duncan over control, structure and operation of the Yonge Street subway. There has been no tranquility in the transit commission since. Mr. Lamport still is a member.

Having withstood demands that he be fired, Mr. Lamport said Wednesday he would quit if Metropolitan Toronto was given the power by the provincial government to fire him and other commissioners.

Instead, he suggested he should be given the authority to "review power" of the states. Mr. Lamport added: "If they leave me alone, I can handle the other commissioners."

Policeman Up For Keeping Marriage Secret

TORONTO (CP) — A Metropolitan Toronto policeman, greeted on trial before a coroner he and his wife, a former policewoman, kept their marriage a secret.

Acting Detective Ronald King took the stand Deputy Police Chief Bert Lee on a charge that he failed to notify the force of a change in his marital status.

The Metro police force has a regulation forbidding members of "the force to marry one another.

Mrs. Ronald King said today she and her husband were married last April 11, but for several weeks before the regulation was circulated.

"On May 15," she said in an interview, "police regulations were circulated to make it an offence for members of the force to marry one another.

"But Ron and I did not learn this until the regulations were circulated in early June. By that time we had committed ourselves to the purchase of furniture and household appliances."

She said when their marriage was discovered last month, both she and her husband were taken before District Chief Lee to explain the lot for questioning.

"We were treated like criminals," Mrs. King said. "They grilled us for about an hour, trying to implicate other members of the force who might know of our marriage. But no one else did.

"When I admitted I was married to a police officer I was immediately suspended. They then told me I could either hand in my resignation right there or I could wait and be charged and appear before the police board who would dismiss me anyway."

Today's Chuckle

Young chap to friend: "He doesn't quite suit me, does he, all. He's getting married next month and hasn't even found her a girl."

CONSERVATIVES END CONVENTION BY BIG BANQUET

Zip Without Friction Through Heavy Day

OTTAWA (CP) — The Progressive Conservative party's general meeting concluded Wednesday night, big but far from boisterous.

Like a well-greased machine, the three-day conference—bringing together the might of the Conservative party from its broad federal and provincial roots — zipped without friction through the heavy part of the agenda.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker sounded the final note Wednesday night at a concluding banquet in his honor when he declared that Canadians are in good heart and the horizon is bright, although labor and industry must practise restraint if the Canadian economy is to avoid trouble in a looming trade war with the Soviet Union.

Warnings against party complacency and a light jab on the part of Conservative public relations at announcing government policy were almost the only jarring notes heard.

SHARP DISSENT

One piece of sharp dissent came from Norman Baker of New Westminster, B.C., who described himself as a party member, in declaring that many people were "quite unhappy at the present political situation in Canada."

Mr. Baker intervened from the convention floor to ask that the resolutions be discussed one by one. But they were approved in a group with the lone dissenting vote from among about 1,200 registered delegates and party members.

The gentle rap against public relations apparently came in a report on the activities of the party's national headquarters staff.

Former Cow-Puncher May Get $2,000,000 Prosperity Uncle

VANCOUVER (CP)—A former $20 - a - month cow - puncher was told at his 25th reunion here Wednesday night that he will receive as much as $2,000,000 "overnight."

Hubert Fred Johnson, 22, is still attempting to confirm the report from a city lawyer that his uncle, Fred, 75, a Yukon prospector, would give him about $2,000,000 "around Feb. 20."

Mr. Johnson, now a lumber dealer, at first expressed disbelief. "I was told it was true, true, because Feb. 20 is my birthday.

He said his uncle, Walter Johnson, a long - time prospector, struck a nickel mine in Great Lake just outside of Flin Flon.

It is reported that his uncle discovered a silver mine five years ago and sold it to International Nickel Company.

A telephone call to the mining recorder in Flin Flon revealed Jean Dupleissi of Vancouver, that Mr. Johnson's uncle is still out prospecting.

But the mining recorder said the prospector made a big nickel strike about five years ago 150 miles east of Flin Flon and sold it to the International Nickel Company in a very considerable sum."

He said the prospector is seen in Flin Flon only on rare occasions when he comes in to get supplies.

In Vancouver, Mr. Johnson said today that he was told his uncle was in 1958 at his father's funeral in Alberta. His father was killed working in the Snow Lake mine.

At that time the prospector told Johnson's sister: "I am going to have a family a great deal of money."

Mr. Johnson said if the report is true he first thing he will do is get married.

He is engaged to 20-year-old

Three Schoolgirls Crushed Against Car by Transport

PEMBROKE (CP) — Three young schoolgirls were killed today when crushed against a station wagon by a big transport trailer truck at the Mellon's Bay rural school, 45 miles west of here.

The victims were Sheila Dayton, 9, and her sister, April, 6, of Point Alexander, Que., and Mildred Elliott, 9, of Deep River, Que.

Reports said the girls were crushed by the trailer section of the transport as it swerved on the slushy pavement in an attempt to miss the stopped station wagon.

The accident occurred in full view of many children playing in the school yard.

Elmer Donnelly of Mackey Station, Ont., driver of the station wagon which he uses as a part-time school bus, and transport driver Cecil South, 36, of North Bay, escaped injury.

"I don't know what happened," said Donnelly. "There was a tremendous bang in the back."

Donnelly was sitting in the station wagon when the crash occurred but was unharmed although his vehicle was wrecked.

The transport was reported to have rolled over and debris was strewn for some distance along the highway.

Plan to Arm Navy and RCAF With Atomic Depth Charges

OTTAWA (CP) — Negotiations aimed at arming the Canadian Navy and RCAF with atomic depth charges now are under way in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, informants said today.

They were commenting on a recent statement by Admiral Jerauld Wright of the United States Navy, Supreme Commander, Atlantic, that "some of the depth charges are available to NATO forces."

Informants said plans are being worked out whereby these weapons will be supplied to the RCN and RCAF for submarine killing.

They could give no indication, however, when the navy and air force will actually get the atomic depth charges.

These negotiations in NATO were concurrent with those between Canada and the United States for the storing of nuclear warheads in this country for defensive use in the Bomarc anti-aircraft missile.

RETAINED IN U.S.

Authorities indicated that the atomic depth charges would be retained in the U.S. near ports and bases where they would be picked up quickly by destroyers or by RCN and RCAF anti-submarine planes.

The U.S. Navy has developed an atomic depth charge known as Lulu which has a killing range of nearly a half-mile yards as with the conventional depth charge. The RCN and RCAF were given information of Lulu as long ago as 1956.

Defence Minister Diefenbaker announced last Feb. 20 that decisions and procedures concerning custody and control of nuclear warheads in a very considerable sum."

He said the prospector is seen in Flin Flon only on rare occasions when he comes in to get supplies.

In Vancouver, Mr. Johnson said today that he was told his uncle was in 1958 at his father's funeral in Alberta. His father was killed working in the Snow Lake mine.

At that time the prospector told Johnson's sister: "I am going to have a family a great deal of money."

Mr. Johnson said if the report is true the first thing he will do is get married.

He is engaged to 20-year-old Joan Dupleissi of Vancouver.

Johnny Ray Acquitted on Morals Charge

DETROIT (AP)—Singer Johnnie Ray was acquitted on a morals charge Wednesday and promptly fell in a dead faint.

Revived amid applause and cheers, Ray told the all-woman jury in recorders court:

"It's the nicest thing I could hear."

Ray was accused of accosting and soliciting here Nov. 21. Patrolman Eugene Cavaston of the police vice-squad testified that the singer made an indecent proposal to him outside a downtown bar. Cavaston and posed as salesman.

Ray, who pleaded guilty and was fined $25 on a similar charge in 1951, denied Cavaston's accusation.

WANT 'EYESORE' HOUSES BANNED ALONG HIGHWAYS

Tourist Association Requests Controls

SUDBURY (CP)—An end to the building of eyesore dwellings along provincial highways was demanded Wednesday by the Northern Ontario Tourist Outfitters Association.

The beauty of Ontario must be protected, said a resolution passed at the association's annual meeting. The association asks the government to amend or enlarge present regulations so that any homes and buildings along highways will be constructed to enhance, not spoil the scenic beauty.

The association also urged that existing rates for provincial parks be increased by $3 a day for a campsite from the present $2 and $4 a week. The present rate puts the parks in unfair competition with commercial recreation spots and also is a drain on the public coffers, it contended.

The department of travel and publicity came under fire in connection with park advertising. The association said it is time the department concentrated advertising in the United States is being directed to the wrong areas, such as these are primarily for Canadians. More money be spent on area advertising in Ontario.

Another resolution was passed asking that the department set aside lands and forests to employ more game officers.

Delegates from Gogama presented a brief requesting steps curbing activities of some plane operators acting as tourist outfitters without the necessary licences. They said these operators have many locations to remote areas for hunting and fishing without the required land permits and often got other persons to get a permit and used other people's land and equipment without authority.

The association asked that provincial authorities investigate.

Ask Permission To Prosecute Union Leaders

TORONTO (CP)—Kemp Construction Limited has asked Ontario Builders' Exchange Wednesday to ought permission from Ontario Labor Relations Board to prosecute four union representatives for alleged illegal strike.

They are officers of the Carpenters' union, which has been on legal strike against Kemp since mid-September. Nov. 13 and the others are from the Teamsters' union.

Tod Stringer, counsel for Kemp Construction said the company has said construction workers refused to cross a picket line established by the Carpenters' union officers and Carpenters' union officers took part in the picketing.

MAY FALTER IN 1960

HAMILTON (CP) — President V. W. Scully of the Steel Company of Canada predicted Wednesday "there may well be a slowing down in business activity" in 1960, for example.

Next year, the slowdown could be caused by tighter monetary restrictions, he said at a gathering of several Hamilton industrialists here.

Rooney, Paar Spar and Then Coo Maybe Both of Them Told Us True

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Mickey Rooney and Jack Paar cooed and billed Wednesday night on a spat, broke off long enough for some furious new cries of feud, and then started cooing louder than ever today.

The exchange of the two seasoned showmen weren't hurting either one—or their publicity.

But you had to be on your toes to keep up with it.

Paar smilingly told his television audience Rooney phoned last night.

Rooney's satisfied the actor. Happy, too, was Rooney's personal manager, Hal Dodd, who announced that tonight's show will be an act originally scheduled for Wednesday's kiss-and-make-up session between Paar and Rooney. Rooney once more will be his guest on the show.

"The whole thing is smoothed over now," Doc said.

That wasn't the way he had felt a couple of hours earlier after hearing second-hand accounts of Paar's performance on the air. At that time Dodd flatly declared he would not let Rooney appear with Paar.

It all startled Tuesday night, when Paar accused Rooney of being drunk on the show.

Rooney walked out—by invitation—and Paar was threatened to punch Paar on the nose.

They patched it up in a tense hotel room discussion, with four aides on each side eyed by one another cautiously outside the door, the way Paar tells it. It's doubtful that the two publicity schooling the ruckus will impair the rating of tonight's show.

Earlier, Rooney's agent had demanded an apology from Paar's network, NBC, and Mickey had snapped:

"You'd have to be loaded to go on the show . . . Paar has a big mouth."

Rooney called an Associated Press photographer at his home to say he was going to punch the TV star's nose.

"I've went over there", Rooney said later, "and we had a long conversation. We talked it over and it's all straightened out. Just a misunderstanding. Everything's fine."

Paar confirmed they had made up and said Mickey will appear on his show as a guest again tonight.

Five-Mile-Long Lake Cuts Path Of Destruction

Waters Sweep to Sea In 4-Mile-Wide Torrent

FREJUS, France (CP) — A rushing wall of water that at times may have been 40 feet in height roared down a valley from the broken Malpasset Dam Wednesday night and swept a four-miles-wide path of destruction down to the Mediterranean.

The death toll in and around this ancient French Riviera town was expected to exceed 300.' By noon today rescue workers had counted 260 dead, and scores of others were still missing. Hundreds were homeless as the Reyran River, swollen by five days of torrential rains, smashed the eight-year-old dam, which held back a lake five miles long and 2½ miles wide.

"Nothing remains," Roulles said reporters as he toured Frejus. It had been inspected only a few months ago to find out if it could withstand the explosions which were going on at nearby construction work. Everything was declared normal.

At the time of its construction in 1953 the gently curving concrete irrigation dam was the thinnest in the world, measuring only 22 feet at its thickest.

"TERRIBLE CRACKING"

The dam's caretaker said he opened the floodgates a. 6 p.m. Wednesday to ease the water level. The level of the lake dropped slightly, he said, but about three hours later he heard a "terrible cracking" sound, and immediately the dam collapsed.

The waters followed the river bed and entered the Mediterranean over a area from Frejus to St. Aygulf, a town about two miles west of Frejus.

The small naval base at Frejus was almost entirely swept away. Three British ships in the harbor were reported missing.

A military supply camp north of Frejus was cut off by the waters. There was no immediate word on the fate of its 40 soldiers and civilians.

Huts housing workers building a new road near here were swept away. Reports said many of the men may have been drowned.

The government today proclaimed the valley a disaster area and the French national radio began to broadcast reports of missing and aid for the victims.

Premier Debre sent a message of spiritual assistance to the Bishop of Frejus. Premier Michel Debre sent a message of sympathy to

The report was in a pamphlet issued by the Institute of Strategic Studies, a non-governmental body guided by Sir Alfred Pownall Dadian. Its sources of information were not given.

Potential Western rocket strength in Europe was listed in the pamphlet as seven bases for intermediate-range missiles: four Thor bases now in Britain, two bases for Jupiter missiles Thor built in Italy and one projected Jupiter base in Turkey.

The defence ministry declined to comment on the report.

Centralization of Jails For Three Counties Fully Discussed in County Council

Possible centralization of jails with the view of toward greater efficiency and reduced costs will be the subject of a Hastings County Councillors' meeting fixed for next week.

The suggestion is that the counties of Hastings, Prince Edward and Lennox and Addington combine for the construction of a central county jail.

The matter was initially broached in county council during the session with Reeve William Davis presenting a preliminary report at the September session. Yesterday Mr. Davis circulated a report, which in part contained a breakdown of jail costs in the three counties and urged that the matter be given close consideration by councillors.

He said the Ontario Department of Reform was keenly interested in the idea of jail centralization and suggested government assistance toward construction might be expected if the department would not be committed for trial at the Spring Assizes in Belleville on a preliminary hearing which ended today.

The hearing began last week in Marmora township hall but was adjourned when the young woman, mother of five children, was arrested after the husband, John, was found with a .22 rifle bullet hole in his chest.

Mrs. Herman is a war bride from England who came to this country with her husband 14 years ago. The exact date of her trial is unknown. It will be held some time in January.

Evidence given at the trial indicated the reason for the shooting was the victim's friendship with another woman.

RADLY OUTDATED

Mr. Davis said reform department officials had told him the Hastings county jail was badly outdated, and that in Prince Edward county was in worse condition.

"Is that possible?" interjected the warden.

Mr. Davis noted the department was demanding that something be done about the Belleville jail and suggested the time was now opportune to consider centralization before expensive alterations were carried out.

He said the department was for a new jail would be that it be completely separate from county administration buildings, he said.

In view of the fact the department was requesting that something be done at Belleville, Mr. Davis felt the first step toward centralization after getting approval from the other two counties would be to go to the department with the request that it assume 100 per cent responsibility.

Failing this the department should be approached to see what it would do by way of financial assistance toward construction and additional maintenance costs.

"There is a lot of food for thought in this," said Warden Brown, noting that future sessions of council would see more discussion on the matter.

The discussion on the possibility of jail centralization followed the report of the administrative and finance committee which in turn touched off spirited debate on justice administration costs which were a direct charge against the municipality.

COSTS ARE HIGH

One of these items was the high cost of transportation of prisoners from northern municipalities to jail at Belleville and back again, for court appearance.

There was a general feeling that local municipalities were entitled to be given a monthly recording from the Crown Attorney's office regarding administration of justice costs, at the same time it was emphasized there was no suggestion that any money was being misspent.

"I have no suspicions," said Reeve William Shannon, "only a lack of understanding."

Other reports heard during the morning session included that of the county home given by committee chairman Reeve Roy Hannah. The report showed there were 198 patients at the home, 96 female and 102 male of which 84 were from the city of Belleville.

The Children's Aid Society report presented by Reeve James H. Sprackett showed that the Society was running considerably over the budget. Costs for the first nine months totalled $80,751 with Warden Brown noting that the bill for the year may run $12,000 or more over the estimate.

At September 30 there were 124 children in the care of the Society. Of the total 110 were being cared by the local Society and 36 in other societies.

Council took no action on a resolution from the Lambton County Women's Institute calling for more strict regulations concerning the operation of school buses. Among other things the resolution asked that oncoming traffic be required to stop when school buses stopped to take on or discharge passengers.

Reeve Victor Hughson of Wellington said such a requirement would be a calamity.

The general feeling was that the Ontario Department of Highways was doing all it could to assure the safety of school children, while Reeve Davis said school bus drivers had enough responsibility.

He said children should be taught to remain on the side of the road until the bus passed on the theory they might until the traffic was clear before attempting to cross the highway.

Council concurred in a Welland county resolution asking that the department provide municipalities with low interest loans to carry out local improvement work.

Historical Body Wants Museum In County Office

A formal request from the Hastings County Historical Society for use of the county registry office building as a museum was placed before members of Hastings county council on Wednesday.

The request for the Society was its president, Gerald Boyce told the county, who pointed out the registry office building to be unused with the completion of a new registry office building would possibly be the last chance to establish a museum of high calibre.

Mr. Boyce said that the city of Belleville and the town of Trenton would be approached for assistance in setting up the museum.

Doubt was expressed by several councillors whether the building would be adequate for display of many pieces of early pioneer equipment in agriculture and lumbering operations, many of which had played a part in the development of the Quinte area. Also it was questioned whether the registry office building was the proper location for such a museum.

SEES TOURIST ATTRACTION

But Deloro Reeve R. C. Whitbread voiced approval with the idea of setting up a county museum which would preserve the past. He would be of great interest to future generations.

Such a museum would be a great tourist attraction, he said, and noted that the lack of such items of interest was being criticized by tourists visiting the area.

He suggested that the registry office might be an ideal location for the purpose and urged that much thought be put into the idea.

Reeve William Davis was of much the same opinion and suggested that even if the proposed museum outgrew the registry office, the building gave the opportunity for a start.

NO ACTION TAKEN

No action was taken on the matter and the discussion was concluded by Warden J. E. Brown who, although noting his own interest in the matter, suggested there was no hurry as the building would not be available for at least another year.

Both the Warden and Reeve Harleigh Hudson of Wollaston township said they would not like to see the registry office committee combined for the purpose on a permanent basis. Both saw possible county uses for the building in the future.

Cheesemen, Friends Enjoy Banquet to Close Successful Dairy Show and Convention

Approximately 160 members of the Central Ontario Cheesemakers' Association, their wives and friends, wound-up their two-day convention here last night with a gala banquet at the Club Canada, Hambly Street.

Highlight of the evening was the presentation of numerous trophies and prizes donated by the cheese firms and manufacturers to the winners of the Cheddar Cheese Dairy Show staged by the association and held in conjunction with the 52nd annual convention.

Grand championship winner, Grant Hughes of Selby, was presented with the British Empire Award by Newt McFee of Eastview.

The program was under the chairmanship of Dr. Bale of London, Ont., chief dairy instructor for Central and Western Ontario.

The guest speaker was Spencer Gray, general manager of the Poultry Products Institute of Canada Inc., Toronto, who gave an interesting address on the theme, "Missing Letter in a Well-Known Word."

Mr. Rodway, a former Winnipeg Free Press reporter, is a popular and advertising salesman, explained the well-known name "Ontario" was the missing letter is "you".

RECALLS EARLY DAYS

He recalled his early newspaper days, he told of a personal incident which gave him a life-time friend.

Riding to work on a Winnipeg streetcar on his "first day on the job", cub reporter Rodway noticed a sign on the streetcar advertising "National Sausage Week".

When he arrived at the office he was told by the editor to find out what national sausage week was.

However, after calling every one connected with the sausage industry and working diligently on the assignment, he found there was none the wiser. No one knew anything about it or who was responsible for it.

To add to the puzzle, a few days later a new sausage sign beside the original one, with the word, "Since".

PHILOSOPHY STUNT

He bemoaned his troubles to a fellow Y.M.C.A. lodger who occupied the next room. A few days later cub reporter Rodway discovered his pixie - playing - wizard acquaintance was responsible for the whole thing.

The acquaintance, Stephen Leacock, had used it as a publicity stunt to introduce a new magazine called "Sime".

Since the magazine was partly responsible for his first assignment, Rodway became friendly in it, and started to read it.

A few issues later he read a sentence in the magazine's editorial column that has stuck with him and formed the basis of his philosophy in life.

That sentence concerned a little boy's discovery while bouncing a ball on the street — "the harder he bounced the harder it bounced back."

"On other words, the more we put into things, the more we will get out of them," he stated.

Two Reeves Ready to Quit After 28 Years of Service But Nobody Will Take Over

Two perennial members of Hastings county council — Reeve James H. Sprackett of Tudor and Cashel township, and Wilfian Davis of McClure Wicklow and Rawdon — will be back at their accustomed seat next year with a total of 56 years service in the county body to their credit.

Both members have been returned by acclamation in seven of their respective municipalities and during the current session at Shire Hall are accepting congratulations of fellow councillors.

Both men have completed 28 years at county council.

Although both will be commencing their 29th term of office on January 1st, Mr. Sprackett came to county council one year in advance to Mr. Davis, but was out of council for one year in 1938. In all Mr. Sprackett has served on council member for his municipality for 42 years.

Both councillors have served as warden of the county and both are quite willing to step aside in favor of younger men. The big question is to get someone to step into their shoes so they can quit.

Young Women, Boys Wanted For Santa Parade

Any young men, or young ladies, who fancy themselves as amateur entertainers — or who would just like to have some fun — are asked to contact the Santa Claus parade organizers.

Officials of the parade, which will wind its bright, merry way through downtown streets Saturday morning, are looking for men and women over 14 years of age to serve between the floats.

Costumes will be supplied by the organizers and should be picked up Friday afternoon at No. 2 Fire Station.

Toronto Firm Appointed as County Auditors

Choice of the Toronto firm was made over the Peterborough firm of Humpage Taylor and McDonald which had been recommended by the county council finance committee. The Fred Page Higgins Company will employ personnel of the late A. R. McEachren Company which is owned by John D. Lewars whose auditing and bonding licence has been revoked. Mr. Lewars was former county auditor.

Discussion on the appointment of a new auditor took up most of the morning session of council with several members, including Warden J. N. Brown, claiming they had been dissatisfied with the work of Mr. Lewars as county auditor, principally because of the absence of the audit being presented to council.

On the other hand reeves of municipalities which had Mr. Lewars as auditor, claimed they had no complaints.

Otherwise during the morning session council approved of appointments to the various county high school area boards. Appointments were: Bay of Quinte District High School Board, Brooks Allen; Centre Hastings, Ritchie Wells; North Hastings, Thomas Bronson; Deseronto, Hugh Bradshaw; Trenton, Basil Brooks and Stirling, Gene Johnston.

A grant of $500 to the Hastings County T.B. Association was approved by council.

Also approved during the current session was a gain of two points at 62 on a single sale of 50 shares. Industrial Acceptance was next in line with a 1¼ gain at 20½. Moore Corp. went up 1¼ at 42½.

Empire Life Insurance took the biggest loss — three points on a single sale of 25 shares. Ford of Canada dropped six points at 183 and its U.S. counterpart, Ford Motor of Dearborn, Mich., dropped 76½. Loblaw Inc. was also off 1½ at 134½.

Councillors Make Reports At Meeting of Ratepayers

TRENTON — Members of the 1959 council presented their report at the annual ratepayers' meeting in the auditorium of the Community Gardens on Monday night.

Councillor Howard Aziz, chairman of community services, reported on the progress of four boards and commissions under his jurisdiction. Mr. Aziz said that the Parks' Board had made amazing progress in the past year. A report, compiled by Miss Marion Baker, secretary of the board, has been published in the local press, and has been submitted to council. The Recreation Commission operated a number of playgrounds under the various schools and parks. The commission also assists in the operation of the Disabled Person's Club and the Senior Citizens' Club and gets together with them and adult sports' groups.

The Library Board had reported that last year the membership was 4,700 and the annual circulation of books 68,198, an increase to a membership of 1,491 in 1956 and a circulation of 21,000 books. The board reported also that an extension to the library would be necessary in the near future if the library were to be maintained as a well-rounded and efficient part of community life.

In reference to the Community Gardens, Mr. Aziz said that it was the first year that the building had proved itself as a "white elephant". Activities carried on throughout the year have been roller skating, hockey and games. Mr. Aziz said that he was pleased with the fact that the Gardens often was a subject for controversy. There have been several arguments in the past few weeks about the fire marshal and the various teams. He said that he had tried to act on complaints about the fire marshal.

PROJECT WITHIN ESTIMATES

Councillor W. H. Bradshaw, chairman of sanitation and water, reported that the sewage disposal system would be in operation by November 15 and that the project was still well within the estimated cost.

Mr. Bradshaw also reported on the installation of storm and sanitary sewers in Queen St. He stated that he felt that last year's council had accomplished a lot, and remarked on the co-operation shown by the staff, particularly by the engineering staff.

Councillor V. Graham, chairman of the committee for public buildings, fire and property, said that the police and fire department had operated smoothly throughout the year. He said that the fire loss up to October 31 of last year had been in the neighborhood of $65,000, about the same as the loss in 1956, it had been around one million dollars.

Mr. Graham said that the fire department had gone a long way in 3 years with having been several promotions, firemen have attended annual all meets, several of the men have taken special courses in fire-fighting and instruction, and a thorough inspection of the town schools and business establishments was carried out during Fire Prevention Week.

KEEP TO BUDGET

Councillor Vern H. Lange, chairman of finance, said that last year's council had exceeded its budget except in cases where increased expenditure could not be controlled. He said that all departments were within their estimates with the possible exception of the sanitation and water department, which may have a small deficit. The Community Gardens will have an expected operating deficit. Mr. Lange said that, at the moment, the town owes the bank exactly nothing. He said that the town has provided debentures to cover the cost of the new public school, the grant to the hospital for the new addition, the construction of the sewage disposal plant and the gas filtration plant. Mr. Lange said that Trenton was prosperous and the money must be spent to expand. He said that for the next few years all capital expenditures should be examined carefully and that the town's needs should be planned for in order of priority.

Councillor Lloyd Wessel, chairman of the public buildings committee, reported on various projects carried out by his department, including the new fire maintenance, the re-surfacing of streets and the removal of snow from town streets. He said that snow removal had cost $2,000 more than between January and April of last year. A new snowplow will be purchased this year.

Councillor Lloyd Worrall, chairman of the, Court of Revision, had forwarded a report which was read by W. Larry, chairman of the meeting. Mr. Worrall commented on the excellent job done by J. Allan Smith, assessor. This is the first year that women have been employed to assist with the assessment. The assessment notices have been mailed, and may be appealed to the assessor, and appeals filed, within 14 days after receipt.

Blow Torch Flame Mistaken for Blaze

TRENTON — Trenton Fire Department answered two calls last evening. One was to Glen Miller. On the second fire, the fire truck broke down and the station was called to answer another truck the firemen were informed that the call had been cancelled. Trenton Police had seen a "flame" in the window of the garage at Glen Miller and called the department. Upon investigation the cause was found to be nothing more than a blow torch being used in the home.

Around 8 p.m. the department was called to the Beaver Lumber Co. premises, where the hall had broken out in some wallboard at the rear of the property. The fire was soon brought under control.

Captain Gerald "Lewis and five men of the local department attended a meeting at Tweed last evening. A film and lecture on mouth-to-mouth respiration were presented by Bill Bowers of Safety Services, Toronto. Also present at the meeting were A. Duncan of Belaway Cliff Moore, of Lafrance Equipment, Toronto and firemen from Belleville, Madoc, Picton, Stirling, Tweed, Deseronto and other points.

Plan Recreational Facilities Along Sweep of Bay Front

TRENTON — If the long-range plans of the Trenton and Sidney Planning Board the Trenton Parks' Board and the Trenton Recreation Commission work out, Trenton will become a veritable paradise for the recreation-minded citizens of the community and a mecca for tourists.

The plan to provide recreational facilities along the sweep of the bayfront, will provide tennis courts and playgrounds in the Bayshore Park area, and a ball diamond, football field, swimming pool and yacht club area in the vicinity of the Community Gardens.

Last year, Roly Whitley, commodore of the Trenton Yacht Club, applied to the Planning Board for a grant of land in the foot of Sidney Street, and that a causeway be built to it from the mainland to the small islands in this area.

At last night's meeting of the planning board, at which the chairman of the board, Dr. Currie, McDonald, and members H. Campbell, J. Scherbenski and O. W. Larry were present, the matter of the yacht club was discussed fully with M. Parker Jr., chairman of the Parks' Board, A. Hutchinson, director of the Recreation Commission and A. Hoornweeg, town draughtsman.

The majority of those present was in favor of the land being used for this purpose, provided that the Yacht Club could present concrete evidence that the future plans of the club were feasible, and that any buildings erected would meet with the approval of the planning board.

Dr. McDonald suggested that an out-of-town corporation might be interested in building a "Marina", where yachts could be repaired. He said that the yacht club could rent building lots or slips from the Marina. Dr. McDonald said that he understood a large number of yacht owners from Toronto or other points would moor their yachts there and "motor down weekends to enjoy sailing.

It was decided that Mr. Larry should write to the town planning board and ask for a meeting with their representatives to discuss the overall plan for the recreational areas. Members of the Yacht Club would also be invited to the meeting. In the meantime, the Parks' Board would be asked to go ahead with a tree planting program in the areas designated. Mr. J. Parker reported that there was a very great interest in town in tennis, and welcomed the plan to construct four double tennis courts in the Bayshore Park area.

A resolution was drafted by the planning board to the effect that the area, bounded on the south by Heber Street, on the north by Princess Street, on the west by Sidney Street and on the east by the town boundary, presently zoned, RM-3, should be changed to RM-2 so as to permit the erection of one family detached dwellings which would be constructed on lots with 49½ foot frontage, and containing an area of 4,000 square feet, provided the balance of the regulations for RM-2 zone, not less than 4,000 square feet.

After some discussion, it was decided to defer judgment on the matter until further consideration had been given to the ultimate possibilities of re-zoning this area, and to obtain the opinion of the town planners on the matter.

Hubert Campbell, whose appointment to the board runs out this year, stated that he felt he would not devote the necessary time to the board, and said that he would not seek re-appointment. Dr. McDonald asked Mr. Campbell to be re-elected to the matter, and report his decision at the annual meeting of the board which will be held on January 6th.

Inflation—Here and Abroad

The average Canadian will not be surprised to learn that the dollar he saved in 1948 was worth only 78 cents last year. Depreciation of money at this rate certainly imposes a heavy penalty on thrift, but the Canadian is luckier than the residents of many countries. If he was a Bolivian, for instance, and had saved the equivalent of a dollar in 1948, last year it would have brought him just twelve minutes' time on a parking meter, its value having dropped to one cent.

A table prepared by the First National City Bank of New York, covering the monetary depreciation in 35 different countries, shows that this has varied between Portugal's .6 per cent annual rate for the ten years from 1948 to 1959 to Bolivia's 37.5 per cent. Canada's rate of depreciation was 2.5 per cent, compounded. As with most countries, our record is better for the past five years than for the previous five. Between 1948 and 1953 the value of our money fell 3.4 per cent annually; during the five years from 1953 to 1958 the decline was slowed to 1.6 per cent annually.

The United States has a slightly better record, its dollar falling by 1.8 per cent a year during the ten years and being worth 83 cents in 1958. If the 1948 value is taken as 100 cents. The United Kingdom's pound has taken a severe beating, being worth only 65 per cent of its 1948 value, with an annual depreciation rate of 4.3 per cent. But the pound is a comparatively stable currency compared with the currencies of many South American countries, Uruguay, Brazil, Argentina, Chili. Paraguay and Bolivia all seeing the value of their currency more than halved in a decade.

Inflation, it is evident, is a world-wide problem. Even Portugal, with the best record in the world, saw its currency depreciated by 6 per cent in a decade.

Simple Solution

Not so long ago, having been nudged by an interested citizen, we applied ourselves with considerable enthusiasm to damning with the very faintest of praise the establishment of four-way-stop red blinker lights at the intersections of Bleecker Avenue and Bridge Street and Bleecker Avenue and Victoria Avenue.

That such stops slow traffic and reduce the hazard of serious accidents nobody can deny. That the price paid in confusion and the possibility of a rash of dented fenders and tempers is not unreasonably high appeared to us difficult to prove.

Until last week.

Then blossomed the solution—like all brilliant ideas amazing in its simplicity.

Now, at each of the two intersections, there are four signs. They say "Four-Way Stop." Just that, and nothing more.

Our compliments to Ald. Robert Temple, the chairman of the traffic committee, and his colleagues, and the back of our hand to ourselves for not having thought up that simple solution when we wrote the original editorial.

There Is a Remedy

Recently John Allan May, the London correspondent of the Christian Science Monitor, spent nearly two hours at London airport because his plane for Belgium was delayed by mechanical trouble.

This led Mr. May to suggest that something should be done to make airport bus trips and airport delays enjoyable. He suggested bus trips to nearby points of interest, country scenes flashed on screens fitted over the windows of airport buses, and the sculpping of buses with the record players or television. Airport waiting rooms could be used as art galleries, lecture halls or theatres.

"Mr. May's ideas are reasonable ones," says the Brockville Recorder and Times. "But think of the frustration of hearing one's flight called when the television film is reaching an exciting climax or one is trying to unravel the meaning behind some canvas by Picasso!"

We sympathize with the concern of our two distinguished contemporaries and their interest in rescuing air travellers from boredom. There is, though, an amazing little invention which solves all these problems. It is called a book.

The Mighty Fortress

New York Herald-Tribune

When Bishop Otto Dibelius sobriquet the "pulpit" of East Berlin's Marienkirche, in defiance of the orders from the Communist authorities of that divided city, his act, touched off far-flung echoes of controversy. It took place, for one thing, on Reformation Sunday, when many Protestant churches commemorate the posting of the 95 theses by Martin Luther. And it brought to mind the leadership of Bishop Dibelius in Germany's that great act of passive resistance when Hitler attempted to put Nazi domination of Vatican Quisling. But it symbolized a dilemma that is not Lutheran alone, nor Protestant alone, nor Christian alone, in the face of the Communist threat.

For Cardinal Mindszenty, in Hungary, and the American Ambassador in Budapest, and the Dalai Lama, self-exiled in India, have faced the same problem that confronted Bishop Dibelius when summoned to East Berlin's City Hall, and told of communism's displeasure.

The Reds are not shooting bishops, cardinals, chief rabbis or high lamas out of hand, any more than other ruthless they may be with the lower ranks of the clergy. Their methods are once more subtle and more sinister than in the past. Knowing that not even in the Soviet Union have they been able to abolish God, they prefer to try to tame His ministers to their purposes if they can.

The outright persecution of religion by the Communists has diminished in intensity — or at least has changed its methods. But the challenge remains, and will almost certainly continue to do so, whatever political accommodations may be achieved between East and West. The "mighty fortress" of which Luther wrote in his great hymn is still ever possible, for the human defenders need all their courage and wisdom in East this time of trial.

Space Suit for Satchmo?

RSC London Letter

How much energy does it take to blow a trumpet? It depends, of course, on the broadcasting in the BBC Overseas Service programme "Inside Information," how the trumpeter plays where and for how long.

"It is a matter of having the instrument the right way," said British jazz trumpeter Humphrey Lyttelton. "If you blow the instrument the wrong way from your lungs, and presumably your stomach muscles, it will take a lot of right way and keep in practice, you won't have any trouble.

"When the muscles in your lips start getting tired, that's when you begin to strain, making up for the weakness in your lips by blowing harder. The answer is to go to the proposed cellars," he said, could be rather tiring.

On the subject of the danger of dizziness or blackout, caused by high pressure in the chest lowering the supply of the blood to the brain, when the trumpeter holds a loud, high note for several bars, the announcer of the program gave some facts from a report by E. P. Sharpey-Schafer of St. Thomas' Hospital, London, and Mr. Paulton of the University of California, who recently set out to measure the pressure produced in the lungs of trumpeters and other wind instruments.

"The two investigators reported, he said, that the professional trumpet player hitting high D, for instance, produces about 200 millimetres of mercury, a pressure of a little more than three pounds per square inch. Neither of the two non-professionals could produce more than 70 or 80 millimetres.

The oboist achieved only 60 millimetres during loud, high notes on his own instrument—considerable noise, but the pressure required even longer pressures.

• • •

"Sharpey-Schafer and Paulton now note that the leading orchestras case the strain on the first trumpeter by employing an assistant or deputy who can take over during long, difficult passages such as are frequent in the music of Richard Wagner.

"In theory, orchestra designing the economics could dispense with the mate by having the trumpeter lie supine on the floor, thereby increasing the blood supply to his brain. He would be equally effective, the two investigators state, to dress the trumpeter in a flesh - coloured pilot's pressure suit which could be surreptitiously inflated by a switch on the conductor's desk at appropriate points in the score."

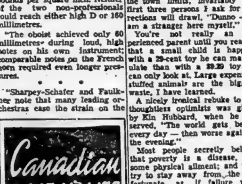
Strictly Personal

How to Tell An Experienced Parent

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Purely Personal Prejudices:

Ten descriptive words about persons that no good professional critic would ever use, because they are invariably the signs of the amateur: tall, tanned-winner, sociable, tycoon, action, tyke, highbrow, bone-shaker, bleeding heart, lowbrow, and terrific.

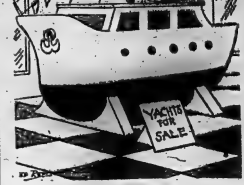


Although a sleepy little town may look as if none of its inhabitants has ever ventured out of its own limits, invariably the first three persons I ask for directions will confess: "I'm afraid I am a stranger here myself."

You're never really an experienced parent until you realize that a small child is happier with a 29-cent toy than with one that costs $9.98 but which he has to be careful with. Store-bought, stuffed animals are the biggest waste, I have learned.

A nicely fractical rebuke to the thoughtless optimists was given by Mr. Hubcord, when he observed, "The world gets better every day — then worse again in the evening."

Most people secretly believe that poverty is a cure-all for some physical ailment; and they try to stay away from the symptoms, which they were "catching."



"Semi-classical" music is for people who are ashamed to enjoy popular music, and too shallow to take an interest in serious music. And, like most hybrids, "semi-classical" music has the worst elements of both: the cheapness of popular music with out its vitality; and the pretentiousness of serious music, without its depth. (Copr., 1958, Post) This is nonsense, Mr. Harris. The difference between the moralist and the sociologist is that the moralist insists that love of money is the root of evil, and the sociologist suggests that lack of money is the root of evil; but each has hold of half the truth.

SUMMERSIDE, P.E.I.

The name Summerside has an interesting origin. The land in which the town is located was acquired by a Daniel Green and was known as the Green or Green's Shore. The story is that Colonel Compton, who lived on the north side of this narrow neck of land, came over the hill one March day and was struck by the strength of the sun on the southern side. Meeting Joseph Green (son of Daniel) he exclaimed: "Why, you are on the summer side here."

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

Extending their efforts as the need arises, the I.O.D.E. Belleville Chapter will hold a patriotic band concert and tableau at the Capitol Theatre on Sunday evening from which all voluntary contributions will be used entirely for the war work projects of the Chapter. Mrs. Belleville, Municipal Band under the direction of Lieut. Fred Colonso, and local talent supplied by Thomas Hyland, Jr., and Mr. Gu. Wilhlm. R. L. Arnott, K.C., M.P.P., will act as chairman of the evening, while the Capitol Theatre and its entire staff has been donating free of its services for this much needed charity work.

His Excellency, the Governor-General, Lord Tweedsmuir, opened the Toronto Y.M.C.A. Red Triangle Drive and Building at the Canadian National Exhibition Grounds recently. The Governor General paid high tribute to the work of the Y.M.C.A. and declared that he had been a member since the days when he had attended a Y.M.C.A. church in Glasgow. "I saw a great deal of his work in the last war," Lord Tweedsmuir stated, "and I cannot speak too highly of his work among the enlisted men. It is one of the civilizing elements in war time."

Said by fishermen to be the largest in years, lifts of shore fishermen from the northern parts of Prince Edward County have been producing the largest quantities of this variety of lakefood during the past few weeks. Heavy catches of herring are being hauled into nets by the fishermen. Prices hovered around the 5c per pound mark ranging between two and two and one-half cents per pound.

Capacity Crowd at Debating Club Hears Civic Candidates Appeal for Votes on Monday

The Wharf Street Debating Club held a capacity crowd last night and many latecomers found they had to turn away because there was no room. Debate and ballyhoo were at their usual high level with cheers and catcalls dished out at frequent intervals, sometimes liberally sounded conservatively.

One thing was apparent however as the various speakers had their say, at least from those who cared to express their opinion or invited questions, aside from the usual solicitation of votes. People are looking forward to a better Belleville in spite of what has transpired over the past few months. Various tyros and experts in the political municipal scene expressed their confidence in the future for this city and commended the good works which had been achieved by council over the past few years.

The rise of speakers went along quite smoothly under the capable chairmanship of Eddie George. With their usual courtesy the members allowed first visit to the latter's friend Ponton led off the session and stated that the aldermen elect for Foster Ward and requested the votes of those present in the support on that day. Upon being questioned as to the problem of how he would retain power of property or a "green belt," she quickly answered "well, I can get."

Mrs. Vera Risto spoke next and solicited the support of the voters present at the polls. Chairman George then called upon the former mayor, Gerald R. Hyde, for a few words. Mayor Hyde expressed his appreciation at the opportunity but suggested that the present council must be as anxious as he to get down to business and "hear the opinions of the city."

Ross Bailey, a former member of council in the Ward 3 township, then asked those present to support him at the polls.

Mayor Harlow then spoke, stating that he would do "the best I could" if elected. Numerous humorous remarks were thrust in his direction as he parried these quite nicely with equal good humor.

HIRE GOOD OFFICIALS

Ben Corke then explained that he desired to be elected so that he might do his part to make Belleville "a better city for the children" and to see to it that good capable men are hired to fill the various positions vacant in the city administration. Arthur Cole stated that he would appreciate the voters' support.

Robert Dawson said that his main interest was to "look after the older people — people with small incomes" and said that he felt "this has not been considered by council for the past 15 years." He promised to "dig out (the bad stuff) if elected."

John Deacon, then mounted the soapbox to request support at the polls on Monday. Chairman George then allowed Geo. Forsham, a 30-year member of the Club, to speak. Mr. Forsham stated that despite having to the contrary he felt that the Pinnacle Street recreation health centre was a very good buy even at $29,000 after having a good look at the building. He also stated that he felt Mayor Hyde had done splendid work for the city and that he should go further in politics.

Alderman Leslie Digby stated that he felt his record was "unblemished" and looked to the voters to confirm this.

Alderman Waller Elliott said that he had had an interesting year of council experience and that "the planes in his head as it appears" according to the latest figures available. He also felt that the city "may not have any illegal borrowing if everything come in." Mr. Elliott felt that there should be a good co-ordinator for city affairs and that he was in a position to make a good contribution to the city in 1960. He replied in the affirmative when questioned as to whether his business responsibilities would be a handicap. Alderman Elliott pointed out that with seven million dollars worth of building licensed in the city this year there were "a lot of people (who) have faith in Belleville."

WOULD HAVE TO PAY

Alderman Jack Ellis gave voice next and stated that he would like to "try once more" on council as he had "learned a lot" on this year's council. Upon questioning he stated that as far as he could see the annexed areas would have to pay rates as well as taxes and there was "no way of getting out of it".

A number of lady candidates ably filled the platform with Mrs. Ferrel Detaling Club as a democratic and free institution is recognized for over 100 years in city limits as various heads of state and important personages Canadian political life and their congratulations and valuable words of advice. The invitation of some significance were especially noted. One was for the club executive to attend the forthcoming summit conferences and the other was to combine the positions of city manager and dog catcher.

Alderman Ettie McCabe sent a letter expressing her regret at being unable to attend and requested the support of those present in her try for re-election.

The professional men on the city council have done a great job, was the feeling expressed by candidate Ernest Gebo, adding that he felt there should be, however, some working men on council in order to give it better balance. He requested the opportunity of a chance to give them representation."

Eugene Harrison asked for the support of those present and the citizens of the community to turn out a big vote on Monday.

James Hunter, in his first try for council, stated that he was running on a labor ticket as he felt it was time for labor to have representation on council and that labor "owes it to the citizens and to union members to run for council and have a voice on council."

WILLING TO TRY

Alderman Jack Ireland stated that he "comes with more experience than usually offers in a supermarket candidate and asked for the support of the citizens.

William Jarvah stated that he had offered his services as he was willing to try to help a little."

Frank Lang announced that this was his first attempt at a civic election and he had no platform to offer because he felt that no one alderman could ever hope to implement any platform by himself. Mr. Lang stated that he felt the city's deficit was going to be between $300 and 400 thousand dollars and hoped that people with a small income would be let off easily and promised to "do his best" if elected.

Lorne McDougall asked those present to support him at the polls and said that he felt there were a lot of good candidates in the field.

Doug Moxam, a former alderman, stated that "it's been a bad year," but he was not going to raise the rent of his tenants. Questioned on his previous performance on city council, Mr. Moxam said that he had never missed one regular meeting of council during his four previous years of service.

Leslie Reid, school principal, said there has been a "lot of trouble this year. Belleville's reputation has not been enhanced." Mr. Reid cautioned those present against indulging in an "orgy of criticism" but to work co-operatively towards building up the community. Stating that he is "definitely interested in government," Mr. Reid stated that he would "make an effort to fill a position on council" and does not intend to neglect his present duties. He added that "one-third of our population is involved in everyday education . . . feel these people should be represented." He also stated that he was for the improvement and support of the community and of Belleville and in increasing its calibre for playing the game for the game's sake. A stout round of applause followed his words.

LOVE TO GET IN

Joseph Roth declared that he could "stand with anybody who has a constructive idea" and pointed out that the experience he has had in building up his own business would be of use on council. He also said that he would "love to get in — to serve the city."

Carl Pohl said that he felt he could put more weight into the work of council than any other candidate and would do all he could if elected.

It was suggested that perhaps Mr. Roluf might bring a bit of life into the city's affairs.

Alderman Robert Temple advocated the return of the committee system in city council with a councilman responsible for the operation of each of the various city departments and a senior city official to be co-ordinate activities and provide continuity. Upon questioning, Mr. Temple stated that he felt a bus service was definitely required and the enlarged city and although he did not favor the city owning and operating a bus line felt that the city should keep a bus service in operation.

Former alderman Donald Wallen then spoke, stating that he was the "only one to come out of the investigation with clean hands." Mr. Whalen asked the support of the electorate and to "get rid of politicians in city hall."

John Weese, Public Utilities Commissioner up for re-election, told of his five years' experience on the local commission and of his realization of the importance of an efficiently run commission in the interests of the public. He pointed out that local rates have been kept low, that Belleville has the lowest hydro rate of any Ontario municipality and is one of the five lowest areas in Canada. He requested the confidence of the voters at the polls on Monday.

Fred Beehy, the other candidate for Public Utilities Commission, said his experience at Northern Electric would be of help in the P.U.C.

SHOULD HAVE CHANCE, CLAIM

He said that although he felt the present commission was doing a good job a change was as good as a rest."

Agnes Ritchie was the only candidate present for election to the Public School Board. He mentioned his four years of experience in this position and stated that the inquiry was not caught up with any of the school board members.

Michael Lynch, a Separate School Trustee candidate, spoke of the many innovations and improvements in the various extra-curricular schools and of the building of a new school during the four years he has served as a trustee and as chairman of school management.

Maurice Callaghan, candidate for Separate School Trustee, spoke of the 30 years of service he had rendered the city, in requesting the support of the voters.

Mr. Callaghan said that the current "city's trouble is its own fault" and felt that those running for re-election should not receive the support of the people as they would probably "cover up" the prevailing happenings and mistakes in re-elected." He also said that there were presently some seven men who were not residents in this city on the public works payroll and felt that this situation should not be tolerated.

William VanTassel, recreation commission chairman, expressed his indignation that people who had little or no idea as to what

New Auditor to Be Selected By Hastings County Council

Hastings county council will take action today on the appointment of a new firm of auditors to succeed John D. Lewars whose municipal auditing licence was revoked by the Ontario Government following the initial inquiry into Belleville's finances.

Mr. Lewars, who formed the cancellation of his municipal auditing licence as "unexpected and unjustified" said the cancellation had caused "considerable disruption in my municipal audits were uncompleted, and suggested the names of a Toronto firm which had offered to take over his municipal accounts.

He said the Toronto firm, Fred Page Higgins and Company, would take over his accounts and his wife (Mr. Lewars') personnel to do the work. This would result in no duplication of services; neither would there be duplication of audit fees.

Mr. Lewars said the offer of the Toronto firm had been approved by Hon. W. K. Warrender, Ontario Minister of Municipal Affairs.

Mr. Lewars noted that if the offer was accepted by the county and his own municipal auditing licence is later reinstated, the Toronto firm would immediately resign as county auditors.

GAS FOR HEATING

Max Mawson, chairman of the count finance committee, told council that it had been decided gas for heating at the new county court house instead of coal.

He said the estimate of an independent engineer was $3,000 more in favor of gas and he said would result from the use of gas compared with oil, while the installation would be about $3,000 less.

In a question from Deloro Reeve C. R. Whittemore, Warden of the city the degree of gas he could be readily converted to oil if necessary.

The agricultural committee report was read by committee chairman Harry Rollins, deputy-reeve of Thurlow township. He recommended the investigation of the Hastings county plowman's association, which will today be studied by council.

The committee, to make arrangements for the 1960 provincial Plowing Match in the Belleville area, consists of: chairman, Dr. J. Russell Scott; Harry Pound, vice-chairman; Ross Bleeckers, secretary; Sidney McDonald, secretary; Norway Maracle, Melvin Hill, J. A. McArthur, Phil Flagler, T. A. Wrightmeyer and Haggith Reeve Willmott Rose, Frankford, read the publicity committee report, noting the highlight of the year was the trip of county councillors to Cornwall via St. Lawrence Seaway.

CONTINUE PRESENT SYSTEM

Council agreed to continue the present admittance procedure for patients at the county home, whereby patients are approved by the township reeves.

The Department of Welfare is asking that the entire county home board pass on patients before admission, but councillors felt the added expense of getting the entire committee together was unwarranted.

Reeve Whittemore said council trusted that reeves had exercised discretion in only legitimate cases for admittance to the home.

Reeve Charles Long of Tyendinaga, the latest reeve appointed by the entire board was from the department. He said such procedure would prevent emergency cases being admitted.

"There would still be provisions for temporary admissions, but formal approval could come later," he said.

KING BALDWIN CHRISTMAS OBSERVANCE

A touch of old world hospitality will be in evidence on Sunday afternoon, December 6, at the Belleville Masonic Temple. The occasion will be the annual Christmas observance scheduled upon the Knights Templars of Canada. King Baldwin Preceptory will be the host organization.

The special speaker is to be Bro. The Rev. J. D. McLoud of Marmora, and the soloist Mrs. Earl Davy, well-known soprano.

All Freemasons, particularly Knights, with their ladies are cordially invited to attend this service which will commence at 3 p.m. A brief social period will follow the service.

Urges Rural Municipalities Join in Winter Work Plan

The need for participation by rural municipalities in the winter works program of the National Employment Service was emphasized to Hastings county councillors Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Cecil Hiuser, manager of the Belleville employment office, told councillors that his office was not seeking jobs which did not exist but was asking only that jobs be spread over the full 12 months.

Experience had proven that even construction work can be carried on during the colder winter months at cost not much greater than during the summer. Also general repairs and renovations can be carried on.

JOBS EMPLOYEES

Mr. Hiuser listed the various projects which may be subsidized by the government under the winter works program and noted that last winter some 40,000 man had been employed at least part of the winter through this municipal works program.

"Unemployment is a problem in Canada during the winter months," Mr. Hiuser said, "but it should not be a problem."

He said first it must be recognized there was a problem, then planning should be done and following that action should be taken to do something about it. This was exactly what his department was attempting to do in its winter works program.

Mr. Hiuser said the current local employment situation was about the same as last year, and that if the same pattern as last year was followed it would get worse as the season progressed.

As of November 1st there was a total of 1,338 registered unemployed in Belleville and is compared with 1617 at the same time last year. This was a decrease of about 6 per cent.

However, at the end of December last year the unemployed had jumped to 2,300 and was at a high of 2,600 in February. Mr. Hiuser expected the same pattern to repeat itself this year unless jobs were provided through the municipal winter works program.

There followed a general discussion on unemployment benefits in which several of the councillors took part.

St. Andrew's Devotional Held In Kingston

The St. Andrew's Day devotional of the Ontario Diocesan Woman's Auxiliary was held in St. James' Church, Kingston, on November 30th.

A communion service was held at 11 a.m. with Archdeacon D. C. Hunt preaching the sermon. In his sermon Archdeacon Hunt stressed the fact that St. Andrew was a man of great humility; but at the same time, endowed with the strength to reach his spiritual goal. He stated all to emulate him as life means very little if only material things are sweet upon.

In the afternoon a meeting was held in St. Mary's Hall with the president, Mrs. W. F. H. Mitchell, presiding. A good representation from various parts of the diocese attended.

GUEST SPEAKER

Mrs. D. C. Hunt introduced the speaker, the Rev. Roland Odeney, missionary from Jerusalem. Mr. Odeney holds the distinction of having been ordained by the Archbishop of Canterbury. Mrs. Odeney is a graduate of Queen's University School of Nursing.

Mr. Odeney used as his theme "A Sound Mind and a Healthy Body." He told of the amazing growth in Israel since World War II. The population has greatly increased, necessitating the building of houses and factories. The children are healthy, though the older generation does not all enjoy good health, due to their dreadful sufferings in the concentration camps. The young people are idealists, working hard for the future.

The first Anglican Bishop to go to Jerusalem at the institution of the Greek Patriarch, was in 1840, and the Anglican church has continued his work to the present day.

The Church of Scotland and the Southern Baptists from the U.S.A. have missions in the Middle East and work in close conjunction with the Anglicans.

Mr. Odeney asked everyone to pray for this great work, helping in a small way to lessen the tension in that part of the world.

Mrs. R. C. Earl of Sharbot Lake, thanked Mr. Odeney.

Mrs. Mitchell introduced Mrs. Findlater, new corresponding secretary who is replacing the late Miss Edna Dewson.

The ladies of St. James' served afternoon tea at the close of the meeting.

Tabernacle United Church Holds Attractive Christmas Tea, Bazaar

One of the finest late autumn tea and bazaars was held yesterday afternoon by Tabernacle United Church in the newly renovated Sunday School class rooms and auditorium. The pastor, the Rev. James C. Bastedo, B.A., B.D. pastor, complimented the ladies for the splendid work they had accomplished during the year and the fine spirit in which all had contributed to the welfare of the church. After a prayer he declared the bazaar open for business.

A lovely solo was rendered by Mrs. Douglas Starr, who sang, "Bless This House."

The guests were received by Mrs. C. Eastcott, pastor's wife, and Mrs. D. Embury, convenor of the tea and bazaar; Mrs. T. E. Kerr and the Rev. Elinor H. Leard, assistant pastor.

ATTRACTIVE TEA ROOMS

The tea room was most attractively adorned for the occasion with evergreen trees standing sentinel at the entrance and placed at pleasing intervals were the little grey quartet tables, each covered with a white cloth centred by a tall, silvered candle rising from a nest of green, accented by tiny crimson and green globes.

PRESIDING

Those presiding over the silver tea services were Mrs. Greenleaf and Mrs. Kerr; Mrs. Leard and Miss Jean Miller (substituting for Miss Debbie Smith); Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. Lockyer; Mrs. C. Eastcott and Mrs. Ashley.

Beginning, Rita Cornish, Edytha Stanton, Doris Boldrick, Barbara Boyes, Gwen May Marion Salisbury. In the kitchen, Beatrice Hudleston, Betty Price, Clara Lathangue, Gladys Robinson, Mildred McClelland, Isobel Goodfellow, Margaret Standsfield.

Those who served included: Dorothy McLean, Berle McAllister, Carol Reid, Doris Poulette, Muriel Andrews, Jessie Manly, L. Wiley, Grace Williamson, Betty Lord, Mabel Whiting, Debbie Smith, Audrey Hubbs, Mrs. Haley, McLaughlin, Betty Dickson and Lillian Hall.

Tea room hostesses were Gwen May, Marion Salisbury, Edythe Stanton, and Kit Cornish.

The treasurer for the afternoon was Jo Douglas.

MEN'S BOOTH

As every department of the church is represented in this annual tea and bazaar, the men do their part also, and displayed wooden bookends, stuffed toys, cups and saucers, baskets of polished hardwood, trays, boxes of Spanish onions, cartons of fresh eggs, jars of jam, jelly and relish, extra striped shirts in blue and white, fine knit socks, pinkushions, children's aprons, doll's cradle, pictures in needle point, and lots of fancy work were conversed by Mr. E. Taylor and his assistants.

The apron occupied an "L" shaped counter which was bespangled with all styles, materials, and colors, while some overflowed to the walls behind. There was an apron for every need from the heavy duty one to the afternoon company one. Some in white organdy with colorful trim and ties; one in white organdy was decorated with three red hearts; another had an oven mitt and hot-pad-holder attached; while others were in half and allover styles, gay and pretty. In charge of these were Mrs. Paul and Mrs. May, assisted by Mrs. Hogle, Mrs. Vandervoort, Osler, Mrs. Woods, Mrs. F. Henry, Miss Mingay and Mrs. Lambridge.

LOVELY LINENS

The fancy linens conveyed by Mrs. J. Kingston and Mrs. F. Shane and their assistants were most attractive with the fine embroidered and lace-edged pillow slips; dainty doilies, fancy handkerchiefs, cushion tops; tiny Cinderella slippers, gossi towels in yellow, mauve and pink; dish cloths, both fancy and plain.

The children's wear booth displayed cozy warm pyjama suits in yellow and pastel shades; halt mitts in many colors; little baby sacques, bonnets, and sweaters, and ornate Christmas stockings. These were in charge of Mrs. T. Orr and Mrs. Oliver, while the fine laces, caps of the novelties, which displayed all manner of articles: books, jewellery, vases, cups and saucers, needle-point samplers; salts and peppers, china compot dishes, dolls' clothes, bed socks, African violets, artificial roses, candles, Christmas cards and ornaments. HI-O

The HI-C in charge of Ralph Dougherty and Miss Margaret Mosier was replete with Christmas candles, the many strings of golden globes and metallic ornaments.

The candy booth was a picture with its dainty packages of candies in most attractive designs and kinds including maple creams; boxes of mixed candies; coconut balls; sugared goodies; vanilla creams; fudge and pink; pink balls of popcorn; fondant creams; chocolates fudges, and many delicious kinds decorated in colors, and individually wrapped, a delicious collection of sweeties, Mrs. F. Watson and Mrs. F. MacLean were in charge of these.

BOUNTIFUL REFRESHMENTS

The homemaking room was filled with customers, three and four deep around the outstanding display of the culinary art. Mrs. L. Wannamaker and Mrs. H. Brodie, the convenors, and their numerous assistants were busily employed packaging delicious breads and delectable articles. There were lemon, apple, mincemeat, cherry, strawberry rhubarb, pumpkin and dainty tarts; mouth-watering cookies; chocolate and white loaf cakes; tempting coffee rolls with Christmas icings; relishes; plates of ham, salad, pickles; jams; canned fruits and canned vegetables; tea rolls; cake and sausage rolls, to mention a few.

NURSERY PRIVILEGES

For the convenience of the many mothers, a nursery under supervision, of Mrs. B. Stenson, was available for the wee tots where they might enjoy playing while mother received acquaintances with friends in the tea room.

A most attractive tea was brought to a close by Mrs. Embury and Mrs. E. Barlow, to Mrs. L. Andrews for the pretty decorations, and to all who participated in making this a most successful event.

Many Helping Hands Make Society Banquet Success

By GLADYS WARD

Many helping hands took part in making a festive occasion of the second annual banquet for the local branch of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society at Christ Church hall evening. The dinner was arranged by the Women's Auxiliary of CARS, with the co-operation of the Women's Auxiliary of the Hastings and Prince Edward Medical Society. The turkeys were provided by the Rotary Club, the Lions' Club, and the Hastings and P. E. Medical Association. The tables were gay with Christmas tablecloths, red candles and a centre piece of silvered evergreens. An attractive dinner was served and enjoyed by all those present.

The chairman, Mrs. Jean Barclay, introduced the guests at the head table, Miss Bessie Rose, representative of the local branch; Miss Phyllis Carleton, Trenton, president of the branch in the area; Mr. W. A. Brenson, regional director; Mr. E. David; Mr. J. B. Cavanagh; Mrs. Georgia Smith; Mrs. John Haig; Mrs. M. C. Ward; Mrs. R. M. Deadman; and Miss Heather Scott.

Mrs. David welcomed guests and expressed her pleasure that so many had been able to come, especially those from out of town who were present from Stirling, Demorestville, Trenton, Shannonville, Wellington and Wallbridge.

Mrs. Georgia Smith, President of the local Soroptimist clubs presented the branch with a glide-about chair, which will be in addition to the loan cupboard and may be loaned along with the other equipment to any one who is served by the mobile unit. Mrs. Smith expressed the hope that the chair would help to make things easier for someone. The gift was accepted by Miss Bessie Rose, who thanked the Soroptimists for their generosity.

Miss Heather Scott and her brother, Alistair Scott, entertained with the Highland fling, dressed in Scottish tartans. Miss Scott performed the intricate steps of the sword dance for a solo number, both danced the difficult steps of the dance with the Gaelic name of Seann Truibhais. Both dancers are gold medallists and gave fine performances.

Mrs. Arnold Downes, soprano soloist, presented two vocal numbers, "I Wonder as I Wander" and "Far is It to Bethlehem?" Mrs. F. M. Hubbs accompanied the vocalist at the piano.

Everyone joined in the singing of favorite Christmas carols, after which the chairman thanked the ladies who had prepared and served the dinner and Archdeacon J. R. Creegan for the use of hall. After wishing everyone a Merry Christmas, the happy evening was brought to a close.

QUESTION BOX

Question: A young man writes in to say that he has attended several dances recently and expects to go to several more during the coming Christmas holidays. He says he has been surprised at the football tactics employed when other young men "cut in." Not only do they push and shove the man they wish to replace, but often, when cut in on themselves, will go to the other end of the dance floor and cut right back. He feels that this is really overdoing it.

Answer: And right he is! A man dancing with the girl he wishes to cut in on is the proper approach. It is extremely bad taste to rush to the end of the dance floor and promptly cut back in again. The young lady should be given a chance to go around the room with her new partner at least twice before cutting in again.

Question: If you are a guest at a luncheon that is being given for some charity, and you win a door prize, should you give it to your hostess? Or, since she has paid for the ticket with which the door prize was won, is it she that she should receive it.

Answer: Undoubtedly not. You would only succeed in embarrassing her, should you make the offer that she has the prize. Accept it graciously as your just due. Following the same idea, should the hostess herself have a lucky ticket, she should keep the prize and not try to give it to one of her guests. This really comes under the heading of a harmless game of chance, and winner should take all!

Question: Is it proper to pour water from your drinking glass over your fingertips when no fingerbowl is supplied in a restaurant? Of course, one has to use a plate or cup and saucer to catch the water, and it is messy, but sometimes necessary if your hands are sticky.

Answer: Never, but never, use this method when faced with this dilemma! Ask the waiter for a fingerbowl. If none is forthcoming, take your sticky hands to the washroom and bathe them.

Question: When writing a letter to someone who has recently become a widow, is her maiden name used and the first names of her late husband dropped? Of course her maiden name would be followed by her married surname.

Answer: She would be addressed in exactly the same manner as when her husband was alive, "Mrs. James Oliver Doe." Never as "Mrs. Mary Brown Doe." Only in the case of a divorce would the latter form be followed.

Two Novel Meats For Buffet or Smorgasborg

by Mary Moore

More requests than usual at this time of year are for meat dishes for Christmas parties that are not Christmas dinners.

I like the delicatessen trend for unusual cheese and dishes that may be served buffet or Smorgasbord style for as many as twenty-five people often.

THURSDAY

Broiled Herb Lamb Chops; Vegetable Marrow or Parsnips; Green Peas; Tossed Green Salad with Garlic Dressing; Apples Evangeline (see Tuesday) Tea.

SUNDAY

Glazed Pork Loin Roll with Spiced Crabapples (see Thursday); Baked Squash with Orange (see Friday); Stewed Tomato with Onion; Creme Brulee with Mixed Fruits: Canned Figs, Pineapple Dice, Mandarin Oranges, Maraschino Cherries; Coffee.

Double or triple the amounts below if you are serving 30 or 36.

I have considered four major factors in selecting meat items for just such a party: glamorous appearance, novelty, cost and flavour.

Chicken Pie Savory is a recipe I gave here last April and it is still drawing raves through the mail and I'm going to repeat it for it fills all of those four requirements.

Glazed Pork Loin Roll is the second featured meat — and it's a dividend that the carver will bless his hostess for — no bone.

CHICKEN PIE SAVORY:

YIELDING:

Raw white meat from 3 chicken breasts or 1 lb. raw chicken meat from other parts of chicken or veal, 1-3 cup each chopped onion and celery, 1-3 cup butter, 1-3 cup flour, 1-2 cup whole wheat or white bread, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 cup evaporated milk, 1-2 teaspoon salt, shake of pepper, 1 chicken bouillon cube, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley. Top and bottom: Three egg yolks, 1 cup commercial sour cream (where sour cream is unavailable buttermilk may be used, but don't substitute unless you have to), 2-3 cup unsifted all-purpose flour, 1-3 teaspoon salt, 3 egg whites, 1 2-3 cups shredded old Cheddar cheese. Put raw chicken breast meat through medium knife of grinder. Follow in through with the onion and celery and follow them with the 1-3 slice of bread to clean the machine. Saute all in the butter, stirring, until meat is pearly set, immediately reduce heat and cook gently 15 minutes, stirring frequently. Add milk, 1-2 teaspoon salt and pepper and simmer 15 minutes longer covered. Add parsley and remove from heat. Beat together the egg yolks, sour cream, flour and 1-3 teaspoon salt until batter is smooth. Beat whites until stiff but not dry and fold in. Turn a little more than half of this batter into a well-buttered deep 9 or 10" pie plate. Sprinkle half of the cheese over it and bake 10 minutes at 400 deg. Fahr. Remove from oven and spread chicken mixture over evenly. Carefully pour remaining batter over and sprinkle that with remaining cheese. Return to oven and bake 20 minutes longer, or until golden and brownish. (If desired heat may be reduced to 350 deg. for final baking period.) Serve piping hot cut into 5 or 6 wedges, or like cold cut into 12 wedges.

GLAZED PORK LOIN ROLL:

Buy a 3 to 4-pound pork loin roll, asking the butcher to bone out and tie loin for you. Place roll in uncovered roasting pan and roast 45 to 50 minutes per pound in moderately slow oven, 325 deg. Fahr., until well done. A 3-pound roast will take about 2 1-2 hours to cook. Mix together 1-2 cup thick chili sauce and 1-4 cup corn syrup. Spread it over the cooked roast and return to 325 deg. Fahr. oven for an additional 15 minutes. Garnish with spiced crabapples.

TOMATO GLUT

GUERNSEY, Channel Islands (CP)—The glut of tomatoes with consequent poor prices in England has forced this island to halt export of all except the top grades. Tons are being dumped, fed to cattle or plowed in as fertilizer.

For your December entertaining remember that pork is an economical buy. Mary Moore gives you a recipe which glamorizes boned-out and tied pork loin. Your butcher will do this for you on request. It is easy to carve, there is no waste, and glazed, as Mrs. Moore suggests, it is a company dish par excellence.

Mother's Helper

AN IMPROVISED racing skate adds excitement to the games small boys play with tay cans. Cut the ends off two or more shoe box lids, tape the lids securely together in a line. Rest one end of the chain on a low stool or pile of blocks, start the car at the top. See whose car rolls farthest!

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Editor's Note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a woman's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Margo M. — My friends won't make up.

Ethel J. — Margo has procured Paula.

* * *

Margo M. — I am trying to negotiate a peace between two very dear friends of mine.

Ethel and Paula were very close because they have children of the same age. They used to babysit for one another and do many other little favors. One day their two boys got into a terrible fight and Ethel's son gave Paula's a severe cut which required stitches. In the excitement of the moment Paula grabbed Ethel's boy and twisted his arm, calling him a nasty brat.

Paula says she regrets this and is willing to let bygones be bygones, but Ethel won't make up. I feel she is making a big mistake to let this incident spoil a very nice friendship.

* * *

Ethel J. — I was terribly upset about what my son had done, but it was partly an accident, something that happened during the fight. Anyway, if their places has been reversed and my son had gotten cut, it would never have occurred to me to lay a hand on her boy.

I have always felt that Paula was jealous about my boy because he is not only bigger and stronger than hers, but smarter in school. Many times she had said to me that he is too aggressive. I know he is aggressive, but I don't feel this is a serious fault in an 8-year-old boy.

I believe Margo has pressured Paula into saying she'll make up. She isn't sincere.

* * *

The Council: The role of the peacemaker is seldom appreciated. All too often this well-meaning individual turns out to be the one who bears the brunt of the quarrel. If she wants to keep both her friends we would suggest that Margo step out of this situation.

When parents get involved in children's quarrels, there is usually more involved than meets the eye. The jealousy that Ethel suggests may be a factor. On the other hand, a factor in Ethel's refusal to make up may be resentment that her son was seriously at fault. She may have certain fears about his overaggressiveness and may wish to erase the memories from her mind.

When an adult uses physical violence on a child, it is rarely provoked by the incident that is used as an excuse. The provocation may really be a fit of adult nerves or a deep-seated hostility toward the child. We can't blame Ethel for being uneasy on this score, but we think she is wrong to nourish a grudge. In view of the fact that wrongs were committed on both sides, she should consider declaring a formal peace without renewing the old intimacy. Perhaps the intimacy and the sense of rivalry both persons shared in the past were a bit too far.

More important than peace between Ethel and Paula, however, is the need for Margo's disengagement from the affair. By involving herself she has given the whole thing undue importance and made the quarreling women dramatize their feelings to the fullest. If these feelings are kept simmering, they will eventually boil over on Margo, recognize that all that is new and simple affections; no show, no veneered attempt at impressing others! We need a spot on earth where the door is always open to us, where people can laugh with us, but also wipe our tears when we must cry. We need the warmth of people who have watched us grow up, who have suffered with us, and who have shared as no one else could.

And if we were wise, we would act now on our noblest impulses. For today is all we have. Some day, we, too, will be part of yesterday. Share your love now, while there is yet time!

"Lines on Life"

By Dr. Stuart E. Rosenberg

Nothing we do in life, no matter how vaunted, advantageous or socially courageous, can replace the need each of us has for someone who loves us and who cares. Ideals are indeed important, and in some respects, as human beings — a sense of being uniquely important because we are uniquely loved — ideals in themselves cannot satisfy our profound needs. It is all well and good to tell people who lack love or who have not known it, to lose themselves in their devotion to work or in their dedication to community welfare. Unfortunately, we are not so constructed. We still need people — not just ideas; human beings — not concepts alone, to satisfy our human requirements.

Despite all of the love we lavish upon the world, there is no substitute for the love we must share in our own homes. Jimmy Porter, in the play, "Look Back In Anger," condemns his wife for not sending flowers to the graveside of his friend's mother, because Jimmy Porter loved his friend's mother very deeply. But what he forgot was that no love for a friend's mother can really mean very much, if there is no deep love for your own wife. He was cruel to his wife in his own way, although surely he thought he loved her. But how could his wife love someone, whom he wanted her to love, when, in the first instance, he did not love her as she wanted him to love her? Our own homes are the laboratories of our lives. What we do there determines basically what we do when we leave home. That is why, despite all new inventions and modern designs, fads and fetishes, no one has yet invented, or will ever invent, a satisfying substitute for one's own family.

FAMILY LIFE BEST!

If you are fortunate enough to have a family, to have your loved ones with you and near you, do not let the opportunity slip through your fingers before it is too late. Unfortunately, some people have so taken their families for granted that they no longer enjoy best possible relations with their own relations. Brothers argue and refuse to speak. Sisters quarrel and go into tempestuous tantrums. Parents and children divide off because of some stupid financial question. And all of us go off seeking new heroes, new examples, new models and new friendships. Some day we wake up and

Wonderful Walker

The weather is perfect these days for wearing a smart and comfy walking suit, such as the number depicted here. Mobility and ease happen in this tweed suit with its large beaver collar. The long jacket has a lightweight but toasty warm wool lining, tapered sleeves and patch pockets. The skirt is cut for walking ease. Choose black and brown or black with white.

The eternal anecdotes and jokes concerning in-laws are too often more serious than comical. One wonders how we can expect to achieve respect in the eyes of our children when we do not accord it to our own parents by marriage. You are a mother — so is the mother of your husband or your wife! Some day they will be gone forever, and then all kinds of guilt feelings will assert themselves — feelings that you did not do what you could have done at the time when these things were possible. Some day when your beloved are gone forever, your own children will reflect in their attitudes toward you, the way in which you lived with their grandparents.

HOME IS A HAVEN

All the friends we have acquired, the neighbors we have known, the associates with whom we identify can never replace the need for family love. We need a home because we need a place where we can be just what we are, a place for may glitter but it may not last.

Mt. View W.I. Holds Banquet. Enjoys Slides

On the evening of November 30th the annual community banquet sponsored by the Women's Institute of Mt. View was held in the Mountain View Church parlors. There were around 75 who sat down to the well laden tables and after all the appetites had been satisfied, the president, Mrs. W. Barber, called the meeting to order and a program was presented.

Spoons were presented to the girls who had completed the garden club project, and Mrs. Clifford Barber, the county president, was presented with a cheque from the Institute for the full amount of Mountain View Institute's share of the scholarship fund.

Mrs. Simmons, (nee Kay Hopman), was introduced and showed films of the British Isles taken when she was there when she was president of 4-H Club of Ontario.

Mrs. Meadows commented during the showing of the films which proved interesting. She was presented with a gift from the Institute.

Lady Directors Hold Successful Cooking School

STIRLING— The lady directors of Stirling Agricultural Society sponsored a cooking school in the theatre on Wednesday evening and a large group of ladies attended this event.

The stage was set with cooking equipment and posters depicting the various products, and a large mirror in the centre which gave the audience a chance to view the various cooking procedures. Two pots of golden colored chrysanthemums were used for decoration.

Mrs. Arthur Fyear provided piano music as the guests were arriving. Members of the group assisted with various duties during the evening.

Mrs. Percy Utman, president of the ladies section in a brief address, and there were 20 directors in this group and they had organized a few months ago. She said she hoped the audience would learn a few new ideas in cooking. She then introduced Mrs. Maral Khoury and her assistant.

Mrs. Khoury is a qualified dietitian and a graduate of Macdonald College and McGill University where she majored in household science.

She spoke of the friendliness of the people of the village, and said her slogan is "Bake for the love of it".

She demonstrated several recipies which had been sent in by the top winners in the 1958 bakefest competition. The winners were from Ontario, Nova Scotia, Quebec and British Columbia.

The food that was prepared and baked included hazelnut cake, buns, tarts, pinwheels, wafers, mincemeat pie and good pastry.

Mrs. W. A. Hume, Campbellford, who organized the group had the honor of drawing for the lucky door prize, an automatic coffee percolater donated by the lady directors. It was won by Mrs. Marion Bell. Blankets were won by Mrs. Gerald Irvine and Mrs. Jack Sagger. Mrs. Irene Montgomery and Mrs. Bob Halton won the potted chrysanthemums.

Mrs. F. Wilson, president of District No. 3 spoke briefly, and presented Mrs. John Thompson with a scroll of appreciation for her untiring efforts during the past years to promote the ladies department of Stirling Agricultural Fair. The recipient expressed her thanks for the memento.

Among those who won shopping bags of groceries were: Mrs. Kenneth Mumby, Mrs. Mabel Williams, Mrs. Harold Baker, Mrs. Gilbert Finkle, Mrs. Douglas Marlin, Corbyville, Mrs. E. Woodcox, Mrs. Maurice Clancy, Miss Doris Sine, Mrs. Gerald Brooks, Mrs. E. Cooke, Mrs. B. Farrell, and Mrs. A. Denford.

The various food items were won by Marie Eggleton, Mrs. Grant Hubble, Mrs. Joe Black, Mrs. F. J. Wood, Mrs. Arthur Hazell, Mrs. Cooke, Mrs. Roy Brooks of Belleville, and Mrs. M. Fraser.

The cooking school was successful, and the lady directors of Stirling Agricultural Society are grateful for all the assistance they received.

Retarded Child Gets Good Care at Edmonton School

EDMONTON (CP) — The retarded child, unlike normal pupils, must be taught the obvious, says Mrs. Winifred M. Stewart.

She operates a school here for retarded children, and each of the teachers on the 14-member staff has special qualifications. Each may be a skilled handicraft teacher or a nurse, but all—including those who are certified teachers — must take a training period which includes a month of classroom observation.

Mrs. Stewart, principal and founder of the school, said all the teaching is done at first through games and the handling of objects. The children learn to recognize colors and numbers through association.

The teachers follow a circiculum guide prepared by staff members and approved by the minister of education and the superintendent of schools.

GRADUAL PROGRESS

Pupils who have acquired some degree of co-ordination advance into academic classes. They progress through stages in each grade, one step at a time, until some are capable of doing Grade 3 work. The academic students learn a little, barely, arithmetic problems and perpetrate correctness.

Retarded children are very affectionate and have a sense of humor, said Mrs. E. W. Cormack, a staff member. They are particularly responsive to music, and enjoy dancing and playing rhythm instruments.

In some cases it is discovered that children among the class of about 100 are capable of work at a higher level than their IQ tests first indicated.

Such children, who have been emotionally disturbed or perhaps merely withdrawn because of their handicap, can graduate to regular classes in the Edmonton public schools.

Speech therapy is available to the pupils but the teachers try to give the children a greater knowledge of words and recognition of similar phonetics, rather than correct speech.

Development of co-ordination is still the prime factor in the occupational therapy division. It is the task of the supervisor to provide directional therapy and see that they accomplish attractive articles of which they can be proud.

Students in the more advanced occupational therapy division are being trained to work under sheltered workshop conditions. They do leathercraft, needlework, art, toy-making and rug-making.

"The public has really been our greatest boon," said Mrs. Stewart, whose school has a waiting list of almost 150.

"They've supplied us with volunteer workers through such organizations as the Central Volunteer Bureau and the Junior League, and they've co-operated with us on all our money-raising projects."

WOMAN ARTIST

COWANSVILLE, Que. (CP)— An exhibition of paintings by Mrs. M. B. Sandison of Cowansville was officially opened by Renato Gantu Lara, Mexico's consul-general at Montreal. Mrs. Sandison studied earlier this year at the Allende Institute in San Miguel, Mexico.

BROWNIE TEA

DESERONTO — On Saturday afternoon the 1st Deseronto Brownie Pack entertained at a tea and sale at the Lions' Hall. This was the fund raising project of the Pack for the Headquarters building fund. In conjunction with the tea, the Brownies offered for sale some of their own handicraft work and homemade candy.

Mrs. R. H. Batt poured while the Brownies served. The response of the public was good and a nice profit was realized.

The youngsters had on display a table full of the articles to show the work done throughout the year. There were various knots and samples of braiding. In charge of the First Pack was Brown Owl Mrs. Dorothy Keech and Tawny Owls Mrs. Eleanor Schell and Florence Gonyou. Assisting at the tea were the Guide leaders and Mrs. Blanche Detlor and Mrs. M. Witkowski.

BOWLING

On Saturday night a bowling team composed of six firemen and their wives journeyed to Batawa in a return engagement with the Batawa Fire Department. The bowling for the men was dominated by the Batawa team while the Deseronto ladies defeated the Batawa ladies. After the games, the teams repaired to the recreation centre at Batawa where the local group was royally entertained. It is expected that the inter-town bowling will be resumed after Christmas.

Mr. Jelinecic of the High School staff was joined here last week by his wife and family. Arriving Friday night at 10.30 at Napanee were Mrs. Irene Jelinecic and their two daughters Dorothy and Vally. They left their former home at Nova Gorica, Yugoslavia, near Trieste on November 12, and after crossing on the S.S. "Saturnia" landed at Halifax and from there came by boat, train to Napanee.

FIVE EXECUTED

KHARTOUM, Sudan (Reuters) — Five leaders of an attempted coup last month were executed here early today. They had been found guilty of taking part in an abortive plot to overthrow the regime Nov. 19—the third such attempt in a year against the military government of Gen. Ibrahim Abboud. Chief of the executed plotters was Lt.-Col. Ali Hamid of an infantry school.

Understanding Among Ethnic Groups Yields Better Music

By JOHN YORSTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — Claude Champagne says better understanding among ethnic groups is producing better Canadian music and musicians

As vice-director of the Provincial Conservatory of Music and the Dramatic Arts he's in a position to know.

"You have French, English Jews, Irish and all the others working together," he said in an interview. "They are not producing French - Canadian music or English-Canadian music.

"It is Canadian music."

NOTED MUSICIAN

When the conservatory opened in 1942 Mr. Champagne was named vice-director on his reputation as a composer, teacher and pianist. The conservatory's director is Montreal - born Dr. Wilfrid Pelletier, a former Metropolitan Opera conductor who now lives in New York.

Mr. Champagne says the thinking of Quebec musicians has changed from amateur to professional in the last 10 years.

Under his guidance are 230 music students in Montreal and 226 in the conservatory's Quebec City branch.

"We give them all they need to be well trained in their profession," he said. "We are very strict with them and they soon discover whether they will remain or take up another profession."

The conservatory is operated by the Quebec government which also pays the tuition fees. Its policy is to teach European method and technique.

"The idea is that at the end, all these people will have the very best training and will be able to teach our people," says Mr. Champagne. "They will have a stradition from Europe which can be adapted to our mentality —to our way of life."

Mr. Champagne's compositions have been described as technically perfect, in the best tradition of Europe, with a smacking of Habitant flavor all their own.

"Claude Champagne is one of the first musicians in this country to be truly Canadian in the way that Tom Thompson and A. Y. Jackson are Canadian," says Thomas Archer, music critic of The Montreal Gazette.

"Champagne is not a prolific composer," says Mr. Archer. "He is too great and honest a craftsman for that. His major works run into fewer than two dozen, but each is in its own way is a masterpiece of its genre and likely to have lasting value in the future of creative art in Canada."

Probably his greatest work is Symphonie Canadienne written in 1944 after a holiday trip around Gaspe. But he rewrote it in 1945.

STUDIED IN PARIS

Mr. Champagne's first symphony was Hercule and Omphale written in 1921. It came to the attention of Russian composer Serge Rachmaninoff who suggested he study in Europe. A job as Canadian archivist in France and a Quebec government scholarship enables Mr. Champagne to spend seven years in Paris between 1923 and 1930.

"When I came back from Europe there was nothing here," he recalls. "There was practically no radio, no television and no conservatory except at McGill University.

"But see how we have progressed — 'est extraordinaire. Music at that time was a private affair, but now it has been opened wide."

Now 68, Mr. Champagne is former honorary president of the Canadian Arts Council, a group of 17 arts organizations that laid the foundations for the Canada Council. He is also active in numerous musical and cultural organizations.

He spends about nine hours a day in his office at the conservatory, but still finds time to compose. His newest work, "Allitude," is written for full orchestra and mixed chorus. It was inspired on a trip to the Rocky Mountains two years ago.

CANADIAN COMPOSER — Claude Champagne, 68-year-old vice-director of Montreal's Provincial Conservatory of Music and the Dramatic Arts, works on a composition in his home. Mr. Champagne, called one of Canada's first musicians by Thomas Archer, music critic of the Montreal Gazette, says Canadian composers are dropping ethnic backgrounds and producing distinctively Canadian music. Death Sentence on Boy of 14 Will Never Be Carried Out Says Justice Minister Fulton

GODERICH (CP)—A 14-year-old boy sits in a jail cell at this quiet Lake Huron community, under a sentence of death that never will be carried out.

It has been made abundantly clear, says Justice Minister Fulton, that Steben Murray Truscott will not suffer the hanging penalty imposed on him when he was convicted of murder in the rape and strangling death of a 12-year-old girl playmate.

Yet the sentence still stands. Only the hanging date has been changed—to Feb. 16 instead of Dec. 8 to allow his lawyer time to prepare an appeal.

The case has revived new comment on capital punishment in Canada, particularly involving young people, and this week reached the editorial page of The Guardian in Manchester.

The British newspaper said the Queen's failure to commute the sentence "outrages every human instinct."

QUOTES PM

It was this editorial that prompted Mr. Fulton's statement. He said Prime Minister Diefenbaker has made it clear the cabinet will consider the death sentence if such action becomes necessary.

But, he added, the cabinet has the intention of usurping the function of the courts which alone decide guilt or innocence. It will not announce a decision on commutation until the time has passed for an appeal, which could lead to a new trial or an acquittal.

Mr. Fulton referred to a statement by the prime minister Oct. 1 that no one so young had ever been hanged in Canada and that the cabinet had never allowed a hanging when there was a jury recommendation for mercy.

Such a recommendation was made when an Ontario Supreme Court jury Sept. 29 convicted the Truscott boy in the death of Lynn Harper.

LIVED AT RCAF BASE

Truscott and the girl both lived on the RCAF station at Clinton where their parents were stationed.

The girl's body, battered and nearly nude, was found June 9 in a deserted woodlot near the station by a 200-man search party. After Truscott's arrest, a move to have him tried in juvenile court failed and he subsequently went before the Supreme Court where a jury convicted him.

The 13-day trial was open to the public but was held without press, radio or television publicity in accordance with a section of the Criminal Code governing persons under 16.

TREATMENT DELAY

A two-month reprieve in the sentence was granted three years ago when lawyer John O'Driscoll told Chief Justice Dana Porter of Ontario Court of Appeal there had been a delay in transcribing the trial record needed for an appeal.

Available records in Ottawa indicate the youngest person hanged in Canada in relatively recent history was 18 - year - old Archibald McLean of New Westminster, B.C., who went to the gallows with two brothers and a fourth man in 1861 for shooting a policeman.

CHAPLIN EXPECTING

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP)—Charlie Chaplin's wife, Oona, entered Montchoisi clinic Wednesday in expectation of the seventh child, Chaplin is 70, his wife 34.

Two Deseronto district youths, Kenneth Claus and Jim Driver are shown being presented with the Hastings County trophy for being the winning team in a county secondary school competition held this year at Mohawk Farm. Making the presentation is Hastings county Warden J. N. Brown, while Dr. J. Russell Scott looks on.

Ralph Campbell Sees Tendency To Larger Farms

TORONTO (CP)—Prof. Ralph Campbell, head of the Ontario Agricultural College's economics department, said Wednesday there is a positive trend toward the development of larger farms.

He told the United Co-operative of Ontario that up to 1946 census figures showed little expansion in farms of 400 or more acres. But farms of 200-400 acres had increased in number while farms with less than 200 acres decreased.

"Size of a farm can't be measured in terms of acres," he said. "Output, now is more indicative of size."

The trend toward larger farms is a matter of efficiency, he said.

Some 844 delegates attended the meetings, which ended Wednesday.

Two Deseronto District Boys Win Trophy for Plowmanship

The time honored art of plowmanship was recognized at Hastings county council Wednesday morning as two Deseronto district youths, Kenneth Claus and James Driver, were presented with a county trophy for being tops in a county secondary school class at the Mohawk Farm of Belleville in 1961 and proved that the local site could not be compared for size, location and concentration.

He said the local site was far ahead of that in many other centres where the match had been held.

GREAT BIRDS

The albatrosses which fly long distances over the Pacific Ocean are big, web-footed birds with a seven-foot wingspread.

the match was not held at a more central point may have cut the number of entrants.

He and Dr. Scott both noted that this year was a start and hoped the competition would see more entrants in future years. In addition to the trophy, prize money is also offered for winners.

Dr. Scott reported briefly on preparations for the International Plowing match to be held north of Belleville in 1961 and noted that the local site could not be compared for size, location and concentration.

He said the local site was far ahead of that in many other centres where the match had been held.

Campaign On To Organize Non-Union Men

TORONTO (CP)—A campaign will be launched this month to organized non-union workers in Toronto's house and apartment building construction.

Officers of building trades unions met Wednesday to discuss plans for the organizing drive, to be directed by a committee representing international unions that have surveyed conditions in the field.

Unions represented at the meeting included Painters, Labourers, Bricklayers, Electricians, Sheet Metal Workers, Teamsters, Cadpenters, Lathers and Hoisting Engineers.

The union's complaint that work conditions and wages in house construction are far below those prevailing on union work and projects.

Signing of Pact to Keep Antarctic Continent Free Shows Breaks in Cold War

By KEN SMITH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

There is something ironic in the coming hope for a break in the cold war in the signing of a pact to keep the ice-bound Antarctic continent free from war for all time.

But many observers see such a possibility in the treaty, which has brought together the East and West blocs in an international agreement that has cut through many problems that have them deadlocked in other parts of the world.

The pact, signed by 12 countries in Washington Tuesday, does little more than put into formal language a tacit agreement that has been in effect for the frozen continent since the start of the International Geophysical Year.

It is easy to decide the pact is going of no special significance.

It was a simple matter, for instance, for Russia and the United States to agree on banning "any measure of a military nature," since there now are no military operations in the area.

It is quite a different matter to agree on a similar ban in Europe, where armed forces of the world's two blocs are virtually looking down each other's gun barrels.

The pact could, in a matter-of-fact tone, call for international agreement and unanimity of action in the area without having to worry about the threat of a belligerent Soviet bloc China.

There is no colonial problem in the Antarctic, ready to rub raw the nerves of both colonial powers and sensitive newly-independent countries, as is happening daily in Africa and other parts of the world.

Nevertheless, the implications of the pact—if carried through and applied to the rest of the world—offer hope of world peace.

It remained for Vasily Kuznetsov, Russia's deputy foreign minister fresh from the straight-arming he went at the United Nations, to sum up the hopes of the pact.

He described it as "additional evidence of the fact that states, if they are ready to co-operate, can successfully achieve through negotiation mutually acceptable solutions of international problems in the interest of international peace and progress."

Of immediate importance is the pact's clause that bans military activities and provides for a system of international inspection to guarantee that the ban is carried out. Observers are assured of "complete freedom of access at any time to any or all areas," of the Antarctic.

This is the key to an international disarmament agreement, and may become of special importance in disarmament talks opening next year under the auspices of the United Nations.

The pact also offers a novel solution to nationalistic ambitions of various countries by in effect ignoring the problems of claims to parts of the continent put forward by many countries.

It says the pact will not affect the claims and adds that countries can in no way try to strengthen their existing claims while the treaty is in force.

Thus the pact opens the way for the problem to die a quiet death, leaving the entire area under international control and pointing the way to settling such problems in future.

Australia's ambassador to the United States, signing for his country, saw the treaty as a possible model for other international agreements.

The words and the promise are there, as they were in the United Nations Charter. It depends on how the pact is carried out.

Man Killed As Car Plunges Over Ramp End

TORONTO (CP)—Thousands of rush-hour motorists used a ramp leading to the western end of the Gardiner expressway Wednesday morning. But none apparently saw a car less than 30 feet away that had plunged off the ramp. In it a man lay dead or dying.

His body was found, hanging head-first from the car, at about 9 a.m. Police believe the accident happened before midnight. The victim was identified as Lloyd Prine, 27, of Mimico.

Lots of Animals Misnamed Says Zoologist After Trip

OTTAWA (CP) — When is a moose an elk? When it's in Europe, of course.

The zoologist-ridden is one example of slipshod nomenclature applied to North American birds, animals and fish which have received slivers abroad, says Dr. A. W. F. Banfield, chief zoologist of the national museum.

"Lots of our animals are misnamed," he reported in describing a 10-week trip to Europe last summer in connection with Canada's declaring game herds.

DERIVED FROM GERMAN

The gigantic moose in Europe is called an elk after the German name of elg. North America's buffalo isn't any such thing, really. It's a bison, although the European variety — which Dr. Banfield saw on his travels—among other variations has a shorter neck and tends to keep its head up.

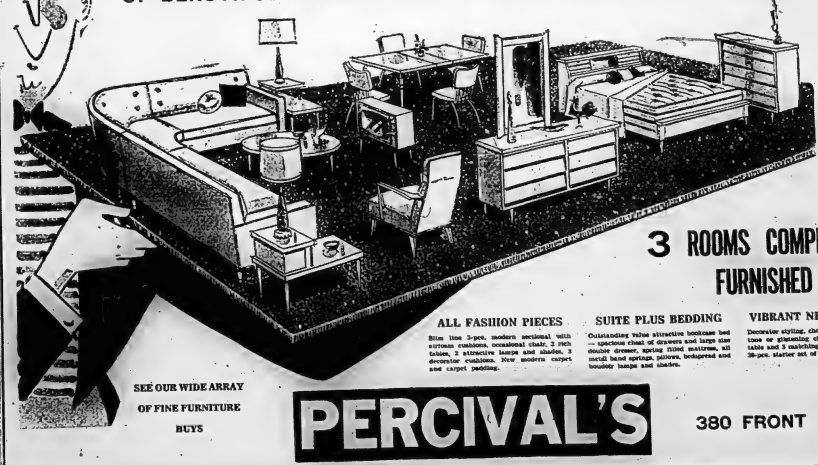
Canada's elk should be called wapiti and is just a larger version of the European red deer. The Arctic muskox is another misnomer. Actually this relic from the ice age is closer related to the goat family than to cattle, says Dr. Banfield.

"The English people who came out here in the early days had probably never heard of a bison so they called it after the animal it appeared to resemble most closely.

The real buffalo of India and Africa is sleek rather than woolly and has massive curving horns.

Early arrivals in North America made another mistake about the domestic robin. Actually, it's a sort of red-breasted European blackbird.

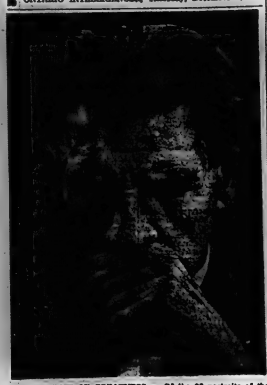
OF CHAR FAMILY



Then there is the lake trout, actually a member of the char family.

Canada's caribou are cousins of the reindeer and the declining barren-land herds are just about the same thing although there other types as well in Canada.

Dr. Banfield reported that Russia experienced a reindeer decline about 90 years ago almost as drastic as that now worrying Canadian wildlife scientists working with the caribou.



The Russians — as do many Canadians — put the blame largely on indiscriminate killing by gunfire and clamped severe controls on the slaughter of herds. It worked, he said.

Some consideration has been given to the same measures in Canada, where the barren - land caribou are vital as food and clothing to northern Indians and Eskimos.

"I couldn't meet a prettier woman than my wife. She wouldn't let me."

Subjects in the book, Portraits of Greatness, include royalty and men and women distinguished in the arts, science, medicine, government and business.

DEEPLY SATISFYING

The Ottawa photographer told The Canadian Press the Schweitzer portrait "satisfies me most both as a portrait and as the portrayal of the essential greatness of a living man."

"I think Albert Schweitzer is a great and good man, and that the portrait I was fortunate to make reflects something of his heart and mind."

Some of the pictures are carefully composed. Many show some unusual sparkle of the subject's personality.

Sir Thomas Beecham, the terrible-tempered British conductor, looks almost benign. The American poet, Robert Frost ("they call me Scarface Frost from Chicago"), crowds in an arm-chair in his studio. Sir Jacob Epstein, the British sculptor, poses in reversals, his left hand unconsciously adopting the attitude of the hand of a monumental statue behind him.

DESCRIBES SITTINGS

In text accompanying the pictures, Karsh tells of the conversation and details of each sitting. Camera fans may be disappointed by lack of photographic details with each but in an appendix, Karsh tells about his work.

He develops his own film and supervises the "master" print. He nearly always uses an 8x10 inch camera with a full range of Zeiss lenses. Occasionally he uses a 6x6 view camera or a Rolleiflex. He also has a 35-millimetre Leica and a Kodak Retina reflex, one for black - and - white and one for color.

His film is Kodak Portrait Pan, Super Panchro Type B and Super XX. In 35-millimetre cameras he used Tri-X and Verichrome if the Rolleiflex.

In black-and-white photography Karsh uses exposures meters "only if I think the reading coincides with what I feel it should be." In color, though, he is often guided by the meter.

His book, published by University of Toronto Press, was printed in The Netherlands by the famed Enschede firm of Haarlem.

Photos have been reproduced by sheet-fed gravure and the text by offset lithography.

The Belleville Citizens Committee For Maintaining Sunday Free From Commercial Sports . . . Is

A temporary, non-political, non-sectarian group of persons concerned about maintaining one day out of seven, specifically Sunday or "The Lord's Day", as free as possible from commercial and industrial activity so that all who so desire may be assured of a day of rest and renewal.

The purpose of this committee is to make clear what is involved in the question on which citizens are asked to vote on December 7th. The question does not specify that it is COMMERCIAL sports and games that are involved but that is the fact.

NO LAW PROHIBITS SUNDAY RECREATION

Commercial Sunday Sport will certainly force Sunday labor and will probably lead to an "Open Sunday".

The Committee Asks You to Be Sure to VOTE on DEC. 7th

High School Activities

By STEVIE DAHL

Last Friday night, November 27, everyone celebrated the end of exam week by kicking up their heels at the annual Girls' Athletics Association Sadie Hawkins dance. The event provided the girls with an excuse to ask "The Guy" out as long as she bought the tickets! The "Pharaoh" provided the entertainment. This talented coffee, making compromised of past and present BCIVS students, has become very popular and is in great demand for all the dances. The "Pharaoh's", terrific music, a large crowd, good food, and prizes, added together to make the dance worth all the trouble to make those crazy hard-times costumes and getting up the nerve to ask the boys.

For the past few weeks, students have noticed a large scrapbook in our glittering trophy case. This book, a Student Council project is filled with clippings and pictures from the Ontario Intelligencer concerning our school. All the articles in it only go to prove what I've been telling everybody (who will listen) for years — we have a great deal to be proud of at BCIVS.

Last year, increasingly sloppy appearances of many BCIVS inhabitants inevitably led to strong criticism. Finally the Students' Council drew up a list of suggestions to improve the dress and habits of the offenders, and this year I have noticed a startling change for the better. Overwhelming swirls of crinolines, gobs of jewellery, makeup galore — these are all definitely 'way out, while simple neat clothes, much more attractive, are 'way-in'. Most boys have shaved off those repulsive sideburns, (what were they trying to prove anyway?) turned down their collars, visited the barbers, (Why John, how nice to see you again!) and thrown out the boxgrease. Dirty blue jeans have been replaced by slacks and spotless chinos. Nearly every male and most females at the school have discovered that it is definitely unattractive to be seen picky passing a comb through hair, in spite of "Rookie's" example. Also, instead of the familiar sneakers, leather boots, slippers and other indistinguishable footwear, boys and girls seem to be wearing ordinary, honest-to-goodness shoes. Hallelujah! All we want now is a photographer from "Life" to come along and take pictures of us in all our glory!

Not being outdone by brain grade elevators, who recently visited the museum in Toronto, the grade thirteen classes are going to Toronto on Saturday to see because the teams seem to be evenly matched and the competition is close. In the near future one of the bandaged limping boys playing this game will be named "Mr. Floorhocker" on votes from spectators, so all the boys are keeping their fingers crossed for goals and glory.

Regular practices for both boys' junior and senior basketball teams are going on, and games will start soon.

Girls' basketball tryouts are also being held. Our school, just emerged from the haze of rugby, plunges into a frantic basketball season. However, we know our teams will do well, and we are looking forward to the game.

That about winds up the sport for today fans. I'll leave you till this timely reminder. "To play sports you must belong to the Athletic Union".

Form news has been handed in — the damage is irreparable done and the next time it rears its ugly head will be in the sprin when the "Pharaoh" is printed

Last Wednesday a very good assembly was presented. Diane Bierley, dressed in a charmingly boring bag, sent her audience into roars of laughter and appearing with a pantoonline of "Yo can't get a man with a gun". The Allen sisters sang "Thank Heaven for Little Girls" and while there might be mixed opinions on the title of the song, everyone enjoyed it. John Tooth played his trombone and Sue Ann Adkins played the organ. The elections were very well done, and a great deal of credit should be given to the performers; they were asked to participate in an assembly only the day before, and although they had little time to prepare an act, they managed to delight their audience with one of the best assemblies in a long time. The ever effervescent cheerleaders wound up the proceedings with the help of Martin Hughes and Peter Annis with a "rambunctious" pep rally.

KINGSTON (CP) — Joanne Ziegler, 5, died Wednesday after she was struck by a car at a city intersection.

ASSESSMENT LEAPS

KINGSTON (CP) — City ratepayers learned Wednesday that their property values have jumped 12½ per cent as a result of a new assessment. Property valuation increased by $18,814,930 to $18,854,955 under a re-assessment authorized by council last year on the advice of the provincial municipal affairs department.

the families of victims. A state dinner was cancelled.

Authorities invoked an emergency "calamity plan" allowing the requisitioning of all available means for relief and rescue work in the area.

"THIS IS WORKABLE"

Troops, police and firemen rushed here from a wide area to carry out rescue work.

"This is horrible," one said, "everything is under water; we hear heartrending cries."

A doctor at Frejus hospital said the torrent "was worse than any tidal wave — the water surged over houses, pulverizing them."

"Within two minutes of the dam bursting, there was nine feet of water in the lower-lying parts of Frejus."

Earlier, while the peak of the flood was still raging, one rescue worker reported the roaring waters were "tumbling farms and houses as if they were cards and tearing away the railroad like like it was made of straw."

A two-car diesel train from Nice was trapped, but just before dawn rescue workers brought off all the passengers. They were huddled in one of the cars with water seeping through the floor. Earlier reports had said the train overturned and a heavy toll had been feared.

A man attempting to get away on a motorscooter was lifted high by the flood and swept over a highway into the Mediterranean.

Frejus, originally founded by Julius Caesar in 49 B.C., is a quiet country place set against a background of the tangled foothills of the Alps.

Millions of tons of water, backed up behind the 185-foot dam by five days of heavy rain, churned into the peacefully sleeping farm valley Wednesday night tearing away houses, hurling big trucks about like toys, uprooting trees, splintering telegraph and telephone poles and cutting all communicatives with the outside.

Not until the sombre dawn hours after the Malpeset dam burst, was the full tragedy apparent.

The narrow valley 16 miles southwest of Cannes was a jumbled heap of twisted wreckage.

The rampaging waters partially flooded this town of 13,500 nestling on the hilly, rocky coast scene of the landing spots in the allied invasion of southern France in August, 1944.

"The valley was one of the worst on the coast," a member of the Frejus city council said. "I'm afraid only rocks will be left."

The French government mobilized disaster forces and dispatched the aircraft carrier Lafayette to serve as a floating hospital and helicopter base off the coast.

Aid was rushed to Frejus from all points along the Riviera vacationland. Frejus itself is little visited by tourists. The Reyran Valley is peopled by farm families and opens on a hilly coastline along which many fishermen live.

Terrified families were swept downstream, struggling to stay together. Many had just gone to bed when the flood struck. One 85-year-old woman floated seven hours on her bedroom dresser. An old man walking his dog was swept away in a second.

The hospital at Frejus—on high ground — was jammed with injured and survivors suffering from shock and exposure. The morgue was lined with bodies.

Sailors, police and firemen in rubber boats tried to reach isolated houses and bring the injured and sick to shelter.

Agonized cries for help were heard throughout the night, but no help was immediately available for the villages upstream.

Frejus was without electricity, running water, gas or regular telephone service. But Frejus, about four miles below the Malpeset dam, suffered less than the isolated villages up the valley.

It was feared no houses were left standing along the upper reaches of the river. The wall of water was six feet high when it reached the town. Upstream it may have towered 40 feet in narrow stretches of the valley.

The dam was holding back 33,000,000 cubic yards of water and was nearly strained after the heavy rains. The spillways were opened wider only yesterday after a helicopter survey warned engineers of impending danger. But at 9:45 p.m. the dam burst.

Mr. Wishart came to Belleville in 1926 with the Entomology Research Institute where he is a research scientist. He has published over 25 papers in various scientific journals. He is a graduate of Toronto University and a post-graduate of McGill University. He has served in several capacities on various organizations in the city. For many years he was on the executive of the Quinte Skating and Tennis Club when it was a young and growing organization. He has been a member of the Hastings County Advisory Board of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind for 25 years and for several years was chairman of this organization. After serving for many years on Belleville Board of Education and Bay of Quinte District High School Board he retired voluntarily in 1956. On these boards he was chairman and vice-chairman and was chairman of the management committee and on the teachers hiring committee almost continuously.

After his retirement he was nominated, by the Quinte District Branch of the Teachers' Federation for the "Lamp of Learning" Award, an award given for significant contribution to education by a layman. He has served on council for two years and has represented council on the Children's Aid Society and the Moira River Conservation Authority. On this body he is the chairman of the Water Control Advisory Board. He is a director of the Belleville United Appeal.

He voted against spending city money on the hockey team and enlarging the spectator capacity of the arena. He was the only alderman who, during 1958 raised the question as to whether management of the hockey team, interfered with the work of the city manager. He is the only member of the 1958 council who is being supported by the Belleville Voters Committee.

Big Trout Bent Landing Net Out of Shape

SANDPOINT, Idaho (CP) — A near-record rainbow trout caught Sunday would have broken the reputedly world record if it had been weighed officially immediately after being landed, angler Cecil Hulbert said Wednesday.

Hulbert, of Spokane, Wash., landed the rainbow after a 10-minute battle in Lake Pend Oreille. When placed on scales at a resort on the lake shore shortly after being landed, it weighed 29 pounds, 12 ounces, Hulbert said.

But by the time he had taken it to a state-testing scales for official weighing—three hours later—it had shrunk to 26 pounds, eight ounces. It was 40 inches long and 26 inches in girth.

RECORD 27 POUNDS

The world record recognized by Field and Stream Magazine is 27 pounds. The record fish was caught by Wes Hamlet of Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, Nov. 25, 1947, and measured 40½ inches in length and 28 inches in girth.

Hulbert called his trout a Kamloops, but a Field and Stream spokesman said the Kamloops is a sub-species of rainbow and is groomed with the rainbow and steelhead trout for the magazine's records.

The spokesman said the magazine has no record of a 29 pounder, eight ounce kamloops caught in Jewell Lake, B. C., in 1933.

This fish is believed to be the Canadian record for kamloops.

Hulbert had been trolling, using a five-inch flatfish as lure, before the fish struck. He was using a five-foot trolling rod and a drag-type reel with 300 feet of 20-pound test line and 150 feet of 10-pound test monofilament.

100-FOOT LINE

He said he didn't have any luck trolling with about 500 feet of line out, so he reeled in 400 feet, leaving out only the 100 feet of monofilament.

The flatfish was running near the surface when the rainbow struck. As it took the lure in its mouth, one of the treble hooks caught the edge of one of the fish's gill coverings. The pressure on the line kept the gill covering shape.

Dodgers Stall Player Deal

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) —Los Angeles Dodgers' refusal to include outfielder Don Demeter stalled a six-man player trade parley between the Dodgers, Don Zimmer, outfielder Ron Fairly and pitcher Danny McDevitt of Los Angeles, the Washington Senators and Pittsburgh Pirates.

Roy Sievers, pitchers Russ Kemmerer and Second baseman Reno Bertoia. The Senators insisted Demeter be substituted for Fairly.

The Senators, still searching for a shortstop and centre fielder, then offered the same trio to Chicago White Sox for Sammy Esposito, Johnny Callison and Cal's catcher, either Earl Battey or John Romano.

James Talks With Imlach

TORONTO (CP) — Fullback Gerry James of the Grey Cup champion Winnipeg Blue Bombers arrived here Wednesday to talk hockey with George (Punch) Imlach, coach and manager of Toronto Maple Leafs.

But first, said Imlach, James will put on a pair of skates. If he likes their feel after being out of hockey for a year he will likely see action with the National League club's American League farm team, Rochester Americans.

Later he may move up to the Leafs, Imlach said.

James broke his leg in two places in the summer of 1958 and missed the rest of the football season, as well as the 1958-59 hockey season.

Doesn't Favor Inter-Leagues Player Swaps

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) —Commissioner Ford Frick, a stout antagonist of the new inter-league trading rule, thinks an extended process of player-swapping between the American and National leagues might eventually prove harmful to baseball.

Frick made the statement Wednesday at the minor leagues convention here while club officials were huddling in attempts to add to the five deals already engineered since the origin of the inter-league trading rule. It went into effect Nov. 21 and expires Dec. 15.

This new rule dispenses with the formality of getting waivers on players before they can be traded from one league to another.

"I'm still not convinced the inter-league rule is a good thing," Frick said, "The next thing you know, they'll want it during the regular season, too. That would be a real tragedy."

He was referring to reports that Hank Greenberg of Chicago White Sox and Frank Lane of Cleveland had advocated recently that a similar three-way trading period be inserted between the two leagues during the summer.

Frick conceded that not one of the five deals made so far—all of inter-league nature — could arouse suspicion of collusion between clubs.

"So far they haven't made a deal that could not have been made without the new rule. They could have received waivers on the players involved."

Betting Record

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Racing fans in record numbers bet an all-time high of $367,881,290 at New York race tracks this year. Attendance at the state's eight harness and four flat tracks was 3,578,177.

Betting at harness tracks totalled $288,960,700, at flat tracks $478,020,590.

The state tax department, which released the figures, said it collected $29,952,939 this year.

First Major Leagues Clash Expected on Tuesday Next

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)— The first head-on clash between the majors and the proposed third major baseball league—the Continental — may take place Tuesday when they meet separately but under the same roof at Miami Beach.

The American and National leagues, spurred by commissioner Ford Frick, are expected to make known their positions on expansion of their eight - club leagues.

The Continental League, aware of the pressure on the majors, has called a meeting to coincide with those of the majors. Branch Rickey, president of the five-team circuit, will be ready to respond when the majors state their positive intentions.

AL REPORT EXPECTED

American League president Joe Cronin will call on his three-man fact-finding committee to report his findings for internal expansion for 1961. The committee was selected in October when the league announced it was seriously considering expansion to 10 teams by 1961. That announcement followed Minneapolis group's request for a franchise in the American League.

Minneapolis-St. Paul is one of the five founding members of the Continental League. The others are Toronto, New York, Denver and Houston.

George Kirksey, associated with the Houston franchise, met with Frick earlier this week in an attempt to clear up misunderstandings. He indicated he came away satisfied.

"We of the Continental League are convinced more than ever that the only practical method of expansion is through a third major league," he said. "Expansion of the majors to nine or 10 or more teams is inconceivable. It will never work."

FOUR CHILDREN DIE

PINEVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Four children were burned to death in their frame house Tuesday night while their parents were visiting a neighbor. The victims were the sons and daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Lidge H. Smallwood. The father is 37, the mother 35.

Flyers Whip Biltmores 6-3

BARRIE (CP) — Barrie Flyers took over second place in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A League, defeating Guelph Biltmores 6-3 Wednesday night.

It was a runaway for the Flyers, undefeated in their last six games, and completed the circuit of a win over every club in the league.

Jake Miller and Pierre Gagnon paced the Flyers with two goals apiece. Rookie Dennis Patechuck and all-star defence candidate Dale Rolfe had singles.

Bob Cunningham had two for Guelph and Larry Favero one.

Canadien Fans To Honor Doug Harvey

MONTREAL (CP) — There will be big doings tonight at Montreal Forum when Doug Harvey, Montreal Canadiens defenceman, is deluged with an estimated $12,000 worth of gifts.

It's "Doug Harvey Night," and tribute will be paid the star defenceman between the second and third periods of the National Hockey League game with New York Rangers.

The last night held for a player in Montreal was in March, 1957, when Floyd Curry, now coach of Montreal Royals of the Eastern Professional League, was honored.

Officials said business and commercial firms have donated close to 100 gifts, including a station wagon, for Harvey.

Fullmer Meets Spider Webb Friday Night

LOGAN, Utah (AP) — Bigger pay days loom for Gene Fullmer, the National Boxing Association's middleweight champion, if he successfully defends his crown Friday night in a 15-round bout against Chicago's Spider Webb.

For although the Mormon Sunday school teacher twice has ruled the 160-pound class, there always have been strings attached.

When he beat Sugar Ray Robinson in 1957, the contracts called for a return match and Gene lost. For the first fight, Fullmer received only 13½ per cent of the gate with an even split on the second.

He collected $80,000 for his victorious battle with Carmen Basilio for the NBA crown last Aug. 28 after the association took its title from Robinson for failure to defend. Basilio received more.

The stride this time was an NBA requirement that Fullmer meet its No. 1 challenger in his first defence. That's why he fights Webb.

"If we get over this fight there will be no more strings attached as far as the NBA is concerned," says manager Mary Jessan. "Another string might be Robinson for the undisputed title but truthfully, I don't think he'll ever fight Fullmer so we might as well eliminate him from Gene's plans."

Should Fullmer lose to Webb, a contract already is signed calling for a return match.

Denver Hockey Is Failure

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Denver's second venture in professional hockey is over, a failure in little more than a month.

Officials of the International Hockey League meet today at Fort Wayne, Ind., to dispose of the league franchise previously held by a local group.

At Denver, IHL league president Frank Gallagher said the Denver franchise may be shifted to Minneapolis.

"If it doesn't go there, we'll probably disband it and finish the season with a seven - team league instead of two four-team divisions. If we learn it will disband, then the players will be eligible for draft by the remaining teams."

Cup Parade Good Thing Says Official

TORONTO (CP)—Gordon Eyre, a member of the Toronto Junior Board of Trade's Grey Cup committee, Wednesday supported the Grey Cup parade as "a good thing."

He said events surrounding the game give a city a real opportunity to be host to people from all over Canada.

Mr. Eyre was commenting on remarks by Liberal Leader Pearson who said Monday in Winnipeg extravagant promotion of the game could be becoming in the face of its promoters, causing a loss of public interest.

"As long as the Grey Cup festival is controlled by a non-profit organization it can't help but be a good thing," Mr. Eyre said.

Our organization started this thing because we thought a country the size of Canada should have one or two national events.

"At first municipalities were reluctant to go along with us because they did not know what would develop. But now civic officials seem more and more anxious to co-operate."

Goggin Leads Senior Golf

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Veteran golfer Willie Goggin shot a six-under-par 66 Wednesday for a course record and a three-stroke lead in the first round of the $30,000 United States Senior open golf championship.

Art Bell and Ferdie Catrops were second at 69. Catrops made his score Tuesday on one of two layouts used for this competition.

Actor-Authors Multiplying After Several Best Sellers

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The woods are full of actor-authors these days as book publishers seek the gold already discovered with best sellers by Lillian Roth, Pat Boone, Art Linkletter and others.

The volumes multiply. They range from the sensational to the inspirational. Some are fairly intriguing. Some should never have been written. Nearly all have the same sound—the tinkling of cup orchestrated by a literary aide. The ghost is always present, either sharing billing on the dust jacket or lurking in the misty background.

Some of those now in the bookstores:

The Autobiography of Cecil B. DeMille is a good view of the public face of the great movie maker. It is filled with the same outward dignity with which C. B. spoke, yet he is able to tell stories on himself. Such as the wartime Oscar dinner when he introduced the astronaut from China as "his excellency, the Japanese ambassador." The book gives an interesting account of the film industry's beginnings and workings of the DeMille machine. If the man himself fails to emerge, perhaps it is because he was more devoted to legend than reality.

MAN WEST AND MEN

Goodness had Nothing to do With It is an almost incredible account of Mae West's rise to man conquest. "The various men in my life can claim a part in many things," she writes, "but never that they had a full time." Readers may or may not complain, especially if they reach the entrance of the latter-day musclemen.

Ed Wynn's Son is one of the latter versions of the once standard confessional type of autobiography. The reason for the strained relationship between Keenan Wynn and his "perfect fool" of a father, the youngest Wynn tells frankly of his life-long fight to escape the shadow of his more disciplined and funnier father.

Caesar usually has fine comic ideas. Often he goes great guns for the first few minutes, but he rarely knows when to quit. For the most part he avoided this trap in Marriage—Handle with Care.

The first sketch, in which he was asked by Audrey Meadows, was a satire of modern housewifery and push-button living and was pretty effective.

But there was a spoof of a television audience participation show that went on for much too long and was vastly overdone.

Best sketch of the show, however, was the finale—a wild and wonderful burlesque of Italian opera.

Jose Ferrer and Marge and Gower Champion helped out here and there throughout the show.

After the other night's Jack Paar broadcast, it appears that the only really new trend in broadcasting this season is the libidinous interest in Mickey Rooney's appearance, however. Didn't cause much of a storm in New York — NBC headquarters received only 11 calls on the subject. Five complained about the protection; one said she enjoyed the show. And 5 said Paar took advantage of his guest.

At least two shows are scheduled to disappear from the NBC lineup this month and quickly: first 13 weeks—Five Fingers and Love

Sid Caesar Gives Another Splendid Show In Burlesque

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Sid Caesar, who hung his first show of the season on an automobile theme, devoted his attention to the institution of marriage Wednesday night. This second special was a more disciplined and funnier show.

Caesar usually has fine comic ideas. Often he goes great guns for the first few minutes, but he rarely knows when to quit. For the most part he avoided this trap in Marriage—Handle with Care.

At the Eddy

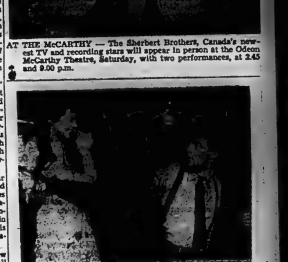
For the price of a single admission, fans will be able to see three of TV's biggest stars in the same motion picture, Warners' Seven Technicolor productions, "Yellowstone Kelly", due today at the Belle Theatre.

For this epic story of a Mountain Man who tries to save the U.S. Cavalry from slaughter by Sioux Indians and falls in love with a beautiful Indian maiden.

Warners has chosen its cast from among its most popular television personalities: Clint Walker, Edward Byrnes and John Russell all of whom are stars of their own particular series.

Walker who plays the title role in "Yellowstone Kelly", rose to fame as the star of "Cheyenne", while John Russell has a huge following on the small screens for his portrayal of the quiet, understanding marshal in "Lawman". Edward Byrnes has also a TV standout as the flamboyant parking lot attendant in "77 Sunset Strip", and now part of the 2,000 fan letters a week from all over the United States.

Although "Yellowstone Kelly" is a Western, it offers a great change-of-pace for Walker and Russell, in spite of their respective Western series. Walker, for example is a wandering trapper who poke in "Cheyenne, while in this production he plays a wandering trapper and scout, feared by both Indians and glory-hunting cavalry officers.



Russell plays an Indian war chief who befriends Walker and saves his life, while Ed Byrnes portrays Walker's young sidekick, becomes a trapper and Indian fighter and almost falls in love with an Indian girl. This is far removed from the sophistication of "77 Sunset Strip".

The TV fans and these stars now have an opportunity to see all three together in completely different roles — one in a Western and in Technicolor.

AT THE McCARTHY — The Sherbert Brothers, Canada's newest TV and recording stars will appear in person at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre, Saturday, with two performances, at 2.45 and 8.00 p.m.

SLATTERED IN STRETCH

The Maca after putting up a valiant battle and matching the vaunted Dunlops stride for stride and goal for goal for two and one-half periods, faltered down the back stretch here last night, and the quick-pocketing Dunsies took advantage and rammed home three goals to shade off with the victory.

Gordie Bell, "The Masked Man," made his underover debut and turned in an outstanding effort in the first period. He brought the crowd to its feet when he coolly turned away Gordon Myles' blasting shot when the Dunsie broke into the clear and raced in alone.

However, the popular netminder looked somewhat shaky in the last two periods, although he came up with some outstanding saves. It is a question if Gordie was really ready for a regular between-the-pipes stint, a sixty-minute chore, that is. At that the blame for those third period goals can not be laid at the door of the goalie. His defence was decidedly porous on two of them.

After all, Gordie has not played a game since October 27, the night he sustained the injury—and has had but two or three practices since. It might have been better for all concerned had Gordie been pulled at the end of the second period and young Maniago placed between the pipes.

The expose of the Olympics "amateur" farce and the "marriage of the pros and amateurs" in Canadian hockey by a Toronto newspaper may have far-reaching effects on Canada's entry in the winter Olympics at Squaw Valley next year.

Calling the articles an "expose" is probably a vast overstatement. Hockey men in general, the CAHA and the Olympics committee have known the facts for these many years.

Also the statement by some of sports top brass that the Olympics winter games be cancelled because of professionalism, drew remarks from certain quarters, some of them so ludicrous they caused strong hockeyists to weep.

One of the rib-tickling remarks came from A. Sidney Dawes, Olympics committee member and former president of the Canadian Olympics Association. Mr. Dawes laid claim to hockey's role of Rip Van Winkle when he said "No hockey team is worth a dime unless it is in a league. I don't think our people get hold at all."

"There would be no sense in putting a man on it team who could not sign the affidavit of amateur status.

The only real hockey amateurs in Canada could not sign the affidavit even if they so desired. They haven't learned to write yet.

Eastern and Western Ontario senior hockey men had their biggest laugh in many a moon when Ernie Gosman, manager of the no-far Olympics-bound Kitchener Dutchmen stated that he "was disturbed at the inference that the Dutchmen were loaded with professionalism."

This from the man who helped cast the unanimous vote at an Ontario Senior "A" meeting last spring, that the weekly salary maximum be $1,750 or thereabouts.

And Mr. Ken Farmer, of Montreal, president of the Canadian Olympics Association, who should very much out of turn about the McFarlands prior to their going overseas last February, was very careful in his statements.

Mr. Farmer, oh, so carefully omitted hockey when he spoke his piece on the matter. He said there was no room in skiing or figure skating for professionals.

The Olympics association prexy, it will be recalled, thumped the table at a Moncton dinner last winter and thundered the McFarlands as nothing for Canada. They are nothing but worn-out old pros, not Canadian amateurs."

Those "worn-out old pros" did not take a farcical oath that is not worth the paper it is written on, nor the air it uses to quote it. They merely went overseas, played hockey and came back with the world champion ship, just as farcically, called "amateur" in some quarters.

And this reporter mulling through and over the batch of telegrams that came to the Mavs' dressing room in Prague, Czechoslovakia, following their world victory, failed to come across any bearing the signature of "Dawes" or "Purser."

PAYS HIGH FOR HORSE

NEWMARKET, England (AP)—Texas oil magnate Fred Turner Wednesday paid $51,240 for a colt sired by Ribot, Italy's great racehorse. It was the highest price ever paid for a yearling at the historic Newmarket Bloodstock sales.

Turner, whose horse Peppy San won the 1958 Kentucky Derby, bought the colt—by Ribot out of Monarchia—from Nick Morrist, owner of the Banstead Manor stud.

Ribot was bought for the stud in 1954 after Italian Count Federico Caprilli had undefeated career with victories including the Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe at Longchamp, Paris, and Britain's most valuable race, the King George VI and Queen Elizabeth Stakes at Ascot.

Mahovlich Leaf Hero In 1-0 Dunk Of Canadiens

Clips Hab Win String at 18 In First Blank of Season; Bruins, Hawks Play 2-2 Tie

By RON ANDREWS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Big Frank Mahovlich, with a lone successive games.
flick of his stick, helped shatter Montreal Canadiens' undefeated streak. He also moved to the outgoing door of the doghouse.

Mahovlich scored the lone goal Wednesday night as Toronto Maple Leafs, playing before 14,532 fans, the largest Toronto crowd in 13 years, beat the Habs 1-0 in a National Hockey League game.

It was the first time in 19 starts that Canadiens had been beaten and the first shutout against them since Leafs blanked them 3-0 Dec. 21 last year at Toronto.

BRUINS, HAWKS TIE

Meanwhile Boston Bruins gained a 2-2 tie with Chicago Black Hawks at Chicago with all the scoring crammed into the final 20 minutes.

Mahovlich, who won the rookie award two seasons ago, scored on what was officially a gift from Leaf defenceman Marc Reaume.

Reaume rifled a shot at Montreal netminder Jacques Plante from just inside the blueline. Plante fell to block it but Mahovlich, standing unprotected beside the net, flicked in the rebound.

It was Mahovlich's fourth goal of the season. The six-foot-one, 200-pounder—a 22 goal man last season—had been under fire by the Leaf management recently for his poor showing and coach Punch Imlach this week said he was toying with the idea of benching him.

BOWER UNBEATABLE

After the goal the two teams staged a tense struggle. Goaltender Johnny Bower was a big man in the Leaf victory as he recorded his second shutout of the season. He made 28 stops, including a key one in the third period when Maurice Richard's record of scoring in

N.H.L. Top Scorers

By The Canadian Press

Bronco Horvath, the Boston dynamo, continued his march toward the National Hockey League scoring title Wednesday night by adding his 21st goal in Boston's 4-2 tie with Chicago. Bobby Hull, young Chicago star, scored one goal to move into a fourth-place tie ahead of Boston's Vic Stasiuk.

The leaders:

	G	A	Pts.
Horvath, Boston	21	14	35
Howe, Detroit	13	14	27
Balfour, New York	6	18	27
Beliveau, Montreal	12	12	24
Hull, Chicago	11	13	24
Stasiuk, Boston	9	15	24
McKenney, Boston	3	20	23

Canadiens lead the league with 36 points, eight more than the second-place Leafs.

HAWKS LEAVE CELLAR

At Chicago, before a small crowd of 5,618, left winger Ron Murphy's goal with less than four minutes to play gave Hawks the tie and moved them out of the cellar for the first time in weeks. The game featured by a first-period slugfest between Vic Stasiuk of Bruins and Chicago's Eric Nesterenko.

Bronco Horvath fired his 21st goal of the season for Boston and Doug Mohns got the other — his fourth since moving up from defence five comes back. Bobby Hull scored Hawks' other goal.

Stasiuk and Nesterenko slugged their fight after the two tangled behind the Chicago net. They got up slugging and it took several seconds for the officials to pry them loose.

Stasiuk was given two five-minute majors, one for injuring Nesterenko with a high stick, and an additional 10-minute misconduct. Nesterenko, who needed six stitches to close a scalp wound, received a five - minute major for fighting.

Stamps Corner Canucks 7-2

By The Canadian Press

Two of last year's high scorers in the Western Hockey League came to life Wednesday night and led their teams to convincing victories.

Calgary Stampeders' Lou Jankowski had three goals and two assists in a 7-2 victory over the league - leading Vancouver Canucks. Jankowski, Calgary's top scorer last-year, had managed only six goals in 22 games before the Canucks came calling.

In the night's other game, Victoria's Gordon Haworth, with just four goals in 25 games this season, scored three times to lead the Cougars to a 5-2 win over the Canucks in Spokane. The veteran Haworth last season had 43 points.

Victoria moved into second place alone with 29 points, seven behind Vancouver. Calgary is fifth with 20 points and Winnipeg and Spokane in the cellar with 17 each.

Sid Finney bucked Jankowski with two goals and Ron Leopold and Gordie Vejprava got the others for Calgary. Canucks' for Comets.

Dunnies Snatch 8-5 Vengeance Victory From Macs

Three Late 3rd Period Goals Decide Free-Wheeling Fray; Bell Makes 'Mask' Debut

By GEORGE H. CARVER
Sports Editor

There is no tolerance or forgiveness in the hockey hearts of the Whitby Dunlops. No upstart team from other centres of the Ontario senior league can whip them in their own backyard and expect to get away with it unscathed.

The Dunnies discovered that here last night, when the Dunnies erupting with a late-period three-goal explosion broke a 5-5 stalemate and upped their top-rung lead with an 8-3 victory.

It was a wide-open free-wheeling battle with the score tied no less than four times and both clubs dividing the lead until the ten-goal plateau in the final frame. Then with eleven minutes to go the Dunnies crashed the McFarlands' defence for three goals and wrapped up the verdict.

The teams split a pair of first period goals with the Dunlops edging the Macs 4-3 in a seven-goal second frame outburst. The Macs tied it up early in the windup, but the Dunnies roared back with their trio, and that was that.

It was a hard-driving cleanly-fought battle with the referees drawing the odd minor penalty in five. The Dunlops outshot the Macs in two of the three periods and 38-32 in the overall total.

The game was featured by the first appearance of the Macs veteran goalie Gordie Bell since his eye injury. Bell wore his special mask and played sensational hockey in the first period but faltered once or twice in the succeeding periods.

Ike Hildebrand sparked the Macs offensive with two goals and two assists with Ken Gibbons getting a pair and two, Keith MacDonald and Eddie Marineau scored their first goals of the season, with Gagnon getting two assists and Brown and Bailey one each.

Samalenko, Atterley, Tom O'Connor and Hassard shared the Dunnies eight goals, with Samalenko getting two assists, following had three helpers; Atterley, Eicher, Treen, Jo and Kane one each. Ted O'Connor had a pair.

Floyd Crawford was missing from the line-up with an injured knee but Eddie Marineau stiffed in capably with one of his best efforts of the season.

Actually the Macs deserved a better fate. They battled hard for the whole sixty minutes and Lou Gehrig Henderson in the Dunnies nets was his usual stonewalling self. The Dunnies weren't three goals better on the night's play but they were capitalized on the Macs defence lapses on two on-three occasions.

Gordie Bell held the fort in the first period when the Macs were without 13-7 stopping Gordie Myles with a sensational effort when the winger broke away.

Samalenko put the Dunnies one up after three minutes on a cross-goal-mouth pass and the teams battled scoreless until 18.19 when Eddie Marineau blasted a screened shot from the point to take the count.

Early second period penalties to Gagnon, Sinden and Chascewski incurred no damage then Tom O'Connor scrambled in a goal to give the Dunnies a 2-1 lead. A minute later Ike Hildebrand's single shot from the right wing beat Henderson for the tying goal.

Gagnon worked his way around the Whitby net and Hildebrand blasted home his pass-out to give the Macs their only lead in the game. Atterley later Atterley nullified that when the setting shot from wide out trickled through a maze of legs to hit the net. Ike and the Macs got a bad break on that one.

Then Samalenko slap-shotted home Ted O'Connor's backboard redirect and Hassard scored a beauty rounding the Macs defence to give the Dunnies a 5-4 lead. Ike Hildebrand scored his second goal from Gribbons to cut the margin to a goal with less than a minute to go.

The Macs poured on the pressure early in the third period when McBeth was given the gate but Long John kicked out everything until the six minute mark when Gribbons brought the crowd to its feet when he smashed home Bailey's rebound to again tie the score.

Near nine minutes mark Atterley slapshot home Tom O'Connor's goal-post rebound to give the Dunnies the lead and two minutes later they went two up when Ted O'Connor got his second goal after a neat passing play with Kane.

The two-goal lead took some of the drive out of the Macs and the Dunnies again roared in with seconds to go with Hassard scoring from Darling to put the Dunnies out of reach and that's the way it ended.

New League Not Worried Over National

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The founder of the American Football League said today he isn't worrying about the National League's signing of some of the AFL's players.

"We're not interested in high bidding for the name players," said Lamar Hunt, wealthy Dallas oilman. "We want to build a solid team."

He disclosed the eight AFL clubs have raised 26 more college players as prospects. These are in addition to the 30 picked by each club in its draft rounds earlier—many of whom also are wooed by the Canadian pro clubs, or both.

"This concludes our draft," Hunt said. "Each club now has the right to negotiate for the services of players, representatives of every section of the country."

Former South Dakota governor Joe Foss, second AFL commissioner, will visit Dallas Wednesday and establish league headquarters later, Hunt said.

He and his top executive, Don Heinrich, said they plan to tell the league stars this:

The National League will have to contend with about 20 players from the new crop of college players. The American League will have about 264 job openings.

"We'll put it to them this way and it becomes a matter of simple arithmetic to see which way they'll go," said Foss.

Thus Hunt appeared to rule out a financial fight for the top prospects, depending on job security to lure players in a profession noted for the number who fail to make the grade.

Wolves Win Over Lions 8-5

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Sudbury Wolves gained the respect they've craved Wednesday night as they stretched their unbeaten streak to six games in the Eastern Professional Hockey League.

They beat Trois-Rivieres Lions 8-5 to stone for an 8-1 licking by Lions a couple of weeks ago. That was the last game the Wolves lost and since have won five and tied one to pull away from the other clubs and lead the league by seven points.

The Lions have also been pretty hot but the loss was the second straight on their road tour and has ended a six-game unbeaten streak that moved them from fifth to second place, where they now hold a one - point lead over Hull-Ottawa Canadiens.

Each member of the Wolves' high-scoring line got two goals—Tom McCarthy, former National League Detroit and Montson, 25-year-old rookie, and Sam Bettio, 31-year-old pro who has had 12 years' American League experience and is now with the Western League and the NHL Boston Bruins.

The line produced 14 points as Morrison collected four assists and Bettio and McCarthy each got two.

The other Sudbury goals were scored by Gene Ubriaco and Dave Amadio.

Lightweight Crown Still Adorns Brown's Dusky Pate; Disposes of Briton in 6th

HOUSTON, Tex. (CP) — Joe Brown, skilful 34-year-old world lightweight boxing king, stopped another charge of youth with a vicious right uppercut Wednesday night when he beat Dave Charnley of England on a sixth-round technical knockout.

The uppercut, a hammer-like blow that followed a left jab, came near the end of the fifth round and brought blood gushing from a cut over Charnley's right eye. The 24-year-old British Empire lightweight champion's head snapped back over the belt for sixth round.

"It was like taking candy from a baby," bubbled Brown. He was so fresh after the fight that he said he was ready to fight again in a week.

SIXTH-ROUND TKO

Alec Hickson, a supervisor of boxing in Texas, said it will be recorded as a sixth-round technical knockout because the fifth round was over when the bout was stopped.

There were howls of "bull" from Charnley's handlers when Referee Jimmy Manning, Arthur Boggis, Charnley's manager, and Jack Solomons, of London, but that it was unintentional.

Referee Jimmy Webb agreed with Brown that it was a right.

"That's the one that ripped him open," said the champion. "But I would have knocked him cold if I hadn't moved back."

Charnley, a former boiler-maker, never was in the fight. Brown, from New Orleans, La., was making the eighth defence of his title he won from Kid Gavilan and in the lightweight class before he retired undefeated in 1955.

BROWN WELL AHEAD

Brown was leading by as much as five points in the fifth round when he lashed out with a left and then a right and crimson spread down Charnley's right cheek. Charnley put his glove up to his head and staggered back just as the round ended.

Brown, taller and with a longer reach, never let Charnley inside. He kept circling to keep away from the Englishman's left — he is a southpaw — and would tag Charnley with his flicking left, then hook with his right to the body or chin.

Charnley's face was red after the first round. Brown got his combinations working by the third round. Charnley was boring in but Brown could reach him because of the latter's superiority in reach.

Brown scored the fight 59-46 for Brown under the 10-point must system. Judge Ernie Taylor had it 59-46 and Judge H. Cornelius 58-45.

Brown weighed 134 pounds to Charnley's 133½. A crowd of about 6,000 paid $21,799 for the fight, including $40,000 television money, the total was $72,720. Brown got about $12,000 and Charnley $12,000.

Brown has six knockouts and two decisions in his eight defences of the crown he won in 1956 from Wallace (Bud) Smith.

ATHENS (AP)—Denmark defeated Greece 3-1 here Wednesday before 15,000 fans Wednesday.

Cook Heads Inter-County Baseball Body

KITCHENER (CP)—Earl Cook of St. Thomas was named president of the Inter-County Baseball Association at the group's annual meeting Wednesday night, succeeding Marsh Arias of Kitchener.

First vice-president is Bill Albert of Waterloo. Reid Zack of Galt was named second vice-president. Treasurer is Norman Barker of Waterloo. All were named by acclamation.

Fifteen delegates attended the meeting, at which trophies for last season were presented. Included among the winners were Stan Anderson of London Majors, most valuable player in the senior series; Don Smith of Listowel Legionaires, most valuable junior player; Richard Jack, Hamilton Beavers, leading senior pitcher, and Ernie Myers, Listowel Legionaires, leading batter.

Delegates rejected a proposed amendment by Galt Terriers which would give early - season strength to senior teams relying heavily on import players each year, Blake Taylor, Galt business manager, said. It would limit players to be allowed to compete for the senior games prior to June 30 of the following season.

Present rules state that senior players must take up residence by staying five nights a week in the town for which they play.

Galt also proposed that in case of a tie at the end of regular schedule for any position except first, the placing be decided by a toss of a coin. In the event of a tie for first place the position would be decided by a sudden death game.

The delegates decided to refer the matter to each series of the Inter-County Association, so that they could decide at their own schedule meetings.

Chuvalo Rejects New York Bid

TORONTO (CP)—George Chuvalo, Canadian heavyweight boxing contender, Wednesday rejected an offer of a televised bout with Harold Carter of New York City on New Year's Day.

"We just didn't think a fight on that day would do much of a business at the box office," said Chuvalo's manager Ahlen. The other, he said, came from Harry Markson, boxing director of Madison Square Garden.

Allen said there is a possibility Chuvalo may have a title fight later in January or early February.

RUSSIANS WIN

CLEVELAND (AP)—A touring Russian men's basketball team used a fast break and superior rebounding Wednesday night to whip Akron of the National Industrial Basketball League 87-72. The victory snapped a string of eight losses by American teams. The Russian women's team broke a tie in the final minute of play and defeated Nashville, Tenn. Business College 48-46.

Had Backache; Food Upset Stomach - "Always Tired"
"Many Days I Ached All Over," Says This Man — Tells of Relief by Taking Syntona.
"There is a definite improvement in the way I feel since I've been taking Syntona," said Mr. George Moore, 277 Hibernia St., Stratford, Ontario, in a recent report.
His Experience
"Previously I had to be careful of what I ate or I would suffer with gas, indigestion and sour sick stomach afterwards. I became troubled with backache and rheumatic pains in my limbs, joints and muscles. My nerves were all on edge, so I couldn't get my proper sleep at night. I was always tired and subject to troubling headaches.
"But this is all changed since I've been taking Syntona. Although I eat what I please, Syntona relieves the gas and sour stomach. My nerves are calmed down. As a result, I sleep better at night and am not always tired as I was before."
Easy To Take
Syntona is pleasant to take and results are quickly felt. For prompt effective relief from fairly distressing symptoms of indigestion, gas, sour stomach, backache, nervousness, try Syntona today.
Syntona is sold and recommended by Dolan The Druggist.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Friday, December 6

General tendencies: Until midafternoon you are under excellent aspects for all that has to do with seeking new outlets through which to express yourself, and getting the active support of very outspoken and direct persons in finding them. Be sure tonight you do nothing to upset others or drastic, unwise changes can occur. Be tactful, considerate.

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — Have a meeting with dynamic and interesting allies today at some charming spot and discuss your plans, ideas. Change your usual attitude for best results. Be careful tonight you do not upset the applecart through effort of temper.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — Ideal day to confer with high-er-up and get the advice that will help you to expand and make greater strides toward your goals. A greater abundance will be yours. P. M. don't waste energy arguing with kin over trifling matters.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — Get an early start this morning and be sure to see a wise associate, since aspects are wonderful for getting things done. Also there is great opportunity all about you now. Combine efforts. P. M. drive carefully. Speak judiciously.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) — After discussing the specific work expected of you by higher-up early in A.M., you can roll up your sleeves and labor with vim and enthusiasm. P. M. don't make any important financial decisions, since judgment is not so good. Rest.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Good day to be with associates either to work or have fun together. Results will be very gratifying. Take care in the evening not to permit a strange-acting partner to draw you into some unfortunate argument. Smile.

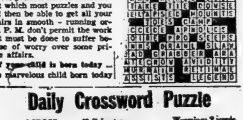
Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Spend this day adopting new methods or mechanics that will help you live and money plays heavy labor. This can be in any sphere. During the evening, be diplomatic or you can have serious argument with one close to you.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Fundamental affairs should be handled today, and be sure you adopt more modern methods as that greater efficiency and less expense result. Take it easy in the evening and steer clear of arguing with anyone.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Get all your daily duties done efficiently today, whether at home or in business, out of doors, etc. Don't waste valuable time. P. M. don't pay attention to one who puts temptation in your way. Retire early.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — In order to enjoy greater success and happiness, it is imperative you adopt more up-to-date methods, and this is just the right day to do so. This evening take particular care in money matters or you jeopardize security.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Ideal day to be with progressive allies and show your loyalty. Exchange ideas. Let sociability reign. P. M. don't give your egotistical partner a chance to get under your skin. Refuse to argue. Smile and win out.



Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — It is possible now to ferret out that which most puzzles and you will then be able to get all your affairs in smooth — running order. P. M. don't permit the work that must be done to suffer because of worry over some private affairs.

If your child is born today ... The marvelous child born today will readily understand all the latest modern sciences and trends, and will follow the shortest course between ambition and goal. Give as excellent an education as pocketbook will allow, and do not neglect foreign tongues. Permit a trip abroad early as a cultural attainment. Success will come relatively early in this chart and increase gradually throughout life.

CAT WAS RABID

Wise of Strathroy. She has received three anti-rabies shots and no symptoms of the disease, fatal to humans, has appeared.

CONSERVATIVES

that said the convention publicity committee "does indicate that the cabinet owes an obligation to prepare its announcements in a fashion designed to be understood readily."

The report said the committee isn't satisfied this was being done in all cases, adding "In many instances there has been no proper exposition of broad policy decisions."

Other resolutions urged re-establishment of the committee that investigated the CBC at the last session of Parliament, it was with its work unfinished and expressed a desire to sit again. Adoption as soon as possible of a national flag and a national anthem also was asked. The resolution did not specify what the flag or anthem should be. In convention decorations, the predominant flag has been the Red Ensign, and both God Save the Queen and O, Canada have been sung.

Resolutions praised the government's record, expressed support of the Commonwealth, United Nations, NATO and the Colombo plan, and endorsed government policy on farm legislation, the bill of rights and progress.

Mr. Diefenbaker, who with his wife received portraits at the concluding banquet, referred to a resurgent economy and looming record exports this year, while reviewing government achievements he said showed "marked progress."

But he cautioned that Russia appears to be preparing an economic offensive of "hurricane proportion." Canada's own house must be kept in order and he appealed to labor and industry to use reason and restraint so that Canadian exports wouldn't be priced out of the market.

Big And Friendly Italian Welcome Given Eisenhower

President and Premier Head Those at Airport

ROME (AP)—President Eisenhower flew in to a big, friendly Italian welcome today in Rome, first stop on his 11-country "mission of peace and goodwill."

Clamping airport outside the Eternal City was brilliant with American and Italian flags for the arrival of the president's jet airliner, Italian President Giovanni Gronchi and Premier Antonio Segni headed the welcoming party.

Because Washington requested that the president's visit be treated as "official" and not a more formal "state" occasion, many ceremonial features were absent. There were no flags or decorations along the president's route into and through the city, no interruption ordered in the traffic pattern, and no honor guard escort for the presidential motorcade.

RAINY ARRIVAL

Most clouds closed in as the president's plane was preparing to land, and the jet liner was slightly delayed.

Italian legal and other officials waiting to greet Eisenhower declined to leave the airport building to get out of the rain while awaiting his landing.

Thousands rose early to get vantage points from which to cheer as Eisenhower and his hosts drove slowly into the city along the ancient Appian Way through the gate of San Sebastian past the Colosseum and the Titan, past the Colosseum and the Imperial Forum, and across the Piazza Venezia.

Eisenhower, in a broadcast Thursday night said he hopes he left Washington, emphasized that his is a message of peace.

"To every country" he said, "I hope to make widely known America's deepest desire — a world in which all nations may live together in friendship, in peace, unmolested and unafraid."

The president said the first requirement for reducing the tensions is a start on mutual disarmament under a Western proposal and the Soviet bloc. But he warned that until disarmament starts, the U.S. must maintain a military strength adequate in quality and power.

The American president has 48 crowded hours in Rome before he takes off Sunday for Ankara, Turkey, for talks. His longest session will come visits to the capitals of Pakistan, Afghanistan, India, Iran, Greece, Britain and France—for the Western summit meeting in Paris—and then Morocco. He returns to Washington on the night of the 21st.

The president's schedule today included lunch with Gronchi and Segni at the Italian Foreign Office tonight given by the Italian president for his guest.

Much more important than the visit to the Pope will be spend in Rome, will be the president's public appearances as a demonstration of U.S.-Italian friendship.

For one thing, the president's motorcade will make a long, slow ride on his tour gave Segni something impressive to show Italians over the charges of Italian Communists that the U.S. takes Italian support for granted.

Brazil Airmen Stage Revolt, Seize 5 Planes

RIO de JANEIRO (AP)—President Juscelino Kubitschek Thursday night promised swift action to stamp out a "revolt pocket" revolt by about 25 air force officers who set up revolutionary headquarters after the flight to the northwest Brazil.

The rebels charged Kubitschek's regime was riddled with corruption and Communists, in a manifesto left behind as they seized five planes and flew into the interior to wage their campaign.

Justice Minister Armando Falcao declared everything calm after a two-hour emergency meeting with the president Thursday night. But army units were placed on the alert throughout the country.

The rebels, reported numbering between 17 and 27 and including no army majors, took off in the tiny town of Aragaracas, 1,100 miles northwest of Rio.

The jungle outpost is relatively safe from ground attack. And the small airstrip easily could be made unusable for government planes.

The revolt had the earmarks of propaganda campaign against the presidential aspirations of War Minister Henrique Teixeira Lott. Kubitschek is hand-picked choice to succeed him in next October's election.

The rebel manifesto said they had been supporting Janio Quadros, 42-year-old former governor of Sao Paulo, for the presidency.

But they broke with the major opposition parties a week ago and withdrew from the race. The rebels said that as a result the only chance for a cleanup was by revolution.

SEAWAY SYSTEM CLEAR OF SHIPS AS SEASON ENDS

Some Will Winter At Montreal Port

MONTREAL (CP) — St. Lawrence Seaway authorities, having checked the last ships safely out of the system, now turn their attentions to cleaning and maintenance.

Although the 185 — mile canal stretch between Montreal and Kingston, has shut its doors on the 1959 season, there remains much work to be done to keep it in running order for the spring opening.

One routine job that will continue through the winter is checking thousands of miles of electrical wiring used to operate the locks gates.

Another immediate job is scrubbing out the seven locks that make up the Montreal to Kingston section, part of the great inland navigation system linking inland North America with the Atlantic Ocean. The job is expected to take about six weeks.

AUTOMATIC GATES

Automatic gates will be installed at St. Lambert lock at the Montreal end of the seaway. These gates now are operated by hand.

The last ships to clear the 4475,000,000 seaway, for low decked Canadian lake vessels, slipped into Montreal lake Thursday afternoon. They tied up with several other lake ships in Montreal harbor where they will spend the winter.

The lakers were preceded by a Norwegian freighter, the Salvik, pulled out by tugs. She had lost her electrical power on lake Erie.

The ship has failed to clear the seaway. The Norwegian freighter Vilja, 5,000 tons, ran aground several days ago near Brockville.

Peterboro Gets Early Start By Holding Election Saturday

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Many Ontario cities and a host of smaller municipalities hold their elections today, while Peterborough gets an earlier start by voting Saturday.

This is Peterborough's record successive Saturday election — a change that followed a school board refusal to let schools be used as polling places on school days.

The city will vote for mayor, city council, utilities and separate school board. The board of education was returned by acclamation. The two-way mayoralty fight is between Ronald A. Loucks, incumbent, and Stanley A. McBride.

Voting at six cities will vote for mayors. In six others, only aldermanic seats will be contested.

Mayors elected without a fight are: A. McLean Haig, Belleville; Garnet Hewkin, Chatham; David Hastings, Guelph; Frank W. Miller, Niagara Falls; Alan Johnston, London, and W. Leon Miller, South Ste. Marie.

There'll be a five-way contest in Waterloo between James Bauer, Norman Bathe, Mrs. Jean Hughes, Ronald Buddell and William Brim. In neighboring Kitchener, mayor Joseph Mainzinger will try to retain his office against Harry Wahold.

Mayor A. W. A. White of Galt is being challenged by C. Jill Griffiths, while in Stratford Mayor R. E. Mountain stepped down and the fight will be between C. H. Meier and Mrs. Evelyn Moore.

Former mayor Bernadette Smith opposes present incumbent G. T. LaFair in Woodstock. In Sarnia, mayor Willard Klunie is being opposed by Charles Newton and James Hart.

Sarnia and Fort William mayors, Ivon Walker and Mrs. Catharine Seppala respectively, still have a year to serve. Elections will be held for other offices.

Two of Ontario's bigger towns that vote Monday aren't returned mayors by acclamation. They are J. W. C. Langmuir, Brockville and A. J. Truman, Orillia.

A by-election will be held in Prescott to determine whether control of the town's water system should be turned over to town council by the public ratepayers' meeting.

A bylaw for a 10-year extension of the bus service is at stake in Kenora, Kitchener and Sault Ste. Marie voters will decide on Sunday sport. Sault residents will also vote on whether the franchise should be extended to all persons over the age of 21 without property qualifications. So will Stratford.

Orillia will vote on a proposed annual $1,500 increase in the Labor-Wage Steel Dispute Deeply Deadlocked as Ever

WASHINGTON (CP) — Despite President Eisenhower's plea before the American people for an immediate settlement, the critical labor-wage steel dispute is as deeply deadlocked as ever.

Minutes after the president warned on radio and television Thursday night that a crisis is looming, out on his "peace and freedom" tour, no possible compromise if disputants did not achieve a voluntary settlement, union chief David J. McDonald made a new proposal which federal labor officials described as not unreasonable value.

McDonald suggested that the president reconvene his fact-finding board under Dr. George Willard Taylor, a labor relations lawyer, and ask the board to make recommendations within a framework in which the 500,000-member Steelworkers Union would receive a share of steel management.

Federal mediation chief Joseph F. Finnegan said in an interview the two fact-finding boards are power under the law to make recommendations. Eisenhower did not say he would ask for an independent body to make such recommendations, but had indicated he would not do so unless both sides asked for this service.

R. Conrad Cooper, the steel companies' chief negotiator, said that if the union had shown the same willingness and flexibility as industry on each agreement through collective bargaining that "an agreement would have long since been reached."

Eisenhower in his 15-minute national radio and TV broadcast interrupted Finnegan to say: "In one thing he can to hold around-the-clock bargaining.

"America needs a settlement now," Eisenhower exclaimed. If both sides refuse to meet their responsibility by reaching an agreement voluntarily, "in due course their countrymen will see that they act responsibly."

The White House has given no sign that Eisenhower will seek congressional action to force a settlement if no other solution is found.

MAY NEVER KNOW COMPLETE TOLL OF FRENCH FLOOD

Plan Mass Funeral For Over 100 Victims

FREJUS, France (CP) — Mass funeral services were scheduled today for more than 100 victims of the giant dam break which on Wednesday night turned the tranquil Mediterranean coastal farm region into a valley of death.

The complete toll may never be known. Some property organization estimates today ran as high as 500, although officials officially called this figure "exaggerated or premature."

Some 100 bodies had been recovered by this morning, and the missing list continued to grow. Officials explained that the missing total could only be based on the names of the relatives. Thus, in cases where whole families might have been swept away, their absence might not be detected until later, when some semblance of order returns to the valley of the Reyran River below the now-crumbled Malpasset Dam.

A FOOT TORRENT

The 185-foot-high dam — only 22 feet through at its thickest point — crumbled and disintegrated after five days of torrential rains piled an intolerable load of water behind it. In minutes, a roaring wall of water perhaps more than 100 feet high swept down the narrow valley. It then spread around and through this town of 11,500 before it poured into the Mediterranean and carried away what lay in path.

Officials decided on a mass funeral this afternoon for as many as possible of the identified victims. The burial site was the town cemetery, in a high part of the town that escaped the flood.

Scores of other bodies draped in sheets were placed in rows in the courtyard of the town hospital and in makeshift morgues at nearby St. Raphael and Puget-sur-Argens. Hosts of stricken relatives of the missing paced slowly back and forth, scanning the uncovered faces.

DEMENS RIPPED UP

The difficulty of estimating the toll was underscored by George Demens, 50, of the International General Dag Hammarskjold at the United Nations in New York.

Gen. Demens was killed in Le Westmount, Que., and was educated at Loyola College, Montreal. He graduated from the Royal Military College in Kingston in 1931.

After a long military career, which included service with the 1st Canadian Corps in Italy in the Second World War, he was named executive-general secretary of the veterans' affairs department in 1946.

He became assistant deputy minister in 1950 and was appointed deputy minister in 1954.

UN Force Chief Canada's Adviser On Disarmament

Diefenbaker Announces General's Appointment

OTTAWA (CP)—The resignation of Lt.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns as commander of the United Nations Emergency Force in the Middle East and his appointment as government adviser on disarmament was announced today by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

Mr. Diefenbaker said that Gen. Burns would take up his duties in Ottawa "as soon as he has taken leave of his command in Gaza." Gen. Burns returned to the Middle East Wednesday after a four-week furlough in Canada.

"He will be responsible for advising the government on all disarmament matters and will represent Canada in international negotiations relating to disarmament questions.

As his first formal assignment, Gen. Burns will serve as Canadian representative on the new 10-power disarmament committee, expected to begin its work in Geneva early in the new year.

The committee, formed recently to supplement the work of the United Nations in the disarmament field, is comprised of five Western and five Communist members.

VERY PLEASED'

In a brief interview, before he entered a cabinet session, Mr. Diefenbaker said he was "very pleased" that Gen. Burns had accepted the appointment.

He said the general has taken a "great interest" in disarmament matters.

"The Canadian government believes that the new disarmament committee will provide a forum in which realistic and serious negotiation on disarmament can be conducted," Mr. Diefenbaker's announcement said.

The appointment of a Canadian of Gen. Burns' wide experience is a measure of the high importance which the government attaches to the work of the committee, and to the role it will play in it."

Mr. Diefenbaker said the announcement was being made simultaneously by Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold at the United Nations in New York.

Gen. Burns, 48, was born in Westmount, Que., and was educated at Royal Military College, Montreal. He graduated from the Royal Military College in Kingston in 1931.

After a long military career, which included service with the 1st Canadian Corps in Italy in the Second World War, he was named executive-general secretary of the veterans' affairs department in 1946.

He became assistant deputy minister in 1950 and was appointed deputy minister in 1954.

Living Cost Index up Again For Fourth Consecutive Month

OTTAWA (CP)—Despite lower food prices, living costs in Canada rose for the fourth consecutive month, pushing the consumer price index to a record high of 126.1, up 0.1 from 126 a month earlier, the bureau of statistics reported today.

The increase of three-tenths of a point in the index—based on 1949 prices equal to 100—was caused mainly by higher prices for clothing, 1590 passenger auto mobiles and services such as haircuts and baby.

The sub-index of food costs declined in October to 123.8 from 124.2 in September. This was the first monthly decline in the index since May when it dropped to 118.1 from 119.3 in April.

Lower prices were reported in the month for eggs, grapefruit, canned vegetables, some beef cuts and pork cuts and fresh or frozen vegetables prices were higher.

The index of industrial wages and salaries at Oct. 1—latest figures available—was 173.1, up from 170.3 at Sept. 1 and 164.9 at Oct. 1, 1958. The index is based on 1949 figures equalling 100.

This wages index, computed from a survey of firms employing more than 15 persons and covering a wide range of industries, represents an average of total wages paid.

Footwear recorded further price increases, particularly children's shoes which rose 4.6 per cent in the month, a number of men's furnishings also rose slightly.

Price increases also were recorded for passenger cars, theatre admissions, pharmaceuticals, personal care items such as haircuts, and women's hairdressing.

Plane Sights Capsule With Monkey Aboard

WASHINGTON (AP)—A navy plane reported at noon EST today that it has sighted in the Atlantic the space capsule that carried a monkey on a test flight.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said a rescue vessel would be alongside the capsule about 1 p.m. EST. It was in the water 200 miles offshore.

The monkey that rode the capsule is named Sam—from the initial letters of the School of Aviation Medicine.

The man carrying the capsule was launched at Wallops Island, Va., at 11:18 a.m.

Reporting here on the experiment, the space administration said that it went smoothly.

A main purpose was to test the high altitude an emergency device for separating the capsule from the rocket.

AT HIGH ALTITUDE

It said the separating device—called an escape rocket—fired when the booster rocket was at an altitude of 150,000 feet.

The capsule coasted up upward to a height of 55 miles.

When the capsule had descended to an altitude of 20,000 feet, a small parachute opened to stabilize its descent.

At 10,000 feet, the main parachute opened and lowered the capsule into the water.

CITY and DISTRICT NEWS

UNEXPECTED SURPLUS OF $18,000 SEEN

The city treasury is going to have a surplus of some $18,000 for the past year's supplementary roll budget. This roll accommodates the revenue anticipated from payment of part taxes for occupancy of a house or running of a business commencing during the year. This year $20,000 was budgeted for the anticipated revenue but to date $37,000 has been received of which approximately $19,000 goes to the school board. This leaves a balance of about $18,000 to apply to the city's accounts outside of educational expenses according to Mayor Gerald Hyde, or an unexpected surplus of $18,000.

MEDICAL STAFF OF HOSPITAL DONATED TURKEYS

In the recent report of the W.A. of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society patients' Christmas party, the turkey which was donated was given by the Medical Staff of the hospital and not by the General Hospital, not by the Hastings-Prince Edward Medical Association, as stated.

Only Some 100 Citizens in Attendance To Hear About 35 Candidates for Office

Outline Their Views on Municipal Problems

A very poor attendance of local citizens, about 100 in all, were present at the BCIVC auditorium yesterday evening to hear some 35 candidates for municipal offices. Although the 'no-confidence vote power,' many of the speeches were stood and indicated that the vast majority of the candidates, if not the members of the electorate who were conspicuous by their absence, were quite concerned about the affairs of the city during the coming year.

Held under the sponsorship of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, with Mr. J. C. R. Punchard in the chair, the meeting moved quickly and quite smoothly as each candidate was allowed three minutes to present his or her views.

The first candidate to speak was Harold Armstrong who said it was most important to reach a "satisfactory settlement of the capital difficulties" in the city without losing any of the city's present services. He also stipulated, the Hospital Board on their new wing and the educational authority on handling the city's 7,700 students. Mr. Armstrong noted that he had served on the business of the city on previous occasions and that he had good board and various subdivision development. If elected, the candidate promised to give his full attention to the best of his ability to serve the interests of the public.

Ross Bailey then spoke and noted his experience as secretary-treasurer of the County of Hastings for six years and as a member of Thurlow Township council in 1958. He felt that this experience would be valuable to the new city council for the load of work which they had ahead of them. He also stated that he was sure the financial affairs of the city could be put in good order through the leadership of Mayor-elect Hyde and the co-operation of city council and promised to do his utmost to give the city sound government.

RESIDENT SIX YEARS

John Barlow, a resident of the city for six years, stated that he had every confidence that he would be considered worthy of sufficient job on council. He pointed out that his training in labour relations would give him the ability to appreciate facts and to constitute them. He also mentioned and considered that he was an well qualified as any other candidate.

Ben Corke spoke next and mentioned that he was "heart-warming experience" to find the support given him by so many people after the announcement to run for alderman. He pointed out that his interest in the city of Belleville and desired to make it a better city. He felt that his accounting experience and his knowledge of finance of things would be of value to council.

"Fling the leak at city hall" was the title concluded the candidate to the chuckles of the audience.

5-POINT PLAN

Robert Dawson, 26-year resident of the city, spoke next and outlined eight points which he considered to be quite important concerning the city's financial position. We were: young people trying to buy homes; those living on old age pensions; those living on small pensions; those people with small take-home pay; retired persons with small pensions and where the people would stand after they came to paying off the city's debt. He also queried the possibility of increasing the price for children to skate at the city rinks. He also drew attention, the fact that mayor and council did not know where the city's finances actually stood and why the mayor did not call for regular financial statements to be put before council. The candidate promised, if elected, to ask for a financial statement at regular intervals from every city department if elected and concluded that "we cannot afford playboys on our city council."

John Deacon suggested that it was a lack of experience, which evidently is inability to understand figures, to relate facts, he elected stated and in a sense what the people wanted, that created the "inability" to know how to administer created the situation. Deacon did a lot of work on Mr. Deacon. Stating that he had no political ties but only a desire to make the city "a better place to live in on a non-partisan basis." The candidate pointed to his successful city council experience and stated that he would greatly appreciate the voters' support at the polls.

SUGGESTS CAPITAL BUDGET

Alderman Jack Digby said that at no time did he support illegal spending or spending money as an election team. He spoke of his work with the planning board and indicated that the Municipal Board had advised that the local zoning by-law was outdated, subject to a few minor amendments. Digby also mentioned that he had introduced the motion establishing in all municipal over the age of 21 and resident in the city for one year franchising a vote in municipal elections. He suggested that once the financial situation is in order, a capital budget should be prepared to cover a five year period, as the city of Belleville and desired to make it projects most important to the city are dealt with on a planned basis in order of their importance. He stated that the city's indebtedness kept within bounds.

DEFICIT TO BE SMALLER

Alderman Elliott stated that he felt the amount of deficit which the city would have to budget for would probably be much lower than early reports have indicated and that one of the major things for the new council would be the selection of an outstanding treasurer from the applications received. He added that the city would require a controller to co-ordinate its needs.

Alderman Jack Ellis stressed the need to change the-method for new industry in Belleville and suggested that the city required a "forward, up-to-date executive ment" to induce industry to locate here. The candidate pointed out that during the past year, his first on council, he initially felt that he was best to allow the more experienced aldermen to take the lead but that he soon got into it and towards the end of the year that he began to take action. Ellis, who stated that he was stood on a platform of honest representation in council and that previous councils had gone against the Municipal Act. "Last year I did a great deal of 'sitting on us" said Mr. Gibbs in clarifying his statement which was alleged to have been misquoted. "Give us labor . . . . . the facts, he elected stated and in a sense what the people wanted, that created the situation and the only thing for which he wanted to get on council.

FAVORS TAX EXEMPTION

Douglas Grant spoke for the yearly establishment of council committees and recommended a 10-year tax free policy be extended to any new industry coming to the city. Mr. Grant stated that if elected he would endeavour to see that his first class zoning rules representative to sell Belleville industry both in North America and abroad.

James Husser stated that as an alderman his local union and the District Labor Council and Labour's representation to the United Appeal he felt qualified to help run the affairs of the city and that he had "the interests of the people at heart". Mr. Husser felt that labor as well as the professional men and lawyers should have some representation on city council and he was running men and lawyers, he was running as a labor man and he felt that there was a lot of work ahead, although the new committees which he felt the chairman has already located several new industries to Belleville this year. Mr. Ireland stated he would support the rural vote on any sound infrastructure measures.

Alderman Jarvah stressed the importance of people getting out to vote on Monday. He also stated that he supported the candidates recommended by the Belleville Ratepayers' Association and that he felt his business experience in accounting would be of use to council.

Frank Long stated that he was running as an alderman since he was a native of Belleville and would like to see the city improved. He also said that he would have the time available to adequately fulfill any duties he might be assigned of alderman. Mr. Long said his experience in accounting and auditing statements and stated that he, as an alderman, would like to see that monthly cash statements were made by the council and suggested that a floating debenture issue be made to take care of the present deficit.

ADVOCATES COMMITTEES

Mrs. Effie McCabe, a member of the current council, stated that she enjoyed 'community work' and that she worked conscientiously and that at this time "now more than ever (ratepayers) need experienced representation." Stating that she was an advocate of the committee system, Mrs. McCabe said she felt that in this way members of council would know all goes on.

Leone McDougall mentioned her previous experience on city council a number of years ago and said that he felt this experience would be a valuable asset to the next council. He mentioned that he would like to see the sewage disposal system, which he had advocated about 12 years ago, completed. Mr. McDougall felt that the present problems were not insurmountable but that the taxpayers should be given to spread out payments to a period of five years or to pay their share of the cost of the project to meet the city's deficiency in one payment as they saw fit.

Douglas Moxam stated that he has had many years of municipal experience on city councils in the past and felt that the present city's deficit be one of things which have happened because the city did not spend and vote. He urged that council should work together and not be divided by the betterment of all people. Mr. Moxam promised to serve to the best of his ability.

FAVORS BUS SERVICE

Mrs. Enid Ponton said that she was great pride in the community and was keenly aware of the problems which fell on the ratepayers and felt that a bus system was essential to proper growth. She also suggested the use financing of the city's deficit be financed through a hard bargain with the Bank of Montreal, in closing remarks Mrs. Ponton suggested that Belleville may well have had more than a few old men on council. "Don't you think it is time we elected some who actually wear skirts?"

Leslie Reid stated that he felt there was no compromise with his position as a school principal in running for aldermanic especially since some 9,000 people in Belleville are involved in daily education and they should have representation on council. Mr. Reid suggested that it was time to stop criticism and to create a community spirit "that we can be proud." He added he also offered his services because he had a personal interest in government.

Mrs. Vera Risto said that she was "eager and willing" to accept the position of alderman. As of an alderman and that it was her role and desire to help in the position of this city and to help to give them the kind of municipal administration which they deserved.

Carl Baker said that he felt he could help to put Belleville in a sound financial position and that he would see the plan and promised that he would get the public utilities.

Joseph Roth stated that he felt well qualified to represent the people of a city hall and would be glad to assist anyone who was in need in Mon-day.

FAVORS COMMITTEES

Alderman Robert Temple gave a stirring argument in favor of city government with a committee to cover the various activities of committees. The delegation of all responsibility to a city manager courts disaster said Mr. Temple adding that if council did a good job of administering it still know what is going up and can remonstrate its responsibilities.

Donald Whalen, a former mayor, stated that he wished to serve because of the relative-

IN MEMORIAM

ASSELSTINE. — In loving memory of Sur.on Asselstine, who passed away December 1st, 1951.
A wonderful husband, so kind and dear,
A father we were sitting here
Alone, unseen; you stand by my side
And whisper, don't grieve, for death cannot divide.
For deep in my heart your memory is kept,
Or one, still love and shall never forget.
—Missed by wife Lina.

BENNETT. — In fond memory of a dear husband, William Bennett, who passed away December 4th, 1957.
—Always remembered by Alice.

CLOUT. — In loving memory of our dear father, Nicholas Dafoe, who passed away April 19th, 1940, and our beloved mother, Eliza Ellen Clout, who passed away December 9th, 1956.
Time is not slow our sinking,
We watched you fade away,
Our hearts were almost broken,
You could so hard to day,
But when we saw you sleeping,
So peacefully and free,
We could not wish you back
To suffer more with us.
—Sadly missed and ever remembered by the family.

EMPEY. — In loving memory of my dear husband, Ernest Empey, who passed away five years ago today, December 4th, 1954.
Gone from our home so quietly,
Gone from our sight,
But in the best whom God could lend,
She loving, gentle, thoughtful friend.
And what a kind act to do.
It is on years at the moment shed,
That tell how beloved is the soul that has fled.
But tears through many a long night weep,
And loving remembrance fondly keep.
—Sadly missed by sister Pearl.

HARRISON. — In fond memory of a dear friend, Gisela Harrison, who passed away December 4th, 1954.
Oh happy hours we once enjoyed,
How dear to memory still,

Name of Witness Withheld By Request of Magistrate

Mrs. Dorothy Joan Herman, 25-year-old Marmora mother of five children, will go to trial for murder at the Spring Assizes here next January.

Thursday morning at Marmora, Mrs. Herman was committed for trial by Magistrate C. Earl Jackson at the conclusion of her preliminary hearing adjourned from November 26, when Mrs. Herman, charged in the shooting death of her husband in the kitchen of their Marmora home early in October.

Only one witness was called John A. Pringle. This was the resident of the Crown Attorney husband of a Toronto woman whom Mr. and Mrs. Herman had been keeping company with in that city. The press was directed by Magistrate Jackson not to use the name of the Toronto witness who was termed a victim of circumstances.

The witness told the court that he had met Mr. Herman when he had come to his (the witness) home in Toronto to see his wife. He said that he had later learned from his wife that she planned to leave home with Mr. Herman.

He said he had come to Marmora to see Mr. Herman but had been told by Mrs. Herman that her husband was in Orillia. He said he had told Mrs. Herman that her husband was running around with his wife.

CROSS EXAMINED

Under cross examination by Defence Counsel Ronald Cass of Belleville, the witness said after a telephone call he had left Toronto with Mrs. Herman both had felt that his wife would be foolish to leave him

Christmas Party For Disabled Persons Is Held

TRENTON — The annual Disabled Persons' Association Ball this annual Christmas party in the 3-year old Hostess House on Wednesday evening. Forty-two members were present. Miss Eva Morrison, president of the association, welcomed the members and expressed regret at the absence of some members who had been too ill to attend.

Miss Morrison also thanked Miss Ann Sannon and Roly Whitley for providing transportation for the members.

Roly Whitley read a report of the association's progress during the past year.—It mentioned the four low-rental bungalows in Dixon-Whitley Heights which have been erected for the use of disabled persons, and expressed the hope that another house might be built in the coming year.

Mr. Whitley voiced his gratitude for donations for the basket.

Highlights of the meal were a Christmas cake with candles and a dark and light cake, baked and decorated by Mrs. Jim Patterson, members of the club.

Following the dinner, Mrs. Roly Whitley in the role of Santa Claus, presented each member with a beautiful gift. Miss Lorena Jean Dixon presented gifts to Miss Morrison and Mr. Whitley on behalf of the association.

Pat Whaley played several accordion selections and vocalist Les Fraser in conducting singsong. Mr. Fraser also played several enjoyable piano selections and duets with his young daughter Phyllis — entertained with jokes and tongue twisters.

Miss Morrison proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. Whitley for his assistance in the erection of the low-rental houses and other club projects.

Teen-Agers Find Defender in School Teacher

TRENTON — Kenneth Ferrer, guidance and counselling officer at Trenton High School, rose to the defence of today's teenagers in a challenging address to the Kinsmen Club at the Kinsmen dinner meeting last evening. "I am for the teenager," said the speaker, "they are doing a fine job in meeting the challenge of modern life."

Mr. Ferrer said that parents are not teaching their children the proper values. They install the idea that material possessions must be achieved at all costs, instead of showing their offspring that character-building is the most important phase of modern education.

The speaker cited the case of Stanley Van Gorder, who has been the idol of every student. He said that Mr. Van Doren had the personality, the ability and intelligence, but had not had the opportunity to further his knowledge in the field of engineering and fame by cheating.

PRINCIPAL COME FIRST

Mr. Ferren said that the first aim of the school was to instill the right of honor and the truth in the student, but that this idea must be carried out in the home before the teacher can teach it effectively.

Secondly, the student must learn to acquire certain skills, which will be useful in his life occupation. Guidance at the school is directed towards assisting the student to find his own particular niche in the world of work.

Thirdly, said the speaker, the school endeavors to impress their children the necessity of rounding out their characters by reading the literature of today and that of years gone by.

Mr. Ferren urged the members of the club who were fathers themselves to help their children and to show pride in their children and to show pride and approval in their school reports, judging them by their individual merits instead of by the accomplishments of others. He said that teenagers should be considered as young adults, and that parents should give some thought to the difficult period of life through which their children were passing. He said that these young adults are trying to cope with their school work, sports, social activities, etc., and that the situation often led to complete confusion in their minds.

In concluding his remarks, Mr. Ferren suggested that the fathers present where their children, by example, that one should give tangible evidence of the wanes of the democratic way of life by taking an interest in municipal affairs, refusing to be ruled by prejudice and having respect for authority.

Mr. Ferren was introduced by Al Hawkins and thanked by Ed. Secretary.

Preceding Mr. Ferren's address, Ehrinfried Nick Fraser read an appeal from the Retail Merchants' Association urging the club members to "get out the vote."

Mr. Fraser announced that there had been a 94.5% attendance in October, and asked the members to keep up the good work. He reminded them of the Christmas party to be held at the Quennewsy Hotel on December 15th. Six members volunteered to participate in the Santa Claus parade on December 8th.

Town Briefs

TRENTON — On Wednesday, December 16th, the cardiac facilities at the Trenton Community Gardens will pass into the hands of the Gardens commission. For the past three years, veterans workers have handled the canteen, but the commission now feels that the concession will produce much-needed revenue for the Gardens. The committee, presided of Gardens' manager, Ron Thornton, and composed of members "Nick" Fraser and Howard Bowen, has been seeking new changeover, and expect to expand the service to provide more and better refreshments.

FREE SKATING

For two hours ever Sunday afternoon, from 2.45 p.m., the Trenton and district children enjoy free skating at the Gardens. The first hour is reserved for children up to 10 years of age and the second for those over that under 16 years. The skating is supervised by the Gardens' Cruisers to ensure safety. Sergeant Gordon Steenburg has been lecturing in Trenton public schools during National Safe Driving Week, in an effort to make the students safety conscious. On Wednesday, Sgt. Steenburg, who is the safety officer on the Trenton police force, broadcast a message over CJBQ in connection with safe driving.

PAYING OFF

At the regular weekly dinner meeting of the Kiwanis Club, Thursday night, Kiwanian Norman Davis commented on the fact that only two Elmer flags have had to be lowered in the schools since September, and said that he felt the safetrans program, in which the Kiwanians play an important part, was paying off.

DRIVER SHAKEN

At 4.10 p.m. yesterday afternoon, Gordon Hunt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hunt, 78 Bay Street, ran out from Graham's Garage entrance on Dundas St. East directly into the path of a car driven by John Douglas Mcintosh, 51 Victoria Avenue, Belleville, and was knocked to the ground. The Gordon claimed that he was not hurt and ran off, leaving the driver slightly shaken, but thankful that the accident had not been of a more serious nature.

TOMORROW

Tomorrow morning, Santa Claus will arrive at the Community Gardens and be escorted by the largest and most spectacular parade ever staged in Trenton along Dundas Street through the central business area of the town to the playground at St. Peter's school. There are 13 floats participating in the parade. Mayor Ross Hurtt will ride in the first car in the procession. Several other organizations have been invited to take part in the parade. Street Banner Backs Winter Works Program

A street banner urging Belleville citizens to support the National Employment Service winter works program was hoisted in the downtown area on Bridge Street this morning.

Mr. George Whitman, chairman of the local Winter Works Program committee, said the erection of the banner would contribute to the public attention the necessity of jobs being provided to keep as many Belleville and district workers as possible employed this winter.

He said it marked the commencement of the committee's "Do It Now" phase of the winter works program. The idea was to create winter employment to stimulate the local economy, he said.

Also speaking during a brief ceremony marking the erection of the banner was Herbert Pointer, representing local organized labor.

Mr. Pointer noted that material contributions from Thos. Walker Hardware, and Simpson Sears, together with cash donations from other Belleville merchants and the local hotel association, had made the erection of the street banner possible.

Bridge to the Future

Around about next June, if all goes well, Belleville citizens may see the start of a new four-lane bridge on North Front Street, over the C.N.R. tracks.

Five will get you ten that somebody will growl about the intelligence quotient of people who build four-lane bridges on two-lane streets.

There might, therefore, be no great harm in explaining right now the thinking behind the four-lane project. It was advocated by the City of Belleville and the Ontario Highways Department, which suggests there must be some good reason for it. The C.N.R., whose employees will not untinored in the art of persuasion, opposed the project but to no avail. The Board of Transport Commissioners, not noted for being woolly-minded, rejected the C.N.R. pleas and endorsed those of the city and the highways experts.

What is the explanation?

Basically it is that the bridge will be designed to serve Belleville for a long, long time and that the day may come when there is a second "Upper Bridge" over the Moira at the end of Pinnacle Street, funnelling traffic onto Cameron Street and back to North Front at the approaches to the bridge.

When this second bridge is installed, one-way traffic would be the rule in the down-town area, with traffic probably moving north on Pinnacle Street and south on Front Street.

Practical experience shows that one-way streets move traffic faster. Just why this should be so may not be easy to explain. If the traffic density on the two streets used to move traffic in opposite directions has been approximately equal, and about the same in both directions, it would appear that all that has happened is that half the traffic on one street has been moved to the second and repeated on the first street by half the traffic which formerly used the second street. Nevertheless, the system seems to work and one cannot back theory against experience.

The one-way streets would thus speed traffic flow in the down-town area. North-bound traffic would cross the Moira on the new bridge and move up Cameron Street to North Front, to flow into a four-lane highway at the southern approaches of the new bridge to be built over the C.N.R. tracks. South-bound traffic from Highway 401 would continue down North Front after crossing the railway bridge, cross the river on the present Upper Bridge and continue south on Front Street.

The success of this plan, of course, is dependent on North Front Street being able to carry four lanes of traffic between Highway 401 and the junction of North Front and Cameron Streets.

The four-lane bridge and its approaches would eliminate the narrowest bottlenecks on the present street. True, North Front narrows again just north of College Street, but it is that short stretch in difficulty here would provide for four-lane width at little expense.

So the bridge is the key to the whole scheme. There is no use having one-way streets south of the railway tracks, and a four-lane highway north of it, if the bridge will only accommodate two lanes of traffic. And that is why it will be a four-laner.

In case somebody considers it unnecessarily expensive to build today for what, after all, is only a highly educated guess at tomorrow's needs, we can only say that if this is not a true example of the stitch in time which can save nine, we do not know where you would find one.

Indeed, if one wants to get fanciful, one can envisage the day when there will be no automobiles on Front Street. It could be converted into a plaza, after the style of those now being built in progressive cities. As an answer to the suburban shopping centre, down-town business districts are being given park-like surroundings, with play space for children and benches where shoppers can rest amongst pleasant surroundings. It could be done here, with north-bound traffic moving on Pinnacle Street and over the new Moira bridge to North Front, while south-bound traffic after crossing the four-lane C.N.R. bridge, could be diverted to Coleman Street and flow south, to cross the river by a new bridge at the mouth of the river, near the C.P.R. bridge.

It doesn't hurt to dream, and, very often, today's dreams become tomorrow's realities.

Strictly Personal

No, Syd Does Not Live in Buffalo

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Everywhere I go, people ask me how I am enjoying my house in the suburbs. When I tell them I am not, I can see them think I bought a house in the suburbs, they re-ply. "Well, I tried about seven new house and just assumed it was in the suburbs."

This irritates me, perhaps more than it should. The city has thousands of fine houses — many of them finer than the cracker-boxes that are now being built in tomorrow's suburban slums.

The house I bought is 70 years old, and it would be impossible to duplicate it today, except for millionaires. But the walls are thick, the ceilings high, the woodwork fine, the bathrooms tile, the basement large and dry, the attic large and light — and there is no lawn to cope with, for the patio in back is all blessed out.

Dollar for dollar, and convenience for convenience, a house in the suburbs is a poor buy, and in the suburbs. And the real shame of the matter is the dilapidation of the city, the ruin of once lovely neighborhoods, the conversions of old homes into rat-holes and worse.

No regiment of the population is exempt from blame. The politicians have never had the courage that city planning for business people have been shockingly short-sighted in failing to recognize that when the city decays, their property values decline. And the public itself has turned tail and made a cowardly retreat to the suburbs, where it is rapidly acquiring most of the old urban problems — traffic jams, high taxes, and transportation difficulties.

Yet I remain steadfastly hopeful about the future of the city — and why? I put everything I have into a house, and will not be off the market hook until I am a toothless old grandpa. Unless enough of us take a stand for the preservation and restoration of the city, our children will unquestionably curse the hideous life of perpetual commuting.

More than that, I am convinced that the city will present thrive without a clean, prosperous and energetic city. If present trends continue, the city's population in the future will be composed of millions of the very poor and a few thousands of the very rich, and nobody in between. This would be a disaster for city and suburbs alike.

People are meant to live and work near each other. Only the city (and the dwindling small town) can provide this combination. The future belongs to me the unhappy compromise of a tired and frightened family.

Tibet Seldom Independent

Windsor Star

Majority of people in the world have a misconception of thought of Tibet as an inde-pendent country. They are confused by claims that it isn't and their confusion is understand-able. Tibet is shared by many authorities on international law and politics.

There are two concepts of Tibet. One is that of its geographical mountains area; the other of an actual state. But the mountains are the real basis of form. Much of the geographical Tibet lies within the boundaries of the direct rule of China. The other part may be best described as theocratic dependency state under the suzerainty of China.

The confusion is nothing new. It goes back to the 13th century and the 7th century when Chinese influences started moving in on Tibet. But, nevertheless, in the following two centuries, Tibetan authorities ruled large areas outside Tibet proper.

It wasn't until the 13th century that China began exercis-ing control in earnest with Kubilai Khan, the first Mongol ruler of China, governing his sway to that region. In the intervening years Chinese control over, and influence in, Tibet waxed and flowed. Often China just wasn't in a position to exercise firm control — but she never surrendered her claims.

It was early this century, in an, Anglo-Chinese Convention, and also an Anglo-Russian one, that Chinese suzerainty was affectally recognized. But there was an understanding that China was not to convert Tibet into a province, whatever as she now seems to be doing.

All this may seem academic but it isn't. However much one may be puzzled about what the Chinese are doing in Tibet, there isn't much one can do about it. It is a part of China — as the United Kingdom is a part of Europe, among others, believe. It isn't an invasion by the Chinese into an independent state.

That is the academic, legal aspect of it. The practical aspect is simply that Tibet is so inaccessible to Western armies that no help could be given to Tibet lans short of an all-out war with China. And that is unlikely. Tibetans would be slain by the Chinese in a larger scale slaughter than now exists. Wishing to help and being able to do so are two different things entirely.

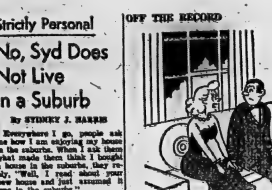
KEYNOTES

As the day breaking into light suggests a silent keynote for itself, so does each life, each day, consciously or unconsciously, give out a tone that just as surely establishes the value of your day. Actions, remarks, pictured or written are kinds of keynotes.

The sad noble thoughts establish, they go far. So mighty are they that they control what we leave their source. But their keynotes are left behind to enrich who gave them.

The process of life, while being very great and wonderful, is in reality extremely simple. Right is right. Beauty is beauty. Wrong is wrong. The basic elements are single sided.



It is from these basic elements that all the inspiring keynotes for action and service emanate. It is only when we lose sight of the central truth and begin to feel futility, that we wander and become enmeshed in doubt and gross distraction.

I recently read the statement of a World War I veterans who said that it was the ever-appearing smile of his grandmother, that kept him going. Just at the moment when he felt he could not stand another minute, he saw that smile. It was the keynote to his day.

Your day at its close is bound to reflect its keynote at the start. Live, then, in a series of fine keynotes, each linked to the other, all welded together in harmony so that one grand keynote of life and purpose to do, to dare, and to serve.

Letter To The Editor

Appeals for Large Vote at Election

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer,

Very shortly we will again be called upon to elect the personnel of our local government and the whole of Ontario's newspapers will be very much interested in the way we democratically elect this election to the world that we are conscious of our obligations and interested in local government.

It would be very satisfying if we could show a turnout of at least 80 percent of those entitled to vote instead of 58 percent. A candidate feels proud when he has the confidence of the majority of the electors and stead of squeezing into office by the votes of his immediate family and relatives. Unfortunately we have been in possession a considerable percentage of people who have been in possession, quit. They suffer from egomania and their eyes are turned everlastingly downwards in search for pie. When called upon to do a peaceful task, they seem to only respond that "George can do it."

All forms of government are controlled by them in the best an-ever-generous Santa Claus. It is only in dictatorships where people have been suspecting that another fatty material, Cholesterol, may be more significant in hardening of the arteries.

Now it is well established at all in your diet, the body would manufacture it from other foods and from its own tissues. What diet does seem to have some effect on how much cholesterol is in the blood. What we don't know is why and how it is deposited.

The significant known facts about cholesterol are:

1 — Most body manufacturers it from fat sources.

2 — Hormone production seems to have some effect on the cholesterol level in the blood.

3 — Extreme restriction of diet low in fat tends to lower the level. But such drugs also do not.

4 — Males have higher levels, in general, than females.

Vegetables and fish oils (so called "unsaturated fatty acids") tend to lower the level. But "unsaturated fatty acids" from meat fat, butter, cream, egg yolk and shortening tend to raise it.

Yet even controlled diets have not been associated with lower long periods. And I feel pretty sure that we can't keep the problem of hardening of the arteries on this one single peg. We've got to find out more.

From the practical standpoint, my feeling is that a low fat diet certainly won't hurt, to try was built.

All World Loves Gossip

The Printed Word

Love of gossip, especially scandalous gossip, is so ingrained in the human race that it would be folly to be worried about it. One may deplore the fact that one's next-door neighbor habitually beats his wife or that the man two doors away is unconscious on the roll in drunk three nights a week; but one still wants to hear all the details that the other neighbors can tell or invent. Otherwise the subjects of gossip are unknown to anyone in the neighborhood. It is a fact, sad though, become everybody's concern.

In recent years the everyday scandals of the neighborhood front-page news across the continent. Kennedy's wife is the target of the family next door, but plenty of people must read about it in the daily newspapers and press agencies in many countries of the world.

The thrill received from such tales may not be unmixed with envy. Reading of the case of Hollywood starlet, the wife of her dull, middle-aged husband, and wondering whether she might turn him in on a new model.

On the other hand, her reaction to the life of Hollywood's glitter may be similar to that of the Victorian lady, who read, after watching a performance of Antony and Cleopatra, "Thank goodness my life of our own dear queen."

Next time you are at lunch with a few friends, pass the conversation around and each one to draw a cup and saucer, which he has there before them, in full view. What a mess they make of it.

The PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

After years of violent protest against modern music in all its forms, atonal, twelve-tone, and modern art in all its shapes, con-representational, abstract, I have come to the conclusion that reasonable explanation of modern music and art. Why should people, perhaps the great majority of the listening public, be content to hear discordant music which they are tone deaf? Why should people who can't even draw a cup and saucer be dominated by the laws of visual exactitude?

Next time you are at lunch with a few friends, pass the conversation around and each one to draw a cup and saucer, which he has there before them, in full view. What a mess they make of it.

Next time you stand up in a hotel gathering where God Save the Queen is sung, listen to the leftovers and revels, all of us, of all sorts of ties of your fellow patriots.

What modern music and modern art are, actually, is a revolt of the artists, after having paralyzed, the color blind, and a great variety of otherwise handicapped people, against most unfairly to a sort of music and a kind of art that no longer requires any standards.

Everybody go in for abstract, the arts: and that, of course, is why there are so many modern artists. It's a free world, at last. Anybody can hoot and holler.

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

RELATION BETWEEN CHOLESTEROL AND HARDENING OF ARTERIES IS DENOTED

"Dear Dr. Molner: How is 'cholesterol level' determined by a doctor? Is it difficult or complicated? There must be many like me, who would like to be informed about cholesterol in the interests of health. — E. D. H."

Other letters on the same subject boil down to the same thing. People think they ought to "do something" about cholesterol, yet the best doctors aren't sure what ought to be done about it. Quite a difference of opinion has developed lately.

The test itself involves drawing a blood sample which is sent to a laboratory for a moderately-complicated test (subject to considerable variation, by the way) after which the report goes back to the doctor. It is then his job to figure out how the lab test applies to this particular patient. It isn't easy.

There seems to be some relation between cholesterol and hardening of the arteries, but cholesterol is necessary to the body, the question isn't whether we should have cholesterol in the blood but rather what makes it deposit itself on the walls of the arteries. Recently considerable people have been suspecting that another fatty material, Lecithin, may be more significant in hardening of the arteries.

Now it is well established at all in your diet, the body would manufacture it from other foods and from its own tissues. What diet does seem to have some effect on how much cholesterol is in the blood. What we don't know is why and how it is deposited.

The significant known facts about cholesterol are:

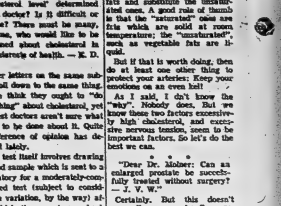
SNAP JUDGMENTS REVISED

Almost fifty years ago in a small town a young man started out in the firm.



Some people judge the value of a gift by the distinction of its wrappings, and in their judgment of people they apply the same standards. Certain of these were ridiculously mistaken in the case of this young salesman. The Almighty often seems to take delight in sending his geniuses and prize-winners into the world disguised.

No one should ever be discouraged because he doesn't strike the right people at first, or runs afoul of folks. Furthermore, in seeking an employer, it is best not to put too much stock in appearances.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

Only a Fireman in a Gilded Jail?—Fred Hoskins (left), looks either disappointed or worried at not finding a beautiful princess in the RumplestiltskinFloat but Deputy Fire Chief "Warzy" O'Brien appears to be in a good frame of mind behind the gilded bars. This float will in all likelihood have a beautiful Belleville belle behind those bars tomorrow morning in the Santa Claus Parade.

Warden Says Honorarium Given Head of Council Totally Inadequate for Time Spent

A request that consideration be given by the 1960 Hastings county council toward the raising of the honorarium received by the warden, was heard at the conclusion of the December session of council Thursday afternoon.

The suggestion was made by Warden J. N. Brown who said the present honorarium of $500 was completely inadequate for the time spent during the year at attending meetings, social and other functions at which he is expected to attend.

"The warden should not be penalized for occupying the role and council head," he said.

Mr. Brown suggested that the warden's honorarium be increased to $1,000 which he said would be small enough. By comparison the warden of Peterborough county which is smaller than Hastings, receives $3,000 per year.

An appeal for county council to keep alive the request for taking over the Madoc-Tweed-Foxboro county road as a provincial highway, was made by W. Lorne McDougall and Walter T. Elliott, representing the Belleville Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. McDougall said the Chamber was very disappointed that the highways department had turned down the request for assumption of the county road as a provincial highway and referring to the department reason for declining to take over the road that there was insufficient traffic, said that possibly until the present increase in the traffic was the condition of the road.

Mr. Elliott said his organization as well as the Madoc Chamber of Commerce was ready to do anything which could be done to keep the matter alive.

NO DAMAGE CLAIMS

Harry Coulter, county weed inspector, told members of council that 31 miles of county road had been sprayed and 123 miles by tractor. Cost of spray material was $4.04 per mile. There were no damage claims this year as result of spraying, he said.

Mr. Coulter noted that rag weed, wild cherry and chickory were the most obnoxious in the county.

The county road report was read by roads committee chairman Reeve Alfred Wickett who noted that gross expenditure on the county road system to October 31st, $373,178, including expenditures on the Ashburnham roads system, Belleville-Thurlow county and suburban roads to the end of October was $324,540.

The report covered all phases of roads and bridges construction and maintenance during the year.

Reference was made in the report to the proposed construction of a subway beneath Dundonald C. N. R. track north of Trenton and Mr. Wickett suggested that provisions should be made in next year's budget for the work. He noted that the formal order of the Board of Transport Commissioner authorizing the work was passed on October 13th.

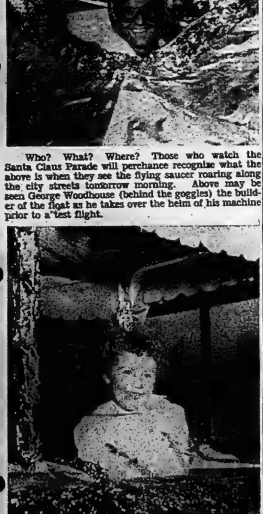
The structure will be designed by the CNR and will be built by them or constructed by contract under their supervision. Eighty per cent of the cost but not exceeding the sum of $140,000 will be paid by the board. Five per cent will be paid by the railway and 15 per cent by the county on which it would be entitled to provincial subsidy.

Construction is not expected to start until the spring of 1960.

PROGRESS REPORTS GIVEN

Total money spent on roads and bridges for maintenance to the end of October was given as approximately $200,000.

Progress reports on the Tweed-Sulphide development road project and the Bridge Road between Stirling and West Huntingdon, were also included in the report.



A delegation of three Marmora township men, George Fox, G. Bedore and Clarence Murphy, appeared before council requesting elimination of a bad curve on a hill north of Deloro, where it was stated, heavily loaded trucks were continually getting stuck during the winter months.

Action on the matter next year was promised by the roads and bridges committee chairman.

Warden Brown asked reeves to give more thought to the provision of jurors' lists for county and supreme court actions. He noted that the names of increasing numbers of women were appearing on the lists. He said there was nothing against women serving on juries but pointed out they could refuse jury duty and this made additional work for county officials.

At least three of this year's county councillors, Reeve Irwin McCoy, Marmora township, Reeve Hannah, Mayo township, and Murray Smith of Madoc village are retiring this year from municipal life. All were invited to speak briefly as council at the session ended. To a man they returned their salute and the good fellowship which existed at council sessions.

Thanks to Warden Brown for the manner in which he had conducted the sessions was expressed by Reeve Doug Spencer of Tweed.

Who? What? Where? Those who watch the Santa Claus Parade will perchance recognize what the above is when they see the flying saucer roaring along the city streets tomorrow morning. Above may be seen George Woodhouse (behind the goggles) the builder of the float as he takes over the helm of his machine prior to a test flight.

. . . One Miss Who Won't Miss . . . the Santa Claus Parade tomorrow morning at 11.00 a.m. sharp will be this little girl who has been watching the Firemen at Fire Hall No. 1 construct floats. Above she may be seen sitting in the gondola float, perhaps waiting for a Venetian boatman, perhaps for Santa Claus.

Santa Parade Will Be Started Right on Time

Tomorrow morning at 11.00 o'clock sharp, thousands of city and district people will see the start of the annual Santa Claus parade as it comes over the Upper Bridge and winds its way down Front Street to Dundas East, along this street and then back up Pinnacle Street to the Upper Bridge and on to the No. 2 Fire Hall where it will disperse.

This will be the culmination of many hard hours of work on the part of the Santa Claus Parade Committee and many local residents. Fire Chief Gerald Vance, chairman of the committee, indicates that this will be one of the best parades to date and the line up of floats and bands certainly indicates this.

There will be 18 bands, 25 floats, and some 150 walking personnel as well as Ieo, cowboys and cowgirls on horseback. "There will be majorettes galore," adds Deputy Fire Chief "Warzy" O'Brien. The bands will include the local Salvation Army Band the city band, and the ever-popular Clown Band. The Marching Debs and the Army Band will be here from Picton as well as the RCAF Main Station Band from Trenton. From Cobourg there will be the Sea Cadet Band and the band from the Canadian Legion Branch 133. Another Legion band will be coming from the Port Hope Branch 139 as well. The Colborne Boys' Band and the Lindsay Kiwanis Cavaliers complete the list of bands.

LED BY COLOR PARTY

Leading off of course, will be the color party escorted on the three horses, Laverne Way of Milford, A. E. Kleinsteuber of West Lake and Walter DeMille of Prince Edward County will form this party. Many new floats will be on hand, one of the most interesting of which will be the ferris wheel float put in by Mott Lumber.

Robin Hood, the Queen of Hearts, RumplestiltskIn, Humpty Dumpty, and Mother Goose will all be in the parade, together with many others. The Ontario School for the Deaf will have in a float with Eskimos and there will be the Disneyland float and the Merry-Go-Round of the local firefighters as well. And, of course, last but certainly not least, there will be Santa Claus.

About 15 minutes before the parade starts there will be 5,000 pieces of candy given out to the boys and girls along the parade route. Motorists and pedestrians are cautioned to please co-operate with the police and the various barricades. No parking will be allowed along the parade route from 10.00 a.m. on until the end of the parade.

The difference in time of starting this year is because of the parade being held in Trenton at 10.00 o'clock the same morning.

Tweed Man Hurt As Car Upsets

TWEED (Special) — A young Tweed man, Gerten Fleming, sustained facial and other injuries early today when his car went out of control on No. 37 highway south of Tweed and rolled over in the ditch.

Police said the accident occurred about 7.30 this morning when the area was blanketed with fog. The mishap occurred on a curve on the highway. The car was badly damaged.

INDIANS TO QUALIFY

TORONTO (CP) — A recent agreement between Ontario and the federal department of citizenship and immigration will make it possible to offer the province's handicapped Indians the same rehabilitation services as other handicapped, Welfare Minister Cecile announced Wednesday.

Internal dissension is one of the greatest enemies of a smooth working city council, Mayor-Elect A. McLean Haig told the Chamber of Commerce pre-election meeting at Belleville Collegiate last night. Belleville's newly-acclaimed mayor addressed the meeting following addresses by aldermanic, school board and PUC candidiates.

Mayor-Elect Asks Teamwork In New Council

In a short but strong address to a Chamber of Commerce-sponsored meeting at the R.C.I. last night Belleville's acclaimed mayoralty candidate, A. McLean Haig asked voters to elect the very best possible council.

"The worst thing that can happen is to have a council which has become a house divided among itself," he said.

The new mayor said he had seen many councils flounder because they succumbed to prejudice, cliques or affiliations. Mayor-elect Haig said he did not want to hear what aldermanic candidates had do say, because he wanted to remain apart from them until the council is elected.

Hitting at the hard work which lies ahead for the council next year, said the principal job was to clear up the (financial) situation.

"There is nothing to be derived from wondering about the why's and wherefore's, which have got us here," he pointed out.

"This is not the time or place to tell voters some ideas. But we will need harmony on council. Without harmony we cannot have co-operation, without co-operation we cannot have wisdom and without wisdom we cannot have efficiency.

"No one man," he emphasized, "can run a $3,000,000 business with 18,000 employers. Join with me in the crusade so that we can hand over (the city) to our successors in a better condition than which it was handed to us."

The mayor-elect was lengthily applauded following his address.

Camera Club Plans Awards

The executive reported that it had completed plans to present the awards, in the form of trophies, to "The Photographer of the Year" and to "The Most Improved Beginner." The winners will be the two photographers who have the highest number of points gathered through the year by winning first, second or third place in the club monthly competitions and by entering salons and contests of other clubs. A timely invitation from the Toronto Camera Club to enter its annual salon was received and read to the club.

A Photographic Society of America slide lecture entitled "Prints I Would Never Enter in a Salon" was shown. The lecturer, Mr. George Hoxie, presented his pictures with a lively sense of humor. Along with the prints he considered poor, he showed several of his many award winners.

The next meeting will be January 5, and anyone who receives a camera for Christmas and would like to learn about photography is invited to attend.

Lutherans Will Hold Services At WI Hall

This Sunday will be the first time that the Lutheran congregation in Belleville, now at the United Lutheran Church Mission, will hold services at the Quinte Women's Institute Memorial Hall on East Dundas Street, next at Smith's Transport.

Conducting the service will be the Rev. Harold R. Lindeman, B.A. who is the first resident Lutheran pastor in Belleville. He has served other parishes at Unionville and Minden following his graduation from the Lutheran Seminary in Waterloo in 1956. He graduated from Waterloo College with a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1953. Mr. Lindeman is married to the former Shirley Ann Darcy of Waterloo and they have one child, Stephen, aged 17 months. They are living at the Lutheran parsonage at 12 Meadow Crescent together with a niece, Linda Hofer.

Mr. Lindeman has come to Belleville to carry on the work of organizing a larger congregation and establishing a permanent parish. Adherents of the Lutheran faith have held services in the Hall for the past ten years with services conducted by a visiting pastor from Kingston. They have acquired a piece of property beside the new Moira Secondary School for a church which will face on the proposed extension of Victoria Avenue east.

Currently there are some 70 adults in the congregation and it is hoped that others of the denomination will join this group so that a permanent parish can be established early next spring. For the present morning services are held at the Women's Institute building on Sundays at 11.00 a.m. with Sunday School activities scheduled to commence on January 3rd at 10.45 a.m. Those of the Lutheran faith may get in touch with Pastor Lindeman by calling Woodland 2-3185.

WRIGHT—LEGACE

On Saturday, November 14, at high noon, a lovely autumn wedding was solemnized at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Wright, Belleville, when Mary Jacqueline Legace, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Legace, was united in marriage to Douglas Harold Wright of Belleville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wright, by the Reverend R. A. Rickard of Belleville R.R. 3. Ferns and white chrysanthemums adorned the home for the occasion.

Recorded music, "The Wedding March" from Wagner's "Lohengrin," "Bocuse," and the "Wedding Chorus" were rendered prior to the ceremony, and during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in her ballerina - length bridal gown of imported Chantilly lace fashioned with fitted bodice having a Sabrina neckline and long lily-point sleeves. The fully bouffant skirt was enhanced by triple tiers of ruffles at the back with imitation lace and rosebuds. She wore a seed pearl crown headdress with waist-length veil of tulle illusion and carried a semi-cascade bouquet of red roses mingled with miniature white 'mums.

Miss Jeannette Twiddy, of Belleville, R.R. 3, as maid of honor; Mrs. Lionel Bovay, of Belleville and Miss Lois Parliament, of Oakville, Ont., as bridesmaids, were gowned alike in floor length sheath dresses of princess lines with fitted bodices, scoop necklines, and three-quarter length sleeves. The bodices were shirred from shoulder to waistline, accenting the smooth bouffant skirts. Elbow length veils were attached to matching velvet pillbox hats. They carried identical bouquets of red roses with white 'mums.

Mrs. Bell, a graduate in architecture from the University of Toronto, has done an enormous amount of work connected before such productions, initiated in most cases three months or more, and the close relationship between the actor and the designer.

SCENE'S DEMANDS

Each scene demands its own particular costume and specified material, which will tie in with the mood of the play, or scene. All of which must be supported by very work in close, three times as many as 300 designs are given to get the perfect effect. Usually there are from 12 to 15 engaged in the workshop and 12 or more for property effects. The amount of material for each costume runs be more- tailored, and the cutting is no haphazard business. Only new classical sewers are employed . . . an exacting profession.

Each costume is perfectly fitted which aids in the graceful ease of wearing and design. Accessories, does not impede the actor in his expression of the act. In designing, Stratford has set a precedent for other theatres, who are using use of qualified designers, which is an inducement for young artists to enter this field.

The property department hands over its requirements to the designer, who determines what needs to be used to achieve the required result. Several items of property were on display; coats of mail, jewelled orbs, helmets, all produced from almost unbelievable materials as electrical gadgets, extension cords, pieces of tin, and the celluloid and fibre glass medium which are disguised by paint and gilding, making the adjusted appear most realistic to the sudience.

'Behind the Scenes at Stratford Festival' Revealed to W.C. Club

"Behind the scenes at the Stratford Festival" was a delightful and revealing experience last evening for the Women's Canadian Club at Sir Winston Churchill School, related by Mrs. A. M. Bell, one of the key personnel connected with the Festival since its inception.

Mrs. Bell, a graduate in architecture from the University of Toronto, has done an enormous amount of work connected before such productions, initiated in most cases three months or more, and the close relationship between the actor and the designer.

Hold Party For Couple Recently Wed

STIRLING — The neighbors of the east end of the village tendered the newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Tainsa (nee Yvonne Bonnie Eagleton), a presentation party Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Eagleton, Mill Street.

The program consisted of a sing-along, piano selections, and readings.

Mrs. Elwood Bateman read an address of appreciation, and Mrs. Norman Bay and Mrs. Geo. Haggerty made the presentation of a modern hassock and a condiment set.

Ronnie and Ron expressed their thanks for the party and gifts, after which light refreshments were served.

SETTLE LAWYER'S FEES

TORONTO (CP)—Lawyer Donald F. Downey reached an out-of-court settlement Thursday with Charles Ingwer, being sued by Downey for nearly $100,000 in professional fees. Neither Mr. Downey nor Joseph Sedgwick, Ingwer's lawyer, revealed the amount of the settlement.

Time Does Not Hang Heavy On Hands of Ann Purdon

MONTREAL (CP) — Time doesn't hang heavy on Ann Purdon's hands. In fact, to her it is a precious commodity which has to be budgeted with that devoted to a two - year - old daughter, a medical-student husband, a full-time job, keeping home and her hobby—acting.

When Mrs. Purdon appeared recently in Christopher Fry's The Lady's Not for Burning, presented by the English department of McGill University, it was her first stage appearance since she arrived in Canada from England a year ago.

"I've wanted to act as long as I can remember," she said. "I studied it all the time I was in school and took examinations at the Guildhall School of Music and Drama and at the Royal Academy." In the play she takes the part of Mrs. Devize, a fussy old woman.

"My favorite parts are character roles," she said. "Mrs. Devize is right up my alley."

CREDIT MANAGER

At 25, Mrs. Purdon is Quebec credit manager for an Ontario manufacturer and has a 28-month - old daughter. Her husband, Derek, is in last year pre-medical studies at McGill, and Mrs. Purdon sandwiched her rehearsals in between preparing dinner and getting Jennifer Penney to bed.

"I felt I simply had to start acting again," she said.

Her husband stuck to his ambition to be a doctor throughout his school years, army service and a job after his discharge.

"We heard it was easier to work a way through medical school in Canada than in England so that's why we're here," Mrs. Purdon said. "Granted, it isn't as easy as we had hoped, but things are all right and Derek hopefully five years more to go."

A minor complaint about life in Canada, says Mrs. Purdon, is its lack of amateur theatres.

"In England everybody who wants to act can find some company to stitch themselves to. Here I've found it's like asking for gold to say you'd like to be in a play."

Wedding

HUDDLESTON — HARDWICK

Pink, white and bronze chrysanthemums adorned the altar of Christ Church, Belleville, on Saturday, November 21st, at 1:30 p.m. for a very pretty wedding when Beverley Ann Hardwick of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hardwick, became the bride of Maurice Richard Huddleston of Belleville, son of Mr. and Mrs. F.M. Huddleston. The Reverend E. P. Hewton, assistant rector of the church, officiated.

The wedding music, "Birds of Aristophanes" was rendered by the church organist, Mr. John Croydon Withers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in her bridal gown of white Chantilly lace and nylon net fashioned with molded bodice having a bolero jacket. She wore a headdress encrusted with seed pearls and sequins, shoulder-length veil of tulle illusion, and carried a crescent bouquet of red roses.

She was attended by Miss Thelma Smith of Oshawa, as bridesmaid; by Mrs. J. Crocker of Belleville, as matron of honor; and by little Miss Patsy Huddleston, sister of the bridegroom, as flower girl.

Mr. William Hardwick of Toronto, attended the bridegroom, while Messrs Larry James Hardwick brother of the bride, and John Huddleston brother of the bridegroom acted as ushers.

The reception was held in the Canadian Legion Hall, Belleville, where the bride's mother, wearing royal blue silk with beige accessories and corsage of yellow mums, received the guests. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, gowned in royal blue with white accessories, and corsage of pink carnations.

The bride's table was prettily appointed beneath cascading streamers of white and pink, with white wedding bells, and centred by the wedding cake flanked by roses and mums.

For travelling to western points, the bride chose a red velvet sheath with black accessories and corsage of white mums.

Guests attended from Walkerton; Cedar Harden; Toronto; Colborne; Oshawa; and Belleville.

(The bride, previous to her marriage was entertained at a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. J. Crocker at the home of Mrs. J. Smith, with Miss Thelma Smith as co-hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Huddleston are residing at 119 Dundas Street, West, Belleville.

The Experts Say
Baby Dolls Coming Back Says Toy Manufacturer

By EDNA BLAKELY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — The brown baby doll, missing from the toy market for about 15 years, will be back in big numbers.

But Canadian toys for this Christmas are better, and bigger, than ever before, says Earle Pullan, director of an organization of Canadian toy manufacturers.

"You can't sell junk to Canadians even if it's cheap," he said. The new toys cost more, but they're better made and they're bigger.

One of the best sellers this year is a life-size three-year-old doll with straight hair. A lot of dolls have straight hair, a style that was successfully introduced last year.

BABY DOLLS

The sophisticated doll is on the way out, and the baby doll is coming back more strongly than ever, said Mr. Pullan, who's been in the toy business for 18 years.

Cuddly - type toys are popular with Canadian youngsters, and they don't like futuristic toys, he said. Space suits, toy rockets and other missile-age toys sell well in the United States, but Canadian youngsters just aren't interested.

"That's the one significant difference between children's interest in toys here and in the United States," says Mr. Pullan.

"Our Canadian - manufactured toys are equal to American toys and better than imports from other countries."

GUNS POPULAR

Toy guns are as popular here as across the border, One Canadian manufacturer ships more than 1,000,000 toy guns a year to the Canadian market.

Are guns harmful? "Nonsense," says Mr. Pullan. "Guns release the feeling of aggression in youngsters. We played with guns when I was a boy and I think all the boys I grew up with turned out all right."

During 1959, it's estimated that Canadians will spend $60,000,000 at the retail level for Canadian made toys.

"Of that I think 60 to 70 per cent is at Christmas," he estimated.

Mr. Pullan doesn't think that toys are a luxury.

"A child growing up without toys is missing the fundamentals of life," he says.

His own three children, who are 3, 6 and 9 years of age, are given a limited number of toys.

There's merit in labelling the age group that toys are designed for, if research is done on the matter, he says. However, he thinks most parents know the capabilities of their own children and buy accordingly.

Unusual Daytime Dress

By VERA WINGTON

An unusual daytime dress that has an air of quiet elegance about it is this slender sheath of black silk crepe. It has slim, set-up sleeves of three-quarter length. The graduated bands and yoke at top and at the hem are of midnight blue satin, thus making for the desirable texture contrast and adding to the air of quiet assurance of a style that can go anywhere gracefully.

MODERN MANNERS

Carolyn Wagner Shaw

TOASTING THE BRIDE AND GROOM

It recently attended a wedding breakfast and was amazed at the lack of knowledge and food taste displayed by the members of the bridal party. In each case, in proposing toasts to the happy couple, before the affair was over it had assumed the proportions of a drinking party, as toast after toast was offered by first one person, then another. The bonds of good taste were definitely overstepped in some of the so-called witty comments made. I noticed also that the bride and bridegroom raised their glasses and drank with the rest when a toast was proposed to them.

It is well to remember that a person offering a toast should endeavor to express a spontaneous sentiment, the shorter the better. Everyone is made uncomfortable by long and sentimental tributes. To propose a toast that indulges in the risque is an unpardonable breach of good manners, at any kind of celebration.

The person to whom a toast is offered should never refuse to drink. A smiled acknowledgement is all that is necessary for the recipient of such an honor. Sometimes, after a toast, the guest so honored is called upon to rise and make a speech. He then takes occasion to thank the company for the tribute they have paid him.

There is no valid excuse that decrees that a toast drunk in water is extremely bad luck. Therefore a guest who is a non-drinker of alcoholic beverages should always make a pretense of taking at least one sip of his drink when a toast is offered.

There are certain rules that govern who proposes a toast on certain occasions — particularly the toasting of the bride-to-be and her fiance at their engagement-announcement dinner. After the dinner, all the glasses at the table be filled, the father of the young lady rises, holds his glass aloft and says something to this effect: "All happiness to my daughter, Mary (holding his glass aloft and bowing in her direction) and to Jim" (holding the glass high and looking at him). Then all the guests rise and drink a sip or two. The young people remain seated and do not touch their glasses.

The best man should propose the first toast to the bridal pair at their wedding breakfast or reception. Other toasts may be offered by any of the guests who feel so inclined, but it should be up to the best man to make sure that it is not overdone.

Don't be confused or embarrassed if you have a toast proposed to you. Smile your thanks for the honor, and don't drink to yourself! If you offer a toast to someone else, make it brief to the point, and by all means avoid comments bearing a double meaning.

Question: Should an invitation to an informal eggnog party be acknowledged? The one I speak of is in the third person on an informal folded card. It does not ask for an answer. — Mr. A.V.H.

Answer: Unless an answer is requested, it is not necessary to reply to this type of invitation. However, if usually is a pleasant, little note of appreciation for the thought in inviting you is the gracious thing to do.

United Church W.A. Enjoys Travelogue of Holy Land

ROSLIN — On Tuesday evening the Women's Association of the Roslin United Church held its December meeting in the church with five neighboring branches invited as guests.

The president, Mrs. D. Chisholm, occupied the chair, and opened the meeting by reading a few verses and leading in prayer.

Correspondence was read by the secretary, Mrs. J. Fargey. A reading, "The Birth of Christ," was given by Mrs. S. Colden; the carol, "O Little Town of Bethlehem" was sung and the Bible reading of the Christmas story was given in three parts by Mrs. H. Meeks, Mrs. G. Bailey and Mrs. J. Fargey, interspersed with the following Christmas hymns; "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks," "As Wide Gladness Men of Old," with Mrs. F. Howes as accompanist.

The leader for the evening, Mrs. S. Colden, was in charge of the program with the theme of the meeting being, "The Spirit of Man Is the Candle of the Lord" taken from Isaiah 2-2.

Mrs. G. Hoagland read a poem, "A Christmas Thought;" Mrs. E. Pringle gave a reading, "The Nativity Candle" and Mrs. G. Goodfellow an article from the Peterborough Examiner on the life of Mrs. Beaver, who was a former resident here.

GUEST SPEAKER

Mrs. Colden introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Carman Alson, of Tweed, who, with her husband, has recently returned from a trip to the Holy Land.

Mrs. Alson is a fluent speaker and showed numerous colored slides verily taking her listeners on this Christian pilgrimage to Egypt and the East. She said, "In Christ there is no East or West."

They arrived in Beirut, then on to Lebanon, which is small and is terraced to utilize all available land. Sides are very sak pools. These were most interesting. Salt water was diverted into the pools and when the salt has settled, is run off and the salt remains.

The cedars of Lebanon were shown. They arrived in Jerusalem for Palm Sunday. Jerusalem is 2,000 feet above sea level. The beautiful Garden of Gethsemane, with its olive trees which have stood for generations.

At this time Mrs. Earl Gray sang "In the Garden" with Mrs. E. Wannamaker playing the accompaniment.

In the Temple area many churches were shown. The Arabs are not all Moslems, many are Christians. The Golden Gate was shown where Christ passed through on Palm Sunday.

Modern women wear veils and in death as in life, the casket is covered if it is a woman, and uncovered if a man.

She showed a picture of the Wailing Wall which is the only remaining part of the Jewish Temple that is left.

Jordan with its fertile valleys has not much of it cultivated. What is, is done with wooden plow, and the entrance to Jericho's wall which has a chapel built over the well.

She also showed pictures of Arab refugee camps, which number a million refugees in subject poverty; the Kedron Valley; the original scroll of the Five books of Moses; a field of lilies in full bloom, red in color with black throats; Bethlehem; the summer palace, this was a beautiful castle on a hill and the cave, where the shepherds were keeping watch. The Protestant denominations hold services here on Christmas eve; also a view of Bethlehem not large by population but scattered buildings on the hillside; Rachael's Tomb and the church of the Nativity. It was under here where Christ was born and all who enter must bow in adoration as they go through the lower doorway.

STONE BUILDINGS

The buildings in Bethlehem are stone as there is very little wood in this section and have stood for over 1,000 years. They have large cisterns to store water in during the rainy season as most of the year it is very dry.

The speakers and her party saw and gained permission to ring the bells of Bethelehem.

They visited a cave described here. There is a church built over the home of Mary, Martha and Lazarus.

There were also pictures of a Roman village showing the Roman with his ancient carving, an old Roman road of stone; donkeys are used everywhere as beasts of burden; a vineyard with Solomon's Pool in the background and the hill of Golgotha where Christ was crucified.

At this time Mrs. E. Wannemaker sang "Were You There When They Crucified My Lord?" with Mrs. Gray as accompanist.

These beautiful scenes were of sunrise on Easter Sunday morning; the road from Jerusalem to Jericho, which is a barren country where nothing grows, but Jericho is a lush oasis where there are bananas, mangos and other fruits.

Women were seen filling their large pitchers by the river on their heads and, when filled weighs around 70 pounds.

The River Jordan, where many Biblical baptisms were performed, the Jordan has its source in the mountains of Lebanon and is a swift stream that stirs up the muddy floor as it rushes along.

MODERN BUILDINGS

There are some modern buildings near the Dead Sea, which natives were there stayed from which they had some marvellous views. The Dead Sea has a salt content seven times that of the ocean and is buoyant. There is no life in it for this reason, nor fish. The old city of Damascus still stands to this day. They visited the Chapel where Paul received his sight and the street called Straight with Mt. Hermon in the distance.

Cairo, Egypt has a modern beautiful section with a wonderful museum. They had a ride in a small sail boat on the Nile River. Pictures of the three pyramids were seen. The sphinx Tombs of Cyl Pharaohs and a picture of a mummified body preserved in Pharaoh's day.

The leader, Mrs. Colden, thanked Mrs. Alson for her wonderful word pictures and slides of her trip to Jerusalem on behalf of all present.

Mrs. Middleton closed the meeting with prayer.

Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess and a social time was enjoyed.

MISSION BAND MEETS

RAWDON — The Sunbeam Mission Band convened in Mount Pleasant Rawdon Church hall under the direction of the leader, Mrs. Harry Mostagu, with 27 children in attendance.

Evelyn Bray was chairman, and the group sang the theme song, "Little Sunbeams," and repeated "The Mission Band Purpose."

Barbara Williams officiated at the piano and all sang "Jesus Bids Us Shine." Janet Fletcher read the Scripture, and Betty McAdam gave the prayer.

The offering was gathered by Janet Spencer with a special dedicatory prayer by all.

Nancy David gave her report and read the names of paid members.

Selections were read by Lazy Jeffs, Shirley Potts, and Brenda Campbell. Piano solos were played by Donna Kolght and Judy McAdam.

The Christmas program will be arranged by Linda Summers and Jean Jeffs.

The WMS president, Mrs. Herbert Smith, read the last story in "Seven Pairs of Shoes." The story centred around a little girl in Mexico who lived in the mountainous country. Lupe was very pleased to have two pure-bred laying hens. Most of the Mexicans are descendants of the Spaniards and of the native Indians. Lupe had a 14-year-old sister who was attending school and lived in a church boarding school. The nearby farm was run by church people in order to help the farmers of Mexico learn better methods.

The story centred around the theme, "Love one another as I have loved you."

The service closed with a children' hymn of praise.

Young Couple Honored by S.S. Friends

SCOHARIE — On a recent Sunday evening the Misses Joanna and Nancy Thompson opened their home for the officers and teachers of Bloomfield Sunday School for their quarterly business session.

After the business session, Mr. Gordon Love spoke briefly on the half of those present, to Mr. and Mrs. Foster Love which were married recently and they were presented with a nice bridge set from the group for which they expressed sincere thanks.

The next meeting of the group will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Foster in February.

At the Y.P.U. meeting in Bloomfield Sunday School recess, Mr. and Mrs. Foster were presented with a silver cream and sugar with tray from the Union of which both are active workers.

Readers' Friday Column

As conducted by Mary Moore

QUESTION:

I certainly enjoy your column very much and receive much help from it. The last recipe I found very successful was the delicious Applesauce Cake, which was the first one I enjoyed! Thanks so much! I would also like having it and how corn can be canned successfully. Does it become contaminated with botulism, and if so, what are the signs? What is the correct length of time coffee should be boiled when made in the pot on stove? — Just putting coffee and chicory in 5-6 cups of boiling water? Percolator method? How are peas and string beans successfully kept so they get a white growth on top when spoiled? — Mrs. A. S.

a teaspoon of honey (or an equal amount of brown sugar), and fill the centre with sliced oranges (unpeeled.) It is as well to cover with foil until nearly cooked. The combination of flavors — orange and squash — is delicious. Our favorite baked apple recipe also uses oranges. Scrub and core apples, and fill centre with a section of unpeeled orange. Place in baking dish, and pour cranberry juice over apples. The amount of granadine depends on the size and number of apples used. When partially cooked, turn the apples in sugar and baste with granadine. They are good.

ANSWER:

Dorothy, thank you. You are a peach of a cook.

ANSWER:

Creamed Cod with Boiled Potatoes; Tomato Jelly Salad on Shredded Cabbage; Cookies and or Third Prize Apple Pie (see Wednesday); Ice Cream; Coffee.

ANSWER:

Corn and peas and string beans should be canned in pressure canner. While it is possible and is done by some, I prefer them at boiling point, the risk of botulism is too great. Write to Consumer Section, Marketing Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa and ask for publication No. 789 entitled "Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables". It is excellent. I do not believe there is any charge.

PERCOLATOR COFFEE:

For medium strength coffee allow 2 level tablespoons fresh ground coffee to each 1 measuring cup of boiling water. Put the coffee with the white of an egg or crumbled shell from 1 egg into pot. Add 1-3 cup cold water and stir. If possible, allow to soak for 15 minutes. Add 1 cup boiling water, allowing for the 1-2 cup of cold water added to the grounds. To preserve aroma and stuff good with flame. Bring quickly to boil and as soon as it boils up reduce heat as low as possible for 2 or 3 minutes. Allow grounds to settle before serving. Pour when they are settled carefully transfer to hot serving coffee pot or decanter.

LETTER:

After reading your column on "Conserving nutrients by balancing diet," I wondered if my recipe for cooking squash would be of interest. Until recently I must admit that I didn't like it, but now it is one of my favorite vegetables. We prefer the small pepper squash scrubbed, then cut in two, the seeds removed into each half, place a small amount of butter

Friends Fete Young Couple With Suite

SCOHARIE — On the evening of November 30th, friends of Scoharie and Waring's Corner, gathered at Grace Hall in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Foster. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Laundry, East Lake, were guests, and Mrs. Laundry kindly showed slides of England, Scotland, France Italy and Switzerland, which everyone enjoyed.

Mrs. Laundry came from England at the age of nine years and in company with a sister and a niece, made a trip back home last year. She visited relatives and friends, hunted up her old school master, who is still quite spry according to his picture, her school and her old home and visited many related spots in the countries mentioned, which she shared through her slides. All are indeed grateful to Mrs. Laundry.

Margaret and Ross were asked to take seats at the front and Miss Jean Baxter read an address after which the bride and bridegroom were presented with a beautiful chrome kitchen suite. Both expressed sincere thanks for such a lovely gift and for the kindness of being remembered.

They also hope to be able to entertain their friends in their own home in the not too distant

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's page and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Mary K. — I'll take loneliness — and dignity.

Janet S. — She'll get bitter.

* * *

Mary K. — I am a 33-year-old widow with two children. My husband died three years ago. Only in the past few months have I been able to think in terms of marrying again.

I realize that the odds are against me. Single men of an appropriate age are in short supply — and they certainly don't need a woman with children. My sister tells me that unless I get "on the ball" I can only look forward to a long life of loneliness.

In spite of my recognition that she is right I just don't find myself able to do some of the things she suggests. I'm not the aggressive type and sometimes I think it's better to keep one's self and remain lonely, if one must.

* * *

Janet S. — My sister talks a lot about dignity, but I don't see anything especially dignified about a woman going around sad and alone. Eventually Mary will find herself getting bitter. She'll have nobody to blame but herself.

I have begged Mary to join a certain neighborhood group that includes some eligible men. But she feels that everyone will realize she has come looking for men and will sneer at her. I think they will sympathize.

I have also begged Mary to get in touch with an old flame of hers. I've heard this man is still single. What's the harm in her calling him? We both know that this man is very shy and unlikely to make the first move.

Council: It is certainly difficult for a woman who has enjoyed the comfort and security of marriage to move into the rough and tumble battle for a second mate, Janet's emphasis on the necessary or desirable for a woman to assume a big man-hunting campaign unless she so intensely wants a second mate, that she can be enthusiastic about entering the battle.

The simple fact is that Mary needs a bit more in her life than child-rearing. Without a husband's companionship and the normal social life that goes with it, a woman in Mary's position must make an effort to enlarge her life. She must have friends and interests outside of her home.

Mary should certainly join that neighborhood group and she need not feel uncomfortable about it. Social interchange. She should also avail herself of any other opportunities the community offers. Once Mary starts to live a more normal social life, she should find herself thinking less about her own dignity and will be more interested in others. She will have less time and inclination for self-pity and fear about the future. As she builds up contacts, it is quite likely that marriage possibilities will turn up.

We think Mary greatly exaggerates "the odds against her." Despite statistics, it is a fact that a nice, pleasant, interesting woman of any agreeably mature age is sure to awaken a certain amount of sensible interest and get marriage opportunities if they really want them.

THE PROBLEM IS IN THE PROFITS
NO PROFITS — NO PROBLEM

Sunday sports and games are not now prohibited by law — what is prohibited is forcing people to do unnecessary work on Sunday. That means loss of liberty for many. A negative vote means a vote for yourself.

pointed deputy-minister of that department in 1950, an appointment which he held for five years.

In 1949, Gen. Burns served as alternate representative on the Canadian delegation to the U.N General Assembly. During the years 1953-53, he was national president of the United National Associations in Canada.

In 1955, he became chief of staff of the United Nations truce supervision organization in Palestine and when the UNEF was formed in 1956, he became its commander.

IN A MONTH

Reliable sources 'said Gen. Burns likely will arrive in Ottawa in about a month.

The question of a successor was described as easily in a UN matter. However it was "not likely" to be a Canadian.

Final arrangements concerning Gen. Burns' appointment were concluded during a visit he made to Ottawa ending this week.

There was no mention of salary in the announcement of Gen. Burns' new appointment. An official said this likely would be decided by order-in-council. This is the first such appointment to be made by the Canadian government.

The UN commander was elevated to the rank of lieutenant-general from major-general about a year ago, with the stipulation that he would revert to the lower rank after expiry of his UN engagement. It was suggested today, however, that Gen. Burns, who officially is retired from the Canadian Army, might retain the lieutenant-general designationas as a "courtesy title."

Bingo patrons are usually over 50. They spend an average $2 a night—$1 for entry and $1 each a card.

The clergy generally and senior policemen have been against them from the outset.

Service clubs point to the $150,000 boys' club building, the scholarships and many other works bingos have made possible. The Lions Club alone has grossed an estimated $2,000,000 from bingo in 17 years and spent $750,000 on welfare.

town's $2,500 band grant. In the Niagara Falls suburb of Stamford, four referendums will be on the ballot. They are the principle of the municipality operating a public transportation system jointly with the city, increasing the size of council, staggered election terms and extension of the franchise to all over 21.

The town of Tavistock will vote on whether to spend $120,000 on a new public school.

LATER ELECTIONS

Some Ontario centres hold elections later in the month and early next year. They are Owen Sound Dec. 12, Pembroke and Port Arthur Dec. 14, Sudbury Jan. 2.

Brantford, Eornwall, Hamilton, Kingston, North Bay, St. Catharines, Oshawa, Ottawa, St. Thomas, Toronto, Welland and Windsor won't vote until the end of 1960. Last year they elected officials for two-year terms.

The town of Timmins held its election earlier this week. J. E. Brunette defeated mayor Leo Dollard, who was trying to retain the office for a sixth straight term. Mr. Brunette served as mayor from 1940 to 1947.

NON-SUPPORT SUIT

OTTAWA (CP) — An action for non-support against CBC television personality Fred Davis has been filed in county court here by his former wife. The action, brunched in the name of Jeanne Olive Young Davis, now living in Auckland, N.Z., with her 10-year-old daughter Kathie, claims Davis is $878 in arrears on his $70-a-month payments.

Sidney Twp. Council

The Sidney council met in the Frankford Town Hall, Wallbridge, on Monday, November 30th, with all members present.

The minutes of the last regular meeting, specials and nomination meeting were read and adopted.

Road voucher No. 612 for $2,113.86, and relief accounts for $443.57 and December pay sheets were paid.

One by-law was passed, that of appointing Charles W. Fairroad superintendent, subject to the approval of the divisional engineer.

Nomination meeting held at Wallbridge on November 27th till council members were accorded acclamation — Harley A. Hamilton reeve; Gerald Irvine deputy reeve and Elwin Clark, Jack M. Bush and Ernest Wells councillors.

Council adjourned to meet on Tuesday forenoon, December 15, at 11 o'clock a.m., in Orange Hall, Wallbridge.

J. W. Bailey, clerk.

Mr. Wishart came to Belleville in 1929 with the Entomology Research Institute where he is a research scientist. He has published over 25 papers in various scientific journals. He is a graduate of Toronto University and a post-graduate of McGill University. He has served in several capacities on various organizations in the city. For many years he was on the executive of the Quinte Skating and Tennis Club when it was a young and growing organization. He has been a member of the Hastings County Advisory Board of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind for 20 years and for several years was chairman of this organization. After serving for many years on Belleville Board of Education and Bay of Quinte District High School Board he retired voluntarily in 1956 On these boards he was chairman and vice-chairman and was chairman of the management committee and on the teacher hiring committee almost continuously.

After his retirement he was nominated, by the Quinte District Branch of the Teachers' Federation for the "Lamp of Learning" Award, an award given for significant contributio to education by a layman. I has served on council for tw years and has represented coun cil on the Children's Aid Society and the Moira River Conservation Authority. On this body he is the chairman of the Water Control Advisory Board. He i a director of the Belleville United Appeal.

He voted against spending city money on the hockey team and enlarging the spectator capacity of the arena. He was the only alderman who, during 1958 raised the question as to whether or management of the hockey team interfered with the work of the city manager. He is the only member of the 1958 council who is being supported by the Belleville Voters Committee.

Pointed Questions Posed To Candidates at Meeting

Critics of "shame, shame", catcalls and laughter broke up an audience at the BCI auditorium last night when Ald. Jack Ellis refused point-blank to answer a question regarding the resignation of city solicitor Robert Pringle.

A questioner had asked Ellis to give the grounds on which he voted to accept the resignation of city solicitor R. A. Pringle. Ellis refused.

The question-and-answer period followed addresses to the large audience by most of the aldermanic candidates for office.

HOCKEY ISSUE

Another questioner asked Ald. George Wishart — who acted as part of his platform the fact that he had voted against spending money on the hockey team — why he had not informed the people of this decision at the time.

The reply was that there would have been no significance in telling the people then because authorization for such expenditure would have had to be ratified by council at a general meeting.

Candidate Ben Corke was asked about his stand on keeping the bus service in operation.

Mr. Corke said he believed Council will find some way to keep the buses until a referendum could be put to the people.

On the same vein, another questioner queried the possibilities of running smaller buses, such as the European-type Volkswagens.

Ald. Les Digby said the possibility was a strong one for the future.

Ald. Ellis was asked if it were true that Wilson Concrete —the firm by which Mr. Ellis is employed—would benefit from the paving of Sidney St., which Mr. Ellis had initiated in council.

"I do not think that the firm (Wilson's) has any particular interest in Sidney Street," replied Mr. Ellis.

"The street is in a deplorable condition, and I have to drive it about 300 days of the year."

QUESTION ON ABSENCE

Ald. Effie McCabe was asked why she was absent from council when controversial issues were being discussed. She replied only illness kept her away from meetings, except one time when her car broke down.

Ald. Robert Temple—who is also a lawyer—was asked why he left the council chambers when the city solicitor's resignation question was being argued.

Mr. Temple claimed he was not allowed to debate the question at the meeting. He was then queried about street lighting programs.

"The plan is two-fold," he said. "First, to light unlit areas, then the modernization of lighting in the older part of the city."

Ald. Temple was asked if he would continue to advocate committee-system government against the people's wishes."

He suggesting city affairs could be run by a city manager plus committees, next question again to Mr. Temple — "will you make any startling revelations on your TV appearance?"

"Tune in and see," said the candidate.

Asked what franchised voters included by the Municipal Extension Act could vote on, Ald. Les Digby told the audience those covered by the act could only vote for council and nothing else.

Mayors Suggest School Boards Strike Own Rate

TORONTO (CP)—The Association of Ontario Mayors and Reeves says school boards should strike their own tax rates and send tax bills to ratepayers.

The proposal was made Wednesday in a submission to Premier Frost asking the government to study the matter.

The brief said school boards should be made "fully responsible for establishing tax rates and issuing tax demands for all taxes related to school costs."

There is a popular tendency to blame municipal councils for tax increases caused by boards of education, the brief said.

"This places an unwarranted responsibility on the tax collectors — the municipal councils." Councils now have no authority to limit school board budgets.

Controller E. W. Jones of Ottawa, author of this section of the brief, said in an interview the school board taxes would present no problem and could be collected through existing machinery.

TO STUDY MOH ROLE

TORONTO (CP) — The University of Toronto school of hygiene announced Wednesday it will make a survey of the provincial work of Canada's 300 full - time medical officers of health. Using a $15,000 grant from the W. K. Kellogg Foundation the school hopes to appraise the role of the MOH and suggest new fields of activity.

Eisenhower Makes European Tour of 11 Countries to Show Americans Want Peace

By KEN SMITH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

President Eisenhower, off on a jet-propelled tour of 11 countries, has a lot of prestige—both personal and national—riding with him.

He has stated repeatedly that the purpose of his tour of Europe, Asia and North Africa is to convince the people of the countries he will visit that the United States wants peace.

"We have tried," he explained at a press conference Wednesday, "to emphasize this point in every possible way, through diplomatic contacts, through speeches of the secretary of state, myself and others, and still it doesn't come through."

That statement of his purpose, however, is not quite accurate. The alternative to the U.S. wanting peace is wanting war, and few if any of the officials of any of the countries Eisenhower will visit believe that the U.S. is going to start a world conflagration.

What the officials may be hard-some private doubts about is what kind of a peace the U.S. wants. A common feeling in many of these countries is that the U.S. considers peace the best time to be to its advantage.

To countries such as India, Pakistan, Morocco and Pakistan, and dealing that would give a major Western power such as the U.S. any advantages smacks of exploitation.

This suspicion, of course, is one of the keystones to the Afro-Asian neutralist politics.

The depth of the feeling can be judged by the fact that India, facing a possible war with mighty Communist China, has said that any U.S. military aid would have to be on a strict no-strings-attached basis.

Eisenhower hopes his personal dignity and unquestioned sincerity can succeed in overcoming this barrier where diplomacy and fine-sounding speeches made in Washington have failed.

No doubt remembering the enthusiastic greetings given him by the people on his European tour this summer, Eisenhower apparently is confident he can again win friends and influence people.

The personal carrot and stick will be put on the line when Eisenhower meets with his Western counterparts at the Western summit meeting in Paris Dec. 19.

If Eisenhower is successful in the personal part of his trip, it may be a long time before any building up their international egos during the big talk.

Prime Minister Macmillan, for instance, has hinted he might be using international tensions by getting East and West leaders to start talking to each other.

President de Gaulle has been credited with other lofty ambitions to follow France's advice in international affairs.

Chancellor Adenauer suspects that the U.S. is backing down on the German question, and has said that the Western alliance needs a "new dynamism."

Whatever the justice to these views, Eisenhower needs something to re-emphasize the U.S. position as the strongest power in the West. If he can sit down at the conference table and point to newly-won solid support from the countries he visited, his pronouncements will take on better weight and authority that will be extremely hard to ignore or overrule.

3 Scoutmasters of Hastings Among Many Honored at Investiture at Govt. House

OTTAWA (CP) — Three scoutmasters from Hastings, Ont., were among 20 boy scouts and masters honored at a Government House investiture Thursday.

The trio were cited for the rescue of four tourists from Muskegantown, Ohio, whose boat had overturned on the Trent Canal near Campbellford Aug. 31, 1958.

Day and White, each 22, received the Silver Cross while Schriver received the Gilt Cross for gallantry with moderate risk.

The 20 men and boys stood proudly, yet humbly, before Governor-General Vanier who planed awards on their chests.

The white-haired governor-general, performing one of his first official functions since taking office, sat in a high - backed red chair on a dais as winners came forward one at a time.

"HEROIC EFFORTS"

First were three young scouts to receive the Cornwell Scout Badge, highest award in scouting.

Next were eight scoutmasters receiving the Silver Cross, including five from Springhill, N.S., who were in the first rescue group to enter No. 2 colliery in October, 1958, after a bump trapped 174 miners underground. Their awards were for "sustained bravery over a period of days."

General Vanier, in a brief speech after the investiture, said the occasion was a happy one for recipients who felt the deep and comforting satisfaction of having done their duty, a duty with sacred character because it involved sacrifice and suffering.

"It is a very noble thing to face danger for one's fellow man," said the general, crippled himself by wounds in the First World War. "Never be afraid, because fear destroys, and facing danger uplifts."

"The scouting movement is one of the things that gives hope for the future. . . . I am proud of you, and I have no hesitation in saying that Canada is proud of you as well."

FIRST RECIPIENT

Patrol Leader Frederick John Vasco of Komaso, B.C., was the first to come forward. He received the Cornell Badge for "great courage and fortitude displayed when he suffered very severe burns to his face and arms from an exploding gasoline lantern".

The next Cornwell winner walked forward with apparent difficulty, but without crutches. Patrol Leader Andrew Mark Stevens of Lloydminster, Sask., has suffered spinal trouble from birth. His citation read: "For his courage and industry in attaining the Queen's Scout Award in spite of great physical suffering."

Scout Michael William Ryggall, 19, of Vancouver made his way slowly to the dais on crutches, dragging his braced legs which have been crippled since he suffered polio in infancy. "For his courage and endurance in spite of great physical suffering," read the Cornwell citation.

TWO SAVE TRAIN

PITTSBURGH (AP)—quick action by two railroad employees stopped a passenger train Thursday night as it bore down on a stretch of track buried under a 200-ton landslide. Ralph Thorton, track watchman for the Pennsylvania Railroad, came upon the landslide minutes before the Penn-Texas Streamliner was due. He flashed the danger signal to Mrs. Pearl Reiss, who operates a nearby signal tower. Mrs. Reiss, noticing that the train had just cleared an electronic block signal point, grabbed her lantern, raced along the tracks and flagged the train.

Most of Frejus' 14,000 Inhabitants Are Homeless

FREJUS, France (CP)—Searchlights pierced the early-morning darkness of this wreck of a Riviera town today, providing glimpses of muddy desolation.

More than 24 hours after the collapse of the Malpasset Dam sent a torrent of flood water cascading down the Reyran Valley, police and rescue workers still had no way of knowing the number of its victims.

Most of the town's 14,000 inhabitants were homeless, being cared for by the vast relief operation mobilized by surrounding towns.

The receding water left a crazy-quilt of disaster on the surrounding countryside. Beams of booby by car hillsides, far above the town. Beds stood in the middle of a field.

A two-car electric train, whose passengers and crew barely got out in time, lay deeply embedded in the mud. Pavements were ripped to shreds. Bulldozers nudged fallen trees from the roads.

Nine helicopters, hovering in the darkness, directed the efforts of 1,000 soldiers. Ambulances crept back and forth on the highway, passing the truck convoys that still rolled in from Marseille with supplies.

The town was virtually sealed off by the torrent, which smashed railway lines, cut off roads and reduced power and telegraph lines to a hopeless tangle of wire. The nearest approach by road involved a 50-mile detour.

The rescue teams toiled on as a darkness faded. It was a long, grimy business.

Bartender Held After $20,000 in Bonds Recovered

ST. THOMAS (CP) — Another slice of the fortune stolen by thieves who cut their way into a Brockville vault a year and a half ago was recovered Thursday.

Less than $300,000 now remains unaccounted for of the $3,500,000 in negotiable bonds taken in May, 1958, from the Brockville Trust and Savings Company.

After 760 days of investigation, police here seized $20,000 in securities and Chief James Melville said Thursday night $8,500 worth have been identified positively as part of the Brockville loot.

Efforts were being made to trace the rest of the securities.

BOND SALESMAN HELD

John C. Nance, a 39-year-old bartender from London, Ont., was arrested in the area of possessing stolen bonds. He will appear in court next Tuesday.

Chief Melville said the investigation began when bonds were presented at a local bank to be cashed. The manager became suspicious and called police.

Some $1,200,000 of the stolen bonds were recovered shortly after the robbery with the arrest of a Montreal man later convicted. Another $400,000 additional $2,000,000 was turned up in later investigations.

The thieves also got away with $6,000,000 in non-negotiable securities which were worthless to them.

Despite Fact Moose Fierce Hunters Paid

LINDSAY (CP)—In the Haliburton area, where there is no moose-hunting season, the bull moose are as especially fierce lot.

Snorting, pawing the ground —and finally charging—three of the animals had to be shot in self-defence this season, according to three marksmen.

The department of lands and forests tells of the hunters' ordeals in its weekly bulletin. In all, four moose were shot illegally this season. One hunter said he mistook a moose for a deer.

One man reported that when he saw a moose approaching he ran to the side of its path. But the moose twice changed its direction and followed him. When the animal was 15 feet away, it had to be shot.

Another told how a moose advanced towards him "snorting and pawing the earth in a threatening manner."

The animal was shot at a distance of 30 feet from the hunter but it dropped 20 feet from him, he recounted.

The third moose emerged from the bush behind a call and advanced towards the man at this time "snorting and shaking its head."

The hunter tried to run but the moose was right behind. He swung his rifle and shot it : the head at a distance of feet.

Having told department officers of these adventures, each hunter was charged with shooting a moose illegally. Each paid a $100 fine.

The Salvation Army got the moosemeat.

Canning Crop Growers Worry Over Shortage of Farm Labor

HAMILTON (CP) — Farm labor shortages are worrying Ontario's canning crop growers.

They appealed to the federal government Thursday to help solve the problem by permitting farm labor into Canada during harvest periods.

It was suggested that labor could be brought in from Mexico for the harvests.

J. A. Howard, secretary of the Ontario Vegetable Growers' Marketing Board, said city men aren't interested in working for short periods on the farm when they can collect unemployment insurance by staying in the city.

The canning crop growers' convention passed a resolution requesting the government to bring farm laborers under provisions of the Unemployment Insurance Act.

This would help ease shortages because laborers might remain on the farm during periods of unemployment and work on a daily basis. Unemployed men wouldn't be in a position to refuse work on a farm when the work was given.

The convention, attended by 200 delegates representing 12,000 growers, expressed full support to the principle of farm marketing and marketboard legislation.

The convention also appealed to the provincial and federal governments for immediate testing of weed and pest control sprays used on tomato crops.

Experiment Did Not Live up To Expectations

VINELAND (CP)—An experimental retailing technique in Sudbury chain stores did not live up to expectations, the Niagara Fruit and Vegetable Growers' Association was told Thursday.

Only 100 tons of fruit instead of the expected 300 tons was retailed, R. G. Mercier of the Vineland experimental station reported.

The plan was sponsored by the Ontario Peach Growers Co-operative. Quality graded peaches, apples, cherries, plums and tomatoes were pre-coded here before shipment and held in cold storage in Sudbury for delivery to stores as needed.

One problem, Mr. Mercier said, was the chain store practice of selling in quart quantities instead of ¾ the delivered six-quart packages.

LONG-TIME COMPOSITOR

TORONTO (CP) — S. F. (Sid) Burnham, 83, a compositor with The Star for 55 years until his retirement in 1955, died Thursday. He was a native of Cannington.

Last Flight Into Trenton On December 20

OTTAWA (CP) — The last major contingent of 300 Canadian soldiers and dependents returning from Europe will arrive at Halifax aboard the liner Ivernia Dec. 7, army headquarters said Thursday.

A few more troops will continue to be flown home by the RCAF. The last flight is scheduled to arrive at Trenton, Ont., Dec. 20.

Two-thirds of the 4th Canadian Infantry Brigade group's personnel returned home this fall after two years in Germany. The replacements will remain overseas three years.

The relation of the 15,000 soldiers and their dependents started early in September, has been handled by seven round trips by ship and 31 return flights, 14 by Trans-Canada Air Lines and the remainder by the RCAF.

URGES TECHNICAL AID

TORONTO (CP) — A call for greater assistance by under - developed Commonwealth countries by Canada as a whole and by the individual provinces was sounded Thursday by Premier Robbie of Manitoba. Early a part of Canada's defence budget were invested in technical assistance for these countries, it would buy more peace than the equivalent arms expenditure, he told the Empire Club.

Voluntary Health, Welfare Agencies May Raise About $29,200,000 in Campaigns

OTTAWA (CP) — Some campaigns are unfinished and others are pending but indications are Canada's United Funds and Community Chests may raise about $28,200,000 for 1960 operations of voluntary health - and - welfare agencies.

That's the word today from Canadian Welfare Council officials, based on reports to its community funds and councils division, national organization of the local campaigns.

This figure would be 6.5 per cent higher than the $27,250,000 raised for the current year but only about 97 per cent of the $29,200,000 total objective for 1960.

Officials say the current campaign stands well in relation to previous years, reflecting a return in the economy. Campaigns for 1958 reached 96 per cent of their $26,000,000 goal.

Final figures for all 104 funds and chests will be available early in the spring. About 10 communities hold their drives in late winter or early spring.

Biggest drive is Toronto's Robbie of Manitoba. Early a part of Canada's defence budget were invested in technical assistance for these countries, it would buy more peace than the equivalent arms expenditure, he told the Empire Club.

Since 1957, when Canada's first funds were united in Toronto, Hamilton, London and Sault Ste. Marie, their number has grown to 68.

Campaign interested this year was stimulated by competitions between cities, based on percentage of goal achieved by a certain date.

Hamilton this year was close to its $1,055,000 objective and was expected to reach it.

Communities that achieved—or exceeded — their targets include Sault Ste. Marie, Peterborough, Brantford, Chatham and Ottawa.

Officials say interest has been shown in United Funds campaigns next year by Smooth Rock Falls in Northern Ontario and Val d'Or, Rouyn and Noranda in Quebec.

Community chests raise money solely for local agencies; United Funds include in their membership national health and welfare organizations such as the Red Cross and the Canadian Cancer Society.

Beef Cattle Industry in B.C. Started With American Stock From Oregon, Washington

By W. L. JONES
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Close to 200,000 head of beef cattle roam the ranges of interior British Columbia where nutritious bunch grass is high and a $13,000,000-a-year industry flourishes.

The province ships thousands of cattle to United States markets, the volume depending on price-market demand. Last year, when prices were high, some 32,000 head of beef cattle found their way across the border.

However, the big, steady market of the B.C. producer is the metropolitan Vancouver area which has the highest per capita consumption of beef in Canada.

The province raises about one-half of her beef needs, importing the remainder mainly from Alberta.

STUDIED BY U.S.

Begun a century ago with American stock driven from Oregon and Washington to feed the miners of the Cariboo gold rush, the big industry now is being eyed by American capital.

Already U.S. interests own a number of the industry's largest ranches. And real estate men say American inquiries about smaller and medium-sized properties are on the increase.

Not all of the 22,000 head of cattle driven north in the mid-1860s reached the Barkerville area, centre of the gold rush. Some were sold along the way to construction gangs, others to ranchers for breeding stock. Many perished in rivers or at the hands of hostile Indians.

Ranches started with the cattle strung out along the few roads and trails, bunched around rich pasture land or by favored watering places.

The Alkali Lake ranch, begun in 1861, is said to be the oldest in the province. It embraces some 48,000 acres southwest of Williams Lake and maintains some 2,500 head of range cattle.

SETTLED LATER

The Kamloops and Nicola areas, now the heart of the province's cattle country, were not permanently settled until later because they were not on the route to the gold fields. Prior to 1870 another rich ranching area —the Chilcotin country — remained almost uninhabited.

Today there are hundreds of ranches spread throughout the cattle country, stretching from the East Okanagan northward almost to the wheat-growing Peace River country. They range from small units with about 30 head to mammoth operations like the Douglas Lake Cattle Company.

Situated in the Nicola Valley, it comprises some 144,000 acres of owned or leased land and has between 10,000 and 13,000 head of cattle. It also has grazing permits on 400,000 acres of crown land.

The holdings were sold recently by Col. Victor Spencer of Vancouver and Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross to Woodward's Stores, Vancouver, for a sum believed to run into millions.

START "SUPERFARM"

Recently an enterprise new to British Columbia—the superfarm—was disclosed. Triangle Ranch Limited, which has several thousand acres in the Peace River country far to the north, plans to launch a $3,000,000 operation for the mass production, not only of beef, but of dairy products, feed and other crops.

The company, controlled mainly by Dawson Creek interests, hopes to have an income of some $200,000 a year by 1962 and now is angling for rights on surrounding crown land on which to operate.

Ranchers from Texas, Arizona and Montana seek British Columbia's lake - dotted and river-silced ranges that have a big potential compared to drier land at home.

The 70,000 - acre Gang Ranch, whose history goes back to the 1870s in the Cariboo country around Clinton, is owned by W. J. Studdert of Philipsburg, Mont., and a Montana partner. They bought it in 1948.

The ranch which runs between 4,000 and 5,000 head of cattle, controls close to 1,500,000 acres of grazing rights on crown land under permit, the largest in B.C. for grazing acreage.

The owners have also purchased a 1,000-acre ranch known as the Meadow Creek property. This serves as a holding point at the half-way mark in their cattle drives to the loading point on the Pacific Great Eastern Railway at Fifty-Seven Mile House.

John L. Wade of Los Angeles owns the 50,000 - acre Chilco Ranch which has grazing rights on 300,000 acres more in the Chilcotin country.

The Circle S Ranch comprising some 35,000 acres southwest of Williams Lake complemented by grazing land was purchased this year by Allerton Cushman of Sonita, Ariz., where he owns an 85,000-acre property.

The Circle S was originally a winter holding area for horses used by freighters on the Cariboo gold trail in the 1860s. It now runs some 2,500 head of cattle, strictly of Hereford breed.

CATTLE COUNTRY — The first cattle moved into the British Columbia interior with gold prospectors of the 1860s.

They flourished on the nutritious bunch grass of the open ranges and now the industry supplies half the province's beef needs in a $13,000,000 business.

Metropolitan Vancouver provides the big market but there is also a steady business with the United States.

Hundreds of ranches dot the cattle country, ranging from the small unit with 50 or so head to the huge Douglas Lake Cattle Company which has between 10,000 and 12,000.

Shaded areas show location of forest range land, which totals about 15,000,000 acres. White areas within the shaded portions show the 2,500,000 acres of main grassland or open range, with the exception of that in the Peace River district. There are also numerous small areas of grassland not shown on map. (CP Newmap).

Spending Plan Being Worked Out at Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — The government is thrashing out its spending program for the 1960-61 fiscal year starting next April 1.

Indications are that spending will rise slightly above the 1959-60 record figure of $5,000,000,000 because of such higher public debt charges and higher welfare payments brought about by the population growth. In addition, there will be some new programs which will cost money.

The treasury board, a committee of the cabinet, is trying to pare costs in departments where natural increases through population growth do not occur. If it can, there is a good prospect for a balanced budget next year providing there are no tax reductions. The estimated deficit in the current fiscal year is $300,000,000.

The spending estimates will be presented to parliament in late January or early February. It won't be until April before the government discloses how it proposes to raise the money to meet these expenditures.

Informants said it is likely that the defence budget, which now comprises 39 per cent of all federal spending, will again be chopped.

One Sure Way to Stop Flow Of Ad Material; Send It Back

OTTAWA (CP) — The post office department says there's only one sure way for Canadian householders to stop the flow of advertising material into their mailboxes.

Any person who objects to receiving this material — usually mixed in with regular mail—can refuse to accept delivery. The householder can meet the postman at the door and tell him to take it back. He will.

Although the postal authorities didn't say it, one other course of action is available.

An objector can accept the material, mark it in a sealed envelope without a return address and mail it back to the sender. It's a long-standing postal rule that mail not bearing postage carries double indemnity to the addressee on delivery.

WOULD COST EIGHT CENTS

The advertiser who sent out this material locally at the post office's special low "householder" rate of 1½ cents for the first ounce would—in the case of a pamphlet weighing an ounce or less—get it back in a sealed envelope with a postal charge of eight cents.

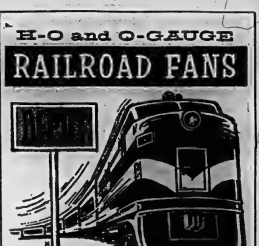
The advertiser could, of course, refuse to accept delivery of the collect material. In that case it would go to the dead-letter office.

The post office will not agree to ban one class of mail from any one address, postal authorities said Wednesday.

They were commenting on published reports that people could stop the flood of advertising being stuffed into their mailboxes by writing their local postmasters and saying they just don't want it.

Officials said such a system in a city the size of Toronto, for example, would create an impossible sorting problem.

Meanwhile, postal authorities are trying to work out a better system for stemming the advertising tide.



A possible solution is a rate increase along with a declaration of uniform size or weight — or both—for such material.

MISSION ACCOMPLISHED

LONDON (Reuters) — Editor Herbert Gunn of The Daily Sketch announced "the end of a mission" and resigned his post Wednesday night. Gunn, 55, moved to The Sketch six years ago to give the tabloid a major face - lifting. "That has been done," he said. "The circulation has been doubled."

Uncomfortable Guidance

By ROY L. SMITH

Most of us know much better than we do! Our heads have been converted to the right way of living, but our hearts are slow to surrender. Quite glibly we recite the old proverb which says that "honesty is the best policy," but when we get into a tight spot we distort the truth just a little in the hope that we can slip out of a difficulty. The path of duty is quite plain, and well marked, but we hope the preacher can show us some way to avoid our duty and still leave us with a clear conscience.

ASKING GUIDANCE

It is common a thing to hear Christians pray with great fervency for guidance, as if God were keeping them in the dark. And, it is true, of course, that the final outcome of a situation may still be confused and uncertain. But very rarely is it true that it is impossible to take the next step. God seems to have a way of making that perfectly plain.

Ananias, the Damascene Christian, can well be excused for hesitating about making a call on Paul. He knew the fanatical young Pharisee's reputation. He knew that Paul had come to Damascus with the intention of wrecking havoc among the Christians. Everything indicated that he was an unescapable man with whom no Christian could hope to deal amiably.

About the ultimate outcome of any call on Paul the honest-hearted old Christian could have known nothing. But his imagination was capable of supplying him with a long list of gruesome details. And upon the basis of that imagination he hesitated, and at first refused.

A much older person came to his pastor one day with an appeal that he pray for him in behalf of a personal problem that involved a deep-seated habit of which the layman was heartily ashamed.

"Yes, I can pray and I will be glad to do it. I can give you the Scripture which you can read this thing out, but you must be ready to suffer a bit." To which the layman replied, "That isn't what I want. I want you to pray that God will remove this thing from my life." What he really want-ed was an easy way out. He knew how to do the rooting for himself, but he did not want to make that much of an effort.

BETTER VISION

There is no general agreement among the scholars as to precisely what was meant by the statement that scales fell from Paul's eyes, and perhaps it makes little difference. At least this much is true: the young Pharisee never looked at life, at God, at himself, or at other men in quite the same way again.

The religious man who does not have better vision because of his religion is under some suspicion. It appears to be the case that his religion has not gone very deeply into his life.

The religion that does not make another man's needs more evident, that does not help to see ourselves in a clearer light, that does not make God appear more important, is a fraud.

The Uniform Sunday School Lesson for December 6th: "Standing By A New Convert," Acts 9:10-31.

It is quite probable that Ananias had prayed, quite devoutly, for guidance. It may have been that the Holy Spirit interrupted him in the very act of praying, to send him to call on Paul. And it probably seemed like a shocking thing, to be ordered to visit the arch enemy of the Church at the very moment one was engaged in devotions, but the sincerity of our prayer for guidance is tested by our readiness to accept the guidance that comes to us.

NOT FOR A BULLDOG

There is the story of the two children who knelt in a corner of the garden to pray for a dog. A little woolly pup seemed like something worth praying for, and their petition was fervent and earnest. Upon arising from their knees they looked over the garden fence and there came a heavy bull dog with a savage face, trotting directly toward them. Instantly the youngsters were on their knees again and the boy cried out, "O Lord, when we prayed for a dog, we didn't mean a bull dog."

DIG, OR ELSE

CIPPING, Eng. (CP)—Council has warned tenants of municipal houses in this Suffolk village to "dig your garden, or else." Judges touring villages for the annual best-kept garden competition were "horrified" at the state of some gardens.

Virginia Bruce Again Back After Ten Years of Absence

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—She has the same peaches-and-cream skin and lovely blonde hair. A pound or two has been added, but at 48 Virginia Bruce is still strikingly beautiful.

She's back in movies after a 10 - year absence, playing Kim Novak's mother in Stanley Kramer's When We Meet. When you point out that this is hardly credible, she readily admits her age and remarks that she has a daughter, by John Gilbert, the same age as Kim, 26.

Miss Bruce has had a life with many triumphs and a share of tragedies. She talked candidly about them as she prepared for her film return.

Her marriage to Gilbert ended in divorce. She remembers him fondly.

"Everyone says that his voice killed his career when sound came in," she remarked. "That wasn't true. He had a wonderful, romantic voice. But the love scenes he did in silents weren't the same in sound. He said to Catherine Dale Owen 'I love you, I love you, I love you,' and they threw tomatoes at the screen."

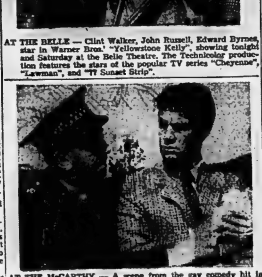
OTHER MARRIAGES

Her second marriage, to MGM bigwig J. Walter Rubin, ended with his death in 1942. In 1943 she married a wealthy turk, Ali Ipar. Their union has prevailed, but under the most difficult of circumstances.

"My son, Chris Rubin, hated living in Turkey. He had been back here with relatives, but decided to return and give him some kind of home."

Miss Bruce lives here with Chris, 18, and sees her husband seldom.

"It's pure hell," she admitted. "I haven't seen him since July, because he is so involved in his shipping business in Turkey. But he is trying to arrange things so he can gradually retire and settle down here."



She has tried painting and golf to relieve the boredom of being alone, and hopes for a career revival to help the campaign.

AT THE PARK — Cliff Robertson and Dina Merrill in a scene from the movie "The Girl Rush". Columbia Pictures' new suspense drama, showing today and Saturday at the Park Theatre. On the same program "Tarawa's Beachhead". Continuous show Saturday from 1.00 p.m.

AT THE BELLE — Clint Walker, John Russell, Edward Byrnes, star in Warner Bros' "Yellowstone Kelly", showing tonight and Saturday at the Belle Theatre. The Technicolor production features the stars of the popular TV series "Cheyenne", "Colt .45", "Sugarfoot", "Bronco", "Lawman", and "77 Sunset Strip".

James Undecided About Hockey

TORONTO (CP) — Gerry James, fullback with Winnipeg Blue Bombers, said Thursday he will decide Saturday whether to return to hockey with Toronto Maple Leafs.

The former Leaf winger came here from Winnipeg Wednesday to shake and talk with Leaf general manager and coach George (Punch) Imlach.

"I am returning to Winnipeg tonight to consult my lawyer," said James. "I would take a chartered accountant to figure out whether I could show a profit if I returned to the NFL."

James worked out with Leafs Wednesday and huddled with Imlach Thursday. He said his legs and ankles aren't as sturdy as the change from cleats to skates.

Should he sign with Leafs, it is reported he will be sent to Toronto's American League farm team in Rochester to get into shape.

James gave up hockey two seasons ago for a full-time football career that now spans eight years.

Poles Pleased With Warwicks

WARSHAW (CP) — Canada's three Warwick brothers now on a month-long visit to Poland to teach Poles and Canadian - type hockey, scored well with the fans in their first rink performance.

The brothers—Grant, 30, Bill, 31, and Dick, 27—were the stars of the Cornik team of Katowice Wednesday night in a 5-4 win against Haghaust Stockholm.

Commenting on the game, Trybuna Ludu, the Communist party newspaper, said:

"By their play, the Canadians thrilled Silesian ice hockey lovers . . . the Warwick brothers do not represent as high a level as they did a few years ago, but even to what they demonstrated could have satisfied the demands of the greatest experts of ice hockey. They made an especially strong impression with their sharp and accurate passing and their highly developed technique."

Another newspaper, Zycie Warszawy, commented:

"The Warwicks did not disappoint. The intricacy of their game often brought gasps of admiration. The only criticism is that they did not seem to be in top physical form and are not the fast."

Polish hockey fans hope the Warwicks will leave behind enough tips and ideas for Polish coaches to produce a strong contender for the 1961 world championship.

Doug Harvey Gets Gifts Worth $10,000

MONTREAL (CP) — Doug Harvey, in his 13th National Hockey League season with Montreal Canadiens, was showered with gifts Thursday night—Doug Harvey Night—by friends and well-wishers.

Arrays of gift - laden floats were paraded on the ice between the second and third periods of the game between Canadiens and New York Rangers.

The gifts ranged from a gleaming new station wagon to furniture, clothing and electrical household equipment. Total value of the 100 or so presents was placed around $10,000.

Harvey's wife and four of his five children were acclaimed by the crowd.

Television Pulse Quickening In Busy Holiday Season

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—With the onset of the busy holiday season, the pulse of television is quickening. During the next seven days there is something unusual or special cooking daily on the American networks.

Somebody, however, goofed in scheduling tonight's special attraction. CBS' Oliver Twist, starring Robert Morley and Eric Portman, runs from 7.30 to 9 p.m. EST while NBC's Very Important People, a music and comedy revue starring Art Carney, is on between 8.30 and 9.30 p.m. that means a half - hour overlap during which viewers must decide whether to see the end of Oliver or the beginning of Art.

On Saturday (3:45 p.m.) NBC will broadcast the UCLA-Syracuse college football game.

On Sunday, things start early—a Salute to the American Theatre on CBS at 11.30 a.m., will include a lot of stars and excerpts from a dozen plays. Hookey-Playing Hockey Kids' Fun Spoiled

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Three 12- year - old Spring field, Mass., boys had their hockey ambitions nipped in the bud Thursday when immigration officials sent them packing back to the border.

The boys played hockey from school and hones in hopes of getting a tryout with St. Catharines TeePees of the OHA Junior A series.

Don Parent, Marty Rohan and Bob Sitek told police Wednesday they pretended to leave their homes for school Tuesday but instead raced pooled resources of $20 to take a bus to Buffalo.

They stayed there overnight, then came to St. Catharines where police took them into custody.

The boys all play with the Springfield Technical School junior hockey team—Parent as goalie, Rohan as centre and Sitek as left winger. They brought all their equipment, except sticks.

Police let them use their city hall locker room as headquarters during their brief stay here. Immigration officials returned them Thursday to Niagara Falls, N.Y., from where they were to be sent back to Springfield.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

If you read the daily sports pages you will have learned that a form of "sputnik" activity is going on under the guise of junior "A" hockey. And the junior "B's" in some instances are not far behind.

A news despatch the other day stated that Doug Cochrane, president of the Peterborough Petes, one of the Montreal Canadiens' cradle crew, has written a letter of protest to the OHA over the rough play of the Toronto Marlboros in a game played November 11.

"The game in question," said Cochrane, "was extremely rough. I, and many of our fans, felt it was not the type of hockey pleasant to watch. A lineman was hurt and one of our players, Gary Mark, received 12 stitches from a cross-check."

"Indication that Marlboros didn't come out to play hockey was the fact that they had a 2-0 lead and lost," he added. "A certain amount of roughness is expected in junior "A" hockey but we hope the OHA will crack down when it's carried too far. It could be checked from the bench and should be before somebody is badly hurt. If not, the fans will gradually fade away."

The despatch added that plans call for the letter to be discussed at next Monday's junior "A" council meeting in Toronto.

Last fall the OHA issued a stern edict to senior clubs at least, and we presume the missive was sent to all other leagues. It said that rough play would not be tolerated, and referees had been instructed to clamp down but hard on offenders regardless of race, colour, creed or club.

Senior "A" play this season, thus far, has been comparatively clean. There has been the odd occurrence but in no instance has any game gotten out of hand. At that, the fight in the upper bracket has been like an oil compound as compared to some of the barroom brawls tossed in junior "A" ranks.

We witnessed one of then junior "A" bullfights in Maple Leaf Gardens not too many Saturday afternoons ago. The Marlboros, playing another club, there were 29 penalties issued, including a half dozen majors and three misconducts. Two or three players suffered nasty facial cuts.

The young matadors and toreadors went out into the ice-carpeted amphitheatre, it seemed to us, with but one idea in mind. "Get the other guy before he gets you." They didn't need any red rags or flags to incite them to fistic fiesta. A flat of a stick, a slightly lifted elbow, a sly poke in the ribs, and gloves were dropped, sticks raised, and the battle was on.

The referees did more arm-waving than a traffic cop on a busy intersection. The penalty box was seldom unpopulated. Yet the fiery young warriors went at each other at the slightest provocation until the final whistle blew.

If you call that hockey, give us the good old-fashioned game of fiddly-winks.

And all the blame should not be attached to the players. Give a high-spirited colt free rein, and he will gallop, buck and kick to his heart's content.

These "private eye" characters who stroll slowly behind the referee mustn't be mere mutes to themselves, but mostly out loud so they can be heard, are not exactly angels with bleached wings.

As the Peterborough official points out, some of the fault lies with the coaching, and the coaches. And the man is not he from the truth.

If the OHA wants to back its harassed junior "A" officials, let it put some teeth in its rules. Suspensions beyond that of a game or two would help. Hard slips in the wallet would work wonders in a few weeks.

Then again what would happen if it did? The "outraged" professional team sponsors would rant and rave to the CAHA, and everyone knows what organization jumps when the NHL cracks the whip.

Blues Spoil Harvey Night With Decisive 7-4 Victory; Prentice, Shack Score Twice

By ALEXANDER FARRELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The bigger they are, the harder they fall.

Montreal Canadiens know this today.

Thursday night New York Rangers, deep in the second division, rose up and smote the National Hockey League's giants 7-4.

Rangers, not generally considered the top sirbists in their field, put on quite a performance for Doug Harvey Night in the Montreal Forum. They skated Canadiens into the ice and then up-their biggest goal total of the season.

And, they did it without any scoring help from Andy Bathgate.

DEFENCE WEAK

The Canadien defence was leaky from the start and collapsed completely in the later stages. Harvey, whose illustrious career gained formal recognition in between - period ceremonies, was outfoxed on two goals and Rangers' attack was led by left-wingers Dean Prentice and Eddie Shack, with two goals apiece.

Defencemen John Hanna, centre Larry Popein and right winger Ken Schinkel scored the other New York goals. Montreal scorers were Ralph Backstrom, Henri Richard, Phil Goyette and Dickie Moore.

Shack was tagged with the nickname Sandtown Shack when he failed to live up to advance billing last season. Thursday, however, it was Canadiens who tumbled. Shack, Canada's third two goals within 33 seconds midway through the second period to give Rangers a 5-3 lead.

HABS LED TWICE

Canadiens twice held a lead in the first two periods. Rangers battled back to tie the score 2-2 before the end of the frame. In the second Rangers opened up. Prentice sending them ahead 3-2 and then Shack firing his two goals, the second of which was deflected past Montreal netminder Jacques Plante by Harvey's stick.

The Habs narrowed the lead to 5-4 on Goyette's goal before the second period ended but Rangers moved into a 7-3 lead in the third. Moore closed the scoring late in the game.

The loss might prove more costly than just on the scoreboard. Big Boilermakers, All-star defenceman Tom Johnson had to leave the game in the second period after receiving stiff check from Shack. Ij was announced that he suffered a possible separation of the left shoulder.

STRAIGHT LOSSES

The loss was Canadiens' second straight. Their 18 - game undefeated streak was stopped Wednesday night at Toronto when the Maple Leafs beat them 1-0. It was also only their second loss at home this season, both to Rangers who beat them 4-2 Oct. 17.

The victory lifted Rangers into fifth place in the NHL standings, more than Chicago Black Hawks and nine fewer than fourth-place Boston Bruins. Canadiens remained on top with 38 points, eight more than second-place Toronto, which leads Detroit Red Wings by four points.

There is a full weekend schedule. Saturday the Hawks visit Montreal while Boston goes to Toronto and Bruins at Detroit. Canadiens play at Detroit Sunday, Leafs at New York and Chicago at Boston.

First-Year Player Drafts Hailed as Good Economy Step

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) —Baseball is trying to rescue itself from an expensive civil war for new talent. Alarmed by the high bidding in the bonus market, the owners are attempting to get things in focus.

The first-year player draft, readopted Thursday by the minor leagues, is being hailed by many as a sound step in the direction of economy. Of course, it must be ratified by the major leagues next week in Miami Beach.

"The idea is to save us from ourselves," said Fresco Thompson, vice - president of Los Angeles Dodgers who proposed the new, modified version of the draft. "We are trying to stop ridiculous spending. The cumulative effect even a period of years should be beneficial."

To the savage fan this talk about first-year draft, bonus rule and waivers is confusing book language. But the legislation could have far-reaching effects.

Let's try to explain by example:

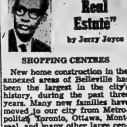
John Doe is a high school boy with many scouts camping at his door on graduation night. The bidding soars and finally he is signed for $100,000. The big league team that is putting up the money knows he isn't ready so he actually is signed to a minor-league contract.

After one year in the minors, the big-league team must make up its mind. Either it brings him up to the major-league roster, or it leaves him in the minors, where he can be picked up for $15,000 by another big - league team.

The club that grabbed the first-year player in the draft now can option him out to its minor-league farm. That is the new version. The old rule provided that the player could not be sent down unless all the other majors passed him up on waivers and the club that owned him originally had a chance to get him back.

Mike Lee, an $80,000 bonus baby, was the only first - year man picked by the majors in the first year of the rule's operation. Cleveland took the left handed pitcher from San Francisco's Phoenix farm club.

The backers of the modified first-year rule feel the clubs soon will have no room on their rosters for these first-year babies. More and more will be left in the draft.



The minors approved a minimum salary ranging from $400 a month in class triple A to $250 in class D and extended through 1963 the contract of George Trautman, president of the National Association (minors).

Blues, Dutchies Play Exhibition

TORONTO (CP) — University of Toronto Blues, who once talked about having a shot at Olympic competition play as an exhibition game against Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen Friday.

The Dutchmen, who play in the OHA Senior A Series, are Canada's Olympic representatives to the 1960 Olympic Winter Games at Squaw Valley, Calif.

The Blues came out all-square last season in title against Ontario senior clubs, winning one and losing one against the then world champion Whitby Dunlops and tying Kingston Merchants.

SHOPPING CENTRES

New home construction in the annexed areas of Belleville has been the largest in the city's history, during the past three years. Many new families have moved to our city from Metropolitan Toronto, Oshawa, Montreal, and many other large centres and have all been concerned about the lack of a "Community Shopping Centre".

We are very fortunate in having a fine shopping centre on Front Street, probably one of the finest in any city of similar size, with the quality name brand merchandise, fairly priced and attractively displayed.

Parking of course, is a real problem in most every city today. This condition leads us to believe that the "Shopping Centre" where there is abundance of parking is certainly a very desirable thing.

A modern Shopping Centre is a credit to any city, giving good business assessment and employment to many.

"No! A "Shopping Centre" does not put the Front Street merchant out of business, it gives him an opportunity to increase his business by offering his wares to more residents by opening a store in the Shopping Centre.

Let's encourage those firms who are willing to invest many thousands of dollars, thus making possible a "Community Shopping Area".

East. Ontario Minor Hockey Headed for Record Season

STIRLING — (Staff) — Organized minor hockey in this East-er Ontario neck of the woods is headed for the best season since inception.

Ontario Minor Hockey Association vice-presidents Doug Paterson of this village and Albert Watkins of Peterborough will vouch for that statement.

Even at this early stage of the game a record number of entries from the district is in the organizational bag.

And there is more to come.

Presaging a record season was the appearance of 68 delegates, in itself a record, at the annual Eastern Ont. meeting held here.

These men came from the "small places" within the district east of Peterborough, west to Kingston north as far as Bancroft and south to Wellington.

The meeting excluded representatives from the larger centres such as Belleville, Trenton, Peterborough, Kingston, etc. each of which operates a minor hockey association.

Indicative of expanding interest in minor hockey, was the number of "new faces" at the meeting, said OMHA executive Patterson.

"Those guys we cannot do without, the old dishards, were there, too" said Patterson, "but it was grand to see so many new fellows".

There was plenty of enthusiasm. All and sundry paid strict attention as the 3 OMHA executives outlined rules, rule changes, insurance officials, and other important matters pertaining to minor hockey.

It was a tremendous organizational kick-off for the hard-working executives.

No less than seven well-packed leagues came into being, with several teams drawing byes.

As of now there are two Juvenile, two Junior and three bantam leagues in existence embracing practically all regions of the district.

Thus far two juvenile groups have been recruited.

League One consists of teams from Wellington, Trenton, (two teams) Frankford, Stirling and Brighton.

League Two has Marmora, Norwood, Madoc, Bancroft and Campbellford.

The midget classification also has two leagues organized to date. The first is comprised of Wellington, Norwood, Havelock and Hastings. The second has Madoc, Marmora, Stirling, Bancroft, Frankford and Campbellford.

Three leagues comprise the bantam division.

The first has Wellington, Frankford, Trenton, Campbellford, Brighton and Stirling.

The second has Coe Hill, Bancroft, Cooper and Madoc.

The third, Norwood, Warkworth, Hastings and Havelock.

Tweed's juvenile, bantam and midget teams were drawn by lots as were bantam and midget teams from Keene. A juvenile team may be entered from the latter centre.

Six Goals in Six Minutes Clinch Juniors' 9-1 Victory Over Picton

Belleville Lambert-Rollins exploded for six goals in exactly six minutes and four seconds late in the third period last night to sew up a 9-1 victory over Picton Merchants in an OHA Eastern Junior "B" league fixture.

The city squad had taken a 3-0 lead in the first period, fought through a scoreless second heat and had Picton ruin Billy Monan's shutout bid early in the third, prior to their terrific scoring spurge.

Belleville's win was number four in seven starts, having tied one and lost two, and regained sole possession of second place for the L-R crew. They will play host to the front-running Peterborough Lions-Canucks in an 8.30 game tomorrow night.

Gary Rowbotham and Ronnie Hull led the Belleville club in scoring, Rowbotham had his second big game in a row, firing three goals and assisting on another while Hull bagged two goals and an equal number of assists.

Gary Goyer, Ralph Plane and Dennis Kerruish each had a goal and assist while Moe Hunter spoiled the other goal. Bucky Ethier and Ron Forsythe had two assists each, Larry Mavety and Jerry Mann one apiece.

Leon Bryant brigaded the lone Picton marker at 6.03 of the final period.

Belleville started their big scoring parade at 11.33 of the third with Gary Goyer potting the goal. Rowbotham hit for another, Mann later, bagged his second at 13.56 and helped Hull make it 7-1 at 14-41. Plane scored at 15.40 and Rowbotham completed his hat trick at 17.27 just 46 minutes and five seconds after the deluge had started.

Belleville outshot Picton 47-32 with both Pendleton and Moxon making a number of fine saves. It was a close, hard-fought battle until the third heat.

Belleville drew seven minors and one major penalty while the Merchants picked up three minors, a major and a misconduct. A scuffle developed between Ron Forsythe and two players at the end of the game.

Als May Sign Irish End

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Alouettes of the Big Four Football Union have a good chance of signing Monty Stickles, an outstanding end-way end at Notre Dame University, Ali president Ted Workman said Thursday.

"We haven't given up Stickles because he is Ski Francisco's first selection in the National Football League draft," said Workman in an interview.

"Canadian pro clubs do not recognize the NFL draft."

Workman said the Als have had several conferences with Stickles and "we have a good chance of getting him if we can provide a job he can pursue in the future. He's interested in a business career."

Brookdale F.F. Discusses Co-operatives

SIXTH SIDNEY — Brookdale Farm Forum enjoyed an evening on Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lott with 11 present. The subject was — "Farmers in the Market-place".

They thought that co-operatives have been doing a good job of information and are a help to the producers, but thought work could be extended along the lines of market development, education, and merchandising.

Marketing boards have helped the dairy industry. This summer cheese was up to where it should be as also were other milk products. The idea is just beginning to pay off.

Competition brings better prices. Marketing boards help keep the price up so the producer receives a fair return by setting an initial price. Farmer producers should be concerned with what happens to their products till they reach the consumer.

The spread in price between producer and consumer is not generally known. So often the consumer thinks the farmer gets the big price. It is felt that education along this line has been lacking.

Merchandising might be worth a try. It might become necessary to embark on a merchandising program to overcome the high pressure salesmanship of supermarkets.

JUMPS TO DEATH

FRANKFURT, Germany (Reuters)—Wilhelm Kreigler, alleged to have been a former member of the S.S., Hitler's political elite, jumped to his death from the second floor of a prison here, the public prosecutor's office said Thursday. Kutgler was arrested Nov. 23 on charges of having taken part in the mass shooting of civilians between 1941 and 1943.

Leakages Cause Heavy Drain Yearly on Jobless Fund

By JOHN LeBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—The father had his six children on the payroll of his logging operation, all covered by unemployment insurance.

The boys, down to a 13-year-old, were listed as lumberjacks. A 13-year-old girl was down as cook for 50 loggers in a woods camp.

By the time unemployment insurance investigators caught up to the scheme and had the parent jailed for six months, the family treasury had been fattened by a sizable amount of fraudulent money from the insurance fund.

HEAVY DROP

Leakages like these, multiplied thousands of times, cause a heavy drain yearly on the fund, now making a comeback after two years of relatively high unemployment that dropped it by more than $300,000,000 to less than $500,000,000.

Just how much is lost, no one knows. But Unemployment Insurance Commission investigators turn up thousands of fraud cases annually, just as a small part of 3½ per cent of benefit claimants.

With a staff of only 72 enforcement officers across the country, that is a heavy case load to be investigated by the small group.

Enforcement chief K. C. Forbes says that the incidence of fraud cases is on the rise as the number of insured persons — now about 4,200,000—continues to increase.

"We are greatly concerned over the lack of integrity shown by an increasing number of Canadian citizens in their efforts to get something for nothing from the unemployment insurance fund," he said in an interview.

DETECTION DIFFICULT

Because the insurance legislation has been established for seven years to cover more and more types of workers, he added, it is becoming increasingly difficult to detect fraud.

"It has made it easier for the less-responsible element of our citizenry to make fraudulent claims for benefits with impunity."

Payments out of the fund "in 1958 amounted to some $400,000,000, so there is a big field for the sharp operator.

Mr. Forbes would like to see the enforcement operation increased to the point where it would screen 10 per cent of applicants, about three times the number it now screens.

At present, two methods are used in trying to track down cheats:

1. A spot check, or random sampling of applications.

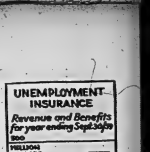
2. A more detailed and formal investigation of claims that appear to be irregular.

Under the present setup the enforcement branch relies on receiving tips from the public.

Mr. Forbes says he would like to see more information coming from this source. While many might find it distasteful to report a friend or neighbor, he says, the honest insurance payers have a stake in doing so because the misdirected money actually consists partly of their own contributions to the fund.

Various methods are used to dip into the fund illegally. Here are some:

1. Persons drawing benefits get new jobs on their own and fail to report this to the Unemployment Insurance Commission. The main loss comes from this type.



2. Many married women in the late stages of pregnancy—even in hospital — keep themselves reported as available for work and therefore qualified to draw benefits.

3. Some unemployed women when called for work deliberately make themselves as unattractive as possible so that an employer looking for say, a personable secretary will turn them down.

4. People pose as employees and purchase stamps to be placed in the insurance books of friends, to qualify for benefits when they get the required number.

Many of the cases of deliberate fraud run into hundreds of dollars, Mr. Foster says.

There is a small proportion of claimants that can be screened, the number of fraud may run around $1,000,000 or more. The commission now is in the early stages of a survey in an attempt to calculate the over-all loss.

FUND BUILDS UP — Canada's unemployment insurance fund is building up again after two years of high unemployment dropped it below the $500,000,000 level.

Payments to the unemployed, plus a loss by fraud estimated at $1,000,000 a year, left the fund balance at Sept. 30, 1959, at $455,338,000.

Benefits paid out in the 12 months ended Sept. 30 totalled $416,897,000 and income from contributions was $328,263,000.

About 4,200,000 persons are insured under the fund. — (CP Newsmap).

General tendencies: Now you have it! Saturday when you have every part of a challenge. You can only avoid some pretty difficult conditions by being very charming and understanding with everyone with whom you come in contact. The late part of the day is a time when you are apt to become involved in an argument or accident, according to manner stated for your own sign following...which you can avoid by care, caution!

Aries (March 21 to April 19) Be certain not to be too dynamic with others while pursuing your aims. And in society, avoid the temptation to clown around or use childish tactics. Be dignified, smile, be helpful to others and you will win out. Be real to tried and tested.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) Be sure you do not follow that intuition to cast aside present set-up or proven friends for the new since you will not be successful at all. Steer clear of that too sharp individual who wants to upset the applecart. P.M. retire early.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) Take care you do not irritate big-wig, or you lose present position and security, as well as good will. Rather perform every duty most efficiently. And be sure you are not thoughtless of others. Be helpful for best results.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) It is very likely you will today go to some expense to get advice from authority, and then do just what you please. This will be detrimental to your interests and the results could be really serious. Be smart ... and thorough.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) Any meetings you may have with associates today should be conducted in a courteous and kind manner, or you can make enemies of good friends. P.M. enjoy only the simplest amusements and save yourself further worries.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) While you have many accumulated duties before you, an anxious manner will defeat your purpose. Plan your labors intelligently, then work in a controlled and steady fashion. Avoid domineering, be kind to helpers. Do not criticize.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) While you want to have a grand time today, it is better you look after your health and improve your general appearance. Also do not tease one you love, or much trouble can follow.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You had better control your temper today at home and be devoted, otherwise some serious arguments may ensue. Also, do any work that needs to be done around the house. Repair, fix utilities, etc., cheerfully. Be kind to all.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Be sure you think twice before speaking today, and three times before writing, or there can be much misapprehension. Also listen very carefully to others. If you shop, count your change. P.M. retire early with a good book.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) A good weekend for any repair work that needs to be done. However, be careful with hammer and nails or any pointed devices. P.M. set up a better budget; Plan the coming weeks intelligently. Be prepared and succeed.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Though others may be very provoking this Saturday, do not let it upset your equilibrium. Be the one to maintain law and order, increase harmony within your particular sphere. P.M. take the treatments you need. Be healthy.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) Instead of feeling that others are impeding upon you, do some positive and constructive thinking and acting. Follow the golden rule and you regain joie de vivre, Kipdness and gentility with others helps greatly also.

If your child is born today ... The interesting child born today soon learns the only way to get what is desired is to put up a big fight for it. Teach your child early to conserve his or her, energy for sports and actual labors, for an ounce of constructive thinking can move mountains. Let your progeny strive for harmony and understanding with others. Fine chart for big government worker, detective, directorial professions.

Ernest Bushnell Resigns Post to Enter Business

OTTAWA (CP) — Ernest L. Bushnell has resigned as vice-president of the CBC and plans to establish himself in Ottawa as a management consultant to the private broadcasting industry.

His resignation, effective Dec. 31, was announced Wednesday. Mr. Bushnell said his decision to quit had "absolutely nothing to do" with his central role in last spring's inquiry by the Commons broadcasting committee into charges of political interference with the publicly-owned corporation.

The 59-year-old vice-president has been associated with the CBC for 26 years and was its No. 2 management man for the last seven years. Cabinet appointed him vice-president last year when the post was created by the Broadcasting Act.

He is also giving up his membership on the CBC board of directors.

QUIET COMMENTS

CBC President J. Alphonse Ouimet said the CBC and Mr. Bushnell over the years have become "practically synonymous."

He added: "We are pleased with his decision to remain with the industry to which he has made such a continuing contribution for more than a quarter century."

Terrence Minister Nowlan said the CBC owed much of its success to the vice - president's leadership.

ENDURED TWO CRISES

During the illness of Mr. Ouimet, Mr. Bushnell headed the CBC through some trying times. They included the television producers' lengthy strike in Montreal and the temporary walkout of 36 top men in the corporation's talks and public affairs department over alleged political interference.

Later, Mr. Bushnell went before the committee to say he had never received any orders, directives or hints on how to run the CBC.

Mr. Bushnell, son of a farmer in Ontario's Durham County, was head lener of the touring Adanac Male Quartet for five years before forming Canada's first radio advertising agency in Toronto in 1927. He joined the Canadian Broadcasting Commission in 1933.

Two Ontario Mayors Decide To Step Out

OWEN SOUND (CP) — Is it "wasted" in municipal office?

Two Ontario mayors have decided to step out because of what they feel are shortcomings in their jobs.

Mayor E. C. Sargent of Owen Sound, announcing that he would not be a mayoralty candidate in this year's civic election, said in a television address that "life is too short" to waste another year with an "incompetent council."

In Listowel, about 80 miles south of here, Oscar Nickel stepped down as the town's mayor because of poor pay and overwork attached to the office. He had been mayor for the last seven years.

"I cannot afford to take the time to administer the town's affairs which was required last year," he said.

Mayor Sargent, who has held the office for nine years, blasted Owen Sound's council for being indecisive and reversing its decisions. William A. Forsyth and Ivor Wagner were nominated for the mayoralty Wednesday.

Space Monkey In Good Shape After Rocket Ride

At One Time Travelled 3,600 Miles Per Hour

By GEOFFERY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sam the space monkey, alive and kicking after a violent rocket ride 55 miles high, was due today at Norfolk, Va.

There he'll set his feet on terra firma again for the first time since 11:15 a.m. Friday, when a little Navy rocket blasted him from Wallops Island, Va.

This was Sam's dizzying odyssey from that point:

His space capsule, the kind future space men will ride in their first attempts to orbit the earth, roared to a height of 19 miles.

There an escape rocket ignited, blasting the capsule from the booster rocket and carried the capsule on up to a height of 55 miles. Testing this escape mechanism—a key safety device for future astronauts—was the chief purpose of Sam's journey. It worked perfectly.

3,000-m.p.h. RIDE

For a few seconds the seven-foot capsule, with Sam in a foam-cushioned cradle, was travelling at 3,000 miles an hour. The pressure on Sam's body was 10 times greater compared to sea-level conditions.

This was the weightless condition in the capsule. At 20,000 feet a small parachute blossomed and steadied the vehicle. At 10,000 feet the main parachute mushroomed. Sam covered the capsule into the Atlantic 200 miles east of Wallops Island. The ride lasted just 13 minutes from takeoff.

A radio beacon and a dye marker guided a Navy destroyer to the spot where the capsule splashed and tossed in eight-foot waves. The capsule was hauled aboard in about two hours.

Sam still was imprisoned, and the destroyer crew was reluctant to let him out for fear of damaging delicate instruments. Sam had a 40-hour supply of oxygen.

SEAS TIWART PLAN

Then the destroyer tried to transfer the one-ton capsule to a nearby navy landing ship which had a veterinarian aboard. But the seas were running too high.

Finally, with the vet giving advice by radio and with further instructions from Wallops Island the destroyer officers removed the monkey. Sam was in fine shape. This was six hours after the launching.

"Alive and kicking," came the word from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, which conducted the experiment.

Sam spent the night in the destroyer's sick bay, as it steamed toward Norfolk. He was to get half an apple, half an orange and a banana for his meal, then a bit and drank eagerly.

From Norfolk, Sam will be flown to the School of Aviation Medicine at Brooks air force base, Texas, for a thorough check from the school's initials. He was born there 30 months ago.

The scientists will study Sam for any effects his initiation into space might have had on him.

PC Gathering Showed Vastly Different View

By ALAN DONNELLY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Except for the name and some of the faces, there was little similarity between the progressive Conservative organization that gathered here this week and the one that met in January, 1956.

This latest meeting of the party's national association was riding high. In office with a record Commons majority, it found virtually nothing to criticize on the national scene. Most of the resolutions commended what the government has done or plans to do.

At its last national get-together early in 1956, the Conservative association had little to cheer about. After more than 20 years in opposition, the party had only about 50 of the Commons' 265 seats. The Liberals were in office, that convention was in drafting a series of resolutions blasting the Liberal government on a wide range of issues.

About 800 delegates and supporters, loyal despite years of adversity, attended that meeting nearly four years ago.

This week—more than double that number jammed the convention hotel. Speaker after speaker hailed Prime Minister Diefenbaker as the man who did the most to bring about the transformation in their fortunes.

Back in 1956 there were only two Conservative governments in Canada — Ontario and New Brunswick. Since then the party has captured three other provincial governments — Nova Scotia, Manitoba and Prince Edward Island.

Despite their success—or perhaps because of it — party officials were a little worried this week. Their concern was over complacency and overconfidence.

There was almost no debate from the convention floor. Resolutions and reports, drafted by committees, were accepted without argument. The whoop-la generally associated with such meetings was confined to speech breakfasts, luncheons and dinners.

Shopping Mall Drew 30,000 At Peterborough

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — An experimental seven - block pedestrian shopping mall drew an estimated 30,000 people to downtown Peterborough during its 3½-hour opening Friday night.

Many officials seemed pleased by the unseasonably mild local chamber of commerce.

"It was just like the last shopping night before Christmas," said Morris Black, a merchant. Lawyer G. M. Gordon said he hadn't seen so many people since the 1951 Quaker Oats plant fire.

Several merchants suggested the shopping mall experiment continue every Friday evening until Christmas.

Some, however, were doubtful about the mall's benefit to business. They said many people came just for the novelty and merely watched street entertainers.

Shoppers were transported free to the mall in 12 buses.

All traffic was banned from the seven blocks.

CANADA TRYING TO RECAPTURE BACON MARKET

Prices Will Be Determining Factor

By JOHN E. REID
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Price will be a major factor in determining whether Canada can recapture its traditional British bacon market should the United Kingdom relax bacon import controls next Monday.

Government officials and experts in the trade say Canada may be in a good position to compete with other exporters, especially Denmark, as a result of the Canadian decision to help hog producers through deficiency payments instead of price-support buying of pork.

Reports from London indicate the British government is ready to relax stringent controls on Danish bacon imports. A statement on British agricultural policy is to be made in the commons Monday.

BIG CUT IN 1956

The United Kingdom imported about 160,000,000 pounds of Canadian bacon annually before the Second World War and as high as 700,000,000 pounds during the war years. After 1950 only 100,000,000 pounds were shipped because of British import restrictions.

The heavy wartime shipments were made possible through increased Canadian production, the closing of pork at home and a diversion of bacon to all countries except the U.K. and British possessions.

Starting Jan. 1 the government is changing its pork price support system from outright purchase to a deficiency payment plan.

Hog prices will be allowed to find their own level. If the average price over a period falls below $23.65 a hundredweight, basis Grade A hogs at Toronto, a deficiency payment will be made to producers.

SIT MAY BE KEY

Trade officials and experts here feel this system may help Canada meet competition in the British market. Some say Canada's hog cost differential with Denmark could have to be cut to Britain at $19 a hundredweight. Other experts say Canada would be able to compete even at a higher price.

If hog prices in Canada rise above the average of $23.65 or $17, this would be a time when Canada would be most competitive. The producer selling at such a time would receive little or no deficiency payment of the average price for the year was below the support level.

Agriculture department officials say Canada needs a flexible position today to meet the high requirements of the British Commonwealth. Hogs are being produced than ever before.

Defends Position On African Vote

VICTORIA (CP) — External Affairs Minister Green has defended Canada's abstention from a recent United Nations' vote on South African racial policy.

"Attacking fellow members in the United Nations is not a very good way to keep the Commonwealth together," he said at a Progressive Conservative dinner here.

He said Canada's abstention was not a vote of approval but was mean that Canada approves of apartheid.

"We have been criticized for this, but I think we did the right thing," he said.

Frejus Death Toll Climbs to 257, With More Than 200 Still Missing

FREJUS, France (Reuters) — Scores more dead were recovered today as rescue squads and troops were opened to claim them as an official government inquiry began into the flood disaster that left waste this Riviera town.

The search entered its fourth days was due later today.

It followed an official announcement that 257 bodies have been identified and that 200 more dead and wrecked buildings of this once-pretty town.

Semi-official estimates said more than 200 persons were still missing. It was predicted Friday night that the death toll would be about 500. Many of the dead may never be found, as their bodies have been swept out to sea.

Police launched a criminal investigation of the Wednesday night disaster, as five French cabinet ministers began an inspection.

Some 10,000 soldiers, sailors and police rescue squads reforms dat dawn to hunt for more victims from the collapse of the Malpasset dam.

Friday 125 simple wooden coffins, most bearing only the names of the victims scrawled in black ink, lay in a row on a patio, were lowered into three communal graves while 3,000 mourners watched. Trucks rumbled in bearing more bodies as the funeral went on.

Of the bodies recovered so far, 70 were those of women children.

Mass burials will continue as the victims are identified.

Brazil's President Quells Pocket Revolt Against Rule

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — President Juscelino Kubitschek has warded off the second revolt against his regime.

About 25 rebel Brazilian air force and army officers have been scattered since seizing five planes early Thursday. At least two officers fled to Argentina in a hijacked airliner and were given asylum. Several others were captured and the rest headed deep into the jungles of northwest Brazil.

"I consider the incident closed," Kubitschek said Friday night, declaring that "events like these never will be repeated in our country."

The midget revolt aroused no public support, and even anti-government politicians and newspapers rallied around Kubitschek.

Several of the ringleaders have been involved in a similar abortive revolt in 1956 which was crushed in days. Kubitschek showed leniency and granted pardons to the officers then.

In the latest preparations to test, the officers charged the Kubitschek government with being corrupt and Communist-led. They flew the stolen planes to the small jungle town of Aragarcas, 1,100 miles northwest of Rio, and sought to rally support.

Government paratroops took over the town and its airstrip early Friday, shortly after the rebels pulled out.

One of the rebel leaders, air force Maj. Heber Teixera Pinto, fled to Buenos Aires in the airliner commandeered Wednesday while on a regular passenger run from Sao Paulo to Brazil.

With him was an accomplice, Charles Herbe, a civilian mechanic and a Brazilian senator, Remy Archer, whom they had seized as a hostage.

Kubitschek said his government will try to extradite the two fugitives from Argentina.

The insurgents had been supported by Lacie Quadros, 43, former governor of Sao Paulo and a candidate in next year's presidential election. The rebels said in a manifesto that a revolt would better their chance for a governmental cleanup.

His Tour Aimed at Creating Better World, Declares Ike

ROME (AP)—President Eisenhower declared today that his trip around the world in goodwill tour is to help create a better world for his grandchildren than he has known.

The American leader made this pledge in a speech opening a second day of activities in Rome before going into earnest talks with Premier Antonio Segni and other Italian government leaders.

He is expected to ask them to back the United States in its fight to keep Soviet Red out of Berlin, to support the West's policy of building Europe's defences against communism.

He also is to discuss with Italian and American employers of the U.S. embassy here. Eisenhower made a solemn pledge to help keep the world free from the scourge of war.

"I am journeying to assure 517, this would be a time when Canada would be most competitive. The producer selling at such a time would receive little or no deficiency payment of the average price for the year was below the support level.

Agriculture department officials say Canada needs a flexible position today to meet the high requirements of the British Commonwealth. Hogs are being produced than ever before.

Govt. Mediators Ready to Offer Some Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government mediators promised to offer some steel settlement proposals today at the first face-to-face meeting of industry and union negotiators held since Tuesday.

Director Joseph F. Finnegan of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service said in advance he has some suggestions.

He did not spell them out, but said he expects results after the been broaching peace plans to both sides.

Finnegan explained that separate talks he has presided over daily since Monday with the steel industry and then the Steelworkers' union have been exploratory and "routine mediation".

He had been trying to reconcile differences in preparation for "the sled-rule boys"—or technical—on such matters as insurance and pensions.

There seemed to be little ground for optimistic for a prompt settlement as called for by President Eisenhower and Vice-President Nixon.

Chief Secretary James P. Mitchell said he is hopeful the strike will be settled before expiration of the court-ordered "cooling off" period under the Taft-Hartley Act. The expiration of the 116-day strike is threatened by the Taft-Hartley injunction expires Jan. 26.

R. Conrad Cooper, top industry negotiator, has eliminated his union demands are nearly double what the industry is willing to settle for.

Buyer Complains Cheese Sold To Someone Else

STRATFORD (CP) — A buyer complained at the Western Ontario cheese exchange here Friday that cheese he had bid on at a previous meeting had been sold to someone else.

Peter French, buyer for Whyte Packing Company, said the cheese had been bought by buyer who was not present at the sale.

Chairman Alex Ellis admitted the exchange might be somewhat "unorthodox" but said the auction offering the cheese had not been present on the day in question and an attempt had been made to get in touch with him.

Mr. French then asked whether all cheese boarded Friday was for sale. A poll of salesmen and representatives indicated it was.

Mr. French bid on a lot of 180 boxes at 30½ cents a pound. The salesman promptly withdrew the cheese, saying it had been sold with the understanding it be bought by himself.

Mr. Hooker rejection and that was refused as well. Only cheese boarded were sold, both to Nelson Wiggins Ltd. and Ontario Cheese Producers Marketing Board at 30½ cents a pound.

Hector Arnold of Campbellford, president of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association, told the meeting:

"It appears that we are not living up to the rules and regulations of the exchange. You would be well advised to stick to the rules as closely as you can."

RAILS PROPOSE FREIGHT SUBSIDY TO HELP FARMERS

Want Assistance in Handling West Grain

By ROBERT RICE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—A government subsidy paid to the railways on behalf of prairie farmers is proposed by the CPR and CNR as a solution to the problem of low statutory freight rates on export grain shipments.

The two major railways Friday launched their case for government help before a royal commission investigating freight rates as it opened up six months ago to look into transport inequities across Canada.

Without specifying the cost, the railways asked the government to compensate them for losses in handling western export grain. They insisted the aid be called a subsidy to prairie farmers.

The losses, the companies said, run to around $65,300,000 a year because of freight rates fixed by the 1899 level under the controversial Crowsnest Pass arrangement.

COSTS COULD VARY

The railways offered different ways of collecting the government assistance. Depending on which method was chosen, the subsidy could cost anywhere from $18,000,000, to $75,000,000 a year, government officials said.

The railways agreed to leave the Crowsnest Pass rates structure untouched if the Board of Transport Commissioners is permitted to adjust a "paper rate" that is reasonable and just level.

This effort, they set up a new rate for hauling export grain—part paid by farmers and part by the government treasury.

The farmers' share of the total rate would not change, but if rail costs increased the government portion could be raised accordingly.

No 'Payola' In Canada Say Governors

OTTAWA (CP)—The Board of Broadcast Governors said Friday the circumstances that led to "payola" in the United States "are not present in Canada" and radio broadcasting "do not seem to be present in Canada."

The board said in a statement that it has received complaints of any suspicion of payola in Canada and members of the Canadian Association of Broadcasters also have no knowledge of such an operation in this country.

The board said that it was agreed that the practice—of paying radio disc jockeys to plug records—was largely confined to the United States for several years and "is now declining."

"Smaller stations serving smaller audiences than in the big U.S. centres are largely exempt from distribution of records by commercial and distributing records in Canada, five per cent of the total sales."

"There is more direct program control by management in Canada than in the United States. Important of all, the Hit-Parade type of program is largely predetermined by U.S. popularity which preceded Canadian lists of the 'Top 40' or 'Top 10.'"

Fog And Drizzle Hamper Search For Rouyn Plane

Trenton Rescue Dakotas Await Better Weather

VAL d'Or, Que. (CP) — Fog and drizzle today blocked the search for a construction company plane with seven persons aboard that is reported crashed in rugged northern Quebec bush country.

Last word from the two-engine Beechcraft Super 18 was a distress call about 7:05 p.m. Friday. It had been four hours about another two hours flying.

The Noranda Construction Company of nearby Rouyn, owners of the aircraft, declined to identify the passengers but said the company members aboard the plane until they received definite word of its fate.

RCAF Search and Rescue headquarters at Trenton Friday night and Saturday—are expected to broaden the base of representation on the council, which assists the party brass in laying down policy.

Council membership now is 251. Informants said this probably will be expanded by about 150, to spread representation around among the smaller voting groups that now constitute the grass roots.

The leadership of the party, it was learned, has approved the plan. The Tories were out of the constituency level in relation to the Conservatives during the general election in 1957 and 1958.

FUNDS COMING IN

Meanwhile, the inner circles of the party will hear cheerful news of the financial front that has been coming in recently on a scale much higher than the dismal months after the last two general elections.

There will be an announcement, it was expected, that the war chest is in good shape and that more money can be laid out for the strengthening of the Tories' national leader Senator H. Pearson.

First person to be appointed probably will be James Scott of Toronto as national president of some similar title. Mr. Scott is executive secretary of the Ontario Progressive Conservatives.

There may be other appointments in what is described as "strengthening of the personnel around the top."

It appears certain the council will re-elect A. Bruce Matthews of Toronto as president of the National Liberal Federation.

Refuses Source Of Information

BELIZE, British Honduras (Reuters) — Philip Goldson, editor of the Belize Billboard, has been fined £25 for refusing to answer under oath questions from a commission of inquiry at the source of information he had published.

The commission had been set up to investigate the publication from which obtained information on the recommendations of a commission on constitutional advancement.

The Billboard, a morning newspaper, published this information eight days before it was officially made by the council. At that time it was an executive council secret.

Goldson told the court that to force the newspaper to divulge its source of information would be an "indirect censorship on the press."

When Donnie Tried to Steal Hand For Brother He Started Something

RICHMOND Va. (AP) — Mike Plaugher, 6, smiled his way into the hearts of nurses and doctors at the medical college of Virginia Hospital Friday.

What the brother Donnie, 5, tried to do for Mike in a desperate effort to save his life was told by the specialists.

The perfectly healthy, grand little kid," said Dr. A. Ray Dawson, head of the department of physical medicine, after a preliminary evaluation of what can be expected from Mike, who was born without a left hand and with a malformed right hand.

Mike, accompanied by Donnie and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Plaugher of Alexandria, spent nearly an hour in the office of Dr. Herbert Park, professor of physical medicine and rehabilitation.

After a preliminary evaluation by Park and Dawson in consultation with other specialists, Dawson told reporters a team evaluation will be made later.

"It is our desire to get an artificial appliance for the child."

Later, a plastic surgeon will see Mike but there is no emergency about that, the doctor said.

What did Mike get from Donnie, 5, tried to do for Mike in a desperate effort to save his life was told by the specialists.

"It is unusual if he does," Dawson said. "It takes longer than that to produce it. Normally, it is by about 30 days."

The desire to get Mike a hand for a Christmas gift prompted Donnie to "operate" on him a department store dummy recently while shopping with his mother. She sought to stop the boy's odd cost and explained he wanted it for his brother.

The story of Mike has brought offers to the father, an RCA-a week television repairman, to undertake the costs of an artificial hand, plastic surgery and other expenses. Surgery apparently will be necessary to remove webbing between the fingers of the right hand clenched fistlike.

Liberal Brass Will Convene In Ottawa

By JOHN LeBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — The brass of the Liberals, just as the victorious Conservatives have done, will be reaching hard for the so-called "grass roots" next week.

The Liberals — whose national advisory council meets here Monday and Tuesday—are expected to broaden the base of representation on the council, which assists the party brass in laying down policy.

Council membership now is 251. Informants said this probably will be expanded by about 150, to spread representation around among the smaller voting groups that now constitute the grass roots.

Prince Edward Flying Club Stages 'Wings Presentation'

Approximately 250 members and guests of the Prince Edward Flying Club of Picton attended the annual banquet and wings presentation last night at the Club Commodore.

The gala occasion marked the graduation of 31 flying students, 13 of them from Belleville, as private pilots. Twenty-four of them were present last night to receive their wings, and each received a lovely corsage for the "lady in their life."

The wings presentation was made by Frank Foley of Belleville, president of the Prince Edward Flying Club, who also acted as master of ceremonies, and by Murray Clapp, manager, and instructors D. Tayor and T. Jacobs.

Highlight of the "graduation ceremony" was the presentation of two of three trophies to deserving recipients.

"TROPHY" PRESENTED

The McFarland Trophy, awarded to the student pilot achieving the highest proficiency in navigation, was won by Steve Tripp of Belleville, who was presented by Bob Byers of Picton, private pilot, for H. J. McFarland, who substituted for Mrs. McFarland who was unable to be present.

The Evans Trophy, awarded to the student scoring the highest total in examinations and flight tests, was won by Bill Gibbs of Belleville, who was unable to be present last night. It was to have been presented by Dr. R. F. Evans who, instead, extended his congratulations to the private pilot graduating class.

The Elliott Shannon Memorial Trophy, awarded to the club member chosen by the directors who contributed the most to the club during the past year, was won by Mrs. Shirley Woodcox of Belleville. The trophy was presented by Mrs. Elliott Shannon, in memory of her husband.

Introduction of head table guests was made by President Foley and included Mayor and Mrs. Donald Hyde, Mr. Bob Byers, who represented Mayor Harvey J. McFarland, Mr. Cassie, Indian agent, and Mrs. Cassie from Deseronto, and Mrs. E. Shannon.

A welcome on behalf of the city was extended by Mayor Hyde who also extended congratulations to the 18 local members and 13 from district communities who graduated last night as private pilots.

Speaking of the 18 local members of this year's graduating class, Mayor Hyde suggested they will be "excellent ambassadors" for the city and will "restore its somewhat tarnished name." He urged them to "forget the past" and "welcome the future."

ORGANIZED IN 1953

In his president's remarks, Mr. Foley outlined briefly the tremendous progress made by the club since its organization in June of 1953.

The government - subsidized flying club has graduated 100 pilots to date, and sponsored three engineers who are now employed as aircraft engineers.

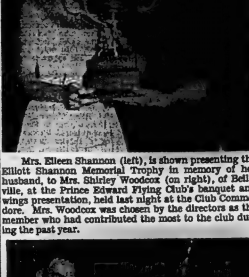
He said the 165-member club has had no accidents in the past three and one-half years of club flying. Its flying miles this is equivalent to 300,000 automobile miles, he explained.

This year the club has graduated 31 private pilots, and chalked up a total of 1,000 hours of flying time. It has added two new planes, a Cessna 172 and an Aeronca Champion, to bring the total to five, and installed a Unicom System at the Picton Airport.

Speaking of future developments, Mr. Foley said the club has applied to the Ontario Department of Transport to license the Mohawk Airstrip at Deseronto as a public airfield. The licence is expected to be received by the first of the year and will allow the club to operate the airstrip as "a satellite base of operations." he said. The O.D.T. recommendations such as the putting up of a windsock and the installation of gas pumps, have been carried out by the club on the well-equipped airfield.

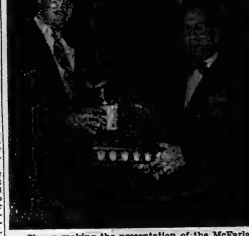
He disclosed the club has also applied for a charter licence so the new Cessna 172 may be used on charter services.

WHOLE FAMILY MEMBERS



Mr. Foley also introduced Mr. "Flying Williams" of Demorestville — father, mother, uncle and son are all private pilots.

Club manager Murray Clapp was presented with a novel "chief instructor's hat" by president Foley on behalf of the club.



Grace was said by J. H. Clark and a toast to the Queen by R. Boyle.

Dancing to the Commodore's Orchestra concluded the gala evening.

Members of the private pilots' graduating class are: Joe Bailey, Trenton; Mel Ayres, Dr. Bill Beattie, Juergen Becker, John Coleman, Bryan Dack, Frank Derry, Dr. Harvey Elliott, John Fleming, Berton Fitzgibbon, Bill Gibbs and Kelly Hennessy, Belleville; Fred Hicks, Picton; Dale Hicks, Bloomfield; Don Hall, Belleville; David Jordan, Trenton; John Lambert, Bellevile; Norman Lightfoot, Jr., Carrying Place; Lou Lepine, Trenton; Jack McWilliams, Picton-Calgary; Alex MacLean, Picton-Toronto; Stuart McArton, Stirling; Donald Revoy, Trenton; Joseph Simpson, Belleville; John Strickland, Bloomfield, youngest pilot to graduate from the club; Douglas Wallbridge, Belleville; Elgin Vader, Bloomfield; Michael Williams, Demorestville, and Stan Wilkinson, Bob Weese, and Charles Young, all of Belleville.

Mrs. Eileen Shannon (left), is shown presenting the Elliott Shannon Memorial Trophy in memory of her husband, to Mrs. Shirley Woodcox (on right), of Belleville, at the Prince Edward Flying Club's banquet and wings presentation, held last night at the Club Commodore. Mrs. Woodcox was chosen by the directors as the member who had contributed the most to the club during the past year.

IN MEMORIAM

EMPEY. — In loving memory of our dear father, Arthur Empey, who suddenly five years ago, December 5th, 1954.
Time may heal the broken hearted,
But it never can ease the pain,
For it leaves a void unfilled,
That no one can ever gain.
Sadly missed by his daughter Ethel.

CRAWFORD. — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, who passed away December 5th, 1957.
Swiftly, silently came the call,
Peacefully he fell asleep,
All that we will remember our whole lifetime,
The last few words we said to him.
Sadly remembered by his wife, daughter and son.

CROSSLEY. — In loving memory of our dear father, Arthur Crossley, who passed away December 5th, 1953.
We often sit and think of him when we are alone,
For memory is the only friend that grief can call its own.
Like ivy, on the withered ash,
Our love will twine around,
Our grief for one we can't forget,
Is deeper than the sea.
Always remembered by wife, Louie and daughter Dona.

CROSSLEY. — In loving memory of our dear husband and father, who passed away December 5th, 1953.
A loving heart, one kind and true,
No friend on earth like him we'll find.
For all of us he did his best,
God gave him eternal rest.
In our hearts his memory lingers,
There is not a day we don't miss him.
There is not an hour we forget him,
That we do not think of you.
Sadly missed by mother Harold, sister-in-law Dorothy and children.

WANNAMAKER. — In loving memory of our dear father, Frederick Wannamaker, a dear husband and father, who passed away December 5th, 1952.
Now all his trials are over,
Now rests his weary head,
How sweet 'twill be to meet him,
In the Resurrection Morn.
Always remembered by his wife Ethel.

KENT. — In loving memory of Arthur Benj. Kent, who passed away December 5th, 1957.
Peace to your world of memories,
A sincerity earned today,
Dear Master, in Thy mansion,
Hearts love you always.
Sadly missed by wife Gertrude and family.

Magistrate Wills Stops Trial on Break-in Count

TRENTON — John Page 18, who last week pleaded not guilty to a charge of breaking and entering the Nazarene Church and the parsonage which is a continuous part of the church, appeared in special magistrate's court in Trenton, yesterday.

S. Gordon Robertson, Q.C. represented the Crown and Roderick Campbell appeared for the accused.

Mrs. Scherrerborn, wife of the minister at the church was the first witness for the Crown. She testified that she had entered the parsonage following the Sunday School period around 11 o'clock, with her baby in her arms, and while climbing the stairs to the second floor, she had seen the accused in the upstairs hall. She said that she had asked him what he was doing in her home, and he had replied that he was looking for a washroom. Mrs. Scherrerborn said that she had told him that there was a washroom in the basement of the church, and had taken him downstairs. Later she had called the police.

Constable R. King was called to the stand. He said that on November 22nd., he had been called to the church at the Nazarene at 11.25 a.m., and had seen the accused in the church basement. He said that he had taken Page to the police station and that he had given the name of "George McColl of Greenwood, Nova Scotia," and that, when he was advised that he would be charged, had run out of the police station, and that he had been apprehended on the street, brought back in and searched. Constable King said that the keys to a 1950 Meteor had been found in Page's pocket and 96c in silver in his station-wagon coat pocket. Subsequently, the officer said ,the keys were found to belong to a car which was parked at the rear of the Church of the Nazarene.

Mr. Campbell asked Constable King if the accused had explained his presence in the parsonage, and the officer replied that the accused had said he was looking for a washroom.

ASKS FOR DISMISSAL

Mr. Campbell asked for a dismissal of the case on this point, stating that there was a sign outside the church which read "Visitors welcome".

Magistrate T. V. Wills said if the accused had been found in the basement of the church he would have granted a dismissal immediately, but since the accused had entered a private dwelling, passing two washrooms on the way, and he felt that the case must continue.

Mr. Campbell then put the accused in the witness box. Page said that he had attended a dance the night before and could not remember anything until the next morning, due to the fact that he had been drinking. He said that his father had aroused the family next morning to go to church, but that he had borrowed a car and driven from his home to the church.

He said that he found that the car did not have any brakes, and had "skidded" right after leaving the bridge and subsequently had managed to stop the car back of the church of the Nazarene. He said he had then proceeded to his own church, stayed about ten minutes, and feeling sick, he had returned to the car. Feeling the urgent need for a washroom, he had gone into the basement of the church, where he did not find a washroom with the door open, so he had proceeded into the parsonage and falling to see the washroom on the first floor, had gone upstairs, where the minister's wife had found him.

GIVES REASON

When asked by his lawyer why he had given a false name at the police station, Page answered that he knew he had a record and was afraid that he would get the same kind of a "deal" that he had last year, and wouldn't stand a chance.

Mr. Robertson pointed out to the accused that he had passed two washrooms on his way upstairs, one of which was known to have had the door open, and suggested that it seemed rather odd that he should go into a strange house for the reasons indicated.

Magistrate Wills stated at this point in the proceedings I am stopped — the trial right now", as he disapproved of the manner in which the accused was answering questions, and remanded the case until December 8th, when he said it could be presented before another magistrate.

British Blenders Of Butter Going 'To Lose Packet'

LONDON (CP) — Canadian butter may be better but British blenders are bitter.

That's the short, unhappy saga related Friday by trade sources on Tooley Street, headquarters of the British market.

Weeks ago, when butter prices were booming, the traders took the plunge and placed orders for high-priced Canadian butter, intended for blending with other varieties.

Then the market slipped. German and French demand dried up, British consumption dropped about 20 per cent, compared with 1958 and butter prices here skidded from about 4s 6d a pound to 3s 8d.

Of more than 6,000 tons of Canadian butter ordered, traders broke about even on the first 4,500 tons shipped. But there are another 1,500 tons on the high seas, bound for Glasgow, Liverpool, London and Manchester, on which the blenders are going to "lose a packet."

"They'll lose about 200 shillings a hundredweight," a Tooley Street source estimated. "This is a chancy business."

A dry summer reduced British production and semi prices soaring this year, leading traders to call for imports of Canadian butter.

Now they wish the stuff had stayed in Canada.

Buyers' Strike Too Radical Says Union Head

WINNIPEG (CP) — Manitoba Farmers' Union president Rody Uzick said Friday the MFU directors will take a "close look" at a resolution calling for a buyers' strike to see how it can be implemented.

The move by the union is designed to put pressure on the federal government for deficiency payments by a buyers' boycott of implements, cars and electrical appliances. The strike proposal came as a surprise near the end of the MFU annual convention.

Before the resolution was approved, Mr. Uzick said a buyers' strike would be "too radical" and doubted the farmers would go that far.

Harry Young, manager of the prairie division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, said in an interview he was "amazed" that the farm union would strike against "concerns that have nothing to do with the government action."

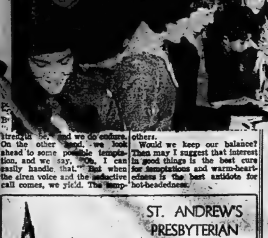
Spokesmen for major grain merchants and officials of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange termed the strike talk a bluff.

$350,000 Award Made to Widow, Two Children

WASHINGTON (AP)—A $350,000 judgment has been awarded by a federal district court jury to the widow and two children of a man who died after a plane crash in the Republic of Ireland five years ago.

The award was to Gertrude Tuller and her two children, of Washington. Court observers said it probably was the largest judgment ever awarded here in a negligence case.

Mrs. Tuller's husband, William G. Tuller, was a $25,000-a-year vice-president in a Meiper Incorporated, an electronics firm. He was a passenger on a KLM Royal Dutch Airlines plane which crashed into the Shannon River after takeoff. Twenty-nine died.



Tuller got out through an escape hatch and swam to the plane's tail but slipped off and was drowned four hours later as a rescue launch approached.

Defendants were KLM and Sabena airlines, which looks after KLM's interests at Shannon Airport. Mrs. Tuller's lawyers argued that crew failure left Tuller marooned for four hours.

For more than eight months Imperial Oil Limited flew in supplies and men to operate its deepest natural gas probe, a 21/2-mile deep hole just north of the Brazeau River about 106 miles southwest of Edmonton.
Former RAF pilot Don Fraser, shown here in the cockpit of his plane taking to Jim Archbold, a worker at the well, teamed up with H. B. (Lefty) McLeod of Calgary to fly 617 flights to the site.
Together they logged more than 618 hours in the air and carried 1,678,000 tons of freight and 870 passengers. Some supplies were flown from Edmonton but most came from Drayton Valley, Buck Creek and Edson, located on least map.
About three-quarters of the supply tonnage flown to the site was "mud"—a manufactured substance needed to lubricate and seal the walls of the drill hole.
Drilling at the site began more than a year ago but summer turned the ice-hard trails through the bush to muck. Then the autumn rains took over but slow winter has again made the trails passable by trucks. (CP, Newsmap.)

For more than eight months Imperial Oil Limited flew in supplies and men to operate its deepest natural gas probe, a 2½-mile deep hole just north of the Brazeau River about 100 miles southwest of Edmonton.

Former RAF pilot Don Fraser, shown here in the cockpit of his plane talking to Jim Archibald, a worker at the well, teamed up with H. B. (Letty) McLeod of Calgary to fly 617 flights to the site.

Together they logged more than 618 hours in the air and carried 1,478,000 tons of freight and 870 passengers. Some supplies were flown from Edmonton but most came from Drayton Valley, Buck Creek and Edson, located on inset map.

About three-quarters of the supply tonnage flown to the site was "mud"—a manufactured substance needed to lubricate and seal the walls of the drill hole.

Drilling at the site began more than a year ago but summer turned the ice-hard trails through the bush to muck. Then the aircraft took over but now winter has again made the trails usable by trucks. (CP Newsmap.)

Sunday Sports - - A Difficult Decision

Nearly every Bellevilie citizen, we feel sure, is aware that when he or she goes to the polls on Monday he will be asked to record his opinion regarding Sunday sports. We are not at all certain, however, that everybody understands precisely what he or she is being asked to vote for, or against. If there is any confusion, it is the result of the vague wording of the question and the equally vague wording of some of the advertisements regarding it.

In a nutshell, what voters are being asked to decide is whether any, and every, sports organization should be permitted to charge admission to a game played on Sunday. That, and nothing else, is the issue. They are not being asked whether they think such games should be played—the playing of the game itself is already legal. They are not being asked whether any special privilege should be granted to commercial or professional sport bodies. The present prohibition against charging admission to sports events on Sunday applies to all organizations. If this prohibition is lifted, it will be abolished for all organizations staging games within hours specified by a municipal by-law.

The question, as it will appear on the ballot paper, reads: "Are you in favor of public games and sports on the Lord's Day, to be regulated by municipal by-law under the authority of the Lord's Day (Ontario) Act?"

If the majority of citizens vote "Yes" it will mean that each and every sport organization, from a pee-wee ball club to a professional hockey team, will be able to stage games on Sunday, within hours to be specified by a municipal by-law, and to charge admission to such games.

If the majority of citizens vote "Yes" it will mean that no sport organization, whether a professional hockey club or a pee-wee club, will be able to charge so much as a nickel at the gate for a game played on Sunday, although playing the game itself will not be illegal. This is the situation as it exists today.

We cannot see that either the present situation, which would continue to prevail if the vote on the question favors the negative, nor the situation which would prevail following an affirmative vote, would be ideal. After all, if professional teams are permitted to operate on Sunday, they will do so not for the enjoyment which the players get from the game, but from the profit gained from the spectators. It is true that the spectators will enjoy themselves, but if this is to be the criterion why should not movie theatres and bowling alleys and pool rooms be open, so that their patrons could enjoy themselves? What is the difference? We suggest there is none. Would the majority of Bellevilie citizens welcome this type of "open Sunday," with all places of amusement in operation? We doubt it.

This suggests the correct decision is to cast a negative vote. But, while advocating this procedure, we hasten to add that we should not welcome a vigorous enforcement of the letter of the law as it now stands. Many a time we have said in these columns that the law is a good law unless it is enforced and that a law which is not enforced should be repealed. There are today, in this district, numerous infractions of the letter of the law as it now exists. None of these infractions seem to us to be serious. It follows, therefore, that we should welcome a change in the law to make legal harmless activities now indulged in, though contrary to the law. But it is not within the power of Bellevilie voters to approve such reasonable amendment to the existing law when they go to the polls on Monday. They cannot permit some teams to play while barring others; if they vote "yes" not only amateurs but also truly commercialized teams will be able to charge admission to Sunday games.

Somewhat unhappily, we reach the conclusion that the best solution is for the citizens of Bellevilie to vote "No", and for those who are opposing the legalization of admission charges to Sunday sport events to then refrain from taking any action against groups which, following well established custom, may be breaking the letter of the existing law without in any way coming within any reasonable definition of "commercialized sports."

SINCE I HAVE DONE MY BEST

By EDGAR A. GUEST

Since I have done my best, I do
Not fear the outcome; here I stand
Prepared for judgment when men
The labor of my heart and hand.

If good, then happy I shall be;
If not, contented I'll abide
And though the prize is not for me,
My joy shall be in having tried.

Since I have done my best, I rest
No cause for me to sit and sigh.
Although the laurel wreath I miss,
My eyes shall smiling be and dry.

No vain excuses shall I make
For failing, and no vain
But bravely judgment I shall take,
And say: A better man I've met.

Since I have done my best, I'll
Whatever God shall summon
Contented, for right well I know,
However poor my record be,
That, having nothing to regret,
No shame that I would seek to hide,
The Master's praises I shall get
For honest effort when I tried.

Canada's Amazing Western Frontier

by Harry M. Moore
WORLD'S LARGEST DAM
(Article 13)

In the beginning a river, to be known as the Finlay, a stream running south, was in most the waters of the stream known as the Parsnip, running north, on the eastern side of the Rocky Mountains in what is now known as upper British Columbia. The boiling waters of the two rivers dug an east-west trench, a mile or more in length and 800 feet deep between Mt. Selwyn (6,220 feet) north, and High Wolsley Mountain, south, which on the earliest maps was even then shown as "the Black Gorge."

In this maelstrom of waters a new river was born, the only river known to pass entirely through the Rockies. That river was to be known among the early Indian tribes as "Ouchayo" or Peace, for was it not on its shores in 1780 that the Cree and Beaver tribes smoked the pipe of peace and agreed never to meet in combat again?

Two Little Words Make Big Difference

Editor, Ontario Intelligencer:

In a report of the proceedings of The Wharf Street Debating Club in your paper, it was stated that I made the following statement: "The professional men on the city council have done a great job," when in fact what I did say was they have done a good job on us, the citizens of Belleville.

I think you will agree that this changes the picture altogether, and I want to set the record straight so that no one can accuse me of saying this year's council has done a good job.

But he was much more interested in the crowd of spectators than in the game.

"I've seen so few people in recent years," he said, "that I have become interested in people look...like. I've been thinking of them in terms of individuals. It is a little shocking to see them in the mass like this."

At intermissions, we went out in the corridors to smoke, and there we viewed the smiling throngs of our nationals, gathered to enjoy the manly game. He was particularly interested in the rather conspicuous number of young children. Most coats or car coats, their hair glossy with oil, their shoulders hunched, their hands deep in their pockets, and always in groups.

"Who are they?" he asked.

I said I didn't know.

Maybe," said the biologist, "they are the ideal towards which nature is shaping the human species."

We both hustled back in to our seats for the final period.

Council Obsession

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer:

Belleville's council as suggested in the recent judicial inquiry. Annexation of large portions of Sidney and Thurlow townships so seized the imagination of the councillors that city management was sadly neglected. Greatness, physical and world-renowned, were the main considerations of councils of '56, '57 and '58.

At the annexation hearing, which I attended throughout, I had bounded by Sidney Street, Bell Telephone and Highway strong plea for industrial land was presented. Of the block of 603, initially considered for annexation but less than half the Municipal Board pruned superciliously $4 per cent of the assessment but less than half the land area into the city of Belleville. The annexed ratepayers, 95 per cent of whom voted against annexation, were forced from rich-blow into a municipality in which the debt was already high and at the same time sky-rocketing.

Belleville is now on the map, certainly but the municipal industry is already moving into

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

CROWDS

In a world fashioned as ours is, we soon discover that we cannot live without the presence and support of other people. There probably are a few real hermits in the world, but they are so few as to be negligible. We are gregarious by nature. We cannot live without the society of others.

Therefore, we have to settle ourselves to the problem of learning to live with one another. And, of course, this problem becomes more overwhelming with the passing of time. The story is sometimes told of pioneers on the frontier a hundred or two hundred years ago who moved out of the crowded areas of the east and headed west when people began to live within ten miles of their homes. But now with large cities, with the people on the same floor of our apartment house to whom we have never spoken and whom we would not know if we passed them on the street, the situation becomes entirely different. There are places where we live where few know and people live on one block.

This is a tremendous test of character. The closer we live to people, the more we must distribute ourselves, put ourselves aside, think of others rather than ourselves. There is really just one great social problem today—how can I live peaceably, pleasantly, with people who crowd in upon me?

Here we have answered that question. We have peace. Without prayer we have chaos and misery.

At a largely attended meeting of the medical staff of the Belleville General Hospital and members of the Prince Edward County Medical Association, a study group for the study of cancer was formed. The meeting, which was held last evening at the hospital, was attended by Dr. D. A. Kelly of Toronto, secretary of the Ontario Medical Society who addressed the members, and by Dr. J. Etherington, Dean of the Faculty of Medicine, Queen's University, Kingston, who gave a scientific address on cancer. Dr. R. A. Flynn, president of the hospital medical staff, presided at the meeting. Dr. Kelly discussed the purposes of the Canadian Society for the Control of Cancer which may become organized in Belleville. Its purposes are to bring information to the public, and through research, to decrease this war against cancer which already has a formidable death rate. He asked those present to be sympathetically disposed to the movement and give it their co-operation.

Mrs. R. B. Rollins of Tweed has returned home after spending a few days with Mrs. H. Lee, William Street.

One of the most successful amateur entertainments given this season was held in the Sidney Street Methodist Sunday School Church. It was under the auspices of the choir and every number was well rendered and afforded much enjoyment to the large audience. One item of special interest was the first appearance of Holloway Street Kitchen Orchestra under the able direction of George Dulmage. The orchestra is composed of 23 members, the instruments for a well balanced orchestra being played. Particular mention might be made of the two solos trombone artists, C. Lloyd and H. Holloway, who favored the large audience with a duet entitled "Silver Threads Among the Gold."

It is understood that Mr. W. B. Riggs will be a candidate for the office of mayor at the coming elections.

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

DISEASE OF THE PANCREAS MOST VERY COMMON.

"Dear Dr. Molner: What causes acute pancreatitis? Can it be cured, and can eating too much sugar cause it?—L.T."

We'll say that latter as the jumping-off point to answer other inquiries on the subject. The pancreas is a gland (sweetbread) behind the stomach and has two purposes: One is to produce insulin to help discharge correctly into the bloodstream; the other is to produce enzymes which help digest starches and fats, and are injected into the small intestine very close to the point at which bile enters from the gall bladder. You'll see soon why I mentioned this.

Infection or inflammation of the pancreas is "pancreatitis," but there are various causes. There can be acute cases which come on suddenly, usually with violent pain in the upper abdomen, fever, and nausea and vomiting. (Mumps can cause it.) Or the condition may develop gradually.

In acute cases, recovery may be complete, or the condition may develop a chronic type of the disease as time goes on.

Disease of the pancreas, by the way, isn't very common, but it's just as well to know a little about it. Anyway, for other causes, bacteria may be the cause, perhaps spreading from an ailment in some neighboring organ. Stones may be the cause (not necessarily malignant) in the pancreas, or perhaps a stone or polyps which clog the duct carrying enzymes to the intestine, just as gall stones block duct can become clogged. About one-third of the patients with chronic pancreatitis also have gall bladder disease.

There is no reason why eating sugar should cause the disease. However, a high percentage of alcoholics have disease of the pancreas. Some authorities (though obviously it may also occur in someone who has never had a drink) say that alcohol causes the pain often going through to the back. Other symptoms may include loose, foamy stools, sometimes sugar in the urine, and loss of weight.

And talking about the intermediate team, are we going to have a punch that will make the rafters sit up and smile? Well rather. Top management, while not prepared to say what any silver cups will come in this direction, do claim that they are a husky bunch and ready to play with any aggregation that drifts into this neck of the woods. And the team that takes their measure will have to step, as they have been playing something different to dominoes.

A Lift for Living

Keeping Our Balance in Life

BY DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

About a year ago I participated with President Eisenhower in laying a cornerstone. In that ceremony he quoted a memorable definition: "Liberty is the priceless opportunity for self-discipline." It recalled to my mind a counsel given near the end of the Bible: "Add to your knowledge temperance," or as the Revised Version puts it: "Supplement your knowledge with self-control."

When we hear the words "temperance" or "self-control," we think first of all of restraining or holding ourselves in. We are born into this world as little bundles of desires. These desires reach out in all directions, and if we proceed on the principle of doing just what comes naturally, we grow like a wild bush, irregular and unkempt. The temperate person is one whose life is trained and pruned into shapeliness and fruitage.

Let us begin with the bodily appetites. The body, as given to us by our Creator, is inescapably a beautiful instrument. Look at the athletic young fellow using his body with such admirable and carefree grace. But if we pamper our bodies, give them their fill in any direction, they become imperious tyrants and we become their slaves. The cigarette that we lit before our recess door. Hence it is natural that the Ten Commandments should be so largely "Thou shalt not's." Self-control begins with self-restraint.

One's inner appetites are often harder to overcome than outward obstacles, for the reason that the latter arouse our resistance while the former lull us into complacency. When we face opposition from outside ourselves, we feel our independence threatened and our latent energies are stirred into action. But when we yield to our physical appetites, they flatter us with the feeling that we are exerting our freedom and we go along with them. Later we wake up to discover that they have impaired our liberty.

It is curious how we can stand so much more trouble than we think we can and so much less temptation than we think we can. We look ahead and foresee some possible calamity and we say, "Oh, I could never endure that." But when the trouble comes, then "as our days so shall our strength be," and we do endure. On the other hand, we look ahead to some possible temptation, and we say, "Oh, I can easily handle that." But when the siren voice and the seductive call comes, we yield. The temperate man is sufficiently alert to use the future strength of temptations.

Moreover, to be temperate, we must measure temptations by their aftereffects rather than by their alluring promises. Bishop Butler has said that the good things of life have to be paid for in advance while the bad things are paid for afterward.

For instance, the athlete has to undergo a daily physical drill, undergoing discipline and sacrificing midnight suppers. The musician pays for his artistry by long exercise. But the indulger in our passions costs nothing beforehand. The payment comes afterward. The temperate man is smart enough not to take his enjoyments until he can pay for them, and then to be sure they are worth paying for.

Furthermore, the Christian virtue of temperance or self-control is unselfish. A man consider his influence as well as his action. He is a member of society and he must see himself in his social setting. Paul said, "If meat maketh my brother to stumble, I will eat no meat." It is possible that a man may so use his handle some indulgence quite safely so far as his own welfare is concerned; but his example in that indulgence may lead another to take a course which he cannot control. If we would pass the bodily Christian test of temperance, I do not quite see how we can get around the consideration of our example before others.

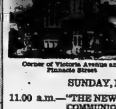
Yes, and we should remember that a virtue can be made a vice by being pushed to extremes. Prudence is a virtue most valuable in keeping us from recklessness, but prudence can be carried to the point of timidity, even paralysis. Amiability is a charming virtue in helping others, but a person can misuse it until he loses his pliable and weak. Strong convictions are essential to strength of character, but they can be made self-centered by stubbornness.

Our goal when so many are losing their self-control in lawlessness and boozing their heads, following false philosophies or running before foolish fears, how can we help persons who are keep balance, who can exercise temperance without becoming its victim and give themselves to their work without becoming its slaves? He who can carry their virtues with such easy grace that they make goodness attractive to others.

The Word we keep our balance? Then may I suggest that interest in good things is the best cure for bad interests. Spiritual wholeness is the best antidote for bad-headedness.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

BY WINIFRED WILSON
MIGRATIONS OF WARBLERS



Warblers are such tiny frail looking birds that it is hard to believe either journeying far or staying to brave the cold of our northern winter. However, either one way or the other they must be done, and the great majority choose migration — some of them very long distances. The trip is highly hazardous. Thousands are exhausted or killed every autumn.

The yellow warbler, best known of all to city folk, breeds as far north as the limit of trees and from coast to coast. Yet the winter may be spent anywhere from southern Mexico to Peru and east to the Guianas and Brazil. On account of the Mediterranean's summer home being in forests, and its favorite spot for both nesting and feeding being high, often up to 60 feet, few people are well acquainted with this extremely beautiful black and white bird with its strong markings. Though breeding as far north as Cape Breton Island, it flies as far as Yucatan, Venezuela and Peru. Seldom seen but frequently heard in the evenings, especially remembered for its unusual song of "Pweedee, Pweedee, Pweedee, teacher, teacher". A dweller on the forest floor in summer, it sometimes flies from Alaska as far as Colombia.

Of the more than 100 species of warblers found in the New World, very few try to winter as far north as the northern U.S. in fact, not many remain even in the southern states; a few individuals of several species are met with in the extreme southern part of Florida and Texas each winter. However, there are exceptions to this rule.

The majority of pine warblers, breeding in the pine forests from southern Manitoba, Ontario, and Quebec to the Gulf of Mexico, spend the cold weather in the southern third of this range; but many are to be found as far north as Massachusetts. The palm warblers, whose summer home is from Nova Scotia and Maine northwest to southern Mackenzie, are really divided into two subspecies. Those breeding in the interior of Canada make a 3,000 mile journey from Great Slave Lake to Cuba. Curiously, those of the Atlantic coast occasionally winter in N.B. or Maine.

The really hardy warbler is the myrtle. Those that migrate are late in leaving and early returning to their nesting grounds, but most Canada only about six months. Though some of them fly as far as Central America and the Bahamas, others stay north all year, a few being found even in southern N.S., southern Ontario, and Maine.

THE NEW AND DANGEROUS HERESIES OF "LIFE AND DEATH"

The Committee on Christian Faith, of the United Church of Canada has recently published a book entitled "Life and Death". The committee has found in this book seventeen (17) statements, many of them new and even dangerous to some people. We admit that they seem so to us.

ONE OF THE MOST profitable and comfortable ways to spend a rainy day with your children is to help them organize their rooms. Take time to discuss things sensibly—and in figuring out mutually satisfactory plans for their orderly arrangement. They'll enjoy your cooperative and friendly attention—and perhaps learn many a fact in having shown.

Going Places

Selecting Right Travel Agent Is Key Step in Planning Ahead

By SHIRLEY and BOB SLOANE

The relationship between travel agent and travel agent is almost as mystical and responsibility as that between a doctor and patient or lawyer and client.

In his hands we place our tickets (the keys of transportation by the eclectic for us), our fortunes (that hard-earned two weeks pay) and our honor (needless to say, there are all kinds of hotels). In short, he can make what we've been waiting for all year worth having waited for or not.

Thus, selecting the right travel agent is probably the most important step in planning any trip. And that probably sounds as facetious as advising someone to choose the right doctor or lawyer. Which is the right one?

Like any professional, he ought to be highly recommended and well qualified, have a reputation for offering fast, efficient dependable service and sound knowledge.

Above all, he should have your interest nearest his heart, it should be better to see the size of his commission or the volume of money he can harbor from you. He should offer you a share of his commission or brings ya information and confidence with prices of bargain trips that turn out to be mere come-ons, blind tricks to get you within him further. His ethics ought to be the first thing that impresses you.

NEEDS FULL KNOWLEDGE

He can be a rog in a vast labyrinthian organization or he can operate out of the back of your home town insurance agency, but he must have a full technical and practical knowledge of the complicated business in order to serve you properly.

He should be firsthand knowledge of a place or direct reports from someone who has been there before he sells you on one, including you, can spin dreams about colored beaches and churches. The very best agents may even know a hotel room by room.

He may well be a specialist in the area that concerns you. It is quite common today for an agent to concentrate on region that draw most of the populace in his section, in the northeast it-may go to Canada, New England, New York, Florida and the West Indies, in the west, Hawaii; in Florida, Latin America.

His recommendations should be more than offering advice. Prices, your budget, social and marital status and your companions, if any.

He should have a reasonably broad range of contacts and recognition in the travel industry. Perhaps he belongs to a group like the bus commission for booking you into almost any cruise, airline or hotel and can get you thus reducing the likelihood of being stuck with inferior and toward another for his own reasons.

He should have the influence to get you what you want where you want it when you want it, not just on your own. Many rooms, tours, transportation agencies are like to be blocked off in favor of the more productive agencies. He should know how to get tickets. You probably have no idea how incredible a thing that can encompass. There are ways of saving passengers small fortunes by looking them on the right carriers and making of the most advantageous excursion fares, family plans, through fares, joint fares, stopovers, circle trips, reduced rates other technical matters that only the knowledgeable agent in the travel industry fully understand.

WITH ANSWER QUESTIONS

He should be ready, willing and able to answer any questions you may have, from what kind of clothes is fastest and most comfortable and where's the best seat, to what the Swedish krona is worth at the moment.

He should be readily prepared to go to work for you to the extent of helping arrange your passport and visa applications, letters of credit, collection of traveler's checks non-refundable chases, innoculations and ticket arrangements. He should have all the latest details of your accommodations, tranfers to and from dock or airport and sight-seeing guides and interpreters at each port.

Except in rare circumstances, he should be able to do all this at no charge to you, incredible as it may seem. About the only thing he can't do is arrange an auto trip for you, for the sound reason that he stands to earn little or no commission from it.

Where do you find such a giant among men, such an answer to a traveller's prayer? Truth is the search is quite tricky.

As with doctors and lawyers, some are incredibly better than others. Members of the American Society of Travel Agents are required to comply with a code of ethical standards above, which it is no wise to say that all good travel agents are members. Many do not choose to belong or have not been accepted.

Whomever you select, you should be able to meet the above columns. Give him ten points for each agreeing nod and if he doesn't hit 150 he's not the agent for you. He will have little to learn about his name.

We'll see him next time.

This and That

By HARRIET STEVENS

So often it takes a contrast to point up our good fortunes, yes, even our many, many misfortunes. Last week we had our first snowfalls on two consecutive days. The day it snowed a card and a letter arrived from the Mediterranean. The card was from a friend whose husband was on his way to Montreal Canada at a World Health meeting in Rome. The letter was from our own friend Dorothy Potts who, as you know, is in charge of nursing for the Middle East Mission and they are North Africa, the Middle East and Jerusalem. Wouldn't it be strange if they met?

Reading these messages we were thankful that the Christmas in the sun shone warmly in December in many places besides Florida. Home for both of them remains back in Canada where the snow is piled deep and the days are short for the winter season. Each of them remarked, as summer in Gordon Allmark, who has been with the Department of Health and Welfare in Ottawa, and Dorothy Potts are in their own circle and are doing a wonderful job contributing to the ideal of making every day more Christmasy for children and women and grown children in less blessed lands. Somehow, it made one more conscious a little whiter, December more hopeful and the spirit of Christmas a little more evident. The children of the Middle East love their sun and because of such people they have the promise of sharing the giving and receiving to pass on to them as more or through the good offices of the Mission Board of Health Potts of Canada.

The balance sheet of conflicting thoughts about contrasts and comparisons left us with an equality of the best things in life which are free. The sun and warmth, the joy of spending one day the two shall meet, makes our Canadian December sun a little warmer, our snow a little whiter and makes the sun a little less formidable, a little more white around the Mediterranean perhaps and Africa.

Reading the interesting editorial in our Ontario Intelligencer concerning the growing concern about "leisure time" recalled a conversation we had last week with a local gentleman. His vocation is instructor in prospective retail clerks and salesmen for a large manufacturer in the Bay of Quinte district. He remarked that in his opinion he could not be surprised if moneyed in the foreseable future a new course was instituted for secondary schools, "hobbies and or how to use spare time". He went on to say that one of his first objectives with a new class is to learn from each student what his hobbies are, and how he spends his free or leisure time. We quoted ed maxim to him that "a man is known by what he does when he has nothing to do". His reply was "exactly"! T and T did not know about the editorial and it seemed that the interview or conversation approached the subject from the practical angle. The instructor has a considerable collection of various other technical matters that only the knowledgeable agent in the travel industry fully understand.

Apropos of the subject T and T has before her a review of a comprehensive report published recently by the International Labor Organization Courier on this very problem. Some relevant facts may interest our readers. Did you know that "80 percent of all light bulbs in America are used by 16 workers at 14 inspectors"? Did you know that "when the time arrives for the automobile industry will employ only 200,000 workers as compared with some 800,000 today. Finally, "in 12 cases of automation, ranging from chocolate refining to tail-to road traffic control, the reduction of worker requirements ranged from 13 to 85 percent with an average employment"reduction of 61.4 percent".

The report of the experts is, in spite of this, optimistic provided that governments intervene quickly that "social goals" are neglected to take up the list. One conclusion is that the white collar workers will be the most drastically affected. However, it has been proven that increased automation brings increased employment through new and related industries. One example is in the telephone systems of the USA. Following the introduction of the dialing system, employment increased two-fold between 1940 and 1950. The report also revealed that "the reason the general tendency has been to underestimate the beneficial participation in the labor force and wider opportunities". The report concludes that "automation is rich with promise of higher productivity, of more goods and services, of higher living standards. It will have a serious impact on wages, hours and working conditions, on labor-management relations. There is a need to prepare for change in all fields of labor and social policy".

Our weekend thought comes from the final sentence of the report in the Courier. The ILO task is to ensure that the human problems of automation are not neglected. Put positively, its real job is to make sure that social goals triumph as the new technology makes its way into world economy.

Our instructor's observations, the editorial and the ILO report all tie in with one of today's most pressing problems.

Centre St. W.A. Appoints 1960 Officers

The ladies of Centre Street Church W.A. held their regular meeting in the church auditorium on December 2nd with a good attendance. Mrs. Long-combe opened the meeting with the thought "The Heart of Christmas is Christ and the Heart of Christ is Love," followed with all singing "O Little Town of Bethlehem, Midnight Clear." Scripture was read by Mrs. Ross Hall, Col. Tate.

Mrs. Vandewetering gave the devotional, "Perfect harmony the peace of Christ rule in your hearts to which indeed you were called in one body, and be thankful, and whatever you do, in word or deed, do everything in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks by God the Father through Him."

Mrs. Wood gave the financial report and Mrs. A. Hawley the report on the bazaar which was most successful. The Sunshine report was given by Mrs. Schaverien, which advised Hodgins reported that she and Mrs. McCleod had audited the books.

A short business session was held.

Rev. W. E. Dovey took charge of installation of officers for 1960. President, Mrs. Lulu Longhurst; vice-president, Mrs. Dorothy Hodgins; secretary, corresponding secretary, Mrs. Stapley; treasurer, Mrs. Grace Wood; auditors, Mrs. Vandenwater and Mrs. McCleod; pianist, Mrs. Collins.

Mr. Dovey wished the ladies success during the coming year, thanked them for their help in the church and Sunday School. Rev. and Mrs. Dovey rendered a beautiful Christmas hymn and closed with prayer.

All went to the school room where refreshments were served by the ladies. Two of the oldest members, Mrs. Bell, who is in her 91st year, Mrs. Duvall, in her 81st year, were presented with gifts. Both these ladies are very active.

The ladies donated a gift which was a dainty sugar and cream set on a tray and towel to Mrs. Longhurst to show their appreciation of her faithful and efficient work in the past two years. All shown in a table laden with dainty refreshments. The table with its Yuletide cloth and centre piece of poinsettias and streamers, ornaments, bells and candles, made a most attractive scene for the occasion. This was prepared by the ladies of the Mission Circle and presentations at the table for this occasion. Mrs. Duvall, her daughter, Mrs. Winnie Schaverien, granddaughter Pat and great grandson, Teddy.

Mrs. Longhurst tendered a vote of thanks to the ladies for their gift and nice time.

Velma Chapman, a nursing supervisor at Sunnybrook Hospital, Toronto arranged the affair for the group.

During the meal, a decorated anniversary cake, covered with candles, was presented to them.

A Simple Cure

By ALMA MASON

(6th in a Series)

The words, "I'm too busy" continually uttered by persons can make the road of life slippery and hazardous for young feet.

The finest happiness exists among members of family who have learned the art of sharing and sacrificing for each other can be a wonderful method of living.

Indulging in mutual projects, creative activities and sharing the reading of good literature can draw families together in a satisfying circle of joy and can sometimes prevent the unhappy soon and women who will complain a vast share of juvenile delinquency.

Each man sat for a time in his favorite chair, his mate quietly sofily, "Where your treasure is there shall your heart be also."

Another said, "Bring up a child in the way he should go and when he is old he will not depart from it."

MODERN MANNERS

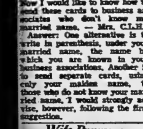
Carolyn Sherer Shea,

THE BACHELOR-GIRL HOSTESS

During recent years the career girl has come into her own. She is no longer the butt of a newspaper, talkswoman, secretary, telephone operator or stenographer, she has definitely earned her independence. Congratulations are in order, then, when the bachelor girl wishes to entertain for a limited group. For example, let's look at the problems faced by a young women reader who wishes to entertain at a dinner party at one of the small hotels, to return her, kindness, that were shown to her girl co-workers.

This young lady does not know enough men to ask as escorts for them, since dancing will be on the program. She asks me how to just how to go about asking enough men to make the party a success. My suggestion is that she invite the women to be her guests, and request to bring their own escorts. If the party is to be fairly large, each guest will be glad to give the name of her escort ahead of time, that arrangements may be made for him to be invited next to her.

Of course, the usual list is made, future embarrassment will be avoided if the girl giving the party goes to the native of the hotel and asks for the head waiter, maid or restaurant that she has selected for the party, and makes all arrangements with him. Plans for the centre-piece, if there is to be one, the selection of the table, etc., should all be worked out ahead of time.



By the way, don't forget a tip to the head waiter himself in this instance. He should be recompensed for his special attention to the details for the party. A good rule is 10 dollars if there is a head waiter in charge.

Ideal hostess for the woman who is acting in the dual capacity of host and hostess is the one who follows all arrangements before the party. If the menu is unsatisfactory to her, she has a right to change it, if it is known just what amount will be spent. Also, clothes (tip to the waiters) should be taken care of before the event, as well as the table to place his own order, and the total expense of the party. I is doubt, it is wise to draw a credit card with the hotel so that the check may be paid unobtrusively when the festivities are over. The tips for the waiters may be added to the check. In this way all chance of embarrassment on the part of the gentlemen present is avoided.

Remember, the successful bachelor-girl hostess is the one who is thoughtful at some time came she is secure in the knowledge that all details have been carefully worked out prior to the party.

Question: I am a married man, but I was my maiden name. This means to me is a see of confusion most of the time. My husband and I have had our names printed just lately on Christmas cards. Now I would like to know how to send these cards to business associates who don't know my married name, as Mrs. C. L. B.

Answer: One alternative is to write in parenthesis, under your married name, the name by which you are known in your business associations. Another is to send separate cards, using only your maiden name, to those who do not know your married name. I would strongly advise, however, following the first suggestion.

Stories of Famous Hymn

by HORACE B. POWELL

AWAKE, MY SOUL, AND WITH THE SUN

Awake my soul and with the sun
Thy daily stage of duty run;
Shake off dull sloth, and joyful rise
To pay the morning sacrifice.

Wake, and lift up thyself, my heart,
And with the angels bear Thy part,
Who all night long unwearied sing
High praise to the eternal King.

All praise to Thee, who safe hast kept,
And hast refreshed me while I slept;
Grant, Lord, when I from death shall wake
I may of endless life partake.

Lord, I my vows to Thee renew;
Disperse my sins as morning dew;
Guard my first springs of thought and will,
And with Thyself my spirit fill.

Direct, control, suggest, this day
All I design, or do, or say;
That all my powers, with all their might,
In Thy sole glory may unite.

Bishop Thomas Ken, distinguished seventeenth century Church of England clergyman, wrote three rather remarkable poems — a Morning Hymn, "Midnight Hymn", and an "Evening Hymn".

Each of the hymns closed with the same four-line stanza which today is sung around the world as the Doxology of Christendom: "Praise God, from whom all blessings flow."

Praise Him, all creatures here below
Praise Him above, ye heavenly host,

Praise Father, Son, and Holy Ghost."

The version of "Awake, My Soul" from the bishop's Morning Hymn" which, with his other two poems, was written for the use of students at Winchester College, they were included in a manual of Prayers which Bishop Ken published for the use of college students in 1695, and their publication was accompanied by these words:

"Be sure to sing the Morning and Evening Hymns in your chamber, devoutly remembering that the Psalmist upon happy experience assures you that it is a good thing to tell of the loving-kindness of the Lord, early in the morning, and of His truth in the night season".

Bishop Ken, it is said, used to sing the stanzas of "Awake, My Soul" each morning when he awoke. As he sang he played his own musical accompaniment on a lute. When he died, in 1711, he was buried at sunrise as he had requested and his Morning Hymn was sung at a simple funeral service in the little churchyard at Frome, which he had chosen as his last resting place.

Holloway St. W.M.S. Holds Yule Meeting

Mrs. Fred Scott with her group of ladies, convened the Christmas meeting of the W.M.S. in Holloway Street Church on Tuesday.

The tea table with its gaudily-shining brass candlesticks, red candle centre piece along with the lighted Christmas nativity scene, the open fire with lighted candles and two beautiful potted plants, gave the ladies' parlor a festive atmosphere for the occasion.

Mrs. Hobbs opened the meeting with Silent Christmas hand and accompanied the singing of Christmas hymns and the reading Mrs. Daniels, who sang two lovely carols.

OPENS MEETING

Mrs. T. E. Townsend opened the meeting with verse, which commenced with "A gift of love," the welcomed the ladies and visitors, and offered prayer.

Mrs. Fred Scott read the cards sent to and received from the ill and shut-ins.

Mrs. W. Johns read a letter from the Christian Stewardship secretary in the provincial office, stating the new allocation of $2,200. The missionary for prayer is Miss Ruth Tillman.

Mrs. Johnston, literature secretary, introduced the book Janet and urged the ladies to do more reading to enlighten themselves on Africa.

Mrs. W. Phillips gave the treasurer's report stating the W.M.S. is short $114 of reaching it's allotment for 1949.

Another overseas babe is to be sent in the near future, he name is Mrs. R. Brown and Mrs. R. Russell.

CONDUCT CHRISTMAS DEVOTIONAL

An impressive and inspiring devotional was conducted by Mrs. F. Scott, Mrs. S. Lemon and Mrs. O. Dowpet. Carols were sung, the Christmas story was read from Luke's Gospel beginning with the prophecy, the magnificent and so thought birth, the coming of the shepherds, the wise men, Herod's concern, all in song and story.

Mrs. T. Ketchenon and Mrs. Waterbury received the offering which was dedicated by Mrs. Scott.

Mrs. R. Morden gave an inspirational reading, "The Stranger", in keeping with the Christmas spirit.

Thanks was expressed by both Mrs. Townsend and Mrs. Scott to Mrs. Morden and Mrs. Daniels when Benediction was pronounced by Mrs. Scott and grace was said before the tea was served.

A social time was much enjoyed.

Mrs. N. S. — He wants to be a magician.

Bob S. — She deserves a chance.

Mrs. W. S. — My husband and I are desperate because our only son has decided to marry a girl who is known as a real tramp in our community.

Bob is 29 and just out of the Navy. He got a good job and we were hoping he'd wait a few years before getting married, but I was told by a friend that he is sure to marry her. The first thing we knew he was talking about it.

This girl is known as one of the wildest girls in Bob's high school class. She was away from our community for six months and everyone knows she had an illegitimate child in that time. We don't understand how a boy from a fine home like ours would want to have a wife like that. Ina is pretty, but that's all that can be said for her on the good side.

Bob S. — Half the things said about Ina are lies. It isn't true that she had an illegitimate child. She stayed at her aunt's home in another city because her step-father said he didn't want her around as a daughter. Her own mother got rid of her husband and Ina came home again.

Ina's reputation has come from this stepfather of hers. He was the one who started it and as a result she used to say she was just like Bob's sister Barbara. Others, when she met me Ina has been different. She said she never before knew anybody who was good to her. She thinks I'm some kind angel, but she deserves a chance.

The Council: We agree with Bob that Ina deserves a chance for a decent life, but we cannot tell whether he is the best one to give it to her or whether she is ready for it.

A girl like Ina could have a strong appeal for a fine boy from a good home simply because he has a sympathetic nature. Her helplessness in the face of circumstances can also have appeal to his manliness. Understanding, however, helplessness on the part of either party is not a good sign of preparedness for marriage.

In order to make a good marriage, both parties should have had a little successful experience in dealing with life. They should have the kind of emotional bank balance building character and independence. Bob's Navy experiences may have been good, but more is needed. At 29 he cannot possibly have developed much emotional maturity or wisdom in dealing with difficulties.

So far all of Ina's experiences has been bad and destructive. It is possible that she strongly desires a better life, but from Bob's point of view, haven't you done much to acquire it. It is natural for her to think in terms of making a good marriage, but she must realize that the step from harsh experience to a happy life is not quite so simple. Our guess is that Ina needs a couple years of decent living and honest work before she is prepared for marriage.

We strongly recommend that Bob wait to see if Ina be ready for her chance — and if he is prepared to deal with a marriage that is likely to present some unusual difficulties.

FILLING FOR RAISIN PIE

(Courtesy Margaret P.)
Makes 1 9" pie.
1 1-4 cups raisins
1-3 cups white sugar
2 tsp. vinegar or lemon juice
flour and water paste for thickening (see note No. 1) 1 cup water
salt
Use heavy skillet or saucepan and melt sugar until a clean amber in color, add water, (see note No. 3), salt and washed raisins — simmer for 3 - 5 minutes stirring several times to make sure sugar is dissolved. Thicken with flour paste and stir in lemon or vinegar. This method makes a caramel sauce for the raisins which I believe adds to the taste of a raisin pie. Note No. 1: I think a flour-water paste is of 3 level tablespoons flour and 1-4 cup cold water stirred together until smooth is the right proportion for this pie. Note No. 2: Be very careful when stirring water into caramelized sugar. Stand back and reach to stir for this may spatter. I would suggest that you use 1 cup boiling water.

Answer: Thanks Margaret — and this recipe speaks for itself.

Letter: Reading your recipes and mice chit-chat for years I am convinced you are a Blue Nose. You speak of Cornerbrook and Wolfe River Apples last week — tonight it is Barley Pie Funday and scallops. Oh my. Well, I would give a good deal to know where I could get some Graves stein apples. We always had a barrel every winter when we lived in Inverness, C. B. But it is years since I have had them. Could you tell me how I might get some?

I am an old Blue Nose and this is how my Grandmother and Mother cooked Salt Cod from cans. I must buy it in packages now. I soak 1 pound overnight, parboil it about 3 times, cold water each time, and make a white sauce, lots of white pepper, small amount of finely chopped green pepper and small onion cooked to butter before adding flour and milk to make sauce. Then hard boiled eggs, chopped. This I cook until sauce is smooth, then I lay strips of cod on platter and pour over sauce sprinkled with flavor salt or pepika. This I love. My husband prefers the cod chopped in salt pork cracklings. If you are from Maritimes you will know what I mean by cracklings. No onion or anything but potatoes cooked in their jackets and chopped cod and fat "cracklings" . . . Emma Paul of Springhill, N.S.

Answer: Thank you, Emma, for a well meant compliment. I am not a Bluenose but am an admirer of you wonderful people. Thanks too for the creamed cod recipe which I am sure will warm the hearts and stomachs of the Maritimers in our audience.

BIG MONEY

The largest metal coins in the world were issued by the Swedish Government between 1644 and 1768, and to carry any quantity of it you'd need a wheel! They were big slabs of copper and the 10 daler piece measured 2 feet 4 inches square, by inch wide; was worth $188., and weighed 45 pounds.

At that time the Swedish Government owned and operated a big copper mine, which wasn't doing any less well. It issued these huge coins to stabilize the price of copper, and also because the mine's profits.

One time when nobody needs to spend big money is when you have to place your furniture and other household goods in storage. Although Fox Cartage and Storage Limited take such wonderful care of your things in their splendidly clean, and fire-resistant warehouse, it costs far less than you might expect. F/L Pete King Addresses Lions Club on Air Search, Rescue Work

The regular dinner meeting of the Lions Club of Belleville was held on the night of December 3rd, at the Shrine Club, with president Bill Lowen in the chair.

Lion Tom Colden introduced the guests who included Lions Gord Hemstreet, and Ray McGall, of the Trenton Club; Jack Ellis, guest of Bill Lowen and Dave Shifty, guest of Gerry Brennan.

The guest speaker of the evening was Flight Lieut. Pete Kings, who is in charge of the Air Search and Rescue Coordination Centre at Trenton. F/L Kings gave a comprehensive and most interesting talk on the duties and function of this air force group which has been operating for about 13 years. In 1943 the R.C.A.F. first felt the need for this type of service and sent a group of officers to England to study the setup in the R.A.F. who operated a successful Air-Sea rescue service especially over the English Channel.

In 1944 the International Civil Aeronautics Organization, representing most of the countries throughout the world, met in Chicago to discuss methods of protecting and rescuing, if necessary, any country's citizen or aircraft in trouble. Canada was a leading delegate. In 1945, the R.C.M.P. were requested by the government to submit a plan for Canada, which proved to be too costly at the time, and the problem was referred to the Armed Services in 1946.

In 1947, the RCAF submitted a plan which was approved by the government, and in June of 1957, the RCAF assumed control as the co-ordinating body of all government departments and other services with the following major duties:

Protect any plane flying over Canada or approaching Canada from the east or the west; conduct search and rescue missions primarily for any aircraft, and also for any marine vessels; assist provincial police, where necessary, in finding missing persons. (Aircraft are in the air 30 minutes after provincial police have confirmed that request for help is valid); mercy flights for civilians, involving food deliveries, serious sickness, and severe accidents.

RESCUE CENTRES

Canada is divided into four sections, Atlantic, Eastern, Western and Pacific, with Rescue Co-ordination Centres at Halifax, Trenton, Winnipeg and Vancouver, respectively. Their duty is to initiate, co-ordinate and terminate air rescues. What facilities are at their disposal, including all communication networks, air force personnel across Canada, Department of Lands and Forest facilities, Provincial Police forces, Canadian Navy and U.S. Coast Guard. It is also necessary to keep an up-to-date record of all facilities, which are constantly changing and increasing. Training is continuous and on a daily basis. In addition, at least one extended practice search is conducted each month (30-35 hour operation).

The sequence of an air search is roughly as follows: air traffic control keeping track of flight plans notifies the proper Rescue Co-ordination Centre when an aircraft is 30 minutes overdue. The Rescue Centre is alerted. A search plane takes to the air and a search master (specially trained rescue officer), is appointed to conduct the staff engaged in the actual field search. An "advance" base is chosen according to the general area to be covered and the search is on.

Flight Lieutenant Kings indicated that the number of personnel involved in one search has varied from 50 to 400 in the Eastern Section. In 1958, there were 223 alerts and 64 missions flown. The speaker stated that if all pilots filed flight plans properly and kept to them, considerable trouble and expense could be avoided.

In addition, he advised that all people going into the bush should make sure they have a compass, and either be familiar with the area or have a map of it. A booklet was distributed on the proper precautions to be taken by any person venturing into bush land. The speaker was introduced by Lion Harvey Tribe and thanked by Lion Cec Bonnetta.

President Bill Lowen advised that all special directors' meeting to be held at 8 p.m. on Monday, December 21st, at the president's place of business. The meeting closed about 8.30 p.m.

Vote Temple For Alderman
FOR A RETURN TO THE COMMITTEE SYSTEM
● An Early Completion of the Street Lighting System
Continuance of Bus Service—Continuance of School Guards

THE FOLLOWING IS THE TEXT OF MR. TEMPLE'S TELEVISION ADDRESS

OF LAST EVENING IN WHICH HE OUTLINED IN DETAIL HIS PLATFORM

This evening, in my bid for re-election to the Belleville City Council, I wish to dwell on several matters. I shall commence my remarks this evening by stating once again my views on a Committee System of Government for the City of Belleville.

As you may know, up to some three or four years ago we had a Committee System form of government in Belleville. This meant that for each major department there would be a committee such as a Public Works Committee, a Welfare Committee, a Planning Committee, a Traffic and Light Committee, a Property Committee and, of course, a Finance Committee.

These committees were headed by an elected representative of the people, one of your aldermen, and on each committee served several members of council. Naturally the mayor is a member of each committee. These committees each had a definite budget and they knew where they were going in a financial sense since each committee had a definite budget and the chairman and members knew how and where the tax dollar was spent in their department. Also, the senior official in those days the late Mr. Harold Bateman the Comptroller of the City, sat on each committee. He correlated the work of the committees and he provided continuity from year to year and that, in my opinion, is how the City of Belleville should be run today.

With the volume of work before us which seems to increase from year to year and most particularly will increase this coming year, the need for committees is paramount. With so much work to be accomplished this work must be delegated to the committees. Minutes of each meeting of the committees are circulated sent out to every member of Council so that there members of Council who are not on this or that particular committee will receive due notice of every major item. The reports and recommendations of the committees still have to be approved by a majority of all the Council.

When we brought in a City Manager form of government as we have had in Belleville it was decided to abolish all committees, but in certain instances, such as in Planning and Traffic, the volume of work to be done was such that these committees or commissions, as you will, were re-established.

Now I say this, that in a truly democratic system such as ours, to delegate so much work and responsibility to one official, the City Manager, can be disastrous. In effect, in my opinion, when we abolished committees we abdicated a great deal of our responsibilities.

Now this is not remember now that I am speaking on to-night. I have fought hard and steadfastly for the retention of the committee system form of government and it is something that worked and worked very well years ago under the leadership of our incoming Mayor, Mac Haig. As a matter of fact, it was largely due to the efforts of Mr. Haig that this Committee System was implemented. Now the argument has been advanced, and will be advanced again, that the Committee System is not as effective as the members of the Council, and that, of course, is true. The opponents of the system say that too many members of the committee do not attend meetings of these committees. However, I dare say the members of Council this coming year will not be missing very many committee meetings. Also, ladies and gentlemen, under the Committee System we know more fully how each department is functioning and how much money they have spent. That to me is the crux of the matter. With the Committee System of Government we know what is going on. I have fought, as I have stated, consistently for the retention of the Committee System form of government. Now I want to stress that I have no quarrel with any personalities or individuals, but I very definitely and decidedly have one with a system of government in which we do not assume our responsibilities.

Again let me state, and very emphatically, that in a Committee System of Government the senior City Official, call him City Manager, Controller, what you like, that man sits on each committee, correlates the activities of all the committees and provides continuity and planning over the years. Let us take what is best from all systems. That, to my mind, is progress.

Now a few words on the activities of the Traffic and Light Committee of which I have been the chairman for the past several years. In the City of Belleville we have installed new traffic control lights in 1958 at the intersection of Pinnacle and Dundas Streets, and in 1959 a new set of traffic lights with special actuating controls was erected at the intersection of North Front and College Streets. The Traffic and Light Committee has an overall plan for installing street lights in those areas of the City mainly the new areas, which are without them. Our plan as well includes modernization of the street lighting in what is known as the old City of Belleville, but, and this is most important, it was the feeling of the Committee that before we modernized our street lighting in the older section of the City we must provide street lights for those parts of the city which presently have none, which work will soon be ready to commence.

The required level of illumination on city streets to be artificially lighted depends to a great extent on the maximum volume of night hour traffic during the year. Ordinarily it is standard practice to install street lights of suitable size and design at a spacing of about 110 feet, or on every pole. Our program calls for larger units and placing on every second pole. This does sacrifice light uniformity somewhat, but it was done for the following cost reasons:

Firstly: Two smaller lighting units cost considerably more to install than does one unit with the flight output of the two smaller ones.

Fourthly: And most important, lighting will be provided much more quickly for all presently unlighted streets.

All heavy traffic streets and medium traffic streets are to have mercury vapor lights installed. Examples of the heavy and medium traffic are the Front Road, Dundas St. East, formerly known as Highway No. 2, North Front St. to the northern limits of the city, Bridge St. East and Farley Avenue.

For the residential streets in the city presently without street lighting it is proposed they be lighted with fluorescent units.

As I mentioned a moment ago, when the street lighting in the new areas of the City has been completed then the modernization of the street lighting system in the old City of Belleville will get underway. Your Traffic and Light Commission, with the wonderful assistance of Mr. E. L. Burnham of the Belleville Utilities Commission, and of the Belleville Police Department, have spent a great deal of time at numerous committee meetings to prepare and finalize this street lighting program.

Under the direction and control of the Traffic Commission, at a time when I was first Chairman of Traffic some years ago, our present School Guard System was initiated, the aim of the School Guard System are obvious. They are to get the young school children to and from school in safety and also it is to teach the children to cross at safe intersections and the general rules of traffic.

We all owe a vote of thanks to Sgt. Robson of the Belleville Police Force who is in charge of safety education. He has done so much to make the younger school children of the city aware of the traffic and safety problems. Now this system has been in effect for over the years and I, for one, if re-elected, intend to see that it continues to have the greatest possible support of your council.

Now I believe you have noticed, at various strategic points throughout the city, the new 400 watt mercury vapor street lights. Some of you no doubt dislike the bluish light they cast; however, I feel you will agree with me that they have considerably brightened many dangerous dark spots throughout the city.

Now with regard to the type of lights to be used in the presently unlighted parts of the city, they will be the mercury vapor and fluorescent type lights and I am sure that you have seen these lights in other municipalities, and the Traffic and Light Committee, and myself personally, would, everything considered, provide the finest looking light at the most economical cost.

Another great problem facing the 1960 council is that of bus transportation within the city. For many years when the city was much smaller than it has now grown we have had a bus system. To have no buses, no means of economical transportation, is in my mind unthinkable. I also feel that there will be most unwise for the city itself to get into the bus business. I state here and now that I am against municipal Belleville ownership of a bus system. To have it otherwise would mean extra hardship to thousands of people and would add to an already difficult traffic and parking problem.

Now ladies and gentlemen, I am sponsored by no group, no association, and think of course, it is a compliment to those men who have been nominated by certain ratepayers' groups. However, I want to stress this, and stress it very hard in no uncertain terms, that if I am re-elected I will represent all of the people from every part of the City as I have done in the past. I feel that I have some experience, particularly in traffic and light matters, that can be used to advantage, and this is one of the reasons that I am offering myself once again for election. I am also offering myself for election because Belleville has been good to me. I was born in Belleville, have attended school in Belleville and have practised law in Belleville for the past ten years.

Now it has been a pleasure to have had the opportunity to speak with you this evening. I do hope you will get out to the polls on Monday and I shall certainly appreciate one of those fourteen votes than you can cast for members of council.

Car Parts Suffer in Cold Weather

By EUGENE BILMON

Frigid temperatures and impatient motorists keep auto repairmen busy during the winter season.

Most of us take time to idle the engine a bit on cold mornings. This boosts temperatures enough to warm up oil so that it lubricates and cushions properly. But how many take pains to baby the car until it's been driven several miles?

A severe road bump or rut can crack a spring or axle when it's stiff with cold. Frame, tires, shock absorbers are also especially vulnerable under such conditions.

Take it easy until transmission, rear axle and wheel-bearing lubricants have had a chance to warm up. Like engine oils, they congeal when the car is left out in cold weather.

R. U. writes: "Is it true that gasoline sold during winter differs in octane value from that sold in summer?"

(A) Not in octane rating, but in vapor pressure. Winter gasoline vaporizes more readily to promote easier starting.

D. P. asks: "There's a regular noise from the rear of my car but I can't discover whether it's the tires or rear axle."

(A) On different type roads, a tire noise will change, but a rear axle noise will not. When accelerating, coasting or decelerating, a tire noise sounds the same but rear axle noises differ.

I. I. writes: "My speedometer doesn't show correct car speeds. What can be done about this?"

(A) If it's caused by grease or dirt, the speedometer can be disassembled and cleaned. If it's a matter of incorrect calibration, the speedometer hairspring will have to be adjusted or replaced.

G. O. writes: "If a main bearing is worn, will the thudding or bumping be heard when the car is pulling hard or accelerating?

(A) Not necessarily. In some cases the noise is only evident when the engine is cold.

I would particularly like to direct my remarks to the many young people and new citizens, the new home owners located to the east, west, and north end of the city. This is the first occasion on which I have offered myself for public office and solicited your vote to elect me as Alderman on Monday next and I would like to introduce myself to you.

I am Jack Ireland, a business man at the four corners in Belleville for the past 9 years. I would mention I am a Mason, Shriner, Rotarian and Chairman of the board of the local Y.M.C.A. I was informed when elected two years ago that it would take at least one term or more to get my feet wet as the saying goes and to get a working knowledge of what transpires at City Hall. On being elected I found we were right in the middle of annexation problems, then came all the events leading up to the recent inquiry. During my term of office I was given an education on the City Affairs that would normally take several years and I come to you today and ask to be re-elected as a new Alderman serving one term but with considerable and varied experience.

I would mention on being elected I took my responsibility seriously and my attendance at regular Monday meetings was excellent and also on the committee meetings on the alternate Monday evenings. I have always respected the voters' wishes when voting. I am referring to the questions voted on when I was elected. First to have City Manager form of government, reduce the size of council. The next year the public voted to keep council at 14 members. I always voted on all these questions in the manner you had indicated when you voted on these respective questions, including recreation centre.

On being elected to council I was interested in the Industrial expansion of our city and I mentioned I would like to be on the Industrial Commission and was soon elected to this group. I found the Commission was badly tied up with more or less nowhere to go due to annexation not being completed. Never-the-less annexation finalized, the demand came from all quarters for more vigorous action and in January of this year the remainder of the Commission was replaced so in the short space of one year you now have a brand new Industrial Commission. For your information it is made up as follows: Jack Yanover, chairman, from Chamber of Commerce, also Mr. Punchard, Northern Electric, Mr. Murray, contractor. From Council, His Worship the Mayor, along with Alderman Elliott, Alderman Forrester and myself, vice-chairman.

I was appointed Belleville's representative on the Lake Ontario Development in Peterborough which takes in an area from Bowmanville to Deseronto, due to good interest and attendance and knowledge Belleville, I was elected vice-chairman of L.O.D.A. This involves a directors meeting and zone meetings monthly. From the combined work of the Commission of which I feel I have made an important contribution, we are now receiving steady inquiries from firms desirous of locating in Eastern Ontario and possibly Belleville. This program calls for lots of hard work over several years. Your Commission has had some success. We played an important part in locating the Amplifone plant on Dussek property, also locating the new Bell Telephone repair depot near the Wilson Concrete plant which will employ 35 odd people, also new warehouse is scheduled for the eastern tip of the city. We worked with the Bruce May Mfg. Co. to get their plant located, we have also worked with the W. R. Bradshaw for the construction of a new building on the industrial site. Time does not permit me to tell you about the difficulties we have had in operating this past season. Bob Hamilton, our secretary manager left Belleville, he was replaced by Robert Post, and we now have a new secretary manager, in the person of Mr. Dickmeother but in any case the Industrial Commission can take pride in that the new assessment added to the City this year is over one million dollars.

If elected I will support our new mayor on any sound constructive legislation to modernize the treasury department, accounting procedure and the general business administration at City Hall.

During the campaign I have received encouraging reports from my friends, customers and supporters, as how I will run on Monday next, but I would ask that they not be over optimistic, but to get out and mark an X opposite the name of Jack Ireland for alderman, and to vote in such numbers as to assure my election for a second term.

Domestic Butter Market Being Lost Is Claim

TORONTO (CP) — Canadians should cater to the domestic market rather than dispose of surpluses abroad at bargain prices, E. A. Lewis of Calgary, president of the National Dairy Council of Canada, said Thursday.

He told the Ontario Creamerymen's Association that the domestic butter market was being lost at the rate of 1,000,000 pounds a month, with the slack being taken up by margarine.

Export of butter to the United Kingdom at prices lower than the domestic butter rate, he said, was antagonizing the domestic market by dumping butter abroad at the expense of Canadian consumers.

D. R. Goodfellow, chief of the merchandising section of the federal department of agriculture's dairy division, said he felt butter should be sold on some other standard than price.

"I think perhaps we should be directing our energies to selling a top-quality product at a top price," he said.

He told the Ontario producers that United Kingdom buyers had expressed a preference for Quebec butter.

Already 33 creameries in Canada had been blacklisted for producing inferior butter and he thought it likely that five or six Ontario creameries would be added to the list this year.

THE GOLDEN YEARS

Tracking Down Your Family Story Often Good Retirement Pastime

By THOMAS COLLINS

You come up to the retirement years. Somebody mentions money. You pack your ears.

You get your pension and leave your job. Somebody mentions the charms of a faraway retirement paradise. Again you perk your ears.

All your working years have been based on the subject of money. Much of your dreaming has been based on the idea that almost anywhere else is more glamorous than here.

So you come by your ear-perking naturally.

But there are better paths to the Golden Years. There are paths — if you have $150 a month as a single person or $200 a month as a couple, and live anywhere short of Alaska — that will lead you, in your later years, to the most interesting chapter of your life.

Mrs. Roger W. Williams was 68, alone, and seeking to break out of the bread-and-board box that life builds for people of this age.

On a day in early December she bought a large supply of simple Christmas cards, sat down at her dining room table, and methodically began addressing them to every distant relative she could recall.

On each card she wrote a message which said in effect: "I am seeking, for no purpose except my own satisfaction, to piece together the story of our family. It will be a pretty bit of patchwork if I can do it. It will be a quilt that you as well as myself will appreciate.

"I am at an age when I have time to gather this information and enjoy it. I can afford the luxury since I am comfortably fixed. (This is a very important point in contacting any relatives after age 65 — to emphasize that you aren't looking for help.)

"Tell me anything you can about yourself. Give me the name and address of any other members of the family you can think of, so I can write them.

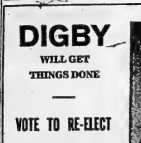
"I hope to make a family tree of all of us. I hope at least to gather enough information to record what has happened to us. And what I am able to put together will be available, of course, to all of you. ."

It was in 1956 that Mrs. Williams sent this Christmas card to 36 distant relatives. By December of 1957 she had 77 additional relatives — some of them long forgotten — to whom to send her Christmas card. By 1958 she had 98 more, for a total of 99.

Her dining table had become a family type work bench, as upstairs bureau a family filing case.

QUITTER IS MIXTURE

Now, with the 1959 Christmas approaching, she is corresponding with relatives from Seattle to Miami, and from San Diego to Maine. She is in touch with a few relatives who would like to borrow $10 until their luck changes; with four others who would like her to be a house guest in their luxurious homes, just to get to know her better; and with a variety of others, including some social-climbing youngsters who have a yen to get their hands on the family tree.



To say that Mrs. Williams is happy and absorbed with this thing is to state the obvious, just as it would be to say she has attracted some family deadbeats. But for every cocklebur she has plucked a handful of dahlias. And she is so busy with all her records she can hardly spare time to talk to you.

December, with its sentiments of Christmas and the closing year, is a time to think of the family. And family matters can give you a Golden Years' career, especially if you set out to explore how Great-Uncle Willie was hanged in 1837, or how his grandson became police chief of a bank in 1939.

You think this won't be more absorbing than money and a trip to paradise in retirement? Try it.

I Earnestly Solicit Your Support, Influence For Re-Election On Monday, Dec. 7

To The Electors:

On the completion of 12 years of municipal life, which I have greatly enjoyed and believe have contributed a little to the progress of this fine city, I am again seeking the generous support of all classes of citizens, which has been generously given to me in the past.

I would like to recount some of my record in the council during the 12 years. It was by my recommendation that school guards were instituted in this city and along with ex-alderman Ted Foltwell, were established and they have been a source of comfort to the parents through the years. It was always the intention that veterans unable to do other work would be secured and they have done a wonderful job.

As a member of the Public Works Committee of which ex-alderman Don Thomas was chairman, the system of land fill for garbage was inaugurated and the work on Zwick's Island is sufficient proof that excellent park land can be established by this method. If returned to office I would support money being spent to make this location a beauty spot along with Victoria Park and other green belts.

There was a time when the lane behind the armories leading to church street was closed by the government and I took the matter up with Ottawa and had the lane reopened for traffic at a nominal fee per year. This agreement is still in effect and is a boon to the older people living in that section of the city.

Always interested in sport and recreation, I attended the first meeting held in the "Y" to establish a recreation committee and from that humble beginning, there is the splendid building on Pinnacle Street, which is contributing to the health and recreation of our citizens. The council members who voted for the renovations after being turned down by the ratepayers and I was one of them, felt the necessity of that type of building. Anyone who watched women and children standing out in the rain and wind for hours to be served by the health unit at the city hall, could see the need of supplying some comfort to these citizens.

For some months past there have been many false rumors and some of them malicious about myself with respect to myself, members of the arena commission and the senior hockey team.

It was implied at the inquiry that I either lied to the commission or was stupid or incompetent, I want the citizens to know, and I state this on my oath, I did not lie when I told the commission that I did not know hockey players were on he city payroll. I don't think my record in council would class me as incompetent and as for stupidity, there could be a grain of truth, if you could call being stupid trusting in your fellow man.

By the evidence given, there were during the four years covered by the inquiry, six civic officials mentioned who were aware that hockey players were on the city payrolls and each and everyone of them knew all members of the arena commission and also knew that I was chairman. It would have been an easy matter for any of them to casually mention the fact and ask me or members of the committee if we were aware of the existing condition. Had anything been said I am sure the condition would not have been allowed to exist for any length of time. I am assuming no member of the committee knew of the condition and in that assumption I think I am correct. Again I say I am not a liar nor did I lie to the inquiry. I just carried out the recommendation of council.

Whether you agree or not, the citizens should be proud that Belleville is the home of the Allan Cup and World Championship hockey team. The members of those teams and the officials were worthy representatives and in the words of the attorney-general, Kelso Roberts, will be remembered long after the inquiry is forgotten.

In closing I think I have merited your confidence and support. I have never promised anything but for the good of this wonderful city and if returned to municipal office on Monday, will continue to work for the progress and betterment of all classes of citizens in work, industry and recreation.

I will be independent in my own votes. Thank you!

Female Hormone Used to Fatten Cattle Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration disclosed Thursday it plans to study possibilities that human health may be affected by residues in meat and poultry of a female hormone used to fatten cattle and poultry.

The hormone is diethylstilbestrol, commonly known as stilbestrol, and widely used in medicine for about 15 years.

Commissioner George P. Larrick said the hormone is known to cause cancer of the breast in men if taken in large doses. He said such cases "are extremely rare."

He said scientific tests have shown minute quantities of stilbestrol reside in the skin and liver of chicken prepared for the market. No residues have been found in meat from cattle.

Larrick said he still is eating meat and chicken and emphasized that the fact the study will be made is no cause for alarm.

In Canada, regulations permit the use of stilbestrol in feed, or by injection for beef cattle, but only under controlled conditions where the synthetic hormone is pre - mixed at an established level. A withdrawal period must be permitted before the animal is slaughtered.

For poultry, the growth stimulant may only be used in a pellet injection in the neck near the head, and in a location that guarantees that that part of the carcass will not be used for human blood.

The amount of such meats in Canadian markets is not large at present.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

The Kitchener Dutchmen unbloodied and unbowed from criticism hurled at them from various quarters, especially that Toronto morning newspaper, are going ahead with plans to gather the strongest club possible to represent Canada at the 1960 Olympics at Squaw Valley.

The players will take that Olympic oath—which is as phoney as that orchard claim that you will have to work on Sunday if Sunday sport is made possible—with tongue in cheek and fingers crossed.

They are signing former Dutchmen for trade purposes. These clubs like Bill Wylie and Ralph Hosking are ineligible for the Olympics but can be used as substitutes for players secured from other clubs.

Wylie, a centre, and Hosking a defenceman will go to the Whitby Dunlops for Bobbie Attersley and Harry Sinden, who join the Dutchmen at the end of January. Bobbie Haig will also model the Olympic trip, and likely Jim Bennet, according to Wren Blair.

Any hopes the McFarlands may have had to secure Jimmy Conroy Manigo as a permanent fixture went blooey the other day with the Dutchmen announcement that the veteran Bud Horner and Manigo will comprise the Dutchies' scrimmaging corps.

While the Dutchmen are not aware of the strength of the European opposition, they are taking some solace from the prospects of the local newspaper sports writing outlets, that the current team is stronger than the squad that finished in third place in the 1956 Olympics at Cortina.

The general consensus of the newspaper-table boys in Kitchener is the Dutchies have better scoring balance by only having the two top Red Hats in the fight, compared to one in 1956.

They also think that with five good additions, which they are sure they can get, the team will be good enough to win an Olympic Valley.

It is good to note such optimism but is it born from comparison between the present Dutchmen and the European opposition of 1956? At that time in Cortina there was a very optimistic sportswriter by the name of Andy O'Brien, who, after looking at the various teams in practice, predicted the Dutchmen would double the score on all and sundry. You remember the rest. The Dutchies finished in the sheer spot after being beaten by the American team.

We're not a gloom-toaster, but the Kitchener public relations must remember four winters have passed since the Cortina humiliation. And Europeans have learned a lot about Canadian style hockey over the quarter of seasons. Still they did play a touring Russian squad a couple of years ago. For all that, they were badly defeated when they met Canadian soil as a true criterion of their potential.

The Russians do not play all their hockey on the ice. The puck-chasing tovariches have a "diplomatic" corps second to none. They made no bones about scoring the Moss Gardens' ice-inconvenience exhibition tour last February. Two note-scribbling scouts, real cloak-and-dagger types, accompanied the Moss on most of the journey.

Prior to the tournament proper the Czech national team played two exhibition games against the Russians in Moscow —an defeated them both times by a single goal. This was good pickings for the Rumor Smugzads, destined, no doubt, to lull the Canadians into a false sense of security. Hidebrand and Billy Reay took it in stride—with tongue in cheek.

The Canadians defeated Russia 3-1 in the world tourney—and they haven't forgotten it. That was in the Red coach's eye during his post-game statement "wait till next year," was no twinkle of merriment. He was dead serious.

The Russian and Czech test: have better-than-a working knowledge of Canadian tactics. So have the Swedes. And even as of now you can gamble your grannie's last nickel any scrambler hard for the Olympics with emphasis on North American style.

The Dutchmen are going to need all the topflight help they can get if they expect to cross the line the winner in the upcoming Olympic stakes.

BOOSTER CLUB MEETING

There will be a general meeting of the Mac' Booster Club at the city hall council chambers on Wednesday night next. President Jim "Gelph" Matthews wants a full turnout of members since important business is on the agenda. It is expected one or more of the McFarlands management will be on hand to address the club. Remember, next Wednesday night, city hall, eight o'clock.

TeePees, Cubs Win Over Flyers, Bilts

The worms turned Friday night in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series.

The worms in question, Hamilton Cubs and St. Catharines TeePees, in a tie for last place picked third - place Guelph Biltmores and second - place Barrie Flyers respectively to do the disagreeing on. And they were playing in the losers' rink-Hamilton beat Guelph 6 - 5 and TeePees topped Barrie 4-2.

At Guelph the Cubs' Dave Lesson roared in 28:38 of the last period to win for Hamilton, shooting from a face - off beside the Guelph goal. The Cubs had come from behind to tie the game.

Jim McLellan with two, Bob Pipoo, Larry Jeffrey and Nick Polano were the other Hamilton scorers. Jean Ratelle and Barry Jakeman had two e a c h for Guelph with Zoo Kraft getting the other.

Meanwhile, the TeePees gave the Flyers their first loss in seven games. Vic Hadfield led St. Catharines' attack with two goals, John Brenneman and Don Grosso had one each.

Gene Fullmer, Still Middleweight King, Ups Sights

Brushes Aside Webb Threat With Unanimous Decision; May Challenge Archie Moore

By JACK STEVENSON

LOGAN, Utah (AP) — Powerpunching Gene Fullmer, relegating nobility as King of the Weltkreuz Boxing Association middleweight class, contemplates stepping up a rung to challenge world's light-heavyweight champ Archie Moore.

Or possibly he might clear the top-round picture by fighting Ray Robinson again if Robinson has any desire for such a bout.

Fullmer took solid possession of the NBA diadem by scoring a unanimous decision over Spider Webb in 15 gruelling rounds at the Utah State University field house Friday night.

It was the first pro title battle ever held on a U.S. college campus.

NON-COLLEGIAN VICTOR

Fullmer, a college dropout—from West Jordan, Utah, and weighing 159½ pounds — proved the non-collegian Webb, who fought on the Idaho State College team before turning pro in 1953. Webb weighed 157½ for his unsuccessful challenge. Both are 28 years old.

Fullmer switched strategies frequently during the fight as his manager, Marv Jenson, called code numbers from the corner. Fullmer fought in the style of a crossed defence, led with a smashing left hook, body and tried the more orthodox left-hand lead.

Webb frequently made him look awkward.

The verdict of referee Ken Shuler sen and judges Boyd Mattison and Del Harvey—all had the champion well ahead, Shuler scored it 147-141, Mattison 150-132 and Harvey 148-138.

THE FATOFF

Fullmer, receiving 40 per cent of the approximate $66,000 gate and $100,000 TV money, will collect about $70,000. Webb will get $33,000.

"I wouldn't exactly say I won every round," Fullmer declared in the dressing room. But he added he felt he was the clear winner.

Manager Jenson talked of two possible Fullmer shots for his bomber — Moore or Robinson with exchange Bobo Olson perhaps in a non-title affair.

Robinson comes into the picture since he needs recognition as the 160-pound champion in New York and Massachusetts. If Ray beats Paul Pender in their January bout, Jenson indicated Fullmer would be more than pleased to tackle Robinson again. NO MIRACLE

Against Webb, the champion didn't unleash the style of the type that cost him the undisputed title on May 1, 1957. Robinson knocked him out in that time with a left hook, to regain the crown that Gene had taken from him the previous Jan. 2.

Fullmer crashed body blows and powerful rights and lefts to the head, Webb opened a small cut over Fullmer's left eye in the second round and another over his right in the 15th. Webb was penalized two points as he wept in disappointment in his dressing room.

Webb's best showing came in the seventh as he slammed a right to the head that stunned the champion. But in the eighth, Fullmer slammed home two rights to the body that drove the challenger into the ropes.

Fullmer came up with another big round in the ninth when he connected with a right to the body and another to the head, following with a left and right to the head with Webb backed on the ropes.

Webb did stage a comeback in the 13th round as he connected with his counter punches.

WILL JOIN AFL

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Abner Haynes, North Texas State halfback, has decided to sign with Dallas Texans of the American Football League. He is passing up a contract with Pittsburgh Steelers of the National League who made him their No. 2 draft choice.

Giants, Browns Clash in Important Tilt

By JACK HAND

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Baseball commissioner Ford Frick may face the toughest decision of his career during the next four days.

He must decide whether to take action on two of the American League ignores his suggestion to take a definite stand on expansion at the baseball meeting Tuesday, and undoubtedly will have some acid comments to pour on the American circuit's indifference. A Continental League franchise holder who asked not to be identified said as much.

SABOTAGE CHARGED

"If the American League does make such an announcement it will prove once and for all that it's determined to sabotage our efforts to become a major league," the spokesman said.

"They merely are trying to buy time and keep on the ropes. The commissioner has asked the American and National Leagues to put up or shut up on the subject of expansion. They had better listen to him or they'll be in for a lot of trouble. If they don't, it's up to the commissioner to order them to do so."

Joe Cronin, president of the American League, explained why the league would not act hastily.

"I don't know that the Continental League has explored the established league like ours what is available," he said. It seems to me the Continental has gone out of its way to criticize the American League and Ford Frick. Why don't they go out and get three more clubs?"

Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League and Jersey Athletics of the Eastern League, founding members of the new Continental league.

Frick may also have a problem from the players, who most recently presented a plea for expansion with the 18 owners. It was reported the players may be included in negotiations with baseball for a new multi-year series radio-television contract after the present pact expires in 1962. It is called for $30,000,000 for five years. The commissioner normally negotiates the deal himself.

NO SURPRISE

MELBOURNE (CP)—Wimbledon champion Maria Bueno of Brazil and Christine Truman of Britain won the Victoria women's doubles championship Friday by defeating Lesley Coghlan and Margaret Smith of Australia 6-1, 6-3. Miss Bueno said she and Christine probably will team in the Wimbledon doubles next year.

Spider Sure He Had Won Title Fight

By ROBERT F. ALKIRE

LOGAN, Utah (AP) — The sobbing challenger said he was sure he had won Friday night's 15-round NBA middleweight title fight, but the victorious champion said he didn't think the decision was as good as the last time they met.

Thus, Uticholder Gene Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, and loser Spider Webb of Chicago analyzed their match. Fullmer won by a lopsided decision.

Fullmer said Webb "acted like he thought he had the title and waited for him to take it away."

But I figure if you've got the title it's the other guy's job to get it."

In Webb's gloomy dressing room the challenger said:

"I felt I was that fight; that's for sure."

CHANCE GONE?

Webb said he would like to try it again, but from the gleeful remarks of his manager, Marv Jenson remarked:

"Webb? who's Webb?"

What does the champ have in mind for the near future?

"Maybe a skin contest mink", said the 28 - year - old Mormon former school teacher and ranch rancher.

Jenson also owns a mink ranch in the Salt Lake suburb of West Jordan, but he has in mind the winner of Saturday night's Archie Moore and former champs rather than animals.

Fullmer made it clear the Fullmer camp wants to dictate the terms for future battles. In 1957 Fullmer beat Sugar Ray Robinson for the title, lost it back two weeks later, all for what he and Jenson consider a miserly 12½ percent of the gate.

Sudbury Wolves have come about as close to a clean sweep as any hockey team is likely to get.

The Wolves made no mistake Friday night in their second match at Montreal, downing the Royals 4-2 at Sudbury in the league's only game. While you stretched the Wolves' total unbeaten string to eight games and their first - place lead to eight points.

Peter McCarthy fired three goals and became the third player in the league to get 20 mark. Billy Sutherland of the Royals got the first Hull - Ottawa's Billy Carter remains in the lead with 23.

Bouncing Blues Meet Leafs In Home-and-Home Clashes

By ALEXANDER FARRELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Fresh from humbling Montreal's proud Canadiens, New York Rangers hope to spend the weekend checking the ambitious Toronto Maple Leafs.

Leafs, toughest team to beat in the National Hockey League at the moment, and Rangers clash in a home-and-home series. They meet in Toronto Saturday and New York Sunday night.

New York, nine points behind fourth - place Boston, ended a weekend sweep to climb into the race for playoff berths. Toronto, on the other hand, will be trying to fill in some of that eight-point gap behind Detroit.

Now that Toronto and New York have stopped Canadiens' long undefeated streak at 18 games, it is the Leafs who own the best unbeaten record on stands at a modest five but Leafs last only twice in their last 13 games. Both to Canadiens.

GREAT NETMINDING

Johnny Bower gave the Leafs superb netminding over that stretch—and they have needed it. He allowed only 25 goals to close in on Montreal's Jacques Plante in the Vezina Trophy race. Bower has 27 goals against and Plante and Bower have the field all to themselves.

The Toronto club is not a high-scoring one, its output so far has exceeded only that of the cellar-dwelling Chicago Black Hawks.

Punch Hawks, who continue to mystify hockey experts by showing no sign of ability to rise into playoff position, visit Montreal tonight. Hawks have not won a game in Montreal since Nov. 12, 1958.

Canadiens, besides being a two-game losing streak, are nursing an old affliction: Injury woes. No sooner had right winger Bert Geoffrion rejoined the lineup for Thursday night's 7-4 loss to New York than Dickie Moore, veteran left winger Johnson was sidelined with a shoulder separation. Johnson joined Maurice Richard on the Montreal injury list.

DIP INTO MINORS

The club called up Jean-Claude Tremblay from Hull - Ottawa Canadiens of the Eastern Professional Hockey League.

Bronco Horvath and Bob Nevin of the Boston Bruins will be in Detroit this afternoon. Coach Milt Abel expects to have goalie Terry Sawchuk ready and willing for Bruins. Sawchuk had to sit out the last three games with leg pains and the Red Wings lost all three games, falling from second to third place, four points behind Toronto and three ahead of Boston.

Sunday night, besides the Toronto-New York game, Montreal will be at Detroit and Chicago at Boston.

Dutchies Give Blues Lesson

TORONTO (CP) — Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior 'A' series gave University of Toronto Blues a lesson in positional hockey Friday night as they walloped the Blues 6-2 here before 1,000 fans.

The Dutchmen, Canada's representatives in the 1960 Winter Olympics, were matched by the college team, members of the Senior Intercollegiate Hockey League, for the first period only.

Butch Martin led Kitchener-Waterloo with two goals and Bob McKnight, Don Rope, Bob Forman and Mike Kilz added singles. Kilz was last year's varsity captain.

Varsity goaltender Bob Giroux, displaying his protective mask, stopped 40 Dutchmen shots, 16 in the second period, his busiest spell. Bert Hurley, managed 16 saves.

Dutchmen took two of the three penalties called by referee Gord Feveryear.

Maroon Uprising Big Factor In Macs 6-4 Defeat

Score Three in 2.23 Minutes In Second-Period Explosion; Play in Kitchener Tonight

By GARRY ALEXANDER

CHATHAM — Chatham Maroons scored three quick goals in the second period to open up a 5-1 lead, then held off a short-handed Belleville crew the rest of the way to hand the Macs a 6-4 loss before 1350 fans here last night.

The Maroons took a 2-1 lead in the opening stanza, but it was the second-period explosion that wrapped up the decision. Belleville got one back before the period ended and outscored the homsters 3-1 in the third, but it was too late and too little.

The Macs played with 13 men and lost one of these through misconduct penalties, midway through the third heat, Keith MacMisconduct penalties, midway through the third heat, Keith MacDonald getting the gate. The club was minus Floyd Crawford, on the injured list, and John Chaszewski and Ted Toppazzini, unable to make the trip.

SHOTS ON GOAL

By Belleville 12 8 11 31

By Chatham 12 13 13 37

Goodie Bell was in the Belleville nets and is also expected to play Sunday's game in Windsor. Ceasre Maniago will be in the nets against Kitchener tonight.

Bradley worked in alone on Aitkenl in the opening minute of the game but fired into the goalie's pad and a minute later Chatham opened the scoring. Ivan Tennant connecting on a long shot at 3.22.

The Macs tied the score at 4.06 when "Wimpy" Brown combined with Boucher and Bradley, whipping the disc by Allen's short side.

Frank Bathgate made it 2-1 when he drove through the defence and rapped the Mac defence and rapped the rebound in. Bell looking sharp on the original save. There were no penalties in the first period.

Play continued at a clean pace in the second. Tennant of the Maroons drawing the first penalty of the game for hooking.

Chatham suddenly caught fire around the halfway mark and in seven minutes Malo took the first of three on a backhander at 7.34 and Forbes converted a passout from back of the net at 8.14. Malo opened up a 4-1 lead with his club's third goal in two minutes and 13 seconds at 9.47.

Eddie Marineau got one back for the Bellevillesrs at 12.05, finishing a play with Gribbons and Sirotek.

The Maroons increased their lead to 6-2 early in the third period with the Macs' Eddie Marineau an unwilling victim of circumstances. The Belleville defencemen was busy tying one Chatham player to a front of Goodie Bell when Copper Lyzte let go a shot towards the net. The rubber hit Marineau's skate and deflected to one side of the net as Bell swerved in the opposite direction.

Manager Keith MacDonad got the gate at this point, cutting the Belleville squad to 13 men for the remainder. He was called for charging at 9.32, but a misconduct tacked on for arguing and...then he followed the official around the ice, drew a game misconduct.

Smrke bagged his second as the Macs carried the play to Chatham later in the period. Leo Gook "Benoit's pass inside the blue line and fooled Aitken from close in with a low drive cutting the Maroon lead to 6-4. But that was all as the short-handed McFarlands were unable to overcome the earlier deficit.

The line-ups:

Belleville — Goal, Bell; defence, Marineau, Bixby, Benoit; forwards, Bradley, Brown, Hilldrebrand, Gribbons, Gregson, Smrke MacDonald Boucher.

Chatha m—Goal, Aitken; defence, McGregor, Sirotek, Doughas, Tennant, Leyte; forwards, Power, Malo, Forbes, Sharpe, Connolly, Bathgate, Cleary, Pleich, Aitken.

Referee—Frank Slota of Kitchener.

Frick Faces Tough Decision On American League Problem

NEW YORK (AP) — Sam Huff's name has been added to the National League in 1958, a year before Jimmy Brown. Sam's been with the Giants of the NFL championship outfit for three years.

Huff, a linebacker will be' at the Browns in Cleveland next year, Giants' line. And on this personal test between the league's leading ground gainer and his most respected middle linebacker rides the championship of the eastern conference.

The Giants are five - point favorites to defeat the Browns and go into the NFL championship round Dec.-17 against the west coast winner.

The defending league champs, Baltimore Colts, were at San Francisco today in a showdown game for first in the western conference. The Colts and 'diers both had 7-3 records with two games to play.

UP 'AGAINST' STEELERS

Chicago Bears (6-4) can attain their second longest winning streak by whipping visiting Pittsburgh Steelers (3-4-1) Sunday. But the cindery Bears have already clipped the Giants' and Browns' five-game streaks. It could be the same to the Bears, who are still eyeing the western crown.

The Bears are seven - point favorites.

Philadelphia Eagles, tied for second in the east with Cleveland at 6-4, are three-point favorites at Washington over Phil Reddick, but another victory will mean second place at best for the Giants (6-3) weap it up at New York.

Los Angeles Rams (9-1) are eight favorites over Green Bay Packers (5-5) whom they beat 45-6 earlier.

In another meaningless meeting, Detroit Lions (9-7-1) are four - point home favorites over Chicago Cardinals (3-9).

HUFF'S SPECIAL JOB

Giant defensive coach Tom Landry gave Huff a special job last season. He was told to "stop" Brown on every play. The teams met three lines last year and the Giants won them all.

In the one Giants-Browns game so far this year New York won 24-6. Brown gained 96 yards, but he needed 22 carries to get them and failed to cross the goal line. He still leads the league in touchdowns with 12 and has averaged nearly 113 yards a game in rushing for a total of 1,127. When Brown has a good day, the Browns are virtually unbeatable.

Burly Laddie Known as Lou Picked to Salvage Argo Crew

TORONTO (CP) — Lou Agase, whose shoulders appear broad enough to bear the burden assigned Friday as head coach of Toronto Argonauts.

The 33-year-old line coach of Michigan State University took over the reins of the ailing and floundering football club out of the depths of the Big Four. He is the fourth man in six years to tackle the job.

Agase's task of the rebuilding job facing Agase may be seen in the Argos' records which showed they were third in 1954 and 1955 and entrenched in the cellar position in 1956 and 1957 with an identical number of wins — four in 14 games.

Management director Lew Hayman said he and Agase, 'taking over the first head coaching position, agreed two years is long enough to show whether Agase could produce a winner.

HAPPY WITH PROSPECTS

Agase, six - feet - two and 215 pounds, yesterday expressed delight after taking his first look at the Toronto negotiation list, which includes Gene Gossage of Northwestern (6-4 and 240) and Jim Ambell, another Northwestern player now at six-foot-one and 210 pounds but with prospects of filling out.

Agase will get down to business today with Hayman and among other things credit allowing his two assistants he wants at least one to have some experience in Canadian football.

Steve Owen, the coach who took over the top job when Hamp Pool was fired in mid-season this year, will remain in the Argo organization in a capacity to be decided later.

Agase saw his first Canadian play last January when he was Argos' guest at the Grey Cup game.

REVEALS PLANNED STYLE

He said he will use the favored offence of Duffy Dougherty, Michigan State head coach—an unbalanced line and a double-wing T.

For quarterback, Al Dorow, a latecomer to Toronto this year from British Columbia Lions, will be given a chance to win the job again. Agase also hopes to sign at least one of the fine quarterbacks on the Toronto negotiation list—John Crow of Northwestern, Chuck Brady of Baldwin Wallace College and Bob Newman of Washington State.

Agase started his college ball career with the University of Illinois and played in the 1946 Rose Bowl game. He was assistant coach there 1959-1951.

He coached Michigan State's 1953-54 team and this year was offensive line coach. He is married with two children.

Russ to Play In Kelowna

NELSON, B.C. (CP) — The Okanagan Valley city of Kelowna has been chosen as the site of an exhibition hockey game in January between the Russian selects and an Okanagan Senior League team, L. G. Atwell, president of the B.C. Amateur Hockey Association, announced Friday night.

That game and another in Trail between the Russians and a Western International League team will be Jan. 25 and Jan. 27, twell said. It has not yet been decided which will be played first.

Mr. Atwell also said the Japanese Olympic team will play its first exhibition game in Western Canada at Victoria Jan. 8, with four games following against B.C. intermediate coast teams.

Brighton 'Out' Could Finish Hockey in Great Britain

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Britain's hottest hockey town appeared today to quit the National League. If it does, the game may be finished in the Old Country.

Benny Lee, manager of Brighton Tigers, said he needs players in the worst possible way and "if I don't get them, I'm going to call it a day."

Withdrawal of Brighton would leave only four clubs to carry on a sport that took root here in 1935. They are league - leading Streatham, Paisley, Nottingham and Wembley. Even before the season opened last September, there were doubts whether the league would hold together.

Streatham's last - minute decision to participate saved the day—briefly — but now Brighton is skating on perilously thin ice.

ONLY SEVEN PLAYERS

"I started the season with eight players and now I've only got seven," said the 34 - year - old Lee, a blunt-spoken Cockney.

He added that the seven, all Canadians, are "mentally tired."

The season doesn't end until April but Lee said if he doesn't get replacements soon he'll write things up in other week or two.

Lee said a major problem is that he can afford to pay Canadians only a week. Some have to work out for £30, but "I simply can't afford to import Englishmen at such a small rate."

The arena in the windblown, seaside resort town, one hour by fast train from London, is 170 by 85 feet. It's called "the world's sweeper's graveyard" because the confined space means a racetracked fire on the netminders.

FIRST LIKE BROOKLYN

One consolation is that fans in Brighton are to British hockey what Brooklyn Dodgers rooters used to be to baseball.

"They're the most loyal fans in the world," said Lee in his interview from his home in Hove.

"They're not fair weather fans. Nobody of making up cockleouts and travelling all night and all day to Scotland without any sleep just to watch a game.

During the Second World War, with many Canadian hockey stars stationed in the coast town, Brighton saw some of the finest hockey ever to appear in Britain. That sharpened the appetite. The rink seats only 2,000 but with standing room they pack in up to 3,000.

Lately, gates have been falling off.

If there are any unemployed players in Canada who will accept £25 a week, they can help to save the sport—and incidentally get free tickets to all the theatre and amusements in the holiday town by the sea.

Junior Hockey Club Folds

MONTREAL (CP)—The Metropolitan Junior Hockey League announced Friday that the Lakeshore team, because of unsatisfactory circumstances, has been obliged to suspend activities for the season.

Sir Lakehore players have been drafted by other teams in the league, now composed of nine clubs. All other Lakeshore players are free against.

The league announced that all points and scoring statistics involving games in which Lakeshore played are erased from the records.

Three Tied For Golf Lead

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP)—Don Bindingsoft of Chattanooga, Tenn., Bill Johnston of Provo, Utah, and Dow Finsterwald of Miami Springs, Fla., were tied for the lead at the half-way point of the $25,000 Coral Gables open golf tournament Friday with four-under-par 136s for 36 holes.

Jim Ferrs of Crystal River, Fla., Doug Sanders of Miami Beach and Jay Hebert of Sanford, Fla., each had 139.

Bindingsoft shot a 69 Friday while Johnston and Finsterwald each had a 70.

Olin Dutra Tops Senior

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Olin Dutra fired a four-under-par 68 Friday to take a one-stroke lead in the $50,000 Senior open golf tournament with a 36-hole total of 139.

The 58-year-old Rialto, Calif., golfer led defending champion Willie Goggin of San Jose, Calif., by one shot a 74 Friday by one stroke.

Fred Wood of Vancouver and five others were tied for 15th place at 147.

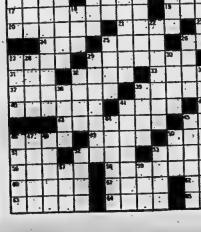
Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Affairs at home need much of your attention today. Whatever is necessary in physical matters should be attended first, which will help bring greater understanding. Then consult with some expert advisor, for best.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Wonderful day for activity, whether in salon, visits, conferences, shopping. P.M. relieve tension by getting together with congenials for fun and laughter. Also, show loyalty for good friends an increase own happiness.



Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Anything that has to do with career, credit or finance can be handled ideally today. However, you must work hard, make an effort to see people for best possible results. Don't be afraid of executives. They will help you.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — You can easily figure out what it is you want most out of life now and the best methods for pursuing your aims. Be brief in soliciting assistance and co-operation from other individuals. P.M. let sociability reign supreme.

If your child is born today . . . The child born today is the lucky kind who has a deep spirituality and can understand the most profound things that elude others. Also he, or she, will have a deep insight into human nature. So give as fine and comprehensive an education as possible, stressing also the scientific and business procedures. The ability to learn foreign languages is here, too, and most important in this chart.

Designer of Highway Signs For Ontario Fled From Iron Curtain Land by Plane

By GERALD L'ANGE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — In 1948 a Czechoslovakian Airlines plane flying from Brno to Prague suddenly changed course and crossed the Iron Curtain into West Germany. The pilot had no choice—there was a pistol at his back.

The man who held the gun was Milan Jakubec, who now works as a designer of highway signs in the Ontario highways department at Toronto.

This may seem a sedentary occupation for a man who has had enough adventures to fill a novel, but the 36-year-old Czech's life is still mixed with drama. Outside office hours he is leader of an organization of expatriates from behind the Iron Curtain who operate their own anti - Communist intelligence service in Canada.

DARING ESCAPE

Jakubec says he was a radio operator — navigator with the Czech national airline when he organized the escape Oct. 6, 1948. While he held a gun on the pilot, another airline employee covered the passengers, who included the wife and young son of Czechoslovak prime minister, Milan Siroky. Also aboard was Jakubec's wife and baby son.

The plot was a daring bluff, for both guns were unloaded, says Jakubec.

Only seven of the 15 on the plane knew of the plot, but when they landed at Munich only the pilot and the premier's wife and son elected to return behind the Iron Curtain. One of the escapees, now Mrs. Jarmila Silhavy, also lives in Toronto.

Jakubec's adventures began when as a youth he worked with the Czech underground against the Nazis. Later he fought with the French army and was imprisoned by the Germans. He escaped four times, twice walking across the snow-covered Pyrenees, on one journey carrying an injured companion.

SERVED IN RAF

He talked his way out of a Spanish internment camp by impersonating a French - Canadian and served four years with the RAF, flying 33 operations. He made his empty-gun escape after being returned unwillingly to Czechoslovakia at the war's end. Back in England he rejoined the RAF and served, until May, 1949.

Unable to find a job with a civil airline, he came to Canada in 1853. A year later he formed the Mitini Co - Operation League of Canada to unite independent organizations representing 19 ethnic groups from Eastern Europe, who form about 2,500,000 of this country's population. Jakubec, president of the league, claims it represents 250,000 expatriates from countries now controlled by Communists.

The league was formed as a social and cultural body, but most members are confirmed anti - Communists, this because this organization's main theme.

Jakubec and fellow-officers of the group, like vice - president Eugene Tomicy, a former major - general in the Hungarian Army, see the shadow of Communist domination following them even to Canada. They believe the government may not be fully aware of the extent of Communist activity in this country.

For this reason, says Jakubec, the league has organized a network of informants throughout Canada and in overseas countries. He claims this intelligence service at times has provided the Royal Canadian Mounted Police with information.

Last year Jakubec exposed before the Un-American Activities committee in Washington a racket in which, he said, Communist countries were extracting millions of dollars from immigrants sending parcels to relatives behind the Iron Curtain.

The league includes a veterans' council, and publishes a monthly bulletin, Voice of Freedom, distributed in Canada and overseas.

LEADS DOUBLE LIFE — Milan Jakubec works during the day at his drawing board as a designer of signs for the Ontario highways department in Toronto. At night he is leader of a group of expatriates from behind the Iron Curtain who operate their own anti-Communist intelligence service in Canada. Jakubec led a group from Czechoslovakia in 1948 when he and another airline employee seized a Czech national airline plane in flight and fled to the west. Interment camps four times during the Second World War to fly with the RAF. He came to Canada in 1953. (CP Photo).

It claims as honorary members Roland Michener, Speaker of the House of Commons; Charles E. Rea, Progressive Conservative MP for Toronto Spadina; Dr. Watson Kirkconnell, president of Acadia University in Nova Scotia; and Solon Low, leader of the Social Credit party.

HARD GLASS

Three B.C. Towns Isolated By Torrential Rains

One Killed in Mud Slide, Road, Rail Links Severed

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP) — Three days of torrential rains and eight-degree weather have all but isolated three bustling communities in northwestern British Columbia. One man is dead and another severely injured.

Nearly cut off from the outside world was Prince Rupert, fishing and textile pulp centre of 10,000, the aluminum centre of Kitimat, also with a population of 10,000, and Terrace, a lumbering centre of 2,400.

The storm, which began Thursday night, dropped five inches of rain on the area, 400 miles north of Vancouver. Kitimat had a record 6½ inches. The winds reached 55 miles an hour.

Slides rumbled down mountainsides, severing road, rail and telegraph links. The city's microwave telephone system, completed last summer, is the only station. Terrace, 85 miles east of here, had only amateur radio communication. One man died two areas.

One American resident of Prince Rupert said, "It isn't anything to get really excited about. It happens every year. But you can expect at least two of these storms."

Track maintenance equipment and harness for the horses was also geared to the snow-heavy area.

Most of the horses killed between the heavy racing men in this community 30 miles east of Montreal—Yvon Dugre, Sam Fabi and Andre Dupuis.

A wind blowing at about 20 miles an hour fanned the flames and firemen were able to do little more than prevent the fire from spreading to other nearby sheds and barns.

Cause of the fire was not known.

Fifteen Pacers, Trotters Burned At Sherbrooke

SHERBROOKE, Que. (CP) — Fire early today whipped through the main horse barn at the Sherbrooke Exhibition grounds killing 15 pacers and trotters.

The horses were stabled for the winter in the big wooden building. Several jockeys and trainers living there escaped as the flames rapidly engulfed the barn, leaving on stocks of hay.

Damage was expected to top the $100,000 mark.

The fire broke out about 5 a.m. EST. By the time firemen reached the grounds the whole barn was in flames. It has also big facilities for about 20 horses.

Stock maintenance equipment and harness for the horses was also geared to the snow-heavy area.

Eisenhower Will Get Full Report From Nehru

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower will get a first-hand report from Prime Minister Nehru this week on the extent of the threat posed by China to India's non-Communist neighbors.

What Mr. Nehru may have a vital bearing on the prospects for starting a new world disarmament system during Eisenhower's last year in office.

As China's hostility increases, there is increasing concern in official quarters over their lack of ability of setting up an effective inspection system under any kind of disarmament accord—even a relatively simple system like that now being used in banning nuclear weapons.

Every top Western plan for disarmament, as well as the nuclear test ban talks and the under negotiation at Geneva, provides for the establishment of inspection stations manned by international teams in China as well as the Soviet Union.

Questions concerned with China's policies and attitudes are expected to be discussed fully by Eisenhower and Nehru during their talks here Thursday and Friday.

New Delhi beginning next Wednesday.

PROMPT ACTION BY RCAF, COOL PILOT PRAISED

Two Women, Five Men Rescued

VAL D'OR, Que. (CP) — A quick and prompt action by the RCAF were credited with bringing five men and two women safely through an emergency landing and long hours of exposure in the bush on Lac la Hache in a northern Quebec river.

Bill Skinner of Val D'Or, a town 210 miles northwest of Ottawa, was pilot of the twin-engined Beechcraft. The plane was forced down Friday night on a shaky sandbar in the ice-covered Bell river 75 miles northwest of here.

It had been on a 160-mile flight from Val D'or to Chibougamau, Que., when engine trouble set up a need a reception for Hon. Jacques Miquelon, Minister of forestry and game, Mrs. Miquelon, Mrs. Miquelon's secretary, Mrs. Marc Gendron.

The others were two Val D'or newspaper men, Jacques Gagnon and Jean-Louis Lapalme, and Armand Bourcier, a Val D'or car dealer.

Skinner and his co-pilot Danny Leblanc, also of Val D'or, are credited with the RCAF's prompt rescue service. They made the five passengers immediately healthy and relatively comfortable until help arrived. The party huddled around a fire in the open.

The RCAF, using a helicopter flew both the women to safety Saturday. The plane supplied with food and sleeping bags, spent a second night in the open and was picked up Sunday.

Mr. Miquelon said his wife was "extremely cold" when she got home, he said "several aboard suffered from a feeling somewhat parable to one on a normal field."

Mr. Beaudoin said:

"We were all nervous, but we didn't panic. Slaith was all around us, but we picked our way to a little island about 50 feet away. We were in about the centre of the river.

"The first thing we needed, so we tore branches from the trees and piled all the magazines from the plane. Then we lit the fire with lighters.

"All night long we took turns to see that it wouldn't go out."

The pockets of sugar and several bottles of cream were the only supplies on board. The group balled water from the plane's nose cone over a roaring fire and built themselves a shelter which was completed Saturday.

Skinner had collected the arrival time of the first search plane. "That was the most thrilling on their experience in the RCAF's search and rescue division. Mr. Dubois, aboard which spotted them Saturday morning the one in which they had served.

CBC Gets Its Corporate Dander Up As President Hits Distorted Views

TORONTO (CP)—The CBC today got its corporate dander up at distorted views.

J. Alphonse Ouimet, CBC president, said some of the distorted and misleading statements made about the corporation recently threaten the subversion of principles of a national broadcasting system.

The CBC management isn't worried about the usual run of criticism even though the contradictory nature of the comment often "floors" the CBC, Mr. Ouimet said.

"But in addition, there is some pretty fancy sophistry going on. The statements that evolve sound logical and believable. Yet any resemblance to facts is not only coincidental but entirely accidental."

Addressing the Canadian Club, the staff at a recent public meeting in Ottawa he was astonished to hear it said that the publicly-owned CBC was established by only those things private stations could not do.

"And I think the speaker believed it," Mr. Ouimet said. He didn't identify the speaker.

"Within the last month I have read or heard that the CBC is wasteful; that private enterprise can provide the same service better; that broadcasting is primarily a vehicle for advertising; that Canada cannot afford Canadian programming; that there is no Canadian talent worth showing; that CBC programs don't want Canadian programs.

"I have also heard or read so much uninformed and negative nonsense about the CBC.

Mr. Ouimet didn't say where he had read or heard such statements about the CBC were made during the two-day conference held in Ottawa by the Board of Broadcast Governors last month to revise television regulations.

Said Mr. Ouimet:

"It is time more than high time somebody said something like the statement that broadcasting as a change from this destructive and negative mythology should be conducted, scientifically threaten the effectiveness of our entire broadcasting system."

Those who say the CBC was created to do only things that the private stations cannot do would become, in their opinion, a prediscer of "cultural" programs in the narrowest sense of the word.

Mr. Ouimet said there is no reference in any act, royal commission report or parliamentary committee report to support this.

The CBC was created for such a purpose.

U.S. Share Steel Production Down in Face of Competition

CHICAGO (AP)—A steel industry spokesman told Canadian and United States businessmen here that the American share of world steel production has declined almost 20 per cent in the face of aggressive foreign competition.

Robert M. Richardson, vice-president in charge of sales for Inland Steel Company, Chicago, said American-produced steel declined from 54 per cent of the world's total output in 1946 to 34 per cent in 1958.

He blamed the decline on labor unrest, unattractiveness as the part of foreign steel producers, especially those of Germany and Japanese and European steel industries, which, he said are producing a greater proportion of all export markets.

Buddington spoke at the second Canadian-American trade and investment conference, sponsored by of businessmen and government men from both countries with meeting overseas competition.

The aim of the conference is to determine the Canada-American business problems, the outlook for the future and what steps should be taken on a mutual basis, to overcome and stay ahead of the foreign competition.

Buddington said declining steel exports are an important part of the foreign competition story. He said U.S. exports this year are not expected to exceed 1,000,000 tons, which would be the lowest post-war volume since 1938.

Part of this was due to the recent steel strike, but Buddington said exports of steel are declining in export volume actually represent a growing loss of American-made steel sales.

"This export market has been substantial, a m o u n t i n g to as much as 5,200,000 tons in 1957," Buddington said. "From the 1946 time since 1903, the U.S. will have been a net importer of steel mill products. In 1959 imports are expected to exceed exports by some 2,000,000 tons."

Many Vessels in Difficulty In Shrieking Atlantic Gale

LONDON (CP)—Shrieking Atlantic gales and mountainous seas caused distress calls to flash from the North Atlantic to the way today from ships in trouble. Big Atlantic liners were battered by the waves and some passengers were injured.

Flashing trawlers and freighters reported the worst storms in years in the Baltic, North Sea and western Atlantic, all asking for urgent assistance.

Many ships were in trouble around the British coast. Twenty men were feared to have been swept to their deaths when huge winds drove their trawler Boulmer onto rocks near Alnmouth Bay.

Meanwhile, widespread floods over southeastern England fol- lowed Sunday night's storms.

Roads within a 10-mile radius of Exeter were impassable. Streets in the Devonshire town of Axminster were under water.

—At Storm Head, Yorkshire, the crew of the Grimsby trawler Revello, 230 tons, were rescued by the British ship Bachelorbay, 8,270 tons, after abandoning ship. The Revello later sank.

In Italy, 30 families totalling 120 people were evacuated from their homes at Vigonio, west of Genoa, today when the Baratti river threatened by a landslide.

Heavy snow covered Norway, blocking roads and rail lines.

Brazilian President Has Been Under Heavy Fire for Year

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — For more than a year, Brazilian President Juscelino Kubitschek's government has been under heavy fire.

This land of more than 62,000,000 people is racked with serious economic problems. Inflation and fever have skyrocketed, wages have remained low. Housewives have had to stand in long queues for shortages of beef, rice and beans —three items that Brazil normally produces and consumes cheaply.

In the face of strong criticism, Kubitschek has pushed ahead with plans for Brasilia, a new Brazilian capital city being built deep in the Brazilian heartland. His critics say it is a project too fast and spending too much. They call it Kubitschek's folly.

With that in the background, Kubitschek last week faced two events that could have caused him serious trouble, if not ousted him.

One was a revolt by air force officers that could have brought it to a head. Kubitschek's government has been under heavy economic disaster and that it was riddled with corruption and Communists.

The other event was a leftist movement to overthrow him. It is important and often anti-Kubitschek Sao Paulo.

But moves failed and Kubitschek, who had seemed to be losing popularity, has come out victorious.

Why, in the light of all the grumbling about high prices, low wages, food shortages and Brasilia was it that Kubitschek won?

Perhaps the answer lies in what Kubitschek said Friday in telling the people the revolt had been defeated. He said:

"The era of (violent) revolution is over in Brazil."

The government in Brazil's business world sounded the same theme. "We have many problems in Brazil, but revolts and strikes are not one sort of them," he said. "We, all of us in Brazil, have outgrown the old days of palace coups and revolutions. We have the way to solve our problems or to change our governments. And that is by voting. We will have elections in October and if we don't like what is going on we will vote against it."

Said another:

"Those officers forgot one thing—the Brazilian people are tired of revolution and violence."

Said another: "The sentiment came from all parts of the country. We are through the days of the officers' revolt. Even opposition newspapers and political parties condemned the revolt as unfaithful.

Brazil has been a republic since the middle of the 19th century but real democracy and constitutional government are new—since the fall of 1955 of dictator Getulio Vargas.

And even though the first taste of this sort of living (including some of the bitterness of hardship, the Brazilian people seem willing to take it that way. They had the chance twice last week to upset things and they didn't.

Voting Pace Picks up After Slow Morning

At noon deputy returning officers stated it had been a slow morning with very few voters on the mid-day rush. But the snow and slush to turn out to cast their ballots.

However, during the noon hour there was a flurry of voters at the polls and by the end of the mid-day break it with the polls busy.

"It's picking up now", reported officials at one polling booth at 1 p.m. "We've had about 100 more voters up until this time".

Killed by Fall

TORONTO (CP)—Hugh Johnston, 59, a patient-employee at Queen Street Mental Hospital, died Sunday night after falling in the maintenance room and striking his head on the cement floor.

Margaret Price, 38, a nurse's aide, rushed to the fall and was screaming from the room.

A patient at the hospital for 30 years, Johnston had been trusted enough to do odd jobs. An autopsy has been ordered.

EXTEND SESSION OF UN TO DEBATE HUNGARY ISSUE

Mr. K. Calls It 'Bet On a Dead Horse'

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) The question of Hungary, which Russia's Premier Khrushchev has likened to "a dead rat stuck in some people's throats," was scheduled for new debate in the United Nations today.

Twenty-four countries, including the United States, Britain and Canada, have co-sponsored a resolution by which the 78-member General Assembly would deplore the "continued disregard" of its resolutions by the Soviet Union and Communist Hungary.

The assembly has before it a report by its special representative on Hungary, Sir Leslie Munro of New Zealand, telling of "widespread executions" pending the imminent possibility of further executions" in the country where a rebellion was crushed by Soviet troops in 1956.

Khrushchev, in his recent tour of the United States, sought cordial times to queries on hungary.

REFUSED CO-OPERATION

Munro, like a previous UN representative, was refused co-operation by Moscow and Budapest in his attempts to visit Hungary to investigate reports of continued terror and deportations. Communist party to be held since the 1956 revolution. Munro in his report described the forthcoming election as "a bet on a dead horse."

The UN has adopted 12 decisions on Hungary during the last three years, and the new draft resolutions makes note of Munro's efforts to report on "significant developments relating to the implementation of the resolutions. . . ."

In the words of the resolution, the General Assembly:

"Regrets the continued disregard by the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics of the General Assembly's resolutions dealing with the situation in Hungary.

"Calls upon (Russia) and the present authorities in Hungary to co-operate with the United Nations representative on Hungary.

"Requests the United Nations representative on Hungary to continue his efforts."

Revival of the Hungarian debate by the United Nations General Assembly to be extended a week beyond the original Dec. 7 target date. The assembly also must deal with the Algerian question which was under indefinite discussion in the political committee.

Queen Uses Her Smile to Betray Radio Commentators Into 'Fluffs'

LONDON (Reuters)—A leading British radio commentator has disclosed a private game which Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip sometimes play while driving Royal Corgi dogs together.

First they tune in on a radio commentary of their drive on the car radio. Then, without telling, they try to spot the commentator in the crowd.

When they find him, the Queen gives him a personal smile or a wave and the effect is the same effect on his microphone technique as "fluffing" his lines intentionally or fluffs his line with excitement.

The commentator, John Snagge writing in an illustrated book of his career, "Those Were the Days," says the royal couple devised the game as long ago as 1951 when the Queen, then Princess Elizabeth, and her husband were not yet Queen and Consort.

Snagge, who has covered many Royal Tours for the BBC, says he once raised the matter with the Queen.

He told her: "You know

Pakistanis Shriek Hearty Welcome To Eisenhower

Thousands at Ankara; Receives Pope's Blessing

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — Hundreds of thousands of enthusiastic Pakistanis shrilled a tumultuous welcome today to President Eisenhower as he arrived on the first Asian stop of his 22,000 mile journey in quest of peace.

Grinning with delight, the American president stood erect in the bank of a white convertible and waved to the colorfully clad throngs that lined along his route into Pakistan's largest city. Each time the American president waved his hat, the crowds responded with delighted roars of welcome.

The city was decorated for the visit of the head of state by an American president. A host of streamers, of every color of the rainbow, added to the brilliance of the scene.

His first part of the route took him past a new industrial area where workers met their arrival with cheers. Then on into the road crossed an area of tidal flats with the Arabian sea pounding on the beach.

Then Eisenhower saw an incredible sight—a huge mass of the housing Moslem refugees from India.

Along the streets the swish of black veils behind latticed balconies indicated that Moslem women in purdah — seclusion— were watching Eisenhower go by.

Eisenhower stood erect, waved and shoved their way into the Karachi airport terminal for the United States Embassy where he presented Pakistan's president Mohammed Ayub Khan, changed from the automobile to a stately red and gold presidential coach drawn by six sparkling black horses. Then the splendid show procession made its way to the presidential residence, where Eisenhower will make his headquarters for his 40-hour stay.

Karachi set a welcoming with colored lights on all sides. As night fell it resembled a city adorned for Christmas.

The president flew to Pakistan —and he ran into his 11 - country good-will tour, after a Sunday morning audience with Pope John and a 19-hour, over-night flight to Ankara, the Turkish capital.

This was Peterborough's first defeat in six matches and completes its schedule, 5-1. Kingston, which had lost an earlier match to Peterborough, now has a 4-1 record and has one match with Brockville to play.

REPORT FIRST THEFT OF CHRISTMAS LIGHTS

Christmas light thieves have already started their rounds.

City police reported this morning that a city resident complained that over the weekend a thief had stolen a 32 bulb Christmas light string from an outside tree.

SANDY AND SANTA — Santa Claus discovered an old acquaintance during his visit to the Belleville General Hospital on Saturday afternoon. Elmer "Sandy" Sandercock was among the patients and Santa took a few minutes to talk over old times and wish the local Member of the Provincial Parliament a speedy recovery so he would be home for Christmas.

Santa Spreads Christmas Cheer To Kiddies, Adults in Hospital

Visitors to the Belleville General Hospital last Saturday afternoon might have been startled to hear cries of "Ho ho ho!" and "Merry Christmas" echoing through normally hush-ed corridors. It was the occasion of Santa Claus' annual visit to the hospital, and one simply had to watch the Santa Claus Parade earlier in the day.

Smiles and chuckles were evident from many patients whom Santa dropped in to spread a bit of Christmas cheer. The first to be visited of course, were the children. Gifts and goodies were given to each and every child and Santa was sure to have a few words with every child in the hospital before departing.

The scene was a touching one in the children's ward as the kiddies well enough to be up and about crowded around the jolly old gentleman. And smiles were brought to the faces of those who could not raise from their beds as Santa stopped for a bedside chitchat with them. To be sure every kiddie, no matter how ill, was delighted by Santa's appearance.

Santa's visit was also appreciated by the older patients as well. There was the one woman, who did not seem to see any other wards' patients and staff when Santa Claus came more before leaving, in his visits to other wards' patients and staff members alike expressed their delight at his presence and everyone was the recipient of Santa's visit.

Accompanying Santa on his rounds were a number of helpers, who he been in the parade. Fire Chief Gerald Vance and a couple of firemen, Lloyd said,

Dean of the parade committee and Werner Daechsel and Len Burfoot of the hospital administration office. They assisted in the distribution of the candies and presents and the costumes of the helpers also brought many a smile to a patient's face. Within the next few weeks the children at the hospital will have a chance to see Saturday's parade, on film. Len Burfoot took over a movie shots of all of the parade floats and bands and these will be shown to hospital patients before Christmas.

Advance Poll Had 162 Voters, Possible Record

A record number of votes cast at the advance poll was indicative of public heavy balloting in today's city municipal elections although the westherman has come up with an early dusting fall of damp snow to dampen spirits.

City Clerk Adam Stalker said today that a total of 162 persons had voted at the advance poll last week, with this believed to be a record for municipal elections in the city.

Last year there were just over 40 voted at the advance poll.

Mr. Stalker quoted the deputy returning officer at the advance poll as stating he had never seen such heavy voting at the advance poll as was the case this year.

"At least it shows that the people are interested", Mr. Stalker said.

Growing Together In Our Community Theme of Conference

A one-day conference to promote understanding between native and "new" Canadians will be held at Ellis hall, on the Queen's University campus in Kingston Saturday, December 12. "Growing Together in Our Community" is the theme of the conference, sponsored jointly by the Community Welfare Council of Kingston and district and the Ontario Welfare Council. The keynote speaker will be Vernon Ready, principal of Kingston Vocational and Collegiate Institute.

The conference, which will be open to the public, will provide an opportunity for groups to discuss such subjects as: discrimination and prejudice, differences in social customs, the meaning and responsibilities of citizenship, welfare services in the Canadian community and integration through schools.

Planning for the daylong meeting started in September, when the Kingston Community Welfare Council formed the participation of the Ontario Welfare Council to hold a regional conference on the problems in integration of newcomers to Canada. About 100 people are expected to attend from the area from Napanee, Kingston, including Belleville, Trenton, Cornwall and Brockville. The conference and the planning committee were: Mrs. G. A. Platt and Mrs. J. L. Cuti, both of Kingston. Maddocks will attend from Belleville.

Family at Head Made Homeless By Sunday Fire

A family of eight persons, including six children ranging in age from five months to eight years, was rendered homeless Sunday when fire completely destroyed their two-storey frame house five miles north of Read.

All household furnishings and personal possessions of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dunkley and their six children, were lost in the blaze.

The blaze is said to have occurred about noon Sunday when Mrs. Dunkley had apparently gashed such headway that none of the household furnishings could be saved. Cause of the blaze was believed to have been the stove or chimney.

The house was owned by Mr. Edward E. Folwell of Belleville who said it had been completely furnished for electricity only a few months ago.

Mr. Dunkley worked at Arthur A. Sills and Son in Belleville until a week or so ago when he was laid off.

Memories of you come our way,
Though absent, you are ever near,
Sweet memories, still loved and ever dear.

—Ever remembered by Mother and brothers Edwin and Harold.

BELCH. — In fond and loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Belch, who passed away one year ago, December 7th, 1958.

Yes a thousand times a day,
Since we cannot hear your footsteps

A link from our chain has broken,
A vacant place there will be,
But we know you're not forgotten,
As we meet you in memory.

Thousands Line Downtown Streets to Enjoy Parade; Best Ever Produced in City

Like birthdays, the Santa Claus parade comes once a year but, unlike birthdays, it usually serves to enchant those who observe it and makes them feel younger rather than old. This year's parade was no exception. Promptly at 11.00 o'clock Parade Marshal Harry Abbott started off the 1959 Santa Claus Parade from the Bridge Bridge with the weather conditions favorable to the event although the sky was overcast.

Led off by the mounted color party consisting of Lorenzo Hoyle, A. E. Kleinsteuber, and Walter DeMille, the Trenton city fleets and bands slowly proceeded along Front Street with triumphant gaiety dancing the color and also of the crowd all along the route.

Following the color party were Dorothy Dickey's majorettes and the entertaining Kraft band of the Kiwanis Cavaliers from Lindsay, whose spirited music and twirling set a brisk pace for the parade. They were followed by the Nativity scene which was complete with a live sheep. A choir of the Salvation Army also came on the next float singing Christmas carols.

A new idea this year, a mechanized ferris wheel with a number of dolls, and animals by the passengers formed the next part of the parade. A large Santa Claus followed, amusing the parade viewers as it gracefully swept its way down the street to the street to another. In its wake came the Trenton Shrine Band in very smartly turned out in their plaid shirts and white sweaters to play, and march in costume for the majorettes.

The next float was Mr. Hood and few of his merry men who looked as though they were not going to want for Christmas dinner being over by dinnertime as they had a chicken roasting on a spit on the float. One of the parade committee's own floats, the Queen of Hearts, came next in line of the larger floats in the parade. It proved to be very attractive with several young local belles in attendance on its "queen".

The gay and dressy band of the Canadian Legion, Branch 130, of Port Hope was next with their distinctive air that becomes a band.

DISTINCTIVE FLOAT

A very distinctive float depicting Hiawatha land, was next as students of the Ontario School for the Deaf, followed the well of the pipes, the drumming of the Eskimos on the fleet appeared very effective. Next followed the announcer Rumplestiltskin was the theme of the next float. The float depicting Rumplestiltskin float was a very pleasing combination of cornettes and the Colborne Recreation Trumpet Band playing a lively tune.

A float depicting the first system of communication, communications, an Indian and his squaw sitting outside a teepee, was the next float followed by the Canadiana float of the local fire-fighting and ever-popular Clown Band came next with its members living it up with some lively whoops and hollers.

Next came a rather large fleet depicting the "Night Before Christmas" and featured the Public Works staff. Some of the staff could be seen working hard at squeezing sleepy in the scene on the float. The very small band of the Royal Canadian Sea Cadets from Cobourg was next in the next band in the parade with one of the largest complements of musicians.

Another familiar nursery rhyme character, Humpty Dumpty, was featured in the next float. At the end of the parade he had a difficult time getting up the wall. This float was followed by another major float in the parade each year; that of Mother Goose. This was followed by Gaffi Heidrichs' drum and bugle corps in an excellent marching display.

Next came the band of the RCAF Air Transport Command from Trenton, led by one of the tallest drum majors in the music world today. The band was a sight of blue trimmed with gold were quite impressive as well, this band was followed by the fleet of Jack and Jill.

The next portion of the parade was a rather smokey one, and noisy. With a roar somewhat reminiscent of a bunch of firecrackers exploding in a tin pail, the flying saucer fleet here take control on a curve just south of the

Santa Given Warm Welcome As Parade Held at Trenton

TRENTON — Jolly old "Saint Nick" made his annual visit to Trenton on Saturday morning. Hundreds of kiddies, accompanied by their parents lined the route of Santa's parade from the Community Gardens to St. Peter's School. The lead-off car in the parade was driven by Chief of Police Jack Taylor, and Mayor Jack Burt followed in the second car. Fifteen floats, sponsored by Trenton firms and organizations, two groups of majorettes and four bands added to the gaiety of the occasion.

The parade, sponsored by the Trenton Retail Merchants' Association, was by far the most colorful parade ever staged in Trenton season locally.

Santa-Nik", the float sponsored by Williams and Williams Eastern Ltd., was the winner of the first prize. Second was the Pyrolenax "Nursery Rhyme" float, "Santa", and "Peter Pan" the Town of Trenton fleet received third prize.

Floats were entered by the Kinsmen Club, the Odd Fellows Lodge and the Quinte Queen Rebekah Lodge, the Town of Trenton, Central Bridge, Trenton Branch 110 of the Canadian Legion, the Victorian Order of Nurses, the Salvation Army, Williams and Williams, Pyrotenax, Trenton High School, Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, Scouts and the Naval Cadets.

Majorettes were from the Barbara Thrasher School of the Dance, Warkworth, and the borough.

Bands taking part were the 6 RD Band under the direction of Sgt. Kelly, Quinte Pipe Band led by Pipe Major Crawford Macready, the Central Canada Band from Cobourg, and the Salvation Army Band.

One highlight of the parade was the "hot rod"-entry which went the kiddies, and of course, the star of the show was Santa Claus, drawn by his ever-faithful reindeer.

'Malicious Damage' Is Done To Aircraft Twice in Week

TRENTON — Air Force officials at Air Transport Command, Trenton, this weekend are confirmation to the fact that acts of "malicious damage" to aircraft have occurred upon a Dakota twin-engined freighter and passenger plane at the airport within the past week.

On November 25th, electrician, making a routine check, discovered that a number of electrical wires in the plane had been deliberately cut. The aircraft was immediately quarantined and placed under guard until the R.C.A.F. Police, led under Warrant Officer B. J. E. Richardson, of Trenton, had completed an examination. Almost three days of hard work were required to replace the damaged wiring.

On Dec. 3rd, similar, though less extensive, damage was again discovered.

The Air Force Police have taken statements from over 200 servicemen and civilians at the airport in the course of their investigation.

Group Captain D. J. Williams, Commanding Officer of Station Trenton, Trenton, Ont., in an evident case of malicious damage. There is no question that this is the work of some sinister mind. Any chance of a prowler being engaged in this dangerous and complete enough to make it impossible to get the aircraft off the ground."

Provincial police reported a comparatively quiet weekend with only one mishap in the immediate Belleville area, but city police investigated three minor accidents on Saturday and Sunday.

Late Saturday morning a three-car accident on the north side of Foster and Dundas resulted in a total of approximately $500 damage.

Mr. John A. Weese, 133 Dufferin Ave., was turning off Foster onto Dundas Street when his car collided with an eastbound vehicle driven by Ronald A. Caverly, 54 Geddes Street. The Weese auto was then spun around and collided with a third car driven by Clifford Maracle of R. R. 1 Deseronto. Damage to the Weese and Caverly autos was about $175 and to the Maracle auto about $125.

On the Bay Bridge Road a car driven by Mr. Alva Hubbs, of R. R. 2 Belleville, knocked out six guide rail posts and crashed up in the swamp when Mr. Hubbs was blinded by the lights of an approaching auto.

On Sunday, cars driven by Robert J. Duvall, 3 Spencer Gardens, and Peter Hovings, 272 Coleman Street, collided at the intersection Coleman and Harriet Streets. Total damages amounted to about $225.

This morning at Rose' Corners on Highway 14 north of Belleville, a panel truck and car were in collision. Details of the accident were not learned but no injuries resulted.

Chastised But Not Repentant

Letters to the editor often reveal a confused understanding of the differences between news and editorial. The writers look upon the newspaper as a tool and assume that the editor should allow them the use of the tool to help them achieve their own specific goals.

The main reason for this misunderstanding, is probably due to the editorial columns in which the editor attempts to persuade readers to accept his own point of view in various matters. The news columns, on the other hand, are to inform and give the reader information from which he may reach his own conclusions on the basic issues of the community in which he lives.

In a city served by one newspaper, many publishers adopt the policy of giving full reports of community and political matters. When it comes to endorsing candidates for office they believe it is not the newspaper's role to dictate who should be elected. The public resents dictation and rightly so.

However, this policy enrages some readers who supply all sorts of epithets to the newspaper for its seeming short-comings. This letting off steam is good for everyone and we welcome it. We are quite conscious of the fact, as well as anyone else, that this newspaper is always less than perfect. Nevertheless, we shall continue to strive for that perfection which we dream of, but which is always so elusive, and hope our efforts will meet with some measure of approval.

We publish elsewhere on this page a letter to the editor which is critical of the news and editorial policies of this newspaper. This editorial has been written to explain the main reasons for these policies so that readers may have some understanding of the situation.

The writer of the letter makes the statement that this newspaper "rid" the story of "May 9th fiasco" on the inside pages and was thus guilty of publishing the "news."

The policy of The Ontario Intelligencer is not to feature and glorify news that is regarded as unfavorable to the city by using eight-inch headlines on the front page. Nor has this newspaper any desire to persecute persons in public or private life for their mistakes before they have had an opportunity to explain their acts under legal procedure. If that is considered an "anaemic" policy by some of our readers then it will have to be accepted for it will not be changed. We can usually depend on some members of the metropolitan newspapers to dish out moronic sensationalism in sickening detail for readers who prefer that sort of "news."

We admit there was delay in publishing the original story by reason of press deadlines and a desire to be absolutely factual. Jumping at wrong conclusions in news can be both painful and expensive as some newspapers have found out from time to time. After the one delay we had anywhere near to get the news from outside papers. Concerning the deficit of $900,000 if the writer will refer to our October 20th issue he will find a streamer on the front page estimating the deficit was $400,000. Reports of the final decisions of the inquiry and the Hogg report of Judge Willmott were featured on the front page for the reason the inquiry was receiving wide attention throughout the province and that nothing had been proved beyond sad judgment and carelessness.

Criticism of our reports of the Ratepayers' Association meetings is a matter of opinion. We feel the report was fair and adequate and the writer thinks otherwise. Apparently he expected editorial approval in a news report and that has been answered above.

Possibly we have been remiss in not lauding some of "more admirable aspects of our government." It is so easy to take such things for granted and for that we express regret for being so remiss in our duty. If Mr. Welch will be so kind, we will give him plenty of space on this page to give our readers some of his impressions of our civic assets from the standpoint of a newcomer to Belleville. Belleville can stand a whole lot of boosting around here. Let us have more of it from our readers.

THE UNPRAISED HEROES

By EDGAR A. GUEST

Success is not alone in fame,
Nor riches now a distant goal;
The world has never learned the name
Of many a fine and splendid soul.

Long heroes pass from day to day
Unnoticed, unidentified,
And they will that no one pay
Recover how their souls are tried.

Calmly they stand to every test;
Bravely their bitter tasks they ply
And silently they give their best,
Unchanged by victory or defeat.

For duty done they ask no praise;
Unnoted they bear their own distress;
Yet in their quiet, patient ways
These unsung heroes reach success.

Strictly Personal
Should Judge Acts More Than Persons

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

A few weeks ago, as part of his birthday present, I took Michael to a children's theatre to see a dramatization of "Jack and the Beanstalk."

We both enjoyed it very much, but what especially pleased me, and the only reason for bringing up the whole matter now was that as we walked out, discussing the play, Michael said, "You know, that giant wasn't such a bad fellow, I felt kind of sorry for him."

This reaction delighted me more than anything else he could have said. A child's world, after all, is black and white, cowboys and Indians, good guys and bad guys, princes and princesses, slayers.

Growing up, in the full sense, means beginning to understand that gray is the predominant color, not human nature, that "bad" people are often kind and a bad guy, both a dragon and a dragon-slayer.

This does not mean, of course, that we junk our moral values. But it does mean that we judge the acts more than we judge the persons. And more than that, it means that we begin, to some extent, sympathizing with the plight of being a ugly giant living in a bleak and lonely castle without the possibility of ever learning to eat.

"Feeling sorry for" usually comes late to a child; and sometimes not at all. Children are notoriously cruel toward those who look funny, who have misshapen feet, the fat boy, the pimply boy, the boy with an accent or a "hungup" mother. The tormented nearly to distraction by his playmates.

Yet this same distraction — both at home and at school — that does not encourage a child to sympathize with the children with those who are somehow different, is sadly discouraged in adolescence.

Too many children are permitted to grow up in the smug belief that what is right and proper is what is done and said and worn by their own small community, and that everybody else is queer. They are in for a rude shock when they move into the great world and find that they must look just as odd to people who grew up in different environments.

There is no doubt that Jack was a good boy, if a touch irresponsible, and the giant was wicked. Yet, I am delighted that Michael was not jubilant at the death of the giant, and heard the first faint, pitying flickering spark of goodness.

I hope Michael will have him carry this generous attitude through life than make straight A's with the teachers and this assumption that he is "educated," even though sold and rigid and resentful.

How Money Multiplies

Windsor Star

The fantastic mirage in which money can make money always has been the most innocent of the ways of finance. This is illustrated in the case of the late Viscount Bennett, prime minister of Canada in 1930-35, and multiplied by Lord Beaverbrook in his book just off the presses.

Viscount Bennett was a very rich man. The large part of his estate was left in trust to be distributed to charity. This is included were 10,000 shares in the Imperial Oil company, which, in 1947, had a market value of $227,500. Now they are worth more than $800,000. There were 2,000 shares of Canada Cement, worth in 1947 at $36,000. Now they are worth $273,000. In other words, $263,000 multiplied by four times is the $1,073,000 in 11 years.

This fast method of increasing wealth, of course, is only available to those who have money for such investment. The typical wage citizen can have no hope of getting rich quickly by this process of money begetting money.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

GIVE IT THE RIGHT NAME

"I became righteously indignant."

Her indignation was always righteous — that is, according to her. She was not long on her temper. She just came to that point of impatience and intolerance in which she was compelled, in the name of decency, to really get pretty mad about things as they were and blow her top. But this was a righteous indignation.

Or — not to set up double standards of morality — she has the reputation of flying off the handle on all occasions. Her clerks and stenographers can tell you about the grouchy days, the days when they have gotten what had to leave the office early because they would not any longer take his barrage of irritability and abuse. Or, to transfer the sin to the factory, industrial workers all know the kind of boss who walks up and down between the machine spending hatred and muttered threats of revenge. But these chaps never lose their temper. They are all righteously indignant.

Why can't we face the fact that we have a fairly unbearable temper? Why should we always go about trying to excuse ourselves? The most disconcerting aspect of the whole situation is that we are frightfully conscious of the fact that no matter how much we have been justified ourselves in our own eyes.

Righteous indignation is about as rare as bad temper is prevalent.

How He Gets His Revenge

Letter in The Vancouver Sun

Mr. Weir, in the course of his daily romp, recently aired his spleen on the subject of unsolicited advertising matter, and in particular on the quantity of "boob bait" that finds its way into his mail box.

I share with him a long standing grudge against the people who shower the public with this form of nuisance, and wish to state that a partial remedy is at hand.

Many of the less fraudulent firms that engage in this business are willing to pay for disclosing a postage free return envelope with their circular offerings. I take it upon myself, as a point of honor, to fraud these empty envelopes to the sender.

I recommend the Mobray Method to Mr. Weir and kindred sufferers. Just as a solution to a problem then as set of therapeutic, yet harmless, hobility that refreshes the soul.

Letter To The Editor

Finds Many Faults In This Newspaper

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer:

Your report of the meeting of the Ratepayers' Association of BCIVS on December 2 served only to confirm my opinion, and that of many fellow citizens, that the Belleville Intelligencer is an anaemic and lifeless newspaper.

Your account of the meeting was both inaccurate and incomplete. Written questions were permitted and both time and materials were provided for their presentation. All were answered and one on Sunday sports, more rightly a matter for the chairman as it will appear in ballot form. Only one question, not numerous as you suggest, was left over and this one was adequately answered. Your grouping of the remarks of seven speakers into one sentence with both unfair and misleading. All of the city formed an organization to obtain good government by the selection of qualified candidates who can ably discharge the duties of the executive agent many hours in interviewing and selecting their nine candidates for the ballot and a field of one hundred. These candidates represent the electorate; they come from all sections of the city and represent every profession and trade. The committee's work in evaluating them was carried on for months. The basis for recommending these candidates for election was known to my knowledge and rendered such a service, and is certain that we can do so. One could only conclude that the Ontario Intelligencer is not interested in encouraging good government.

A review of the record certainly supports this contention. The May 9th fiasco was two days old before the Ontario Intelligencer published an account of the meeting and then in the story on the inside pages. Citizens learned more of the events from Toronto newspapers and from word-of-mouth reports than from their local paper. It was more than five months after the date that the Intelligencer would secure produced a headline story. Such lethargic journalism cannot be avoided that the newspaper, by its reluctance to do so, is a serious liability rather than an asset to the poor government that city hall has received.

During the hearings surveyed Toronto newspapers gave the city over $100,000. An editor who has visited outside this city will know that this is widely spread. Yet the Ontario Intelligencer has not yet found it defend Belleville and state the true significance of this figure or the fact that the deficit was close to $600,000. Nor has the Ontario Intelligencer ever found it in more admirable aspects of our government: The excellent Public Library, the fine Public School Boards. Neither has the Intelligencer had the courage to

Templars Hold Traditional Yule Ceremony

Masonically speaking the Christmas season was ushered in on Sunday afternoon by the members of King Baldwin Preceptory of the Religious and Military Order of Knights Templars. Knight uniformed in the traditional white mantle with red facings entered in formal procession, giving a glimpse of the days of the Crusades, providing an impressive setting for the ceremony to follow.

Visiting Knights were present from Kingston and Brockville. The presiding Preceptor, Em. Kt. Paul Foster, presided over the proceedings which included the singing of seasonal hymns, prayers, recital of the principles of Knight Templarism, and an appropriate address.

Due to sudden illness the featured soloist was unable to appear, but Mrs. Beverley Shaw at the last moment most kindly stepped into the breach and delighted the large attendance with her sincere rendition of Adams' Star of Bethlehem. Brother, the Rev. Maurice McLeod, B.A., delivered a timely address, comparing the Wise Men of Biblical times with wise men of today.

After the service a brief social period was enjoyed. Round an illuminated cross four Right Eminent Knights led in demonstrating the time-honored libations of the Order.

A great number of appreciative comments were paid to the organizers of this highly satisfactory function.

Barking of Dog Disturbs Thieves At Bonarlaw

The barking of a dog which aroused a neighbor resulted in thieves being frightened away from the post office and store at Bonarlaw early Sunday morning.

Missing from the post office was about $1 in coppers and a mantel radio, while four cartons of cigarets were stolen from the William Barlow store.

Provincial Police at Madoc said that about four o'clock Sunday morning Ronald Brown living nearby the Barlow store and post office, was awakened by the barking of his dog. He looked out and saw what he took to be a station wagon act-ing strangely. He phoned Mr. Barlow who turned on the outside lights at his home on, and the intruders jumped in their car and disappeared.

Investigation revealed the intruders had gained entrance to the store by a south window where they forced an iron bar. The post office was searched and shelves of merchandise in the store were disturbed.

All that was missing, however, was the $1 in coppers owned by the post office and the cigarets and mantel radio owned by the storekeeper, Mr. Barlow.

SANTA AND COMPANY — Above may be seen quite a few of the children which the jolly old gentleman visited at the hospital after the Santa Claus parade was over. The marks of the chocolate candy given to the kiddies may be seen on some of their faces underneath the smiles which Santa also gave to them.

Hundreds of Kiddies Watch Favorite Heroes in Parade

By G. ANDERSON

The small girl stood with a candy bar grasped firmly in one small gloved fist — but it went unseen; her mouth was open as she gazed at a sight she had never seen before.

The Santa Claus parade.

The small girl was one of hundreds of kiddies — and adults — who watched the parade through downtown streets Saturday.

And what a time she had. As each new scene passed before her eyes, she would squeal with delight and turn bright, happy eyes to her mother, who held the other fist.

At the other end of the scale, a few yards away, stood an elderly gentleman who although not quite so exuberant as the young lass, appeared to be enjoying the show equally as much as she was.

His eyes twinkled and gave a sneaking suspicion he was getting as big a kick out of the young girl's reaction to all the wonderful sights as he was to the parade proper.

STREETS JAMMED

The crowd jammed the entire length of Front Street and another still and movie cameramen had a field day.

The kiddies, of course, got the biggest thrill from the pageant which unfolded before their awe-struck eyes. Many of the youngsters had never seen anything like this before.

Mind you, the young lady beside me did have a bad moment now and then.

The first time it was a huge silver flying saucer which came coasting towards her, and it didn't do any good to tell her the driver (or rather, pilot) was only showing off the prowess of his craft.

Then there was a steer manipulated by an excavator-operator which went up and down and sideways before her eyes and she wasn't sure whether to laugh or cry. So she gave a half-hearted smile, but clarged her mother's hand a little tighter and took a few steps nearer her.

But the majorettes, and the bands! Now there was something she understood and made her grab with pleasure. Then there was a really nice clown who took the time to come over, stop, just to talk to her. Boy! She saw many of her favorite heroes.

There was Robin Hood, the Three Musketeers, and Zorro. Another seasonal scene which she had read about in the classroom also came alive before her — it was the nativity re-enacted on one of the floats.

BANDS OF ALL KINDS

And in between each of these and the many others came the bands. Boys' bands, girls' bands, Army, Navy and Air Force bands, plus a Dixieland band.

The largest, naturally, of the large thrills came at the very end of the parade when the old gentleman in the long white beard, and scarlet tunic riding a sleigh pulled by his eight faithful reindeer appeared.

Santa was just as she had imagined he would be. A merry, stout old gentleman, waving and "ho, ho, ho-ing" for all he was worth.

He was a fitting climax to a memorable show.

Only one thing seemed to worry the young girl. As she walked away with her mother after Santa had passed, bubbling with excitement over what she had seen, she voiced one small fear which was obviously bothering her.

She received a reassuring yes from her mother when she asked:

"Are you sure he will have time to fill my stocking besides all the other children's!"

Three Officers Take Course On Breathalyzer

Provincial police headquarters at Belleville now has three officers trained in the operation of the breathalyzer machine which is available to determine the alcoholic content of the breath of motorists who are being charged with impaired or drunk driving.

Officers having training with the machine are Cpl. Harry J. Barker and Constables E. J. Graves and H. F. Sisty, all of the traffic patrol department.

All three officers have taken special training on the operation of the breathalyzer at the Attorney General's Department laboratory in Toronto. Constables Graves and Sisty have just recently returned to Belleville following completion of their course.

Whether a breathalyzer test is taken or not is the decision of the motorist who may be charged. If he wishes the test he is asked to blow into a tube following which tests are made to determine the alcoholic content of the driver's breath.

Venison Stolen From His Car

Douglas Cronkright, R.R. 5, Belleville, today must be wondering whether his deer hunting trip this fall was worth while after all.

Mr. Cronkright came home with his quota or venison from the north woods but it is the later events which made him mad.

The hunter had placed his venison in cold storage at Warne Fox of this city, who afternoon stopped in to pick up some venison steaks. These he left in his parked car.

You guessed it—when he returned to the car about seven o'clock in the evening the venison was gone.

Bayside H-S Enjoys Fine Yule Program

The regular monthly meeting of the Bayview Home and School Association was held in the school last Tuesday evening. The theme for the month being Christmas, Mr. Reid of the teaching staff had decorated the front of the room with bright red poinsettias.

Mrs. F. Wade, conducting the devotional period, read an excerpt from Peter Marshall's writings on "Keeping Christmas" and followed with a short prayer.

Mrs. Walsh reported on the skate sale which had been held in November and was quite successful despite the rainy weather on that day. She had also attended the Central Council meeting and reported on the theme of the evening which had been program planning.

Mr. Harden spoke to those present and mentioned that rubbers, overshoes and boots with no names on them were becoming quite a problem around the younger grades. He stressed the point that the child's name on the print should be on these items.

Mrs. Reid's room won the room plaque for the coming months.

Mr. Bill Taylor introduced Major Greenwood of the Salvation Army citadel who was the speaker for the evening. Major Greenwood pointed out the place the home, school and church must fill in the life of young people today in order to curb delinquency. The Bible should stand out to young people as the inspired word of God and as a guide to good citizenship. It is necessary for them to accept the Bible as God's word an destablish a regular devotional going habit, he said. They are then well grounded in the things that are important in their lives.

Mrs. Hutchison of the teaching staff, thanked Major Greenwood.

A choir of students from Grades 6, 7 and 8, under the direction of Mr. H. J. Reid, then presented a program of Christmas music. This was thoroughly enjoyed by all present, as the choir performed excellently.

The following is a list of the carols and Christmas songs sung by the choir: "Angels We Have Heard on High," "Carol of the Friendly Beasts," "Infant Holy," "Unto Us a Son is Born," "Mary and Joseph," "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks," "O Come Emmanuel," "O Holy Night," "Hark Now the Tidings," "Christmas," "Merry Christmas Man," "White Christmas," "Christmas Wish," "Go Tell it on the Mountain."

David Bridge concluded the program by reciting "In the Music of a Song."

Mrs. C. Holmes thanked Mr. Reid and the members of the choir for their very enjoyable performance.

The mothers of Mrs. Walkom's room provided the refreshments for the social hour that followed. During this time the children were also provided with a treat.

Attractive Wife, Mother Top Expert for 'Smellies'

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK (AP) — Learn to smell and you have a future, says Selma Weidenfeld of New Brunswick, N.J.

Selma, an attractive young wife and mother, has been working her nose overtime ever since graduation from William and Mary College in Williamsburg, Va., and now is acknowledged a top expert in the new science of aromatics, or, in the language of the novel, "the smellies."

For the last year or so, Selma has been concentrating on creating the right smells for the first "smelly" movie. Behind the Great Wall, a documentary film on China, Audiences will not only see and hear the story, but they also will smell it.

SMELLS IMPORTANT

"This is the greatest advance in movies since Garbo talked," she says.

Everybody remembers some certain smell connected with a person, place or experience in the past —the smell of fresh bread baking by your grandmother's kitchen, the smell of the first lilacs of spring, the smell of fresh rain on the bride's garden, the smell of coffee and bacon in the morning. Smells are an important part of memory and emotion. And if a story is to be realistic, you must not only see and hear it, but you also must smell it.

The new movie, the first of many to come, has a small track in addition to the sound and vision track. Audiences will see, hear and smell the Chinese waterfront scenes, the forests and the temples.

PERFUME EXPERT

Until the advent of smelly movies, Selma was a specialist in perfumes for her company. Her trained nose could identify the ingredients of almost any smell, and her trained brain could figure out how to reproduce it.

In the new movie, some 35 scents accompany the action as the mingled smells of tobacco smoke, perfume and sea breeze mainly in a night club, the smell of a river, the smell of a tiger, the smell of a man's leather boots, the smell of incense, sandalwood, tea and hay.

RETURNS AFTER RIDE

LONDON (AP) — A mental patient stole an ambulance and sped around Kansas City with red lights flashing and siren screeching for about three hours Sunday night. "I felt a great need down deep inside of me for speed," Michael Donald Byrd, 19, told police after he parked the ambulance and walked back to the hospital.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Mrs. B. H. — A remarriage would be a mistake.

Carole H. — They hurtled me into divorce.

* * *

Mrs. B. H. — My husband and I are terribly upset about our 22 year-old daughter, Carole, who was divorced recently after two years of a very unhappy marriage.

Several months after marriage Carole learned that Dick had no desire for a family. He had little initiative and expected her to continue working for the rest of their married life. She was heart broken and we thought the best thing was a quick break so she could start life again.

Since her divorce, Carole has been seeing Dick regularly and now talks of a remarriage. She says that she and Dick can "work out" their problems, but we don't think he has changed any more than a leopard can change his spots.

* * *

Carole H. — My parents hustled me into a divorce before I had a chance to realize what I was doing. Now I see that I really love Dick and miss him terribly. When I go out with others I realize how much the two of us have in common.

Dick was only 21 when we married and I see now that the idea of having a family seemed like too much for him. I guess we both had a lot of maturing to do. I should have been more understanding and hoped for the best.

My parents never liked Dick because they thought he was lazy. He gave them that impression because he didn't like the way they were always pressuring him to get ahead. He has ambition, but he believes money isn't everything and I agree with him.

* * *

The Council: This appears to be a case of premature marriage, premature divorce and now premature consideration of the idea of remarriage.

Carole has made some sights! If she now recognizes that neither she nor Dick was ready for marriage, but this recognition alone does not make her ready for a new marriage, which is what remarriage to Dick would be.

The B. H.'s made a mistake by rushing into this situation. Undoubtedly they believed they were acting for the best in attempting to rescue their daughter from her unhappiness, but Carole is too old to be saved by parents. They would have done far better if they had properly stood by and encouraged her to arrive at some decision by herself. Continuation of the marriage may have seemed like a waste of some of Carole's best years, yet time would have been saved in the long run if Carole had accepted the full responsibility for her decision and its consequences.

Now that the drastic break has been made, however, we think Carole should try to recognize that none of her problems will have been solved. If she is counting on patience and understanding in order to bring Dick around to her point of view about having a family, she is taking too much for granted.

We think Carole is running back to Dick's arms out of the same childish fear that drove her back to her parent's arms when all didn't go as planned in her marriage. She needs to gain independence and she can only do that by succeeding at something through her own efforts. She should try to learn to like and understand others and put the marriage idea on the shelf temporarily.

Bayside H-S Holds Euchre

A euchre and crokinole night was sponsored by the Bayside Home and School Association on Nov. 2 in the Bayside school.

The lunch conveners were Mrs. Measer, Mrs. Ackerman, Mrs. Genereaux, Mrs. Caves, Miss Phyllis Caves and Miss Patsy Genereaux.

All who attended had a very enjoyable evening and were reminded of the next regular meeting in the school on Thursday, Dec. 10, at 8.00 p.m. when the barbershoppers from Belleville, led by Mr. Alfie Evans, will provide some spirited Christmas entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard George Rowbotham are shown cutting the wedding cake following their recent marriage in St. Thomas' Anglican Church, Belleville. ROWBOTHAM—CLARK

Tall standards of white chrysanthemums and pink snapdragons adorned the sanctuary of St. Thomas' Anglican Church, Belleville, on Saturday, November 21st, at 2.00 p.m., for a lovely late autumn wedding when Marion Jean Clark, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Clark, of Belleville, became the bride of Richard George Rowbotham, of Belleville, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond G. Rowbotham, in a double-ring ceremony. The officiating minister was the Rev. Canon A. S. McConnell, rector of the church. White satin bows designated the guest pews.

Mr. D. Davenport church organist, rendered the traditional wedding music.

The bride, radiantly lovely in her floor-length, white, bridal gown of satin fashioned with fitted bodice having long sleeves extending to lily points over the wrists and large V-shaped cape appliqued with lace and clusters of seed pearls. She wore a finger-tip veil of tulle illusion caught by a matching half halo inset with seed pearls and sequins, and carried a cascade bouquet of white mums mingled with pink roses and mum-knotted white satin streamers. A white necklace of pearls and matching earrings completed her ensemble.

Miss Margaret Ann Clark, of Belleville, sister of the bride, was maid of honour, attired in green de-lustered satin featuring a wide silver-green cummerbund with self rose at the waist. Her headdress was a bandeau of white satin leaves. White shoes completed the nuptial costume.

The bridesmaids Miss Carol McLean, of Toronto and Miss Barbara Mathews of Belleville, cousin of the bride, were gowned alke in silver-green satin with darkr green cummerbunds and self rose at the waists. Their headbands were of white satin leaves. All the attendants carried crescent bouquets of white mums and wore pearl necklaces, the gifts of the bride.

Little seven-year-old Miss Mary Rowbotham, sister of the bridegroom, was flower girl, sweet in her white nylon frock with pink velvet flowers, bandeau of white satin leaves and white shoes. She carried a silver basket of pink and white roses.

Mr. Glenn Stewart, of Belleville, attended the bridegroom, while Mr. Dennis Rowbotham, brother of the bridegroom, ushered the guests.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at St. Thomas' parish house, where the bride's table was appointed with white damask, centred by a three-tier wedding cake topped by a large heart bearing the names of the bride and bridegroom, and misted about the base with white tulle. Tall white candles in silver candelabra and the bridal bouquets completed the table setting.

Receiving the guests were the bride's mother, wearing a silver-blue Chantilly lace sheath with matching jacket, white floral accessories, and corsage of deep-pink roses. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, gowned in moss green in sheath style, with brown accessories and corsage of yellow roses.

For the wedding trip by motor to Niagara Falls, and Buffalo, the bride wore a dark turquoise suit with grey mink collar, black accessories, mustard jacket and corsage of pink roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Rowbotham are residing in Belleville, Ontario.

Guests attended from Belleville, Trenton, Napanee, Toronto, Peterborough, Leaside, Kingston and New York.

The bride, previous to her marriage, was entertained at two miscellaneous showers; one at the home of Miss Elizabeth McGonigle, with Miss Carol McLean as hostess; one at the home of Miss Nancy Osborne, with the associates of the London Life Insurance Company.

MODERN MANNERS

Carolyn Wagner Shaw

Question: When I am dining in a restaurant and my napkin slips off my lap, do I lean over and pick it up, or should the man with whom I am dining do so? — Miss W.D.D.

Answer: Rather than fish around under the table, it is better to signal a waiter. He will supply you with a new napkin. Asking your escort to pick it up means he would have to rise from his chair and come around to your side of the table. Awkward, to say the least!

Simply Sumptuous

BY VERA WINSTON

A coat dress that is as right for the more mature woman as for the younger element, is shown today. Among its many good points is an easy, flared skirt that is a joy as far as the wrinkle problem is concerned. Silk brocade is the fabric, making the dress important enough for dinner and theatre, despite its casual air. Simple styling of sumptuous fabrics is one of the nicer trends just now.

Indians, Reds Share Lead In American

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Springfield Indians and Providence Reds share first place in the American Hockey League race because both missed chances to break the deadlock.

Springfield bowed to Buffalo Bisons 3-2 Sunday night while Providence met 7-4 to Rochester Americans in an afternoon game.

Hershey Bears mobered to fifth place with an 8-4 romp over last-place Quebec Aces.

Providence moved into the first - place stalemate Saturday night with a 6-3 victory over Quebec while Springfield played a 1-1 overtime tie with Cleveland Barons.

Eddie Kachur's two third - period goals triggered Buffalo's victory. Phil Maloney, sent down from Chicago Black Hawks of the National League, Billy Dea and Stanley Jaggubenzie scored the singles. Bill Sweeney, Parker MacDonald and Brian Cullen scored for Springfield.

PARADE OF PENALTIES

A brawl in the first period resulted in a match penalty three five-minute majors two minors and fines for 16 players. Buffalo's Bob Bailey started the outburst by shoving Springfield's Ted Harris after Harris high-sticked Bailey. Nearly every player got into the battle.

Six Buffalo players and 10 Springfield players were each fined $25 for leaving the bench.

Bailey and Harris twice resumed fighting. Buffalo's Ivan Irwin and Springfield's Don Cherry also traded punches. Cherry and Harris each suffered a cut on the face.

Bailey received a minor and a match penalty, which carries a $100 fine.

A few minutes earlier Pete Conaeboy of the Bisons and Bob McCord, of Springfield tangled and were given majors.

MIGAY LEADS AMERICANS

Rudy Migay got two goals for Rochester, singles going to Stan Smrke, Bob Nevin, Hank Ciesla, Pat Hannigan and Cec Henderson. Ray Ross, Ed Panagabko, Floyd Hillman and Nick Mickoski scored for Providence.

At Quebec, Willie Marshall led the Bears with three goals. Bob Bassett, Danny Poilziani and Earl Heiland accounted for the others. Chuck Blair was a two-goal man for Quebec, with Jean - Marie Cassette accounting for the other.

MacDonald picked up Springfield's only goal at Cleveland and Don Hogan scored for the Barons.

Wolves, Royals Whip Kingston, Three Rivers

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It was a day of one - period splurges in the Eastern Professional Hockey League.

Sudbury Wolves, the league leaders, came from behind with four goals in the final 19 minutes at Trois-Rivieres Sunday to defeat the Lions 5-4.

In Montreal, the Royals had to come up with four goals in the third period to edge Kingston Frontenacs by the same score 5-4, and thus tie the Lions for third place in the standings.

But the greatest of all the splurges was in Hull. The second-place Hull - Ottawa Canadiens with Bob Courcy setting the pace, fired six unanswered goals at the first South Sic. Maris Thunder birds in the opening period and went on to a lopsided 10-2 victory.

Gene Fullmer Gets Many Offers, Feelers

WEST JORDAN, Utah (AP)—NBA middleweight champion Gene Fullmer went back to his ranch farming today while his manager began plotting what he hopes will be some big money moneuvres.

Among the possibilities was a proposal for a world exhibition tour with former champion Carmen Basilio of Syracuse, N.Y.

Manager Marv Jenson said he also had received feelers for several title bouts.

One was a nibble offering Fullmer almost $200,000 to meet middle-aging Sugar Ray Robinson, who has two-thirdsrds of the middleweight title (New York and Massachusetts), for a rubber match sheepishly.

Another approach from Ros Waller of Los Angeles gave no guarantee, but indicated Fullmer could expect up to $300,000 for an attempt to wrest the lightheavy title from ex - champ Archie Moore.

A third offer from Jim Riggins offered Fullmer $100,000 to fight Joey Giardello.

The offers and feelers poured in after Fullmer disposed of the No. 1 challenger for the NBA title, Ellsworth (Spider) Webb of Chicago, in a 15-round unanimous decision Friday night at Layton, Utah.

The Fullmer camp considered the world tour and the Robinson feeler the most intriguing.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Ty Cobb, 72, one of baseball's all-time greats, was reported in good condition and resting comfortably in hospital today. He was admitted Sunday night for what his doctor described as a routine checkup.

Canucks Shade Warriors 3-2

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Fire and fury for Western Hockey League honors is breaking out beneath the frenzied flag Vancouver Canucks.

The league-leading Canucks recorded their second win in four starts of their eight-game road trip Sunday when they bested Winnipeg Warriors a 3-2 defeat and moved nine points ahead of their nearest rivals.

Below Canucks the battle starts.

Seattle Totems, who have been fighting it out with Victoria Cougars for second spot for the last four weeks, slumped Cougars to third spot in Sunday's other game when they defeated the Victoria victors 4-0 before 3,274 fans. Totems now have 31 points, Cougars 29.

In Edmonton action the duel for fourth place between Calgary Stampeders and Edmonton Eskimos continued with Calgary winning 6-1 before 3,009 fans to hold Edmonton to a fourth-place tie at 24 points apiece. Spokane Comets defeated Victoria 3-2 to come into sixth place, two points ahead of the cellar-dwelling Warriors, who have 17.

LENGTHY FINAL

MELBOURNE (AP) — Neale Fraser required four hours to defeat Roy Emerson Saturday 6-4, 2-6, 7-5, 6-4 in an all-Australian final for the men's singles championship in the Victorian tennis tournament. Maria Bueno of Brazil, Wimbledon women's champion, defeated England's Christine Truman in the women's finals, 6-0, 5-7, 6-4.

On The Tracks

NEW YORK (CP) — Tile Son won the An Revoir Purse on the closing day of the Narragansett Park race meeting at Pawtucket, R.I. Saturday and gave Canadian owner - trainer Frank Merrill Jr., his third winner of the day, 11th for the meeting and 128th for the season.

The four-year-old gelding was coupled with W. D. Latimer's Gang Under, also trained by Merrill, as London, Ont., horseman, in the six-furlong $3,000 allowance race. The winning entry paid $8.80, 3.6 and $3.60.

Tile Son led the favorite, Total Oscar, to the wire in 1:13 and won by a head. Criss M. was third.

An Argentine invader, Pelaro, closed strongly on the outside to lead St. Amour II and Little Hornet in the $12,000 added City of Miami Handicap at Tropical park. Pelaro paid $18.70 and won in the track record time of 1:39 4-5 for a mile and a sixteenth. The old mark was 1:40 3-5.

ALSO WON LAST YEAR

At Pimlico, Cross Channel (66) completed 1¼ miles in 2:3 2-5 to win the $10,000 Pimlico Cup from Ashlar and Riverrun. Cross Channel also won the feature last year.

Beaugerrey caught the pace setters and left the favorites in his wake at the Fair Grounds in taking the $6,000 Baton Rouge Purse. He was an easy $66 winner at 2 of 3 to 1 over Pete's Folly and Redbird With.

Demobilize, raced by Ike Kerr Stable, went to the front on the rail Saturday and scored a wire - to - wire victory in the $22,600 Silver Anniversary Handicap at Bay Meadows. Cold Bay was second and Funformoore third.

Record Betting

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A record $781,815,375 was bet on United States harness racing this year. The handle, announced by the U.S. Trotting Association, was more than $80,000,000 above the 1958 mark.

Rowing Trials Will Be Two-Part Affair

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Canada's 1968 Olympic rowing trials will be a two-part affair, it was announced Saturday at the annual meeting of the Canadian Association of Amateur Oarsmen.

Eight-oared entries will row off at Vancouver at a date to be set by officials there. An eastern portion of the trials will be held July 5 on the Royal Canadian Henley course near here.

"It's very possible that only the University of British Columbia will have an eight ready for the 1969 Olympic Games," F. F. (Ted) Nelson of St. Catharines, president of the association said.

Nelson told delegates a pool of western Canada clubs reportedly were interested only in fours and sculling events at the trials.

Stating UBC come all the way down here for a row-over would be rather silly. If anybody from Eastern Canada has an eight they think is good enough to go to Italy, they can arrange to row in Vancouver."

MUST PROVE CAPABLE

But UBC's eight will have to show its stuff to the selection committee before it qualifies, even for competition from the rest of Canada.

The eights showing in races against U.S. colleges next spring will also be a determining factor in its selection.

The CAAO, because of past success in International rowing, has been given the right by the Canadian Olympic Association to select crews for the 1969 games.

Frank Read last week indicated he would return as UBC's head coach to prepare university crews for the 1969 games. Read's crews won the 1964 British Empire Games eights and the 1966 pire Games eights and the 1966 Olympic fours.

The Eastern Rowing Association championships have been trials set for July 6 at the 1968 Royal Canadian Henley regatta will be rowed July 27, 28, 29 and at Stoichville.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

We do not know the whole truth about "what is wrong with the Macs," although several armchair experts have advanced a number of theories, but we do know that the screwy schedule, they are playing shouldn't happen to a hockey pooch.

After all, the MacFarlanes are human beings. Playing five games in six nights, two of them within 24 hours, topped with nearly 1,000 miles bus travel, and what do you expect? A set of these television soap heroes, after using "Fast," the tasteless soap?

The crux of the matter is, what causes the club to be last and cold.

Last week they defeated Whitby Dunlops in Whitby by a 5-4 score and dropped an 8-5 decision to the same club at home the following evening. Friday night last Chatham Maroons bested them 4-1.

But Saturday night they played like the champions they were a year ago and helped by the fine netminding of Connie Maniago, whooped Canada's Olympics representatives to the tune of 5-2.

Leg-weary Sunday afternoon they failed to hold the snarling Bulldogs from Windsor and went down to a 4-0 defeat at the hands of Lammy Lamirande's crew.

Somebody was asleep at the switch when the present roster schedule was drafted. Western Ontario teams said things pretty well their own way, with the downstart MacFarlanes going for three-day hikes, and five-games-in-six-days set-ups.

None of the three Western Ontario teams make double-deadly visits, and their games are "spotted" with a full day's rest between clashes. Chatham, Windsor and Kitchener do not make overnight stays when playing the eastern clubs from Belleville and Whitby. The games are accordingly fresher.

In fairness to the Macs, injuries have not helped their cause any. Lack of early bench strength is another item. When Gordie Bell was hurt, the "Turk" was rushed into the breach from Barrie Juniors. He was no regular — but did the best he could. None will admit the fact more readily than the "Turk" that he is not of senior calibre. He's only a kid who's had the chance to prove it, nor is yet into the necessary shape.

"Wiener" Brown was sidelined early in the season and missed a few games, throwing Hildebrand's lines out of kilter. Of late Floyd Crawford, one of the club's solid defencemen, has been out of action with an injured knee, and from the looks of the member last Friday night, Crawford won't see action for some time.

From time to time certain players, as was the case last weekend, have been suffering from the three-day trek 'round the horn' due to employment and other reasons.

Coach Maniago has been doing a magnificent job filling the shoes of Gordie Bell. But his tenure with the Macs is short-lived. The clever goalie has been named stand-in goalie for his owners, the Olympics-bound Kitchener Dutchmen, and will be departing these scenes some time next January, if not before.

In fact it could happen sooner, after the Dutchies' home goalie is "fixed" Hickey, and if by any chance "Bunt" is injured, the call will go in for Maniago immediately. The Dutchmen are trying to build up a sufficient lead to do carry them over the last of the playing schedule while they are at Squaw Valley.

"Time is a-wasting" and the present situation leaves one thing certain. The MacFarlands will have to pull up their socks in a hurry, or bid adieu to playoffs, if they want to get into the league playoffs.

Bruins Beaten by Chicago As Rangers Shut Out Leafs; Habs Winless in Four Games

By ALEXANDER FARRELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

New York Rangers and Chicago Black Hawks, still far out of the playoff orbit, chose the same night to blast off.

Keeping pace with each other in the National Hockey League cellar, they posted spectacular victories Sunday night. Rangers blanked Toronto 6-0 as Marcel Paille scored his first shutout of the campaign and Chicago defeated Boston 6-3.

The two tail-end clubs profited from outstanding individual performances as they moved to within seven points of fourth-place Boston.

At New York Paille shared top billing with Jim Bartlett, who recorded his first three - goal performance in the NHL. Also Bob Kabel, a rookie called up last week from Vancouver of the Western League, Kabel scored his first two goals in the big time.

Bobby Hull, also with three goals, led the Hawks in Boston. He scored once in each period as Hawks chalked up their most decisive victory of the season.

HELD TO DRAW

Montreal Canadiens played to a 4-4 tie in Detroit. The league leaders have now gone four games without winning after a run of 18 games without losing.

Rangers went to work quickly on the Leafs, Kabel getting his first goal 22 seconds after the start of the game. Then, second goal sandwiched a counter by captain Red Sullivan to give Rangers a 2-0 lead at the end of the first period.

Leafs' efforl to get back in the game were futile as Paille, supported by a sturdy defence, turned aside every shot. Bartlett salted the game away with three unanswered goals, one in the second and two in the third.

Boston Bruins were without Bronco Horvath, the league's leading scorer, as they fell before the Chicago onslaught. Bruins have won only once in their last 13 games.

HAS HOCKEY YOU

Horvath suffered a broken toe Saturday but expects to return to action Thursday against Toronto.

Chicago took the lead early in the first period, when Hull's pass from the corner was deflected into the Boston net by Leo Boivin's stick, and never relinquished it.

Eric Nesterenko, who also played a big part in the Hawks' victory, combined with Hull to set up rookie Bill Hay for the next goal.

Don McKenney scored for Bruins before the period ended but Hull scored again early in the second and Hawks maintained the pressure throughout the middle period.

Hull, Ab Wharram and veteran Ted Lindsay scored for Chicago in the third and Doug Mohns and Guy Gendron for the losers.

Detroit earned its tie with Canadiens when defenceman Marcel Pronovost's 30-foot shot bounced off Doug Harvey's stick with less than four minutes to play. Other Detroit marksmen were rookie Murray Oliver, with two, and Ted Kelly.

THREE QUICK ONES

Jean Beliveau got his 14th goal for Montreal in the first period and in the second Ralph Backstrom, Andre Pronovost and Claude Provost all scored in a span of two minutes and 32 seconds.

Canadiens were held to a 3-2 tie by their bonus ice Saturday night by Chicago but finished weekend action still a solid first, eight points ahead of Toronto. Leafs, last with 12 points, Detroit leads Boston by two points.

In other Saturday games Detroit edged Boston 6-5 at home while Leafs received a late goal to crowd to a 6-3 win over New York.

At Montreal, Nesterenko and Rod Sloan scored for Hawks, Harry and Beliveau for the Habs.

Detroit's victory, aided by the return of goalie Glenn Hall, snapped a three - game losing streak. It was a costly loss for Bruins as Horvath left in the second period with the toe injury.

Detroit's goal - getters were Gary Aldcorn Gordie Howe, Val Fonteyne and Jack McIntyre. McKenney, Dick Meissner and Fleming Mackell tallied for Boston.

Frank Mahovlich, an early-season disappointment, came up with two goals and two assists to spark the Leafs, Down 2-1 at the end of the second, Leafs burst out with five goals in the third.

RETAINS TITLE

BELFAST (AP) — Belfast's Freddie Gilroy retained the British Empire bantamweight title here Saturday night by knocking out Bernie Taylor of South Africa in the fifth round. The stocky Gilroy, 114¾, weathered the 18 professional fights, cutlassed the tall, rangy Taylor, 117½, over power.

Unbeaten, United Syracuse Whips UCLA 36-8

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mighty Syracuse belted the University of California at Los Angeles by a 36-8 victory Saturday and, for the first time in 17 years of intercollegiate football, finished the season unbeaten and untied in 10 games.

A shirt-sleeved crowd of 48,426 sat in Memorial Coliseum for the televised contest which put Syracuse close to clinching the collegiate championship.

Syracuse got off to a quick lead after intercepting a pass. It took nine plays to travel 43 yards but a nifty pass for six yards from quarterback Dave Sarette to Gerhard Schwedes put UCLA on the road to its fourth defeat of the year.

Louisiana St. 20 Southern Connecticut 20 (Eastern NAIA playoffs)

Minoso Key Figure in Swap Between Indians, White Sox

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Baseball folk spoke optimistically of even more trades following the completion of two major deals Sunday. There was one in each league, involving 11 players with such big names as Minnie Minoso and Frank Thomas.

Minoso was the key figure in a swap between Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox that sent pitchers Don Ferrarese, 30-year-old lefthander, and Bob Striker, 29, and catcher Dick Brown, 25, along with the 37-year-old slugging outfielder, to the White Sox in exchange for pitchers Billy Pierce, 32, and Dick Phillips, 29, catcher John Romano, 25, and first baseman Norm Cash, 22.

Thomas, 30, acquired by Cincinnati Reds from Philadelphia Pirates in the biggest trade of 1959, was sent by the Reds to Chicago Cubs for three players — southpaw pitcher Bill Henry, 32, and outfielders Lee Walls and Lou Jackson, 34.

OFFICIAL ENTHUSIASM

The trades were greeted with enthusiasm by officials of other clubs.

"It looks like the big jam has been broken," said General Manager Bing Devine of the St. Louis Cardinals. "Now that certain players have been eliminated in the trades we can concentrate on other players. Too many trade possibilities sometimes can be confusing and as a result you don't make any."

The deal between the White Sox and Indians, who finished one-two in the American League, was expected to spur New York Yankees into action, the Yankees have been reported dickering for a left-handed pitcher and a left-handed hitting outfielder, using Infielder Gil McDougald as bait.

The Cardinals, also seeking pitching and hitting help, have spot their fine second baseman, Don Blasingame, on the trading block. Milwaukee Braves and San Francisco Giants have shown interest in the fleet-footed Redbird leadoff man.

Cincinnati's decision to trade Thomas followed a dismal 1959 season. Thomas, a 35-homer-hitter in Pittsburgh in 1958, managed only 12 four-baggers and drove in only 47 runs for the Reds. His poor showing also blamed on a thumb operation which failed to respond.

The Cleveland - Chicago deal marked the second time the Indians traded Minoso to the White Sox. He originally went to Chicago in 1951 and was returned to Cleveland in 1957. He has hit over .300 in seven of his nine seasons. He had 21 homers last year.

Thinks Canada May Win Four Olympic Medals

KITCHENER (CP) — Canada could have its greatest winter Olympic triumph in the 1960 regime at Squaw Valley, Calif., in the opinion of the general manager of the Dominion's Olympic team.

Frank J. Shaughnessy Jr. of Montreal, who heads the Canadian contingent, told a civic sports dinner here Saturday night that Canada may win as many as four gold medals.

The Kent Club said it ever done before is two gold medals in the 1948 Olympics at St. Moritz when figure skater Barbara Ann Scott and the RCAF hockey team both finished on top.

"I really think this is our year," said Shaughnessy, but not skaters he said:

"Barbara Lagner and Bob Paul of Toronto have been world pairs champions for three years. They have been working hard and are said to be skating better than ever. We also have a team capable pair in Otto and Maria Jelinek of Oakville, Ont., who are capable of winning a medal. In the men's events Don Jackson of Oshawa, one of the most colorful skaters to appear in recent years, can very easily be our most pleasant surprise. He was second in the world meet last year."

Shaughnessy said skier Anne Heggtveit of Ottawa, who won a world title on the continent last winter, is among the world's top three and "with a little luck could win one or two gold medals."

In hockey he saw Russia, Czechoslovakia, Sweden and the United States as strong rivals for Canada.

"But I have a feeling my favorite goalie, Bill Durnan, will lead the Dutchmen to victory this time," he said.

Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series are Canada's representatives in the winter games.

Laval Defeats Golden Gaels

QUEBEC (CP)—Laval University won its first Senior Intercollegiate Hockey League game of the season here Saturday with an 8-6 victory over Queen's Golden Gaels.

The defeat was also Queen's first of the season after defeating McGill Redmen 6-4 in Montreal Friday night. Laval had lost the season opener to Toronto Varsity last week in Toronto.

Raymond Asselin pared Laval ranks with goals. Michel Leger, Robert Landry, Romain Chretien, Jean-Guy Talbot, Andre Lamothe and Andre Young got one apiece.

Shorthanded McFarlands Split Weekend Verdicts

Hand Dutchies 5-2 Defeat Then Bow to Bulldogs 4-0 After Five Games in 6 Days

By JARRY ALEXANDER

Belleville McFarlands carted home one victory from their three-day swing through Western Ontario, a sparkling 5-2 victory over the Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen on Saturday night, but dropped their 18th decision of the year in Windsor Sunday afternoon, by a 4-0 score.

Playing both weekend encounters with 13 men, the club showed definite signs of better things to come. They were at full value for the Saturday night win and did not look as bad as the score might indicate on Sunday when weariness and lack of numbers took its toll.

Sunday's game, before 2,907 fans, was the club's fifth in six days and they go right back at it here Tuesday night when the Chatham Maroons will be the visitors.

Despite their third shutout of the year on Sunday, most of the club's front-line forces are beginning to find the scoring range while the defence was greatly improved in the last two games. Cesare Maniago is continuing his fine job in the nets while Gordie Bell has not yet regained his top form after his eye injury and a month away from the game.

WINDSOR — The Bulldogs collected shot Hildebrand's crew of 43 shots while scoring single goals in the first and third heats and a pair in the middle twenty minutes in a rough, penalty-riddled affair for the 4-0 win Sunday Fights and near-fights were the main item on the menu, 15 penalties assessed over the route with Windsor getting the odd one. Both Don Head and Cesare Maniago appeared ready to mix it with anyone who ventured near their nets.

Irwin Gross potted half the Windsor goals while Murray Costello and Rene Trudel added singletons. Johnny Uzendale carried two assists, Moffat, Dietrich and Brown one apiece.

Gross gave Windsor a 1-0 lead at 1.17 of a quiet first period after Moffat flag the puck out of a scramble near the Belleville cage. The Macs caused no damage while Pawlyszyn was serving an elbowing penalty at 4.24. Marineau got the gate for tripping at 15.49 and while he was away Maniago pulled off three sparkling saves including a couple of rapid-fire efforts on Pepin parked right on his doorstep. Windsor outshot the Macs 13-8.

Play roughened considerably in the second with Gagnon and goalie Don Head slugging it out at 1.45. Head drew a slashing minor and a fighting major with Gagnon just getting the five-min ute sentence. Hildebrand was back from an elbowing penalty and Benoit was away for tripping when Windsor took a 2-0 lead. Uzendale passed to Murray Costello and skated in front of Maniago to screen Costello's blazing shot at 9.25.

The Bulldogs, outshooting the Macs 16-8 on the period, gave Maniago plenty of work. Rene Pepin put Windsor three ahead at 11.13, cashing in Johnny Uzendale's rebound with the sides even. The Macs survived an interference penalty to Benoit at 16.30 as both sides continued to play it rough.

Haidy and Benoit went off together for high sticking at 5.29 of the third and seconds later Servis followed for hooking Steve to the ice on a near break away. Costello left Windsor two men short for seven seconds when he got the thumb for tripping at the five minute mark.

Maniago and Head exchanged tough saves on Gross and Benoit around the ninth minute of play, then Benoit made another trip to the sin bin for hooking at 7.33. Maniago slashed Pawlyszyn at 9.30 and the Windsor player tangled with Chaszewski in a ding-dong battle behind the Mac net, both drawing majors for their efforts.

The teams were even at full strength when Gross stole the puck and used Bob Brown for a decoy to close the scoring at 18.45.

The McFarlands managed only two shots on goal over this final

Giants Swamp Browns in Near-Riot Game

NEW YORK (AP)—An unruly mob almost cost New York Giants their 48-7 National Football League victory over Cleveland Browns at Yankee Stadium.

Several thousand of the 68,436 spectators Sunday rushed on the field in the final two minutes of play, tore down one set of goal posts, then stood down the field to get the other. En route, they assaulted players and coaches, causing the Browns to flee to the safety of their dressing room.

Referee Harry Brabaker ordered the Giants to clear the field and restore order or he would forfeit the game. This took almost 20 minutes, during which time both sides became scattered.

"This is the first time we've ever been chased off a field," said Cleveland coach Paul Brown. "But some of those people were drunk and were taking punches at us. Some even tried to rip off our coats and jerseys."

However, Brown said he had no thoughts of asking for a forfeit "even if the last two minutes weren't played. We were licked."

The Giants, who clinched the Eastern conference title, became so scattered in the confusion that some wound up in the dressing room thinking the game was over. A hurried call from the bench sent them back to the field.

The Giants, cutting loose with an awesome display of aerial power triggered by Charlie Conerly, throttled all but one Cleveland scoring threat for their ninth victory in 11 games.

They held a two-game margin over Philadelphia Eagles.

PAKISTAN LEADS

KARACHI, Pakistan (Reuters)—Pakistan, determined to prevent Australia from making a clean sweep of a three - match cricket test series, took a 30-run first-innings lead on the third day of the final test here. Australia struggled to 257 in reply to the home team's 287.

Juniors Merge With Chilhawks

The Belleville Lumberjacks Junior "B" team will merge with the ranks of the Chilhawks Senior Hockey team here in.

Manager Mel Richards announced today that his club has entered a working agreement with the National Hockey League team.

Chilhawk chief scout Bob Wilson was in the city Saturday and concluded the arrangements with Richards.

As a farm team of the parent outfit, players can be sent here when needed.

The arrangement, with the Hawks here, is under discussion for some time, but all working terms have now been finalized, Richards said.

JOHANNESBURG (AP)—Mike Holt, South African light-heavyweight boxing champion, won a 10-round decision over Calistide's Kid Rodriguez Saturday night. Holt weighed 173¾ and Rodriguez 170¾. A crowd of 8,000 watched the bout.

Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Should intercollegiate athletics be subsidized by the provincial broadcasting Corporation through television?

"Yes," says Dean A.W. Mathews, president of the Men's Athletic Committee which recommends and directs athletic policies at the University of British Columbia.

"The CBC is subsidizing grand and music and other forms of the arts through television," Dean Matthews says.

"Why shouldn't the CBC also subsidize university and other amateur athletics? They are all a part of our culture."

DEAN'S VIEWPOINT

Dean Matthews, expressed his view in an interview. The CBC he argues, is subsidizing the arts in picking up part of the cost of various sponsored musical and dramatic productions and in the whole cost of unsponsored programs concerned with Canadian culture.

In this same manner, CBC television could undertake to televise athletics.

Payment by CBC television for broadcasting rights to intercollegiate football, basketball and hockey games on a time segment for sports among Western Canada universities — would boost athletic budgets.

And televising of these sports would arouse public interest, Dean Matthews said.

"Possibly, once these programs were established, sponsors could be found to pick up the cost," he said.

UBC now has an athletics' budget of roughly $67,000 a year, made up from a special extracurricular - activities assessment on each of the more than 10,000 students and from gate receipts from basketball and football.

GATES NOT LARGE

The latter are not large, with the intercollegiate football activity drawing little more than 2,-000 a game and basketball attendance at fewer than 1,000 a game.

UBC returned this year to the Western Canada Intercollegiate Athletic Union and Dean Mathews and others in the athletics department are hoping that interschool rivalry with the Prairie universities will perk up spectator interest.

It was this western intercollegiate competition which Dean Mathews would like to see televising.

If it came, bringing additional funds, where would they be used?

At UBC, the first expansion is on intra-mural athletics — nearly 2,000 of the student body take part in one or more of the 24 different sports offered — any increase in the athletic budget would go first into minor sports, Dean Matthews said.

"We are trying to keep the minor sports program and facilities, we feel, just about proper ratio to major sport (football, basketball) areas," he said.

Majors Whip Petes Twice, Nudge Marlies

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

St. Michael's College Majors of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A made a determined bid for first place during the week-end as they whipped Peterboro Memorial Petes 7-2 Saturday and 4-3 Sunday.

Dave Keon led the way as the Majors closed in on the league leading Toronto Marlboros. The win left the first game at Peterborough Saturday moved St. Michael's into a second - place tie with Barrie Flyers. The second victory at Toronto gave them sole possession of the berth.

With a single point between the Toronto clubs, St. Michael's have a chance to take over first place when they meet Marlboros at Toronto Tuesday.

St. Michael's were ahead 2-1 in Saturday's period and 3-2 at the end of the second in Saturday's play. Keon led the scoring with three goals, one in each period. Two were unassisted.

Les Kozak, Bob Rebellato, Jack Cole and Larry Keenan were the other Majors' marksmen.

SCORED ONE EACH

St. Michael's drew eight of the 11 minor penalties handed out.

Keon also paced Majors Sunday as he and linemates Les Kozak and Jack Cole provided all the scoring power.

Cole counted in the first period before Wayne Connelly tied it up for Peterborough. Kozak fired the winner midway through the second. Keon, set up twice by Kozak, fired two breakaway goals to round out the game's scoring.

In an exhibition Laurier Cup game played after the Majors-Petes contest, Brockville Junior Canadiens downed Toronto Marlboros 6-3.

The Laurier Cup competition was originated several years ago between Junior A clubs using the now defunct Quebec Junior league as a partial interlocking schedule.

For the last four years Canadiens have shifted from Montreal to Hull - Ottawa and this year moved to Brockville, playing the eastern competition to OHA clubs.

A firm at Luton, England, claims to have made the world's smallest television set, with a screen measuring 3 x 1¼ inches.

Will Recommend Tennis Open To All Ranks

PARIS (AP) — The International Lawn Tennis Federation announced Sunday it will recommend that the eight official championships recognized by the organization should in 1961 be open to all players—amateur, subsidized and professional.

The recommendation will be made to the general assembly of the international federation when it meets in Paris next July 6.

The federation has been making a study of reports received from 20 national federations about the rules governing amateur and professional status.

It was decided that amateur players should continue to receive out-of-pocket expenses and not play in more than eight tournaments out of their own country each year.

A new category of "authorized professionals" was allowed to receive more important financial advantages but they would have to put themselves at the disposal of their national federation and play when asked.

Only amateurs would be allowed to seek "authorized" status.

Sanders Wins Coral Golf

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP)—Doug Sanders shot a six-under par 66 in the final round to win the $25,000 Coral Gables Open golf tournament Sunday with a 72-hole score of 272, a course record.

Sanders had a three - stroke margin over his nearest competitor, Dow Finsterwald, who shot a 69 for his fourth straight round. Score and a total of 278.

Three strokes back of Finsterwald were Jules Boros, Arnold Palmer and Johnny Pott.

Viewers Had Long Wait To Hear Any Cohan Songs

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Older people who tuned into NBC Sunday night anticipating an hour of nostalgia and old George M. Cohan songs had a long wait. Although the Durante-Moore special was called Give My Regards to Broadway, and was heralded as one of those salute musicals it was exactly 50 minutes before little Eddie Hodges looked up at Ray Bolger and asked, "who is George M. Cohan?"

Then, for a few minutes, we had Harrigan, Mary and a couple of 23 skidoo but Cohan was wound up what was otherwise a typical Durante-Moore hour. It was neither better nor worse than Jimmy Durante show which have come before it or, alas, which will follow it.

This is just dandy for people who find Durante is irresistible and who think his pronunciamentos of words is the living end of humor. For the few who can take it or leave it, it was a just another musical mishmash, during which one wished the talented guest stars could have had more of an opportunity to do their stuff. Bolger danced one number, Jane Powell and Jimmie Rodgers each sang one song and Eddie Hodges looked around hard to find something to do.

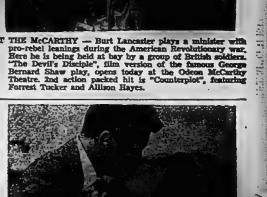
Of course it was Durante's show all the way and Jimmy was on, slugging, from start to finish. In spite of it, however, it was a pretty unspecial special.

Postibly one of the most stimulating shows of the whole season turned up at 11:30 a.m. Sunday on CBS with bits from a dozen broadway shows were presented as a Salute to the American Theatre.

This was a purposeful salute by the anti-defamation league to call attention to the theatre's traditional part in fighting for individual freedom and human rights through the years.

One of the first was a scene from an 1833 drama—Octaroon. The scene opens with the hero proposing marriage to the lady of his heart.

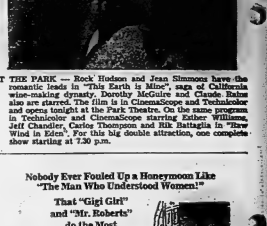
"Alas," confided the tortured heroine to the audience, "he does not know of the blood that feeds my heart, one drop in eight is black!"



Melodrama that it was, it was not ludicrous. And for the next hour, the salute touched here and there pointing up what the theatre had been saying about intolerance, anti-semitism, communism, fascism, and all the rest. There was a moment from Waiting for Lefty, highlighting the social protest of the theatre during the depression days, a scene from thurber's The Male Animal, a bit from Call Me Mister, a song from South Pacific, and an excerpt from Raisin in the Sun.

There were many star performers, and Friendly Time provided an informative commentary as tantalizing bits pointed out bigotry or preached humanity in drama and song. It was a fine hour, worthy of prime evening time.

On Friday night CBS presented a lusty version of Oliver Twist, which was as faithful to Dickens' intent. And Art Carney's Very Important People on NBC was an amusing, satiric look at some of the people and some of the things which are supposed to be successful. The musical review was particularly telling when it was drawing a bead on some TV shows and personalities — on rival networks, of course.



AT THE McCARTHY — Burt Lancaster plays a minister with pro-rebel leanings during the American Revolutionary war. Here he is being held at bay by a group of British soldiers. "The Devil's Disciple", film version of the famous George Bernard Shaw play, opens today at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre. 2nd action packed hit is "Counterplot", featuring Forrest Tucker and Allison Hayes.

AT THE PARK — Rock Hudson and Jean Simmons have the romantic leads in "This Earth is Mine", saga of California wine-making family. Dorothy McGuire and Claude Rains also are starred. The film is in CinemaScope and Technicolor and opens tonight at the Park Theatre. On the same program in Technicolor and CinemaScope starring Esther Williams, Jeff Chandler, Carlos Thompson and Rik Battaglia in "Raw Wind in Eden." For this big double attraction, one complete show starting at 7.30 p.m.

Astrological Forecast

BY CARROLL RIGHTER

Tuesday, December 8, 1959.

General Tendencies: The daytime is apt to bring some depressing condition from the past, or at least some delays obstacles, limitations and restrictions that seem to hold you back. Actually you are given the chance to work out details, perfect all plans. Then tonight brings an expansiveness of the conscientious and a new upswing to success.

Aries (March 21 to April 19). While some delay in financial or career matter may seem to set you back, if you utilize your time intelligently this will be only a steppingstone to something better. P.M. keep alert to find fine opportunity that presents itself.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) A.M. be sure to finish whatever odds and ends are important before going into any new venture. Then full speed ahead. This will bring inner harmony. P.M. look after your health. Relax at some quiet sport or hobby. Retire early.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) has plenty of your experience shown certain courses of action to be successful an adviser who have consulted does not agree at all. Simply keep on working consistently and by evening you will get favorable results. Be cheerful.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) Be certain you analyze ideas of too-cautious partner and a higher-up, which are certainly conflicting, and extract the best from both, taking into consideration the time element. Constructive thinking then brings real success in your ventures.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) Keeping your nose to the old grindstone today would certainly keep your big ideas buried deeper into your subconscious and make you unhappy. Do only what is important, get out to see those vital persons, dig up data, etc. Expand.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23) Be sure you set up a better budget for yourself which will insure your getting taxes and miscellaneous bills paid up. Economy is wealth at this time. Find expensive sources of entertainment. P.M. time for romance and fun.

Libra (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) A tired member of your family today endeavors to keep you from being with a clever person you have met who could help you in your career. Divide your time wisely between them. Be kind, devoted.

Scorpio (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) During A.M. be most careful while driving or at work and do not be overly dynamic with others. P.M. set up a better budget, think out constructive ways to increase your abundance. Come to better understanding with kin.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Worry assails you in A.M. since there is so much you have to do, and money to be spent quite generously. Relax, handle all wisely, and there will still be time for fun and frolic this evening.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Labors at abode may not go very well in A.M., so it is wise to be out in the field of activity where it is important to you right now. Don't get flustered. P.M. be oft with congenials and mix business with pleasure.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Permitting some private anxiety to keep you in a stew this morning would be very unwise. Get caught up on your writing, shopping, calls, etc. P.M. is then fine for being with good pals for a few hours of fun. Be cheerful.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) Finances seem to be a point of contention right now, but if you assist others to reach their goals your problems will soon vanish. P.M. go out socially and increase prestige. Use that inimitable Piscean charm.

If your child is born today . . . a delightful child born today is the type who cannot be pushed around to any degree. He, or she, will react very stubbornly, so be sure to handle your intelligent puppy wisely. Lessons will be learned very quickly then, and success is assured in this interesting chart. Also, give the benefit of foreign languages, culture. Fate will shower great gifts in foreign fields.

PAKISTANIS

The Turks said the welcome in Ankara, where an estimated 300,000 to 700,000 turned out, was the biggest ever given a foreign visitor to the Turkish capital. Eisenhower termed it "the most stupendous I have ever seen."

A mood of public expectancy was evident in this Pakistan seacoast city of 2,000,000 long before the president's arrival time.

GAILY DECORATED

The former capital was gaily festooned with American and Pakistani flags and huge banners welcoming the president.

Squads of laborers worked feverishly in last-minute efforts to make Karachi sparkle in honor of the first United States president to visit this sturdy western ally that gained independence 12 years ago.

Huge crowds roamed the streets or lined the curbs, shouting "Eisenhower zindabad" "long life to Eisenhower."

The president's jet airliner landed at Mauripur air force base right on schedule after a 2,280-mile flight from Ankara.

Eisenhower stepped from the plane with a big smile on his face to shake hands with Ayub Khan. A 21-gun salute boomed out across the field, and the Pakistani president introduced members of his government.

Eisenhower continued to smile as a band struck up the national anthems of the U.S. and Pakistan, allies in the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO).

WORLD PEACE

Welcoming his visitor, the Pakistani president declared that his own country as a firm ally "of world peace is "cooperation among like-minded nations."

Eisenhower replied that he had been "looking forward to this visit with the greatest anticipation, and I know I am not going to be disappointed."

America and Pakistan, he continued, "ought to live together in peace and work together for what is good."

Ayub Khan, who returned Sunday from the new Pakistani capital at the mountain city of Rawalpindi, told reporters he hopes to take up the whole gamut of his country's problems with Eisenhower.

He undoubtedly will discuss the military threat to South Asia from China. This also would bring up Pakistan's quarrel with India over Kashmir province, as the issue has become more important than ever since Chinese troops occupied the Ladakh area, which is part of Kashmir.

Ayub Khan said he has no illusions of asking Eisenhower to mediate the Pakistan-India border dispute, that he would only "tell him what we have been trying to do to get India to understand that the time has come to settle our problems."

Since Pakistan provides an important link in the western chain of defences, Ayub Khan also is expected to discuss his concern over Soviet influence in Afghanistan, the next stop—Wednesday—on Eisenhower's mission.

Garden Notes

The Advantage of Bulb Bargains

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

In late fall you can find bargains in bulbs. Last week I noticed a quantity of bulbs at less third their former price. Those were odd lots and presented a good variety. There is still time to plant them out doors as long as the ground is not frozen hard. Better still buy them for winter bloom indoors.

If you are buying them for pot culture pick the shorter stem types in tulips. The tall ones look top-heavy. The early double types are especially good for potting. In daffodils too the smaller types and short stem kinds look best in pots. For hyacinth you could choose City of Haarlem, soft yellow, Carnegie creamy-white, Princess Margaret delicate pink or Myosotis in sky-blue.

DO NOT WET

Just for a change try a few pots of the smaller type bulbs such as Grape hyacinth, Chinodoxa (glory-of-the-snow) Snowdrop, Scilla, or crocus. Do not put more than six or eight bulbs of different times. You can plant several in each pot, have them almost touching but with a little soil between each.

In pot culture the soil need not be deep as in out-door planting. Bulb pans, bone wide shallow pots are best. Place a piece of broken pot, or a pebble over the drainage hole, a handful of crushed charcoal and one third of the pot with soil. If the soil is clay add peat moss, or sand or both.

Set the bulbs in and cover with soil first the soil around them and set the pots in a pan of tepid water until the surface is moist. Now pots should be thoroughly soaked before use. Lable pots clearly.

Now place the pots in a dark cool basement or better still sink in a cold frame, a trench filled with leaves, or sand, or a deep wooden box. If out-doors fill in around the pots with dry leaves, peat moss or excelsior. Cover with glass frame, or plastic and weight.

KEEP THEM COOL

These plants need six to ten weeks to form roots and get the cold treatment they seem to need. Examine them from time to time to see if top growth has started. If indoors do not let soil dry out. When the plants are brought in do not try to rush them. Ninety per cent of the failures in pot grown bulbs are caused by too much heat too soon. A cool basement, sunporch or stilly room where the temperature ranges from 40 to 60 degrees is best. Keep them out of the sun.

When tops are well up, place in sun and increase temperature slightly. Do not place on radiator. If you have no other place use thick insulating material between rad and pot.

When blooms open they will last longer if moved to a low temperature of 35 to 45 degrees at night. Keep out of direct sun to prolong blooms.

After flowers are spent cut them off and store pots in cool room or frost-free basement. Keep soil slightly damp to prevent bulb shriveling. Early in the spring the bulb can be planted out-doors. In a year the bulb will have recovered its vitality and will give many years of bloom in the garden.

L. REID HEADS POLL WITH RECORD VOTE

Arrest Two Men In Maine For Kidnapping Here

Charged as Abductors Of Tyendinaga Family

Biggest aldermanic vote in the city's history was rolled up by Leslie F. Reid, principal of Quinte Secondary School, as he headed the polls in Monday's election. Mr. Reid, who polled 5,045 votes, is seen (centre) being congratulated by Alderman-elect George Wishart (left) while John S. Barlow who finished fourth in the aldermanic race looks on.

TORONTO (CP)—Two men on the RCMP's most wanted list were arrested Monday night in Bangor, Me., Assistant Commissioner W. J. Franks of the Ontario Provincial Police said today.

Warren Wilbert Durning, 34, of Economy, N.S., and Richard Madison, 31, of Boston, were wanted by provincial police on charges of kidnapping and armed robbery at Belleville and of armed robbery at Niagara-on-the-Lake and Jordan.

Commissioner Franks said Maine police were put on the alert by the provincial police Monday after a number of tips to his office.

Maine police said the pair was arrested in an apartment house after a raid. Police seized a revolver.

The robbery and kidnapping here, which resulted in a manhunt carried on by police from here to Prescott, took place at a farm two miles east of Shannonville.

The two men are Warren Wilbert Durning, Economy, N.S., and Richard Madison 17 of Boston.

The two had taken over the farm home, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Percy Moore, aged 64 and 62 respectively. Mrs. Moore's mother, Mrs. Hattie Long, 84, Jack Moore, 20, and the Moore's hired man, Harold Malzer, 29.

The pair, who armed with a revolver, the other with a .22 calibre rifle, surprised Jack Moore and Mr. Malzer in the barn while they were milking cows. Allowing them to finish the milking, they then entered the house.

They took food, clothing and $120 in cash, then forced the five to get in the Moore's car with them and drove to Belleville.

The victims reported the kidnapping and robbery to Provincial Police and immediately a large scale manhunt ensued for the pair. They were already wanted for a similar kidnapping and armed robbery at Niagara-on-the-Lake and Hamilton.

The two kidnappers had abandoned a car outside Niagara-on-the-Lake September 8, and forced them to drive to Preston where they stole the car in which they were released.

The pair then hid out in this area for a time before vacating their procedure with the Shannonville family.

Twenty Convicts Escape Prison With Arsenal

IVY BLUFF, N.C. (AP)—Twenty tough convicts escaped from North Carolina's Ivy Bluff prison today with an arsenal of weapons after overpowering guards.

The North Carolina Highway Patrol and other police units in surrounding states were immediately warned about the prison's ex, all described as extremely dangerous. They were reported armed with a sub-machine-gun rifles and pistols—17 weapons in all.

R. A. Allen, assistant director of prisons, said the break began at 12:40 a.m. It was not discovered until 4:30 a.m. when the overpowered guards were found.

TAKE GUARD'S KEYS

Allen said the break started when a prisoner in the segregation unit got out of his cell, called a guard and threatened him with a bar. He took the guard's keys until the relief guard came, then knocked the relief out and grabbed keys.

The prisoner then opened other doors on the second floor of the segregation unit. The released prisoners fled downstairs to the dormitory section and opened doors there but 15 dormitory prisoners refused to join the escaped party.

The 20 prisons, now armed with weapons taken from a storage room, left the prison in a truck.

Later, cars were reported stolen in nearby Taneyville as the escapers fanned out.

Two Americans Get Long Terms From Cuba Court

PINAR DEL RIO, Cuba (AP) A Cuban military tribunal today sentenced two Americans, Frank Austin Young, 38, and Peter John Lambton, 30, to long prison terms for conspiring against the regime of Fidel Castro. The prosecution had demanded death for Young.

Young and Cuban Fernando Pruna Martel, 24, were each sentenced to 30 years imprisonment and Lambton to 20 years. The prosecution had asked death for Bertie and a 30-year sentence for Lambton.

Under revolutionary law, both the defendants and the prosecution can appeal to a superior tribunal.

Members of the court visited the cells within the tourists headquarters here, and told each prisoner of their decision.

BIGS WORKED OUT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) The United States Navy successfully fired a Polaris submarine missile for the second straight time Monday. Navy sources said the two consecutive successes apparently mean that engineers have worked out the bugs that caused three straight failures in September and October.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: Arctic westerly winds continue to sweep over Ontario following an intense storm which moved north into central Ontario from the Ontario Valley Monday night. Windy conditions will continue over the next 24 hours, with variable cloudiness and sunshine prevailing and temperatures not departing very far from normals for this time of the year.

A weak disturbance moving north of Lake Superior will add slightly to any accumulation of snow already on the ground in most areas by morning.

Wounds Wife, Kills Self

OTTAWA (CP)—An attractive 28-year-old woman was shot to wounded and her husband killed Monday night in a double shooting at their apartment.

Eastview police said preliminary investigation indicates it was a case of attempted murder and suicide.

They said Terrence D. Sullivan, 29, bought ammunition for an Ontario electronic firm, used a .22 calibre rifle to shoot his wife.

Leaving her for dead, he turned the rifle on himself, police said. Mrs. Sullivan, however, had only been knocked unconscious by a wound near her eye.

Arrest Toronto Schoolboy, Age 12, For Assault on 18-Year-Old Nurse

TORONTO (CP)—A 12-year-old schoolboy was arrested Monday in connection with the attempted rape of an 18-year-old nurse and indecent assault on a 15-year-old girl.

He is believed the youngest person ever charged here in connection with sex offences. Specifically, the boy is charged with being a juvenile delinquent in that he attempted to rape one girl and indecently assaulted another.

Police made the arrest outside a school in the northwest Oakwood Avenue area after checking more than 300 boys in schools, poolrooms and bowling alleys.

Both girls had described the assailant as being about 14 with a freckled face.

The girl said the nurse occurred Nov. 28 in her home while her parents were out. She told police a boy called at the door posing as a salesman.

The attack on the younger girl occurred Oct. 31 in her home. Her attacker gained entrance in the same manner.

The boy was to appear in juvenile court today.

RANK AND FILE OF LIBERAL PARTY TO GET HEARING

To Exclude Press From Meeting

OTTAWA (CP)—The rank and file of the Liberal party get a chance to sound off to the brass today—in private—and a few fireCrackers may pop.

A blowing - off - steam session was scheduled for the first hour of today's final sitting of the two-day meeting of the National Liberal Federation's advisory council.

It could be a lively session if miscellaneous delegates decide to get some along the grumblings usually heard in the ante-rooms. The press will be excluded to give them a clear field.

"We want you to feel free to make any complaints, without any publicity," Walter Tucker, former Liberal leader in Saskatchewan and Monday night's temporary chairman, told the delegates as they adjourned.

CONFIDENCE SESSION

By the time he got around to this announcement, Mr. Tucker himself had delegates kicking over the traces—in public—over amendments proposed to the federation's constitution.

A confidential session will deal with constitutional changes.

FIRE IN CAR PLANT

Ottawa Valley Area Lashed By Rain, Snow, Sleet, Winds

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Winter belted eastern Ontario with a mixture of snow freezing rain and rain Monday, along with high winds which snarled communications.

Rain, snow and sleet fell elsewhere across the province, but the Ottawa Valley area was the hardest hit.

Most of the remainder of Canada experienced normal early-December weather.

Freezing rain was blamed for at least one fatality. Six-year-old Jean Marie Desjardins, 1430 Rae, fatally injured when a car skidded off an icy road north of Sarnia.

The storm, caused by a low pressure area centred over New York state, eased Monday night although relatively high winds were forecast to prevail again early across Ontario and Quebec.

WIRES COME DOWN

Heavy wet snow and ice made roads slippery and coated telegraph wires with ice. Canadian Pacific Communications Monday night reported all its lines between Toronto and Ottawa were out of commission. It was relying on Bell Telephone circuits. Canadian National Telegraphs reported interruptions of service between Ottawa and North Bay.

Power disruptions plagued many towns in the Ottawa Valley as the weight of snow and gusty winds took their toll of hydro poles. Workmen struggled through the night to make temporary repairs in the Cobden area near Pembroke where ice-laden poles snapped at 1,000 miles of power and communication lines were down.

Loss of power cut off heat in Pembroke and Renfrew homes using oil furnaces and residents poked around for extra supplies of blankets as outside temperatures dropped to 22 degrees.

DRIVING DIFFICULT

Driving conditions were particularly bad in the Belleville hills area, in the Kawartha Lakes district and in the Muskoka area.

CAN BE NO WINNER IN GLOBAL WAR SAYS EISENHOWER

Must Create System Of Disarmament

KARACHI (AP) — President Eisenhower told the people of Pakistan today that "the nations of the world must work together to create an enforceable disarmament system."

"There can be no winner of any future global war," the visiting United States leader said a cheering crowd of between 15,000 and 20,000 gathered to see him a "citizens' welcome" on the second day of his visit to Pakistan's largest city.

Eisenhower said there is no need for any hesitation about pushing toward an effective disarmament program.

Referring to the American foreign aid program, the president promised that in the case of Pakistan his government would continue to review this Asian ally's needs and would give them "sympathetic consideration."

GREAT PEACE LEADER

Pakistan's President Mohammed Ayub Khan called Eisenhower as a great world peace leader whose contribution to human progress would be hard to be been unsurpassed.

Speaking in Urdu, a Pakistani language, Ayub Khan said "a major part of the free world is in the grasp of fear for the maintenance of peace and the promotion of human happiness is the bounden duty of the U.S.A."

"The rest of the free world in turn feels the same way. The only difference is that the fear that while receiving from the U.S.A. what it gives, they are not willing to make acknowledgement of it and give co-operation in return."

This was an obvious jibe at neighboring India, and Premier Minister Nehru's policy of neutrality between the West and the Communist bloc.

Eisenhower appealed an explosion of enthusiasm by Ayub Khan's mounted bodyguard, placed a wreath at the tomb of Mohamed Ali Jinnah, the founder of Pakistan, and saw part of a military parade.

He began his day with a short visit to the city's municipal election history that the 5,000,000 Americans in the U.S. army numbered a resident.

Eisenhower's 40 hour visit, which ended Wednesday morning, appeared to be a smashing success. Karachi's Monday issue of the 000,000—a link in the NATO-CENTO-SEATO chain of defences against communism.

Rolling Weightless in Black Void At Edge of Space His Experience

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Rolling and weightless in the black void at the edge of space, 13 miles above the earth—that's the story brought back by a pilot who made a successful assault on the world plane altitude record.

Navy Cmdr. Lawrence R. Flint told an interviewer that after taking off from California's Edwards Air Force Base in the rocket in a McDonnell F-H Phantom carrier jet.

"I levelled off at about 50,000 feet, pulled the stick back into my belly and headed almost straight up.

"The ship was almost flyless at the top. Controls were useless and I was weightless in the atmospheric resistances to the contra surfaces.

"The instruments showed I was flying on my back part of the time but I couldn't tell it because I was weightless and it was dark. It was a slow-motion sort of thing.

"Way above, or actually below, I could make out the layer where the atmosphere thins out. That occurs about 28,000 feet. Also, I could see some of the curvature of the earth's surface.

"Then, when I felt a little bit heavier, I began to get some control over the surfaces of the plane. I knew I was rolling but couldn't right it myself and came on down."

Because of its weightlessness the twin jet's speed was only 45 miles an hour as it went "over" the top of its trajectory.

Flint soared to 98,500 feet, higher than most of 91,000 set in July by Russia's Maj. V. S. Ilyushin in a MIG-17.

"Under better atmospheric conditions—if the upper air had been smoother—I could have gotten a little more out of the engines and gone a little higher," Flint said. Flint, a tall, handsome 29-year-old.

The flight from takeoff to landing took 40 minutes. His period of flying weightlessness lasted a minute and a half.

His performance was the more remarkable because the plane carried armament—two Sparrow air-to-air missiles zero - dynamically designed into its fuselage.

All Ratepayers' Candidates Win Except For PUC

Five of 1959 Aldermen Returned, 3 Defeated

A city electorate with record-smashing ballots wrote finish to one of Belleville's most controversial municipal years at the civic elections yesterday.

Seemingly forgiven but not forgotten were five members of last year's council who were elected to the fourteen seats of the aldermanic mighty.

Nine new faces will greet Mayor A. McLean Haig, elected by acclamation, when the new council convenes January next. Three members of last year's council went down to defeat.

Elected to serve two-year terms as aldermen were: Leslie F. Reid, Lorne McDougall, Walter T. Elliott, John S. Barlow, J. B. Corke, Jack Ellis and Lorne McDougall. Serving one-year terms will be W. E. Jarvah, George Wishart, Eugene W. Harrison, Ross C. Bailey, Robert Temple, Jack Ireland and Donald J. Whalen.

The vote estimated at over fifty percent of the electorate, affected the sitting public utilities commissioner, John Wesse; sent two new public school trustees, George Olsen and Erwin R. Valcamp, and one separate school trustee, Maurice Callaghan into office and dealt the controversial Sunday sports proposal a crushing defeat.

Election day will was one of the quietest elections in years, despite the fact that several electoral records went by the boards. Inclement weather failed to dampen the expected effect on the general public enthusiasm.

WHITE-COLLAR COUNCIL

The one voter put it, Mayor-elect Haig will preside over a "white-collar" council composed solely of business and professional men. Only twice before in four years, no women will sit at the aldermanic board.

Until yesterday, the 2,000 vote mark had been exceeded by only five candidates in municipal positions. These were ex-Mayor Dr. R. Potter, Mayor Gerald Hyde and ex-alderman Dr. Jay Sinch, Jack Harrender and Arthur Bateman. Yesterday eleven aldermanic candidates did the commanding board.

Principal Leslie F. Reid of the Quinte Secondary School topped the polls with an all-time record vote of 5,045. This is the first time in the city's municipal election history that the 5,000 mark has been reached.

Alderman-elect John Deacon finished a second place with 4,706 and alderman Walter F. Elliott was in third place with 4,490.

Also over the 3,000 mark were John S. Barlow, 4,005; J. B. Corke, 3,952; Jack Ellis, 3,385; Lorne McDougall, 3,949; W. E. Jarvah, 3,650; George Wishart, 3,266; and Eugene W. Harrison, 3,128 and Ross C. Bailey, 3,011.

Others elected from the 25 candidates were Robert Temple, 2,831; Jack Ireland, 2,725 and Donald J. Whalen, 2,616.

Promises Probe Of Claim Police Mishandled Pair

TORONTO (CP) — Mayor Nathan Phillips has promised a full investigation of allegations that two cabbies were mishandled.

The mayor made the statement Monday night after meeting with Police Chief James Mackey and Irving Hinel, counsel representing three young people involved.

As a result of the incident, Fred Garland, 19, appeared in court Monday charged with assaulting a police officer and was remanded to Dec. 12. Garland was treated for a suspected broken nose.

He told reporters he and Mavis Chu, 19, and David Wing, 18, did not believe the two men who picked them up on a street and asked them to get into a car for questioning were police officers. One man produced a "cheap-looking" badge.

Garland said he was grabbed by the hair and "slammed into the car." Miss Chu screamed and ran off to find a policeman, but was "dragged back" Garland said. The police officer holding her.

Only after one of the men, Constable Anatole Wozniak, produced a gun and a uniformed officer arrived on the scene convinced the men were policemen, Garland said.

He claimed that at a police station he was punched in the mouth and kicked by a plainclothes officer, Constable Donald Banks.

Evacuate Two Po Villages as Dike in Danger

FERRARA, Italy (reuters)—Women and children were evacuated from two villages in the low-lying Po River delta today after a landslide threatened to burst a River dike near the Adriatic Sea.

The sudden earth movement, shifted part of the dike, according to reports reaching here. It was not immediately known whether the dike had burst.

The landslide occurred between Gore (population 3,000) and Consandolo (600), on the Gore Po, a northern arm of the main river only a few miles from the sea.

Engineers and firemen in ambulances rushed to the scene. After an inspection, they ordered women and children at Gore and Cherina to leave at once as a precaution.

The fertile delta often has been flooded in recent years. The most disastrous flood occurred at about this time eight years ago, when 213 persons lost their lives and more than 80,000 were driven from their homes.

Y's Men Told Of Prison Life

At their weekly meeting the Y's Men were treated to the Hi-Y executive. Reports were given concerning the activities of the Hi-Y during the past year, and also of plans for the current year.

The guest speaker, Reverend Marshall, spoke on the topic "A Day at the Pen." Having spent a number of years as prison chaplain, the speaker was able to give first hand information as to conditions that exist in most Canadian prisons, and the need for reform along certain lines. Emphasis was laid on the need for a constructive program for the rehabilitation of released prisoners, a necessary part in this program of rehabilitation being restoration of their self-confidence and self-respect as decent law abiding members of society.

Guests were introduced by Art Newman and thanked by Orv Matthews. President Jack Fletcher also expressed the thanks to the speaker and presented him with a token of appreciation.

Brig. D. Ketcheson Describes Viet Nam's Past and Present In Address to Rotary Club

A Canadian Brigadier speaking to Belleville Rotarians yesterday, weaned the half-and-half pro-west country of Viet Nam completely away from Communism in accordance with the terms of the 1954 Geneva agreement.

The Brigadier was Don Ketcheson, a Belleville native, who is a member of a joint Canadian-Polish-Indian Truce Commission set up following the 1954 Geneva Convention, he has an intimate and working knowledge of the problems facing the divided country of Viet Nam.

The Brigadier, who has been in the Canadian army since 1935, gave listeners a detailed location of the countries involved.

They are besides Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos, which make up what was formerly French Indo-China. He said Canada had very little contact with these countries, either trade-wise or culturally.

The area was originally colonized by the French as a counter-measure to Britain's colonization of India and Hong Kong, he said. Laos and Viet Nam are mountainous lands with large area of jungle and heavily wooded. Cambodia is flat lands interspersed with prairie lands.

PEOPLE ARE GENTLE

Viet Nam is the principal country of the three. The population consists of an intermingling of Indian and Chinese. The people are, said the Brig., generally physically smaller than the Chinese and, as a rule, gentle.

But they have a "terrific" feeling of independence, he said and willing to fight for it when necessary.

"For the most part," he pointed out, "the people are under the Chinese influence in regard to customs and social structure."

The speaker explained that the French got a firm hold on the country around the turn of the present century following a dispute between two rival dynasties. After getting control of Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos, "fell into the hands" of the "tripe plums".

UNHAPPY UNDER FRENCH

The French set up administrative organizations using existing Royal houses in the three countries as figure heads for their activities. Under this occupation, said Brig. Ketcheson, the Viet Namese never spent a happy day." [illegible]

They could not travel the highways without passes; and foreign capital blockhoused industrialists, villages, railway lines and highway bridges.

It was not until 1935 that the country had fairly prosperous times. Then in that year the Japanese began their territorial expansion and the inhabitants preferred the French to the Nipponese.

From 1935 to the outbreak of war, the French built modern, beautiful cities such as Hanoi and Saigon, and in more highways, built park areas and advanced the economy of the three countries.

With the fall of the French government in the Old Country, the Vichy (Nazi-controlled) government sent representatives to Indo-China. It was at this point that the Japanese invaded the country and governed Indo-China.

'Sort of Rule' To Lie to Police Says Accused

RED DEER, Alta. (CP)—"It's sort of a rule," Robert Raymond told Supreme Court Magistrate Gray, "when you're picked up by the police you're not to tell the truth."

Raymond is charged with the murder of his father, whose body was found June 26 in a grease pit at Innisfail. He told Coroner Sheriff Stettler, Cook's stepfather, which has conflicted evidence since also found in the pit. Cook had been shot and bludgeoned.

J. W. Anderson of Edmonton, appearing for the attorney-general's department, asked Cook why some things he told RCMP upon his arrest did not agree with some of his testimony given in court.

"I said a lot of things that were untrue," answered Cook re-peatedly.

SPOONS OF KROTINY

Earlier Monday the calm which Cook had shown throughout the trial gave way to a display of Slavic irish trish when defence counsel Gilford Main asked how he felt when he was told the bodies had been found.

"I don't like to describe it," Cook said in a low, halting voice. His eyes were downcast. He moved his feet and shifted in the jury and packed courtroom.

"I'll have to explain. If you found out your family was all killed and you'd been charged with murder. . . . It's hard to understand.

"The only thing I knew about the whole thing was that I didn't do it. I just don't know how to describe it. . . . It was just horrible."
